SOUTHEAST ASIA'S CHESS GAME

Kings, Pawns All Alike

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Southeast Asia situation has become so incredibly tangled that practically nobody can be confident of coming out ahead and practically everybody is in some kind of trouble.

The spillover of fighting from Vietnam into Laos and Cambodia, along with other developments, has created headaches for the United States, the Soviet Union, Red China, Malaysia, Singapore, Indonesia, Thailand, the Philippines and others in the area, not to mention the Indochina regimes themselves.

North Vietnam is lobbying in Paris and elsewhere against a French proposal for an international conference on Indochina. One reason for this probably is a Hanoi notion that the Americans will lose in South Vietnam by default. But there could be another good reason.

Peace now in Indochina could put North Vietnam into the middle of a Soviet-Chinese dispute over influence. One side or the other must win the ensuing struggle, and losers of such struggles often lose their heads as well.

It seems almost impossible for Washington to guess right on Cambodia's distress call for help against the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese invasion. To respond may widen the war. To ignore the plea can mean the subjugation of Cambodia by Communist forces and a severe setback for the South Vietnamese regime.

A continued U.S. military presence in Southeast Asia suggests at least implicit support for its nations against Chinese pressure. But there is a prospect that the presence will be greatly diminished or even dismantled, and some Southeast Asian nations are jittery.

Indonesia urgently wants an Asian conference on Cambodian neutrality. Ambassadors of Indonesia, Malaysia, Singapore, Thailand and the Philippines, members of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations, have been meeting on that situation. Several right now are contending with a new upsurge of Communist guerrilla activity, sponsored and perhaps materially supported by the Red Chinese.

A Communist takeover of Cambodia would raise the prespect of a long period of general instability in Southeast Asia. Unquestionably guerrilla movements in the whole area would be encouraged.

The Russians must be concerned about the possibility of

A SWAN DIVE TO RETRIEVE CAR

Harry J. Dillon of 78 Novato Street, San Rafael, plunges into the murky waters of the San Rafael Canal to attach a cable to his submerged car. After a smarting swim in the chilly waters, Dillon successfully attached the cable and the car was pulled back to land. The 1965 Lincoln Continental was found yesterday at 9:15 a.m. underwater at the end of the boat ramp at Credit Motors, 625 Grand Avenue, where Dillon had left the car parked. It either rolled or was pushed into the canal, police reported today. (Independent-Journal Photo by Jim Kean)

Span Board Attorney Balks Bus Line Funds

County Asked To Go On Providing Subsidy

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

A jungle of legal obstacles today blocked a Southern Marin bus company's bid for a $12,000-a-month subsidy to continue operating.

Marin Transit Systems, near the end of its financial rope, lost its bid before Golden Gate Bridge District directors after the district's attorney ruled the subsidy was "absolutely impossible."

Attorney Jerome B. White said the state law that created the district barred such a subsidy unless it was for a service ancilliary to a transit system operated by the transit district itself. "At this stage of the game, we're not operating any transit," White said.

The directors, meeting as the joint transportation and finance-auditing committee, voted unanimously instead to urge Marin County to continue subsidizing the bus company, which provides feeder service for the Tiburon-San Francisco ferry and midday shopper shuttles in Southern Marin.

Marin County Transit District voted on April 7 to extend its $4,000-a-month subsidy to June 2, but said the extension was only to give the company time to negotiate for bridge district aid.

Marin Supervisor Michael Wornum, a member of the committee, said that the transit district probably would continue the subsidy, but he declined to be pinned down on the amount.

The committee agreed, however, that a bus feeder system to the ferry service the district proposes from Sausalito is absolutely necessary. Thus the way was left open for reconsidering the bus company's plea after the Sausalito service begins, probably on July 1.

Another legal obstacle raised by White was

Nixon Eyes Cambodia Plea, Blesses Viet Arms Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today captured Communist weapons have been transferred by South Vietnam to the Cambodian regime "with our knowledge and approval."

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told newsmen that the Washington go-ahead for shipment of several thousand AK47 automatic rifles did not represent the Nixon administration's response to "a specific extensive request" from Cambodia for U.S. military supplies.

Ziegler said the request made directly to Washington "is a matter that is still under serious consideration."

Weapons sent into Cambodia had been captured "by the allies" in South Vietnam and had been delivered by the South Vietnamese government, he said.

When asked if American aircraft had physically transported the rifles to Cambodia, Ziegler declined to reply.

Asked if he was hesitating because he didn't know the answer or because he was not prepared to make public an answer, the press secretary responded, "I'm not prepared to answer."

In discussing the situation, Ziegler began by estimating that 40,000 Communists are operating in Cambodia, some of them threatening the capital city of Phnom Penh.

"There is no question who the aggressor is in this situation," he commented, labeling the Communist moves as "massive, overt Communist aggression" in violation of the 1954 Geneva Ac-

FACT BULLETIN #2 (The Strike)

Drinking Coffee On The Job

In his circular to Marin residents the president of I.T.U. stated union printers were fired "for drinking coffee on the job." He failed to mention that they drank coffee in the composing room. He failed to mention this was against long-established rules, known and understood by everyone. He failed to state there was no union provision in the old contract allowing drinking on the job. He failed to mention that the I-J had put in lunchroom facilities for union printers where they could drink their coffee. Failed to mention that a composing room — with type, proofs, mechanical equipment — is hardly the place to be drinking coffee! But perhaps the greatest omission was this: he failed to mention that these same printers, after being warned, were reinstated on their jobs. The question Marin residents might ask is: how far can one fail in dealing with the truth?

JOB, FARM DRAFT SHELTERS TUMBLE

Nixon Asks Congress To Cut Off School Deferments, Makes Fathers Draftable

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon ordered today an end to future draft deferments for occupational or agricultural activities and for fatherhood.

He also asked Congress for authority to end future student deferments.

Today's order and the order he pledged to issue if he is granted authority would not affect the deferments now held by students, fathers, and workers or such deferments granted under applications now pending.

Nixon asked Congress to permit the draft to be run on a nationwide basis with a single national call by lottery numbers. This would replace the present system of local calls by individual draft boards which need not call e actly the same numbers at any one time.

At the same time, Nixon endorsed the goal of ending the draft entirely and replacing it with an all-volunteer Army.

To achieve this goal he said he will propose additional pay raises and benefits for members of the armed forces, and will seek to encourage enlistment and re-enlistment. He also is ordering a review of military policies to recognize the personal needs, aspirations and capabilities of military personnel.

Provisions for student deferments at present are written into the draft law. To change them Nixon must obtain action by Congress giving him discretionary authority. He said that if this authority is granted he will immediately issue a second executive order ending student deferments in the future.

The White House explained in a fact sheet accompanying the President's message to Congress that as of today students already attending college, or junior or community college, or an approved technical school, continue to be eligible for student deferment.

Those planning to enroll in the future, however, will not be eligible for student deferment. If called for service after he enters school, a student would be permitted to finish his current semester or term before starting service.

But college men enrolled in ROTC or other military programs could postpone active duty until completion of their study programs.

BOLINAS-STINSON STRIFE

Adults Hope New Official Has Answers For Schools

By PAT ANGLE

(First of three articles)

After two years as superintendent of the Bolinas-Stinson School District, Clarence B. Larison probably has a pretty fair idea of what it feels like to be an amoeba under a dissecting microscope.

Since he took on the job in June of 1968, the superintendent admits his every move has been watched, analyzed and probably criticized by someone, somewhere in the two West Marin communities whose residents exhibit a tremendous interest in school affairs.

When Larison arrived, he was regarded as the man who would heal the wounds that had opened in the district, which has had its share of internal turmoil in the last several years. But the honeymoon was short-lived, Larison admits wryly, and last December, he resigned during a conflict over the hiring of teacher aides, under fire from both the board and the community.

Today, the same residents who welcomed Larison with open arms are hopefully awaiting the arrival of a new superintendent, Lester M. Horning, scheduled to begin work in July. All over both communities, one can hear the same refrain: "Things will be much better when we have a new man as superintendent."

This may prove to be true, but it may also prove to be true that the going of one man, and the arrival of another, will not be a panacea for all the district's troubles. It may be that unless the district board and the community work to overcome some of their own shortcomings, the new superintendent could have serious problems.

As the man under the gun for the past two years, Larison is in a position to realize some of the pitfalls of the superintendent's position. Part of the problem, he said, is that board members have often acted as individuals, and not as a board.

"Most complaints from the community generally related to what is happening to someone's kid in school," the superintendent said. "When a parent is unhappy, he should take his problem to the teacher, then to the superintendent and, if this fails to produce results, he should inform the entire board of his complaint."

Instead, as often happens in small towns where everyone knows everyone else, those with complaints have found it easier and more immediately satisfying to pick up the phone and call their favorite trustee, a practic which has resulted in deepening mistrust between various factions in the community.

Larison also accused certain unidentified board members—but not all, he stressed—of "fancying themselves as knights on white chargers, sailing in and straightening us all out." He talked of individual trustees censuring teachers they had heard complaints about and giving the superintendent orders on an individual basis.

"Unless our board car learn to act as a board, any superintendent is going to have real problems," he said. Trustee Erik Lund agreed. "Any board

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Hits Spy Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Civil Liberties Union plans to appeal a federal judge's ruling permitting the Army to spy on civilians who might cause distrubances.

The ACLU contended the Army violated the First Amendment rights of free speech and association by keeping civilian activity under surveillance.

U.S. District Judge George L. Hart Jr. dismissed the suit on the grounds the ACLU failed to prove the Army's activity was unconstitutional.

The ACLU wanted the court to order the Army to destroy all records, photographs, recordings and blacklists compiled by the military on civilian and political activity within the United States.

$9 Billion Plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — The trouble-plagued TFX warplane has cost more than $9 billion, two Senate investigators have testified.

In an appearance Wednesday before a Senate investigations subcommittee, Thomas E. Nunnally and Romule Garcia said total costs for the Air Force F111, including $377 million spent on a rejected Navy version, would reach an estimated $9,174,900,000.

This means each of the 554 planes scheduled for delivery will cost $16.6 million each, they said.

Nunnally said the original proposal called for 22 planes at a total cost of about $471 million.

In Strike Range

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Polaris-type missile-firing submarines are patrolling in the Atlantic within striking range of the United States, Pentagon sources say.

At least one such submarine, built to carry 16 nuclear tipped missiles with a range over 1,200 miles, has been detected in the mid-Atlantic.

Previously Defense officials have said several Yankee-class Soviet nuclear submarines were operational, but indicated they hadn't ventured out for more than shakedown cruises.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird believes the Russians are on a crash program to bring their Polaris-type submarine force abreast or beyond the 41-boat U.S. missile launching fleet within four years.

Castro's Report

MIAMI (AP) — Fidel Castro's exile guerrilla forces that infiltrated Cuba have been killed or captured except for four men who have been surrounded.

According to his figures the invaders who landed last week numbered only 13.

Castro asserted that a second contingent had been unable to disembark and "was taken to the naval base" — a reference to the U.S. base at Guantanamo in eastern Cuba.

Castro called this "another rude violation" by the United States, which he blamed for the invasion effort.

Six Plane Deaths

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A light private plane attempting to land crashed into the corner of a house Wednesday night, killing six persons aboard and two in the building.

Bodies found in the burned out two-engined Beechcraft Bonanza which came to rest between two houses were believed to be those of two Austin doctors, the wife and two teen-age daughters of one of them and a medical student.

Fred A. Bobbit, 23, died in one of the two houses set ablaze when the plane plummeted into a residential area a quarter mile short of the runway. His 19-year-old wife Peggy died several hours later of burns.

Military Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Armed Services Committee has approved a $20.24 billion military procurement authorization bill, including $1.45 billion for the controversial Safeguard antimissile system.

The House is expected to act on the measure next week. It will then go to the Senate where expansion of the Safeguard system faces heavy opposition. The committee voted down amendments to cut $838 million for the Safeguard system. The bill also includes $200 million in contingency funds that the Air Force is expected to use as part of the $645 million emergency financial aid requested by the Lockheed Aircraft Corp., builder of the C5 cargo plane.

Nixon Labor Aide Leery Of Pay Plans

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

While Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz warned that big pay increases in long-term labor contracts could cause national economic suicide, one labor union has settled for pay increases substantially below the national rise in living costs and another sought an agreement way above it.

Shultz told a 3,000 United Auto Workers at a convention in Atlantic City, N.J., Wednesday, "We suggest, in your own interest, that you don't pin yourself to escalated costs projected far into the future."

He cited some three-year construction contracts for wage hikes of 15 per cent a year as "a formula for suicide" when projected across an industry.

He predicted living costs would rise 6 per cent this year.

On the other hand, many truck drivers have been conducting wildcat strikes in Chicago, Cleveland, St. Louis and Los Angeles to demand wage hikes of $1.65 an hour, or 41.25 per cent, over three years.

In New York, sources close to the labor negotiations involving the city's four major daily newspapers reported a showdown appeared likely in the "near future."

White House Racial Furore Is Recalled

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Portia Pittman, daughter of Booker T. Washington, the black author and educator, stopped by the White House Wednesday—63 years after her first visit.

Mrs. Pittman, a spry 87, said she went along with her father in 1907 when he had lunch with President Theodore Roosevelt. "The Southern press went wild," she recalled of that first visit, after which Roosevelt was condemned for "eating with a Negro."

A WATCHFUL EYE

Calm prevailed today in politically troubled Colombia where a state of siege and a curfew was imposed Tuesday. This is a scene in Bogota yesterday where government troops were called out to put down any resistance on orders of outgoing President Carlos Lleras Restrepe. Trouble started after ex-dictator Gustave Rejas Pinilla charged elections on Sunday were rigged in favor of the government-backed candidate Misael Pastrana Borrero.

Publisher Tells Monopoly Stand

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The publisher of the San Francisco Chronicle has told a KRON-TV license renewal hearing that he would "correct" the operating agreement between the morning Chronicle and the afternoon Examiner if it were found to violate antitrust law.

Publisher Charles de Young Thieriot told a Federal Communications Commission hearing officer Wednesday the 1965 joint printing agreement was given what he considered approval by the U.S. Justice Department three times.

"We thought that was as complete a clearance as we could ever receive," Thieriot said.

Bomb Hoax Empties School In Sausalito

Central School in Sausalito was evacuated at 12:43 p.m. yesterday while firemen searched for a bomb which a caller said would explode at 1 p.m.

Fire chief Charles E. Masten said no bomb was found. The pupils were allowed to return after 30 minutes.

Profs See Threat In Outbreaks On Campus

NEW YORK (AP) — A survey of 60,447 college teachers showed that more than 80 per cent believe that campus demonstrations threaten academic freedom, but the professor who headed the survey said so many factors were involved that caution should be exercised in reaching any conclusion.

The survey, sponsored by the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education, was reported in the weekly Chronicle of Higher Education.

The research team that made the survey was headed by Martin A. Trow, sociology professor at the University of California at Berkeley.

Results showed more than 76 per cent favored, either strongly or with reservations, the expulsion or suspension of students who disrupt schools.

A majority of those surveyed opposed student control over faculty appointments and promotions, undergraduate admissions policy, content of courses and degree requirements. They did not believe that education would be improved if all courses were elective or if grades were abolished.

However, the majority felt that education would be improved if courses were more relevant to contemporary life, and nearly half held that most American colleges reward conformity and crush student creativity.

Less than half felt that more minority group students should be admitted even if it means lowering standards, and almost three quarters opposed lowering faculty requirements so that more minority teachers could be appointed.

Reds Pull Out In Mystery; Cambodia Recaptures Town

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Enemy forces withdrew today from the Cambodian town of Saang, 13 miles southeast of Phnom Penh, before government troops could begin an attack.

The attack went forward anyway, led by a colonel who threw rocks at an armored car to get it moving, and the Cambodian soldiers plastered the town with fire before moving in to find it deserted.

ONE WOUNDED

The Cambodian soldiers slogged on 2½ miles past the village but the Communist-led troops had moved too quickly.

Thus the threat to the Cambodian capital appeared lifted, at least for the moment.

Why the enemy retreated was something of a mystery, because the Cambodian soldiers had shown little aggressiveness after losing the town Sunday.

It was possible the loss of bases and supplies to a South Vietnamese task force operating about 65 miles to the southeast may have been a factor, but this was impossible to verify.

About 5,000 South Vietnamese soldiers, marching as deep as 15 miles into Cambodia, continued to overrun supply bases Wednesday on the third day of the operation.

TONS OF AMMO

Informed sources said the South Vietnamese had seized 20 more tons of munitions, five to 10 tons of medical supplies and 150 rifles and killed 16 North Vietnamese soldiers. By their account, 237 enemy soldiers have been killed so far at a cost of 26 South Vietnamese killed and 105 wounded.

Six more American planes or helicopters were shot down Tuesday and Wednesday in Laos and along the South Vietnamese border, the U.S. Command said in Saigon. This raised the toll to 12 aircraft lost this week. Two of the planes were shot down in Laos. American losses were two killed, 10 wounded and one missing.

The U.S. and South Vietnamese commands said 101 Americans, 740 South Vietnamese and 2,962 enemy troops were killed last week. The American death toll dropped 40 from the week before.

Foreign Minister Adam Malik of Indonesia denied in Jakara a report from a high government source in Phnom Penh that the Indonesian government had agreed in principal to furnish arms.

He reiterated a previous statement that Indonesia would not supply Cambodia with arms "because we would like to solve the Cambodia crisis in a peaceful way."

The United States, at the Paris peace talks, presented President Nixon's plan for withdrawing 150,000 U.S. troops from South Vietnam and urged the other side to consider it carefully.

The Viet Cong produced a number of reservations to the plan while the North Vietnamese denounced it as a trick to preserve "U.S. colonialism" in Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

Goldwater Adds Light Touch In Alioto Trial

The suit is Mayor Joseph Alioto's $12.5 million damage claim against Look magazine for an article last September linking him with the Mafia.

Goldwater made his deposition last March 20 in Washington, denying he knew James Fratianno, a paroled ex-convict with whom the article claimed Alioto did business.

Fratianno reportedly had claimed to know Goldwater and to have shaken hands with him at Las Vegas, Nev., during the 1964 presidential campaign.

Mirth swept the courtroom, presided over by U.S. District Judge Bruce Thompson of Reno, Nev.

The judge admitted the Goldwater deposition as evidence, over objection by Look attorney Charles Kenady, as relevant to the reliability of Tommy Lee Thomas, Fratianno's former son-in-law.

The Look article's allegations of Alioto's association with Fratianno are based largely on an interview one of the authors had with Thomas.

Thomas has made a pre-trial deposition in the case and was to appear as a witness, but lawyers for both sides say they have been unable to find him to serve a subpoena.

Egypt Bombs Sinai Post

TEL AVIV (AP) — An Egyptian air force bomber attacked an Israeli paramilitary settlement 52 miles east of the Suez Canal at 1:30 this morning, the Israeli military command announced. It was one of Egypt's deepest penetrations into the occupied Sinai Desert since the June 1967 war.

The plane dropped a number of bombs on the Nahal Yam outpost, on Sinai's northern coast, but no casualties were reported.

It was the third Egyptian air attack on Israeli positions in Sinai in four days. The Israelis claimed two Egyptian planes were shot down in the previous strikes.

Meanwhile, three visiting American women and 12 other persons were recovering from injuries received Wednesday when a grenade exploded in the main square of the occupied town of Nablus.

Youths Bound Over On Heroin Charges

Two of three 19-year-old youths who confessed to being heroin addicts when arrested have been bound over to Marin Superior Court on felony charges after the third one testified against them at a preliminary hearing in municipal court.

Reade Collins Backer of Ross told Judge Peter Allen Smith Tuesday how his companions, Stephen John Pappas of San Rafael and Arthur George Metzger III of Petaluma stole various articles from a house on Paradise Drive on April 1.

He said he remained in the car waiting for them.

Backer has already pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge of possessing stolen property and is to be sentenced May 12.

The three youths were arrested on Tiburon Boulevard after a sheriff's deputy noticed them driving erratically. A search of the trunk produced a number of allegedly stolen articles.

They told the deputy they were heroin addicts and were charged with being under the influence of the narcotic as well as having hypodermic needles. These charges have since been dismissed.

Pappas and Metzger are to appear in superior court Monday for arraignment on charges of burglary and possessing stolen property. All three are free on their own recognizance.

Rafferty Office

Friends of Rafferty has opened its Marin campaign headquarters at the Tiburon home of Anita D. Smith, 11 Auburn Court. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Gail Bost Rey of Belvedere are county cochairmen of the campaign to reelect Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction.

Lynwood Park Elects Officers

Harold K. Blue has been re-elected president of the Lynwood Park Improvement Association, Secretary Charon Colosi announced yesterday.

Others elected to serve with him are: Harvey C. Simpkins, vice president; Mrs. Colosi, secretary; Kathleen B. Loeffler, assistant secretary and Richard P. Gomez, treasurer.

OFFICIAL VISIT—Delbert C. Bailey, grand patriarch of the Grand Encampment of California, will visit the Mount Horeb Encampment 106, a unit of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, at the Odd Fellows Hall at 1522 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, today with dinner at 6:30 p.m. and a meeting at 8 p.m.

Corte Madera receptions for Peter H. Behr of Mill Valley, candidate for the Republican nomination for state Senate, will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the home of Mrs. Jack Haehl, 499 Corte Madera Avenue, and at 8 p.m. at the home of Town Councilman Holmes S. Norville, 126 Granada Drive.

Souza Sees Conflict On Heading School Tax Panel

Leo Souza, chairman of the Reed School District board, last night submitted his resignation as chairman of the citizens committee on the June 2 measure to hike the operating tax rate limit 60 cents.

Souza said he is "100 per cent" behind the bid for a tax hike, but didn't feel that he, as board chairman, also should serve as committee chairman.

Startled trustees, balked at making a change of leadership in mid-campaign, tried to persuade Souza to stay at the committee post, but he adamant.

"To be successful, I think we should have someone else at the helm," he said.

He intended to resign effective immediately, but agreed to stay until the next board meeting, tentatively scheduled for Tuesday, so there would be time to seek a successor.

Souza said the board made a mistake in appointing him to the committee job and he made a mistake in accepting it. It is unusual for a board chairman to head such a committee, he contended.

Souza, who had engaged in similar campaigns over several years, felt the community should hear from other trustees on the tax increase, saying "they've heard me saying the same thing over and over."

Trustee Gordon C. Wright said all trustees support the tax increase and were willing to do whatever Souza asked them to do in the campaign.

The Reed School District board also:

INTERDISTRICT TRANSFER — Approved an interdistrict transfer whereby a pupil who has moved to San Rafael, to remain at Granada School for the remainder of the school year, and a transfer of three pupils now at Granada to San Clemente School in the Larkspur School District.

NEXT MEETING — Tentatively scheduled an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Bel Aire School if a report from the screening committee for a new superintendent is ready. The next regularly scheduled meeting will be at 8 p.m. May 5 at Bel Aire-School.

Draft Conspiracy Charges Dropped

U.S. Dist. Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity granted a Justice Department motion Wednesday, ending the cases against the so called Boston Five.

Coffin, chaplain of Yale University; Goodman, Dr. Benjamin Spock; Michael Ferber, a Harvard graduate student, and Marcus Raskin, co-director of the Institute of Political Studies at Washington, were indicted Jan. 5, 1968.

Most Of 'Planned' Budget Of $2 Million Is Backed

Reed School District trustees last night approved most of a $2,048,218 "planning" budget for 1970-71, up $162,914 from this year's budget.

Victor W. Butler Jr., business affairs director, explained that the budget was based on no increase in the district's operating tax rate.

Voters will decide at the polls June 2 whether to increase the rate 60 cents from $2.25 to $2.85. The current total tax rate is $3.735 per $100 assessed valuation.

The proposed budget didn't carry any cost-of-living salary scale raise, new programs, improvement of classroom ratio, reinstatement of cuts made in 1969-70 school year, instructional research and assessment fund or summer school recreation program, Butler reported.

Butler explained that the major increases would be in the cost of hiring additional personnel, estimated at $99,985, since Reedland Woods School will be opened, and annual pay increments, $49,608.

Trustees focused on the 12 new jobs proposed for the full school year.

After long discussion they approved six new positions, a principal, librarian, school secretary and teacher of educationally handicapped for Reedland Woods School and two custodians.

They postponed a decision on hiring two additional classroom teachers, another counselor, two more teachers aides and another library clerk until May 5.

The proposed budget also included 10 new summer school positions, five additional team aides and three additional summer school teachers.

Prior to the budget discussion, trustees approved in principle a recommendation from the administrative council that both Del Mar and Reedland Woods school be operated for sixth, seventh and eighth grades and have similar programs.

John C. Fitch, principal of Del Mar Intermediate School, estimated that Reedland Woods School would have about 300 pupils and Del Mar about 450.

Trustees brought up the subject of "cross grading" in the Del Mar and Reedland Woods Schools, and were assured by administrators that students in those grades would be mixed by any system or formula, but on an individual basis for instructional purposes.

Administrators estimated that from 5 to 20 per cent of the pupils might cross grades, that is a sixth grader might attend a seventh grade class in a particular field.

"We don't want to put all in a box, we want to put them where it's best for them," said Gowan.

Fire Chiefs Ask Civic Center Use For Annual Show

The Marin County Fire Chiefs Association hopes to have its Fire-O-Rama display and demonstration at the Civic Center grounds this year instead of at Redwood High School.

Chief Richard K. Oswald of Tamalpais Valley, member of the arrangement committee, has asked the board of supervisors for use of the parking and entrance area at the New Hall of Justice. The fourth annual Fire-O-Rama will be held Oct. 4 to mark the opening of National Fire Prevention Week.

Oswald explained in a letter to the supervisors that attendance at Redwood has been poor because the school is difficult to find.

The association plans lectures, movies, displays and demonstrations on fire fighting and rescues during the Fire-O-Rama, which will be held from 10 .m. to 3:30 p.m.

Span Board Attorney Balks Bus Line Funds

the law's requirement that the district seek competitive bids for any feeder system it desired to serve a district transit operation.

Also, White reminded the committee, Marin County supervisors must commit themselves to pay the intracounty costs of the district's transit system before such a subsidy could be considered.

A formula setting the amount of Marin's contribution will be considered by the full bridge board tomorrow.

Director Lowell Edington of Napa County observed that White's opinions could threaten the possible subsidy to Harbor Carriers to continue the Tiburon service.

Director Dean N. Meyer of Mill Valley, noting that the $12,000 subsidy would come to almost $4 for each intracounty passenger carried on the feeder bus, said the cost was too high.

Paul Kahn, a transportation consultant for the Marin City bus firm, said the subsidy per passenger would decrrease as patronage increased.

The bus company, however, did win today a $20,500 grant from the Ford Foundation to determine the potential ridership of a countywide system.

Court Dismisses Maddox Suit On School Quotas

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A federal judge dismissed today a suit by Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox to block the federal government from requiring racial quotas and busing in desegregating southern schools.

Georgia's state attorney general, Arthur K. Bolton, said he would appeal to a higher court following the ruling by U.S. District Judge George L. Hart Jr.

Hart said the suit amounted to a collateral attack on a suit brought by the Justice Department against the state of Georgia and its education department to force desegregation in 83 of the state's school districts.

Bolton told reporters his suit was not directed at the Georgia case alone but was aimed at establishing a broad principle to forbid mandatory racial quotas throughout the south.

Auto Owned By Marinite Found; Youth Is Held

An auto belonging to a San Rafael man was recovered in Auburn yesterday an hour before it was reported stolen here, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Driver of the stolen vehicle, Brian Keith Kenton, 16, of Citrus Heights, Sacramento Couty, was turned over to juvenile authorities on suspicion of car theft, according to the highway patrol, which said the youth had been missing from his home for two months.

The car, owned by Mark Litchfield of 823 B Street, was reported stolen at 4 p.m., the highway patrol said Litchfield told them it had been taken from a parking lot at Second and B streets sometime after April 19.

Kenton was seized in Auburn after abandoning the car following a chase.

Marijuana Case To Muni Court

The case of a Berkeley man and a Tiburon woman arrested on suspicion of smoking marijuana was transferred yesterday from West Marin Judicial Court to Marin Municipal Court.

David DeWitt Black, 25, and Marilyn Edith Babakan, 37, of 45-E Redhill Circle, are scheduled to appear in municipal court April 30 at 2 p.m.

They were arrested Sunday near Point Reyes Station. Sheriff's deputies said they saw the pair apparently smoking marijuana in a small station wagon three miles north of Point Reyes Station.

Forgery Case To Higher Court

James Edward Wade, 26, of San Rafael, has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on a charge of credit card forgery after a preliminary hearing in municipal court. A second count of the same charge was dismissed.

Wade is accused of obtaining articles from a San Rafael store on Dec. 18 by signing another person's name to credit card slips.

He is to appear in court Monday for arraignment.

McCoy Back At Center; Freedom Cut

Donald Crawford McCoy Jr., a former commune leader who was arrested on suspicion of possessing marijuana last year and later released when charges against him were dropped, was returned to the Community Mental Health Center at Marin General Hospital yesterday after escaping earlier in the day.

He was picked up by Sausalito police at 6:30 p.m. yesterday at the Trident restaurant.

McCoq, 36, first was taken to the center Tuesday after Mill Valley police noticed him acting peculiarly near his home at 108 Miller Avenue at 9:40 p.m. Police said he told them he was looking for "lemons in the air" and appeared to be under the influence of drugs.

A former theatrical booking agent and builder turned hippie, McCoy and six of his followers were arrested at Rancho Olompali, his commune north of Nodvato, in January 1969.

The case was dismissed in September when Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales refused to reveal the name of an informant in the case, saying that to do so would endanger the witness.

Judge Refuses Bail To Leary

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The California Supreme Court has refused to order drug advocate Timothy Leary released on bail pending an appeal of a recent Orange County marijuana possession conviction.

The court denied without comment Wednesday Leary's petition requesting bond.

Judge Bryon McMillan of Orange County Superior Court refused to grant appeal bail on grounds Leary was "an insidious hazard to the public." Leary is confined at Chino State Prison.

Delay Granted In Calley Trial

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—A military judge today granted a 3-month delay in the court martial of Lt. William L. Calley Jr., the first officer to be charged in the alleged My Lai massacre in Vietnam.

Col. Reid W. Kennedy granted a defense motion and reset the trial from May 18 to Aug. 24.

Calley, 26 ,is charged with 102 counts of premeditated murder in the alleged March 16, 1968 incident.

Divorce Ahead For Herb Alpert

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — After a one year separation, Tijuana Brass founder Herb Alpert and his wife of 12 years, Sharon, say they have decided to file for divorce because their interests "have taken separate paths."

The trumpeter, 35, who went from movie extra to head of a multimillion-dollar company, and his 31-year-old wife said in a joint statement Wednesday they realized that they "can't be happy together." They have a son, 10, and a daughter, 4.

Those now holding such deferments can keep them as long as they are eligible.

In the case of fatherhood the order permits deferments where a local draft board determines that induction would create extreme hardship.

At present some 1.8 million men hold student deferments and 431,000 hold occupational deferments.

Another 23,000 hold agricultural deferments.

More than four million men are deferred in category 3A because of dependents, but there was no immediate indication how many of these are deferred for fatherhood.

Nixon strongly endorsed the conclusion of his Commission on an All-Volunteer Force, headed by former Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates, which reported unanimously on Feb. 21 that an all-volunteer Army could serve the national interest better than a mixed force of volunteers and draftees.

Nixon said the first step toward an all-volunteer Army was taken this month when military pay was increased by $1.2 billion a year along with a 6 per cent pay raise for civilian government workers.

Nixon said he will propose an additional 20 per cent pay raise for enlisted men with less than two years of service, to take effect next Jan. 1.

South African Nationalists Still In Power

JOHANNESBURG (UPI) — Premiere John Vorster's National Party won power for another five years today but with a reduced majority. At the same time, it smashed an extreme rightist challenge in favor of even stricter racial segregation in South Africa.

The National Party easily won a majority in the 1966 parliament but it dropped eight constituencies to the main opposition United Party which also favors white rule, and saw its majorities whittled in other places.

The loss of seats was the first for the Nationalists since they came to power 22 years ago, but the consolation was their complete rout of the extreme right-wing Herstigte Nasionale Party (HNP), a splinter group favoring stricter application of apartheid racial separation.

Charged With Having Needle

A misdemeanor charge of possessing a hypodermic needle was filed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court against Paul Anthony Powers, 23, of Mill Valley, who had been arrested earlier in the day on suspicion of having heroin.

The case is still under investigation by the district attorney's office.

Powers was to plead to the charge today.

Nyhans Trial In Third Day

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The first degree murder trial of Elsie Nyhan and her son, Daniel, moved today into the third day of jury selection.

Mrs. Nyhan, 74, and her son, 45, of Tiburon, are accused of slaying Mrs. Genevieve Dolan, 61.

Mrs. Dolan was found dead of head wounds in Mrs. Nyhan's Nob Hill apartment in October, 1968.

Police quoted Mrs. Nyhan as saying that Mrs. Dolan had been drinking and fell asleep in a hallway where she was found dead in the morning.

Two Women Booked On Drug Probe

Two young women were arrested yesterday on suspicion of drug violations after two juvenile officers saw them apparently passing a plastic bag of suspected marijuana as they stood by Highway 101, near Novato.

Booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of possessing pot were Martha Todd Pervere, 19, of 19 Evergreen Avenue, Kentfield, and Cindy Lea French, 22, of 1555 Center Road, Novato. Miss Pervere was also arrested on suspicion of possessing dangerous drugs after the officers said they found two capsules of suspected mescaline in her purse.

Officers said that as they drove up the on-ramp to Highway 101 from South Novato Boulevard they saw Miss Pervere hand a plastic bag to Miss French. When the officers stopped, Miss French ran and threw her purse up on a bank, they said. A search of the purse produced the bag of suspected pot as well as the pills.

Both women were released from jail on their own recognizance to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow.

cords establishing Cambodia as a neutral state.

Ziegler said the United States wants to see that neutrality preserved in keeping with the accords.

Earlier today the New York Times had reported that the Nixon administration had decided to supply the Cambodian government with several thousand automatic rifles captured from North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in South Vietnam.

When asked if Washington had been in touch with the Indonesian government about possible military shipments to Cambodia from Indonesia, Ziegler replied, "Not to my knowledge."

However, he noted the Lon Nol government is seeking aid from several countries and said he "suspects there will be a response to their request" from some other nations.

The press secretary was asked if reported massacres by Cambodian troops of Vietnamese civilians in that country would have an impact on Nixon's decision on possible arms shipments .

Ziegler said that "without in any way condoning" the killing of innocent civilians, he would point out that Cambodia is a scene of violence because of Communist aggression.

He said "the killing of innocent civilians who are in a war zone is a concern."

Innocent Plea To Charges

Misdemeanor charges of car tampering, exhibiting a knife in a threatening manner and petty theft were filed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court against James Earl Henderson III, 19, of Novato.

He pleaded innocent and a jury trial was set for Aug. 31.

Henderson was arrested Tuesday in Ross after he allegedly removed a gas tank from a motorcycle in front of Ross Automotive Service and then threatened two men with a knife when they tried to stop him.

$307,000 Gems Heist In London

LONDON (AP) —Three men, including one armed with a shotgun, grabbed a bag of diamonds worth $307,200 today and escaped in a sports car.

The diamonds were being delivered to a jewelry firm in Hatton Garden, London's gem center, by two postmen.

The raiders ran up behind them, grabbed the bag of diamonds and pushed the postmen down a short flight of stairs. The getaway car was later found abandoned.

Rental Firm Wins Hub Design Approval

The building design and a landscape plan for a United Rent-All business at 101 San Anselmo Avenue was approved last night my the San Anselmo Design Review Committee, according to secretary Thelma Foster.

An application by George Geramoni to construct a three-unit apartment building at 17 Ancho Vista Avenue was held for further study at the committee's next meeting May 13.

ASIA

widened Asian war. They worry that short of a big war, the Red Chinese will emerge the real winners in terms of influence. They have made noises suggesting a will to participate in an international meeting on Indochina. But the Kremlin barely dipped a diplomatic toe into the water, found it much too hot and hastily withdrew it. Somebody, possibly the North Vietnamese, talked Moscow out of it.

The Chinese are not without difficulties, either. Peking is not out of the chaos created by years of "cultural revolution." It may yet have a violent power struggle. It could be tempting to a Maoist regime in such circumstances to kick up a fuss within the boundaries of safety, so as to rally the people behind the rulers. What with the tension on Soviet-Chinese borders, however, the question for Peking ought to be: Just how much fuss is safe?

Candidate Simon Calls For More Police On Campus

ANAHEIM (AP) — Millionaire industrialist Norton Simon, campaigning for the Republican senatorial nomination, says the University of California ought to hire 50 per cent more campus policemen "to stop the damn problems."

"I don't care if you have to give up forerign language ... departments," he told a news conference Wednesday, "to me I think it is more important to have ... campus police.

"What I'm saying is this," he added, "put more responsibility on the administration of the university to stop the damn problems and cut out some of the permissiveness. There is just too damn much premisiveieness."

Simon, a member of the UC Board of Regents, said he's been pressing for years for more campus policemen, but has been told there's not enough money in the budget.

City Sued Over Pupil Bus Plan

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A student busing plan in parts of San Francisco has been challenged in court by Concerned Parents Association, which said the plan was drawn up illegally.

Superior Court Judge Charles S. Perry has set a hearing for May 4 in the suit against the San Francisco Board of Education.

The parents group said the board was wrong in delegating powers to the Richmond District and Park-South Advisory Councils to recommend plans for two school complexes. These schools would group only certain grades at each school with limited busing.

The suit also said the council adopted kindergarten busing plans and the board approved them without listening adequately to opponents.

Equipment For Odor Controls

The Richardson Bay Sanitary District has awarded contracts totaling $20,803 to two firms for odor control equipment, according to Beverly Wheeler, board director.

The board Tuesday night awarded contracts to Reordeorant Engineering Co. of Belmont for $6,160 and Door-Oliver Co. of Connecticut for $14,643, Mrs. Wheeler said.

Another contract for $1,600 to Miller Industrial Co. for a new chlorinator was delayed so the board could study the bid.

The new equipment is intended to eliminate odors from the district's sewage treatment plant at Tiburon and Trestle Glen boulevards, Mrs. Wheeler said.

Statewide Land Use Plan Urged

Michael Peevey of San Rafael, candidate for the Democratic nomination for state senate, yesterday called for immediate adoption of a statewide plan to determine and enforce the best use of land.

Peevey, speaking on Earth Day at the College of Marin, said that without such a plan all open spaces "will ultimately be paved over and the beauty and environmental amenities of California will be lost forever."

He envisioned a plan that would "locate new urban centers in now underpopulated areas, prevent air, noise, water and visual pollution, and reverse certain, destructive growth trends creating overcrowding and pollution of all types."

OBITUARIES

Alfred V. Grimes Dies At 66

Alfred V. Grimes, 66, of 740 Sunset Parkway, Novato, a retired bartender and machinist, died yesterday at a local hospital after a long illness.

A native of Kansas, he had lived in California since 1932. He lived in the Fremont area until 1954 when he moved to Novato. He had been a bartender and then a machinist for Markham Machine Shop in San Rafael and Petaluma for 12 years until ill health forced his retirement three years ago.

He was a member of the Bartender and Culinary Workers Union Local 823.

He is survived by a sister, Mr. Ray E. Markham Sr. with whom he made his home; and two brothers, Everett C. Grimes of San Rafael and Ernest C. Grimes of Winnemucca, Nev.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. Saturday at Keaton's Chapel of Marin in Novato. Burial will be private.

ANTHONY SILVA

Anthony H. Silva, 62, of Corte Madera, a retired labor official, died today in a San Francisco hospital following a short illness.

Silva, of 33 Palm Avenue, was secretary-treasurer of the Teamsters, Warehousemen and Helpers Union Local 624, Novato, for 15 years before retiring in 1967.

He was born in Newman, Stanislaus County, where his parents owned a ranch.

Surviving are his wife, Erma; two daughters, Mrs. Robert Stine of Petaluma and Mrs. Gerald Stone of San Rafael; a sister, Rose Antonio of Sonoma; a brother, John Silva of Novato; and nine grandchildren.

Requiem Mass will be at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at St. Patrick's Church in Larkspur with recitation of the Rosary at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Harry M.Williams Mortuary. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

JEAN S. HODGKINSON

Jean S. Hodgkinson of Sonoma, mother of Jean Elkin of Novato, died yesterday at her home in Sonoma after a long illness.

A native of Scotland, she and her husband, Robert Hodgkinson, came to San Francisco in 1904. He was a civil engineer and they lived in many cities in California and Nevada.

She was a 50-year member of the Albert Pike Chapter of Order of Eastern Star of San Francisco.

She is survived by her husband; two other daughters, Vera Small of Sonoma and Mona Stansfield of Daly City, six grandchildren, seven great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Funeral will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Chapel of Marin, Novato. Burial will be in Valley Cemetery in Sonoma.

CLARENCE SIMONSON

Clarence S. Simonson of Minnesota died unexpectedly yesterday while visiting the Corte Madera home of his daughter, Mrs. Carlo J. Colombo, 10 Chickasaw Court. He was 79.

According to Deputy Coroner Richard W. Madigan, Mrs. Colombo checked on her sleeping father before going to work at 6:40 a.m. When she arrived home, she found him still in bed, dead, according to Madigan, who said Simonson had a long history of heart disease.

A native of Minnesota, he had been in California and Marin County, where he usually spent the winter months, for five months. He was a retired, self-employer grocer.

Simonson is also survived by four other daughters: Mrs. Aldo Gavazza of Redwood City; Betty Kindig of Union City, Alameda County; Mrs. Robert E. Quale of Fargo, N.D., and Mrs. Bennett M. Coons of St. Louis, Mo., and 10 grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are pending in Minnesota.

PAUL FAY SR.

Paul Burgess Fay, prominent building contractor and father of a former undersecretary of the Navy, died Wednesday at his Pacific Heights home. He was 85.

A native San Franciscan, Fay had been ill with heart trouble. His son, Paul B. (Red) Fay Jr., was undersecretary of the Navy under President John F. Kennedy.

Fay's contracting business was dissolved four years ago when he retired after 45 years. For the past 10 years he was a regent of the University of San Francisco.

Besides his wife and son, Fay is survived by five daughers: Mrs. C. Carroll McGettigan, Mrs. Patricia Fay Woods and Mrs. Jean Fay Webster, all of San Francisco, and Mrs. Michael Tobin and Mrs. Marten Barry of Hillsborough. He also leaves 22 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Rosary will be recited at 6 p.m. today at Carew & English funeral home, Requiem Mass will be held Friday at 10 a.m. at St. Ignatius Church, and interment will follow at Holy Cross Cemetery in Colma.

MARJORIE FREEMAN

Graveside services for Marjorie F. Freeman, mother of Dr. Paul Freeman of Mill Valley, will be tomorrow at 11:30 a.m. at Calvary Cemetery in Merced.

Mrs. Freeman, who died Tuesday at a San Francisco hospital at the age of 79, was the wife of Dr. Walter J. Freeman Jr., the neurologist who pioneered frontal lobotomy operations for the mentally ill in this country.

A native of Albany, N. Y., Mrs. Freeman taught economics at Vassar College and at her alma mater, Bryn Mawr. She was also an expert on imports from France and French-controlled nations and worked in this capacity with the United States Tariff Commission from 1922 to 1942.

She moved to California in 1954 and lived in Los Altos until 1967 when she moved to San Francisco.

In addition to her husband and son, she is survived by two other sons, Dr. Walter J. Freeman III, of Berkeley, and Franklin Freeman of Philadelphia; a daughter, Lorne Canter of San Francisco; a brother, the Rt. Rev. Roger G. Franklin of Liberty, N. Y.; and a sister, Alice Franklin of New York City.

HATTIE MASCIORINI

Hattie Mae Masciorini, 71, a lifelong Petaluman, died yesterday at a local hospital after a long illness.

She was the wife of the late Henry T. Masciorini and made her home with her son, Joseph Masciorini, 412 Weaverly Drive.

She is also survived by two daughters, Geraldine Ielmorini of Petaluma and Barbara Suttie of Santa Rosa; 10 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Requiem Mass will be offered at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at St. James Catholic Church, Petaluma. Entombment will be at Calvary Cemetery. Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma.

Hub Trustees Set Summer School Date

The San Anselmo School District board announced last night that summer school will be held June 17 to July 17 at Hidden Valley School for grades 5-8 and at Brookside School for grades 5 and below.

Richard B. Connell will be principal.

In taking action, the board affirmed a decision to rotate locations of summer school each year, Supt. Stephen L. Parodi said.

The San Anselmo School District Board Also:

FUNDS — Approved, 3-1, an application for $1,366 in federal funds for library materials for the district and for St. Anselm's School and San Domenico Lower School in Sleepy Hollow. The total is an entitlement to the San Anselmo area, Parodi said. Board member Elmer A. Weden Jr. dissented, saying he was opposed to spending public funds on private or parochial schools.

ELECTION — Announced applications to run at the July 21 election for the board seat vacated last month by Cornelia B. Busse are available at Parodi's office and from the county superintendent of schools. Filing deadline is May 28.

CALENDAR — Said school would run from Sept. 8 to June 11 next year.

AUDIT — Pending negotiation of a fee, hired the firm of Leader, Jarvis and Keigwin of San Rafael to perform the 1969-70 audit.

GRANT — Was told that $500 in matching federal funds is available for a mathematics program at Isabel Cook School and $500 for a reading program at Red Hill School. The district had earlier applied for $8,355 for the projects.

PERSONNEL —Accepted the resignations of Johanna C. McPeak, a first grade teacher at Yolansdale School, personal reasons, and Ann T. Morrison, fifth grade teacher at Wade Thomas School, who had been on leave, and authorized appointment of Vonda Stoner as a clerk in the instructional materials center at $146 monthly.

CLOSED — Held a closed session to instruct negotiators in contract discussions with teachers.

MEETING — Is next scheduled to meet at 7:30 p.m. May 5.

Activities End At Old Center

The first function at the new center will be the departure of four busloads of senior citizens on a one-day excursion to Jenner, Fort Ross and Occidental on Wednesday.

Probation On Weapon Charge

A Sonoma man found guilty of carrying a concealed weapon and drunkenness was given a suspenden sentence yesterday and three years' probation in West Marin Judicial Court.

John Struven, 52, of 414 First Street E., Sonoma, was placed on probation on the condition that he dispose of all firearms within 72 hours. His wife, 55, who was found guilty of drunkenness, was also placed on probation.

The couple was arrested on Feb. 18 on Petaluma-Point Reyes Road in West Marin after Struven allegedly fired his gun in a crowded area.

Carrying a concealed weapon is a misdemeanor the first time, but subsequent charges are felonies.

Aged Escaper Is Free After Brief Prison Return

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI)— A convicted murderer, who escaped from the Nevada State Prison and remained at large for nearly half a century, has been granted clemency after less than six months back in jail.

"I just want to go out and be a good citizen," said Leonard Fristoe, 77.

He will live in New Mexico with a son he deserted in 1917— and didn't see again until six months ago at a tearful reunion in prison.

Fristoe, who managed to stay out of trouble during the 46 years he was at large, was turned over to authorities late last year in Compton, Calif., after a family argument at the home of another son by a later marriage.

He was returned to the Nevada prison, where he was granted clemency Wednesday by a 4-3 vote of the state pardons board.

Murder Case Docketed In Higher Court

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Earl P. Paige, 51, of San Francisco, has been bound over to Sonoma County Superior Court for the April 5 murder of Robert J. Perry, 26, of Petaluma, in a Windsor bar.

Judge A. F. Scheidecker in Central Sonoma Municipal Court ordered Paige to appear in superior court for arraignment Wednesday at 9 a.m.

Paige is charged with first degree murder, kidnapping, assault with a deadly weapon and inflicting traumatic injuries on his estranged wife, Naomi Paige, 49.

Perry was shot while he was sitting at the bar with Mrs. Paige. Police said after the shooting that Paige kidnapped and beat his wife before being apprehended in a Healdsburg motel.

Young Bicyclist Injured In Crash

Mark Todaro, 7, of 500 Middle Two Rock Road, Petaluma, has been treated at Hillcrest Hospital for a hip injury suffered when he was struck by a car in front of 475 Middle Two Rock Road.

The California Highway Patrol said the boy rode his bicycle into the path of a car driven by Bob Yasuda, 42, of 251 Thomas Lane, Petaluma, at 5:50 p.m. Tuesday.

Hayakawa Proposes Policing Student Fund

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — President S. I. Hayakawa, Mill Valley, of San Francisco State College has urged that administration control be established over student activity funds.

Hayakawa advanced his proposal Wednesday after three campus political parties disqualified in current elections asked a federal district judge to void the balloting.

Hayakawa said four or five student groups had emerged almost overnight with candidates after announcement that activity fees would be increased from $1 to $5 a semester.

"The lure of cash in the student body treasury certainly seemed to stimulate political action," he said.

The Associated Students went into receiver-ship a year ago during a student strike amid charges that student fee revenues were used to finance campus revolt. The activity fee then was $10 a semester and produced more than $400,000 annually. Hayakawa ordered the fee trimmed to $1.

Federal Judge Robert Peckham set May 1 for a hearing on the complaint by the three student parties. They charged they were being suppressed by Hayakawa and Mark Wolfe, chairman of the Associated Students elections committee.

Youths To March For Boys Club

Sixty students from Drake, Tamalpais and San Domenico high schools will participate in a house-to-house youth march through Southern Marin tomorrow to collect money for the Marin City Boys' Club.

According to Carolyn Knox and Channing May, organizers of the event, funds collected will be used for year-round operation of the club. Last year's march grossed nearly $5,000.

The marchers will wear identifying badges and have specially-marked envelopes for the donations.

Flood Session Date

The Santa Venetia Flood Control Advisory board will meet April 29 at 8 p.m. at MacPhail School to discuss Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District relocation work on Meadow Drive. The Independent-Journal erred Tuesday in reporting the board would meet last night.

Scholarship Being Created

The San Marin Improvement Association has voted to create a $200 scholarship at San Marin High School, secretary Patricia Jones reported yesterday.

This is the first year that there will be a graduating class from the high school, and the association is leaving it up to the school to decide how the scholarship will be awarded, she said. The association hopes to make it an annual scholarship.

New by-laws and revised articles of incorporation were adopted by the association, and it voted to have a booth at Western Weekend and earmarked the profits from it for Novato Creek Park, she said.

Bay Heroin Use Warning Sounded

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) Heroin addiction in the San Francisco Bay Area has increased 1,000 per cent in the past few months, the medical director of the Haight-Ashbury Medical Clinic said Wednesday.

Dr. David E. Smith told a dietetic section at the Association of Western Hospitals annual convention that metropolitan areas are suffering from a "heroin epidemic."

His voluntary clinic is treating "15 to 30 youthful heroin addicts a day," Smith said.

"White middle class kids are sticking needles in their arms like it's going out of style," he said, adding that they are considered "fresh meat" in the drug ghettoes like the Haight.

Club Land Leasing May Cost Extra $20

It cost Marin Municipal Water District $650 yesterday to find out that it should be making $20 more a year on the lease of its property to the Meadow Club above Fairfax.

The district board authorized payment of $650 to San Anselmo appraiser David G. Cohn for his report that the fair rental value of the 162 acres leased to the club is $500 a year.

The club presently pays $480 a year.

If a new lease in negotiated on the basis of Cohn's appraisal, his report will pay for itself in just over 30 years.

Cohn told the board the rental value is low because of use limitations on the land. A much higher price could be gotten if the land was developed, he said.

The club owns some of the property on which it is located, but uses the leased land for its golf course.

The 44-year-old lease has been renewed every 10 years. It expired in January, and the club has agreed that the renegotiated lease will be retroactive to January.

Board president Robert G. Anderson said yesterday that he would like to see the lease reviewed every year instead of signing it off for 10 years again.

The Municipal Water District Board Also:

BIDS — Accepted low bids: of $1,606 for a reduced voltage starter for the Chapman booster pump from Graybar Electric Co. of San Francisco; of $1,154 for 120 cast iron anodes from Diversified Chemicals Corp. of Stanton, and of $21,451 for various sized steel pipe from Beall Pipe & Tank Corp. of Portland, Ore.

RIVER PROJECT — Authorized approval of an agreement with the Sonoma County Water Agency and the North Marin County Water District establishing a design standards committee for the Russian River Water Plan and authorizing payment of $8,200 as the district's first payment toward engineering costs of Phase 1 of the project. Seeger informed the board that a meeting of the boards of the three water agencies will be held May 18 to select a financial consultant for the project. Time and place of the meeting have not been determined.

INSURANCE — Approved a total increase of $27 a month in the district's share of district employees group life insurance rates.

CONTRACT — Agreed to add two jobs to a multi-job contract with Gilson Construction Company. The cost of the two jobs, a total of $11,600, will be paid by the state highway department because they were necessitated by the widening of highway 101.

FLOOD CONTROL — Approved an agreement with the Marin County Flood Control District to relocate water mains in the vicinity of Corte Madera Creek. The district will pay $15,000 for enlarging its present main at Laurel Avenue, and the county will pay the remaining $56,000 cost of the project.

PAYMENT — Approved a notice of acceptance and completion and the semi-final payment of $9,849 to Maggiora & Ghilotti for the installation of pipe on Shoreline Highway near Richardson Bay Bridge.

LAND — Approved use of district land by Burlingame Girl Scouts this weekend; by Panorama School, Brisbane, students, May 14, and the California State Horsemens' Association, May 2.

UNIFORMS — Authorized spending $1,288 for purchase of blue uniforms for 20 district employees who come in contact with the public. The uniforms will be purchased from L. Riznik & Son, San Francisco.

SCHOOL — Approved in principle a $1,000 offer from the Nicasio School District to purchase three acres of district property on Nicasio Creek for school expansion. The board directed Seeger to negotiate terms and conditions of the sale.

CLAIMS — Denied and referred to the district's insurance carrier $20,000 claims from Peter A. Wynne of Rohnert Park and Henry Bragado of San Francisco, for damages suffered by a slide of district land near 29 Canyon Road, Fairfax.

PERSONNEL — Approved hiring Steven Fraire, part-time watershed patrolman, at $2.95 an hour; Thomas Keating, part-time watershed patrolman, at $2.79 an hour; Steven Powers and James Boracchia, laborers, at $591 a month; and Francis L. Christ, garage attendant, at $605 a month; a merit increase for Mario Bongio, utility man I, from $688 to $726; reclassification of Chester Smith from laborer to utility man II, with salary going from $622 to $657, and Kenneth Wizner, from laborer to utility man I, with salary going from $657 to $688; and accepted the resignation of Dean J. Land, garage attendant.

MEETING — Adjourned to the next regular meeting May 13.

Two Redwood Scholars Earn Trip To Germany

Two Redwood High School sophomores have been selected to spend a year as students in Germany under the American Field Service Exchange Student Program.

Megan Walker, 16, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Donald Walker of 35 Spring Lane, Tiburon, and Elton (Buck) Sherwin, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elton Sherwin of 30 Windward Road, Belvedere, have been chosen to study at Friedrich Schiller Gymnasium at Preetz.

Sherwin has served as both freshman and sophomore class president and Miss Walker has achieved high scholastic standing.

They will leave this summer and live in private homes in Preetz.

Dr. and Mrs. Walker hope to have a foreign student, also under the field service program, live at their home during their daughter's absence.

Petaluma Youths Vie In Cleanups

The cleanup began April 11 and will end with judging on May 16.

Student leaders heading the drives are Charles De Giulio, San Antonio High School; Sue Weeks and Deila Kasch, St. Vincent's High School; Steven Wynne, Petaluma Senior High School; Nancy Burke, Petaluma Junior High School and Steve Crawford and Derald Holloway, Kenilworth Junior High School.

Wynne, chairman of the student steering committee, said he would organize small cleanup campaigns in the elementary schools.

Activities will include painting, washing, weeding and repairing damaged articles on campuses.

Contract Due On Olney Hall

Marin Junior College District trustees are scheduled to award a contract for remodeling of Olney Hall at 8 p.m. today at Room 96, Olney Hall.

Trustees also are slated to approve an agreement for relocating utilities along Corte Madera Creek so phase 3A-1 of the creek flood control project can proceed.

The procedure for recruiting a dean of instruction to succeed retiring Paul (Dutch) Clymer also is on the agenda.

A record of violence - up-dated

Following is a list of 51 acts of violence, vandalism and threats which have continued to accompany the strike by the San Francisco Typographical Union 21 against the Independent-Journal. These acts, committed against Marin residents and the Independent- Journal, are listed in sequence, running from March 7 through April 19. They add up, with former violent acts, to a total of 112 since the strike began. This day-by-day record is perhaps the best commentary on the motives and the merits of those who perpetrated them.

March 8 Vandalism—Window broken by rock at Bourbon Shop, San Rafael

March 9 Vandalism—Plexiglass window broken by steel nut at I-J building, San Rafael

March 9 Vandalism—Two windows and glass door shattered by three steel nuts at Castro Leasing, Corte Madera

March 9 Vandalism—Two windows broken by steel nut and blunt tool. Television sets damaged by glass fragments at Cox T.V. and Sound Center, San Rafael.

April 19 Vandalism—Attempt to break window with ½-inch lead pipe at Martin and Harris, San Rafael

Tactics such as these strike at the heart of the community. They violate not only law and order but the rights of every citizen—his freedom of choice, his right to live in a peaceful society.

The Independent-Journal, as a daily, home newspaper, will continue to pursue its lawful right and its responsibility to publish the news for all Marin and Southern Sonoma Counties.

And it will continue to demonstrate, reinforced by solid community sentiment, that intimidation shall never influence the fulfillment of that obligation.

EGG SNATCHER — Loraine Barnes, a science teacher at White Hill School in Fairfax, puts a South American tegu through its paces as Henry Kremer and James McBride look on. The lengthy lizard, also called an egg wolf, will be one of the stars of a Public Schools Week science demonstration at White Hill School between 7:30 and 9 p.m. today. He was just out for air when he had his picture taken this morning.

Ecumenical Housing Boosters Get $20,000 Operating Fund Grant

The Ecumenical Association for Housing in Marin will get a $20,000 grant from the San Francisco Foundation to help cover the association's operating expenses this year.

The money will cover two-thirds of the association's second year operating expenses. The remaining one-third will be sought from private foundations and individuals who support the aims of the association, said executive director Martin Mackey.

The directors of the ecumenical association also:

NEW DELEGATES Welcomed Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ford from Fairfax Community Church and William H. Sherman and Mrs. Helen Brown from St. Raphael's Church as new delegates to the ecumenical association. Thirty-five organizations are now members of the association.

HOUSING PROGRESS — Got a progress report from architect Ellis Aaplan on the 112 units of moderate-rent housing planned at Hilarita housing by the Tiburon Ecumenical Association and the 65-unit housing for the elderly sponsored by the Catholic Social Services of Marin at 1327 Lincoln Avenue in San Rafael.

HOUSING MEASURE — Appointed Robert Miller of St. Isabella's Church to represent the association on the Committee for Adequate Shelter for All (CASA), which is campaigning for passage of a June 2 housing measure calling for 600 new units of low income rentals.

NEXT MEETING — Set the next meeting for 8 p.m. May 20 at the Civic Center.

Another Discussion On Recreation Needs

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission said last night it would meet at 8 p.m. next Thursday with the city's youth commission to discuss recreational issues.

Chairman Robert England said the parks and recreation group will consider its 1971 fiscal budget proposals following the meeting with the youth commission.

U.S., Russ Offer Joint Arms Curb

GENEVA (UPI)—The United States and the Soviet Union presented a joint draft of a treaty to the Geneva Disarmament Conference today that would ban mass destruction weapons such as nuclear missiles from the ocean floor.

The draft replaces an earlier one that was criticized by some of the 25 conference members who wanted greater protection of the rights of coastal states.

Soviet Ambassador Alexei A. Roshchin and U.S. Ambassador James F. Leonard predicted the new draft will be approved.

Pair Nabbed After Auto Looting Seen

Two 18-year-old youths were booked into Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of auto burglary after a clerk at the Short Stop Market, 141 Bellam Boulevard, San Rafael reported seeing them rifling his car.

The youths, Gerald Arthur Beaudoin of 45 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera, and Walter David Watson of 131 Myrtle Avenue, San Rafael, were held to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

According to police one youth was observed by clerk Christian C. Krabbe rifling his car at 9:20 p.m. in the market's parking area. The other youth was standing nearby, police said.

Krabbe reported he had become suspicious of the pair after they had an unidentified man purchase beer for them at the market shortly after they were refused because they lacked identification.

Krabbe went to the parking area and found the pair near his car and called police when the youths fled east on Francisco Boulevard. They were later arrested by a patrolman in the parking lot at the Country Club Bowl, 88 Vivian Way.

A $150 television set and a paper bag with cigarettes, crackers and sardines, taken from the car were found behind a fence near Krabbe's car, police said. Two pairs of sunglasses also stolen were not recovered, police added.

Tons Of Grass Go Up In Smoke

TIJUANA, Mexico (UPI) — Nine tons of marijuana which had been confiscated during the past three months were burned in a ceremony Wednesday.

Deputy Attorney General of Mexico David Franco Rodriguez participated and praised Baja California law enforcement authorities and the military for "splendid cooperation" in a national effort to combat production and traffic of illegal narcotics.

He said the all-out war against marijuana and opium poppy growers has produced excellent results. He added Mexico is fulfilling agreements with the United States and other nations interested in combating narcotics throughout the world.

Lieutenant Is Son Of Washington Pair

Second Lt. Terry G. Tadlock is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Tadlock of Belview, Wash., not H. J. Tadlock of San Rafael as reported yesterday in the Independent-Journal.

Tadlock, who is stationed at Fort Holabird, Md., is married to the former Nancy Davis of 9 Prospect Avenue, San Anselmo and formerly lived in Fairfax.

Adult Generation Gap Plagues Coast Schools

member who does things individually outside the board is a detriment to the schools and the kids," he said.

While Lund concurred with most of Larison's criticism of the board, he said that was not the entire story. Part of the reason for the confusion and conflict in the last few years, according to the trustee, is that Larison has not fulfilled the role of superintendent.

"The board has been left with the task of proposing policies and goals for the district and this should be the role of the superintendent, after he has conferred with the staff and members of the community," Lund said.

He added that the lack of policies and goals has been a large contributing factor to the turmoil in the district. "Inevitable problems have arisen and because we haven't had an adequate system to deal with them—because a great number of people in the community don't find a discussion with the superintendent productive—these problems have had a way of mushrooming," Lund explained.

Edward Z. Lewis, board chairman, said the fact that what goes on in closed board sessions soon becomes public knowledge—often distorted—has added fuel to the fire.

Added to these facts is the makeup of the community itself, a combustible combination of long-time residents and "hip" newcomers, mostly young professional people and artists who have moved to the idyllic coast area to escape the cities. Members of these groups tend to hold differing views on education and regard each other's very different life styles with suspicion, if not outright hostility. "A generation gap between adults," one man termed it.

And when the district's two small schools, containing a total of 180 students, turned toward an unstructured, ungraded program in September, the conflict thickened as many parents panicked at the new system in the fear their children were not learning what they should.

All these factors have created a fertile climate where rumors and mistrust grow and breed with startling rapidity and small, unimportant incidents have a way of turning into major issues of confrontation.

Example: In a hurry to get to a class, a teacher did not fold an American flag properly. Someone witnessed the incident and a major fight ensued.

Example: A woman came to school one evening and saw a paste pot without its lid, an incident which generated a great debate over the care and maintenance of the schools and grounds.

Example: Parental questions about the safety of a canoeing class on the Bolinas Lagoon touched off a large, angry battle.

And the recent criticism (in a closed board session) of a teacher by certain trustees has resulted in a major, and very emotional split, between those who claim the teacher was "crucified" at the meeting and those who are just as certain she received fair treatment.

These and myriad other incidents have helped to create the difficult situation the new superintendent will have to face. Chairman Lewis took what is probably a fairly realistic view of the situation when he said "everyone out here has been guilty of some wrongdoing; we can't say one person has created this situation."

While Lewis charged that while some persons have been guilty "of feeding this kind of thing, which is like walking through a tinder - dry forest throwing lighted matches," he said most people are sincere in their concern for the schools. But even sincere individuals can add to the conflict, he said, explaining that "people will do a lot of extreme things if they think they are right."

Larison is convinced the board and superintendent can handle any conflict "if they work together as a team; all the conflicting ideas out here are not the important problems."

One amateur poet presented his view of what is occurring in the district in a limerick which has been circulating around both communities.

"There was once a rich little school
Where strife was the general rule;
The board and the staff — about half and half —
Repeatedly lost all their cool."

Another man had a more serious view. "Conflicts, problems, 'it's his fault,' that's all I hear these days," he said. "If only all these people could forget all their conflicts and concentrate on the important things—the education of 180 children.

"Wouldn't that be a relief?" he asked plaintively.

Kidnapping Is Denied By Suspect

Cheston Hope Markham, 23, of 355 Canal Street, San Rafael, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of kidnapping a 23-year-old San Rafael woman on April 9.

A preliminary hearing in the case was set for Tuesday.

Markham was charged with the crime after he was arrested several days later and police said the victim identified him from pictures.

Officers said the woman told them her assailant approached her in a darkened parking lot of her apartment house the evening of April 9. When she walked away, she said, he grabbed her and threatened her with a pocket knife. She said that he forced her to enter her car and drive to Novato, where he said he was going to rape her.

The woman said that she told him her husband, brother and father would kill him if he did so, and the man then allowed her to drive back to San Rafael. After letting him off, she went to the police station and reported the crime.

Markham was arrested Saturday when a police officer saw him walking on Francisco Boulevard at 1:30 a.m. A check revealed an outstanding traffic warrant. The woman identified him from a booking picture, officers said.

Andorra Grants Women Franchise

ANDORRE LA VIEILLE, Andorra (AP) — The men who govern Andorra decreed today that women in the pocket principality now have the right to vote.

The decision will practically double the electorate, from 1,500 to about 3,000 voters, and as one official said: "It will bring about great changes in the political future of Andorra."

The decree was signed by the co-princes of Andorra—the president of France and the Spanish bishop of Urgel. It provides franchise for women whose families have been here for at least two generations.

GM MARK OF EXCELLENCE
Do you put a higher price on an Olds than we do?
Our own surveys indicate that quite a few people think an Olds costs a lot more than it really does. Result? Many people buy an ordinary car and end up with a lot less car and value for their money.
It's so unnecessary, too, because Oldsmobile has many models that are priced right down with so-called low-priced cars. See your Olds dealer. He'll prove that you're closer to Olds than you think.

Time For Hard Look At Spending On Space

In the wake of the near-disaster to Apollo 13, there were some calls for a slowdown in the United States' expensive space exploration program.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., proposed an end to manned space flights, with concentration on unmanned exploration of the outer reaches beyond our planet.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine said the whole space effort should be reduced to divert funds to domestic priorities.

A NATURAL REACTION to the failure of Apollo 13 to land on the moon is to declare, "We'll do it again as soon as possible, just to prove we can."

That, however, overlooks a few things. So does Senator Proxmire's proposal to concentrate on unmanned space exploration.

THE NATIONAL Aeronautics and Space Administration must take time to explore the reasons for the power failure that kept Apollo 13 from completing its mission, and that put the three astronauts aboard in chilling danger of being lost in space.

While it does so, the administration, the congress and the rest of us might take a hard look at our national priorities.

But is it really that important? Does it really justify the outlay of several billion dollars per year, at a time of tumult at home, of dangerous inflation, of spiraling taxes?

Just what will further moon landings, or further space probes, accomplish to save our environment? Just what will they accomplish to bring more uniform justice? Just what will they do to solve the transportation mess, or to save our cities?

They will do nothing for any of these, of course.

SCIENTISTS HAVE HAD a heyday in recent years. Any form of scientific experiment and advance has won large appropriations of federal money — our money — almost without question.

Seldom have the questions been asked: "Is this worthwhile? How much will it help America, or the human race?"

Because scientists have devised ways to build more terrible weapons, those weapons have been built. Because scientists have found ways to control vehicles far beyond the earth's atmosphere, those vehicles have been launched.

Thousands of those terrible weapons — many of them already "outmoded" by newer, more terrible ones — are stored underground in locations across the nation, providing no security but rather a constant threat.

Quite a few of those space vehicles are still flying around, some of them sending back signals, others long since become nothing but pieces of junk circling through the heavens.

AN UNSETTLING ITEM about just what kind of scientific experiment was planned for Apollo 13 came to light after its failure.

It was disclosed that a cask of radioactive plutonium, which was to have been used to power a scientific experiment on the moon's surface, re-entered the atmosphere with the returning lunar module and was jettisoned in the South Pacific.

ENOUGH DAMAGE has been done to our earth in the long series of nuclear explosions in the name of science. It appears we were planning to start the same thing on the moon.

If this is the best use of space exploration, certainly we should, as Senator Muskie suggests, call a halt and divert the money to the nation's real needs.

We have proved we can go to the moon. Need we keep spending more and more billions to re-prove it?

"Yes, thank heaven, all three astronauts are alive and well . . . and oh yes, I'm pulling myself together now."

AFFAIRS OF STATE

(This is the first on a series of stories on the eight propositions to be voted on June 2 at the primary elections. Others will follow.)

By HENRY C. MacARTUHR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Proposition 1 on the June 2 primary election ballot is a bond issue to $246.3 million, to be used primarily for construction of facilities for medical schools on the campuses of University of California.

The money to be provided, if the bond issue passes, would increase medical school facilities on the campuses at San Francisco and Los Angeles, and provide for completion of medical schools now under construction at Davis, Irvine, and San Diego.

CONTENTION is made that California is faced with a serious shortage of doctors, dentists, nurses, pharmacists and others to meet the health care needs of the future.

As a result of the needs, it is promised that no money from the proposed bond issue will be used for any purpose other than construction of school facilities for medical training.

Two state senators and an assemblyman combined to write the arguments in favor of the bond issue: Senators Stephen P. Teale, D-West Point, and Howard Way, R-Tulare, and Assemblyman Bob Monagan, R-Tracy. Monagan is speaker of the Assembly, and Way was president-/Pro-tem of the Senate when the arguments were written.

Sen. H. L. Richardson, R-Arcadia, is author of the arguments against the proposition. He readily admits not only the desirability but also a pressing need for facilities for medical college instruction.

Richardson cites, however, reasons for refusing to pass the bond issue.

One is that while the issue is for $246 million, the total cost to the people will be over $450 million when interest payments are added. This would bring the total state bond issues for which the people are responsible to over $8 billion dollars, an increase of six per cent.

More study is needed before there is finality to the proposed expenditure, claims Richardson, and a pay-as-you-go program of financing would force the university to cut frills to provide money for essential programs, he says, thereby reducing the cost to the taxpayers.

"THE QUESTION is not whether we need more medical schools in California. The question is how do we finance them. What California needs now is to develop a system of priorities and establish revenues for those needs in their order of priority," his argument continued.

"I believe construction programs for the health services should be financed from the yearly budget on a pay-as-you-go basis."

The question appears to be, then, not whether the people should build new medical facilities, but how they should be financed. Any way one looks at it, the people are going to pay for the new medical instruction facilities.

Union 'Non-Profit' —But Not PTA

In the mail this morning I received a printed letter from the president of the typographical Union No. 21, mailed on a permit from the San Francisco Post Office stating "Non-Profit Organization permit."

For many years I've presided over and sat in on boards of Davidson Junior High and San Rafael High PTA's. On more than one occasion, I've personally checked and double-checked with the post office in San Rafael trying to obtain a non-profit organization permit for mailing out PTA newsletters. The post office denied us each time, mainly because the PTA in some letter might request of the public a raise in taxes and thus was not considered "non-profit." Then this letter, today, arrives from a labor union using just such a permit.

I called the postmaster here in San Rafael, and was directed to the superintendent of mails. He informed me that he was definitely in sympathy with my feelings, that the law that permits a union to mail under a non-profit permit is archaic and must have been on the books for over 100 years, and he agreed that no union is non-profit. But, he explained, as long as this law exists, it must be abided with. He went on to say that just a short time ago he had both Senior Citizens and a local home owners group making such a request and had to deny each of them. He, too, recalls the trials and tribulations of the PTA in this regard.

When I asked him what could be done, he said, "Don't complain to the Post Office Department, because they don't make the rules, but, instead, write your congressman to get this ancient law off the books.". . .

Speaking Of Political Candidates' Signs...

In a recent communication to the Independent-Journal, Mrs. Nan Hepp chided the candidate for state senator, conservationist Peter Behr, for "littering the landscape" with his campaign posters. I beg to differ with Mrs. Hepp's unnecessarily-sarcastic criticism of Mr. Behr's "dasdardly deed," for which he has already seen fit to apologize.

Mr. Behr is merely following the time-honored American tradition of publicizing his candidacy for public office via the highway poster. . .

Far more apprehensible are the signs of Mr. Frank Solomon, running for judge, which have been injudiciously applied to cover the signs of Mr. Behr. . .

Principal Takes Issue With Report

The news report of the Moratorium Day incident at San Rafael High School on April 15 (in your April 16 issue) was somewhat inaccurate. . .

The report (apparently based upon information phoned in to him by a 15 year old student) said that there was a "confrontation" between myself and students who "defied" my "order" to return to class, and that I threatened to call the police if they refused to do so.

The truth of the matter is that I discussed the matter quietly with one or two leaders of the student group and tried to explain by position to them. At no time did I "threaten" students holding the meeting, and I was certainly not "defied." I have great respect for most of the students involved, and I hope most of them feel the same way about me and our staff. There was no "confrontation" in the usual newspaper usage of this term, in my opinion.

As for the students' "demands," perhaps this bulletin which was issued to all staff and students at school on April 20 will clarify this matter for you and your readers:

"As much as I'm flattered by the Red 'n' White staff's commendation for concessions I granted caused by the Moratorium Day protest continuing through sixth and seventh periods, I think we had better go over what the 'concessions' made to the 'protestors' really mean:

" 'Concession' 1 — 'Bus to future demonstrations with parental approval.' This is consistent with our present field trip policy and all aspects of this policy must be followed. This was understood by both the students and myself. (Policy #5180 in the San Rafael High School FACULTY HANDBOOK.)

" 'Concession' 2 — 'Free distribution of literature that doesn't suggest unlawful acts.' All school personnel already have this right as interpreted previously by Assistant County Counsel Godino.

" 'Concession' 3 — 'Free expression of political views on campus that will be set up mini courses.' This is already granted to all school personnel through Assistant County Counsel Godina's interpretation, but subject to Board of Education policy #4120 on TEACHING CONTROVERSIAL ISSUES.

" 'Concession' 4 — 'No reprisals for today's demonstration.' This is the only 'concession' not already an established policy. I agreed that students could stay and continue with Mr. Larry Lack Period 7 (who volunteered) to be present to legalize Board of Education Policy 4125, Number 4, which says, 'In the event that the person presents a partisan political issue, the teacher (in this case, Mr. Richard Delgado) must arrange for a balancing or appropriate opposing point of view.'

"I also announced (in the Friday, April 17 Daily Bulletin) that students who had deliberately disobeyed their teachers' directions should be reported to me."

REMEMBER WHEN?

20 YEARS AGO

APRIL 23, 1950

Two Marin residents, Dr. Aubrey Neaham of Sausalito and Mrs. Norman Livermore of Ross, proposed formation of a non-profit corporation to underwrite pruchase of Angel Island by Marin County.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

One day when the czars still ruled Russia, a simple-minded old peasant was appointed by the village elders to sit outside the local church and wait for the coming of the Messiah. After a month at this back-breaking labor, he complained that his pay was too low. "How right you are," nodded the chief elder, "but consider this: the work is steady!"

Scientist Of Mass Weapons Seeks Agreement To Curb Them

VIENNA — The teletype between Vienna and Washington clatters incessantly. The scrambler telephone is in almost constant use. Each move made here in the strategic arms talks must be coordinated with Washington and, in the final analysis, with the President himself.

In this incredibly complex undertaking, ultimate success or failure will be that of Richard Nixon. He can become, as Sen. J. William Fulbright said, a hero to the world or simply another fallible human being unwilling to face the risks involved in an arms agreement with the Soviet Union.

NEVERTHELESS, the responsibility weighs heavily on the members of the negotiating team who sit several times a week across the table from their Russian opposites. One member of the american team bears a particularly heavy burden, since he had much to do with bringing into being the nuclear weapons now threatening another upward spiral in the arms race. At the age of 43, Harold Brown has lived through an extraordinary cycle taking him as one of America's most distinguished nuclear physicists from the role of originator of devices such as the many-headed offensive missile and the defensive anti-ballistics missile to his position here seeking to find a way out of the nuclear trap.

Brown, who looks like an earnest graduate student pursuing the higher mysteries of science, is modest about his accomplishments. He was secretary of the Air Force at 38. Before that he held a key position in the brainstorming center that has inspired some of the isstruments of mass annihilation which are the subject of negotiation between the United States and the Soviet Union.

THE LIVERMORE laboratory in California, starting in 1952, has seen a concentration of brainpower that is one of the nation's conspicuous assets. Brown became a staff member of Livermore when it was established. In 1960 he was made director.

His predecessors in that post were Herbert York and Edward Teller. The path followed by the three who served at a critical time in weapons development is a reflection of how these weapons weigh on the conscience of the sorcerers who brought them into being. York, who has returned to teaching, devotes at least a third of his time to advocating a halt in the arms race. Teller, popularly known by the grossly oversimplified title as "father of the H-bomb," is a hard-liner. He was an active and powerful opponent of the limited test-ban treaty. And presumably if an arms-limitation agreement comes out of the SALT talks, Teller will again be in opposition.

AS FOR BROWN, he believes he can be most effective in working from the inside, helping to get at least a pause in the race toward oblivion. That is why he is here a member of the American delegation on leave from his post as head of the California Institute of Technology.

Where brown differs with any members of the scientific elite is over the inevitability of galloping technology. He opposes the argument that because it can be done, it inevitably will be done. This is like the case for climbing Mt. Everest — because it is there.

There is no reason to develop a new weapons technology simply because it is feasible, Brown argues. This is heresay to a large part of the elite that looks with half-amused contempt, half-frowning disapproval on the effort to put up a stop sign barring the way to evermore fantastic instruments of destruction. His conviction explains why Brown is here with a background invaluable to the negotiation.

Japan's Freedom Of Press Is Mostly For Natives

By ALBERT E. KAFF

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan's democratic constitution guarantees freedom of the press—but it's freer for native newsmen than it is for foreigners.

When the Japanese passengers freed from history's longest aerial hijacking returned to Tokyo from Korea April 3, foreign newsmen were prohibited from attending their press conference.

When underground gas explosions ripped apart an Osaka subway tunnel with heavy loss of life April 8, the UPI man on the spot was ordered out of the area by police because he lacked the proper armband.

THE JAPANESE have developed a system of closed reporters' clubs which effectively place most Japanese press conferences off limits to foreign newsmen.

Japanese officials in government and business arrange all their news conferences through reporters' clubs. Reporters' clubs are organized for each government ministry, and membership is restricted to the big Japanese newspapers, magazines, radio and television networks.

Club members often become quite chummy with government officials and agree among themselves what questions to ask and what issues to avoid in news conferences.

The reporters' clubs which control the curtains around the prime minister's office and the foreign ministry allow foreigner reporters to attend formal press conferences — if they agree not to ask questions.

WHEN THE PASSENGER victims of the Samurai hijackers of a Japan Air Lines (JAL) plane returned home, UPI sent veteran reported Ted Shimizu, a Japanese newsman, to Tokyo International Airport.

But the kani (captain) of the airport reporters club blocked him.

"The kanji told me flatly that I could not attend the press conference to be given by the released passengers," Shimizu said.

"There were one or two JAL public relations people standing with him, and the kanji told them not to issue any press conference ribbons to the foreign press.

"After a few minutes, the kanji releated and said that I could go into the press conference under two conditions. I could ask no questions and I would have to stand in the rear—behind the TV cameras."

Since Shimizu is 5 feet 2 inches tall, he caught a taxi back to his bureau.

HANK SATO, a UPI correspondent from Hawaii, is fully accredited in the eyes of the Japanese government. He carries an official press car issued by the foreign ministry.

When gas exploded in an Osaka subway construction job, Hank rushed to the scene from the UPI bureau at nearby Expo '70. Police and firemen allowed Japanese reporters to cross their guardlines into the disaster area. But not Sato.

Polic said he was not wearing the right armband.

But the foreign press in Japan is not standing still. Its members set up an organization with just that name, the Foreign Press in Japan, to serve as a reporters club for foreigners.

FPIJ arranges its own press conferences with Japanese officials and negotiates with the government to lift existing restrictions. After months of talks, FPIJ won permission for foreigners to attend press conferences given by the prime minister and the foreign minister.

Want To Make Big Lecture Fees? Then Go Out And Kill, Baby

WASHINGTON—The most popular speakers on campus these days are the student revolutionaries, black militants, and those advocating the legalization of drugs.

And anyone convicted of a crime and out on bail can write his own lecture ticket.

I was at the offices of the "Up Against the Wall Lecture Bureau" the other day and the phone didn't stop ringing.

"HELLO, Up Against the Wall Lecture Bureau. Who's this?. . .Harvard U. What can we do for you?. . .Nope, we're sorry the Chicago Seven are booked up through 1976. But we have some great speakers for you. How would you like 'Mad Dog Faucet'?. . .You know, the one who wrote the book on student revolution titled 'Mother Is the First To Go.'

". . .Right. Fifteen hundred dollars and expenses. . .Sure he takes off his clothes at the end. . .What kind of lecture do you think he gives?. . .Thank you. I'll send the contract.

"HELLO. . .What's that? You're booking speakers for Columbia U this fall?. . .Let's see. . .Here's one for you. . .Ruben Ruben. . .Yeh, that's right. He's the one who hijacked the Goodyear Blimp to Havana. . .Uh huh. He's out on bail now. . .No, he'll be available . . . Even if he's convicted this summer he'll appeal . . . you don't think he's a draw?

"What about Abbie Satchel. . .You know, the guy who set fire to the elephant house at the Bronx Zoo during last week's anti-Vietnam demonstrations. . .He's a beautiful person. . .Two thousand bucks. . .Of course he'll get the students fired up. He spoke at Simpson Tech last week and they burned down the library during the question period. . .Right on. He'll be there.

". . .Up Against the Wall Lecture Bureau. . .Berkeley? What can we do for you?. . .You're having a lecture series in American history and you'd like someone who is an expert in the field. . .I have just the speaker for you. . .Ziggy Rumfield. . .himself!. . .The fellow who blew off Theodore Roosevelt's nose with dynamite on Mount Rushmore. . .He's very knowledgeable about explosives. . .That's right, he shows the kids how to make a bomb right on the stage. . .No, no, the only time it ever went off was at the University of Wisconsin. . .Believe me, it's safe. . .Look, if anything happens you don't have to pay. . .Right. Thank you."

THE MAN HUNG UP and I had a chance to interview him. "You seem to be really busy."

"You better believe it. Kids today want speakers they can relate to. None of this education or political baloney. They want gut speakers that will tell them how rotten it really is. Look at this. I have 23 requests from universities who want to hear from anyone who has killed a cop. He doesn't even have to be a big name.

"And every white school in the country wants a Black Panther to speak to them. How many Black Panthers do they think there are in this country? And look at these requests for speakers convicted of pushing drugs. I tell you, these college kids know what they want."

"AT LEAST they're interested in the world around them," I said.

"If I could get one mass murderer, I could make a fortune," he said wistfully.

"What other speakers are in demand at the moment?"

"Well, I can get $3,500 for any priest who spilled blood on draft board records. There is also a big market for the people who blew up the buildings in New York City, though I have to book them at out-of-the-way schools in case the FBI gets wind of them."

"Is there any student demand for prominent men in public life?"

"Are you kidding? Why should they listen to someone like that when they can hear from someone who has cut sugar cane in Cuba?"

AN EDUCATOR'S VIEW

Teacher Union's Demands Illustrate Greed For Power

By JOHN W. GILBAUGH
PROFESSOR OF EDUCATION SAN JOSE STATE COLLEGE

Pie in thesky demands are being made by striking United Teachers of Los Angeles. And if the Los Angeles Board of Education surrenders to the demands of the self-serving, militant teachers' union, parents and taxpayers will find virtually all their energies and tax dollars feeding an insatiable greed for power with which the teaching profession has become afflicted.

The UTLA reportedly has served up to the board of education a list of 115 demands. State Sen. John L. Harmer, R-Glendale, has charged that the demands, if implemented, would bankrupt the Los Angeles School District. He has urged the parents of the district's 650,000 students to oppose the strike. Harmer, a member of the Senate Committee on Education, stated that it would be virtually impossible to meet UTLA's monetary demands "even if the legislature could come up with $500 million.

The drive by teachers at all levels, from kindergarten through the university, to become autonomous constitutes a major threat to the nation's economy and possibly to its political system.

IF THE LOS ANGELES Board of Education yields to the UTLA demands, the pattern for a teachers' social welfare system will have been cut. And it will fuel fires in every school district across the nation. Consequently, the time for school boards to make their stand is now. For every demand made by the teachers' union, the school board should issue a counter-demand. For every concession made in meeting a union demand, a guarantee should be extracted from the teachers' organization that measurable improvement in the quality of instruction will be delivered in each classroom. Failure on the part of the union to comply with such an agreement would result in a financial penalty commensurate with the degree that quality of instruction falls below the guarantee. Evaluation of the quality of instruction would be accomplished by a disinterested, third party. Teacher performance based on degrees or credentials held no longer provide valid criteria for assessing the quality of teacher performance. Some of the poorest teaching is done by holders of Ph. D.'s.

Furthermore, teachers in a unionized school district should not be accorded tenure.

Tenure and membership in a teachers' union that strikes against children, their parents, and the public, are not compatible concepts. In fact, legislation should be enacted at once which would provide mandatory revocation of tenure for all teachers in any school district that has as official bargaining agent an organization that advocates striking as a means of achieving demands.

WHY SHOULD TEACHERS not be accorded the same degree of autonomy or control over the teaching profession that doctors and lawyers have over their respective professions? Simply because teachers are public employees whose salaries are paid from public funds, while medical doctors and lawyers are usually private practitioners whose income is generally derived from private sources. If a client does not wish to continue to patronize his doctor or lawyer, he is free to choose another. But the same private citizen cannot choose his children's teachers if he sends them to a public school which his taxes support. If he becomes dissatisfied with the public schools he may withdraw his children and send them to private or parochial schools at his own expense — while his taxes continue to support the school with which he may have become disenchanted.

Helen Bain, president-elect of the massive National Education Association, has just announced a campaign by that organization to achieve teacher self-governance first, then accountability. This would be partially accomplished by establishment of "professional practices boards, by state statute, to give teachers more control over teacher education, licensure, in-service education, and the ethical conduct of their peers."

When the teaching profession captures complete control of the public schools, the metamorphosis from a capitalistic, free-enterprise system to a socialistic quagmire will have been completed.

Candidate Zucker Critical Of Failure To Heed Ideas

Marin County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker, candidate for county supervisor in the First District, criticized the board of supervisors yesterday for failing to follow his department's recommendations "for the betterment of all Marin."

Zucker, speaking at Redwood High School's Earth Day program, said he had called for special design studies of Corte Madera Creek in 1966, but the supervisors waited three years to approve his proposal. As a result of the delay, he said, "a major piece of the creek has already been concreted, which makes alternatives at this late date almost impossible."

He also was critical of the county's failure to act upon the recommendations for merging sewage facilities made in an $80,000 sewer study in 1967.

"We continue to bulldoze and scrape our hills and randomly cover our green valleys with homes," Zucker said. Citing increasing development of hills, he said their preservation was possible "through appropriate cluster development and low density controls. We need to think in terms of developing communities rather than simply approving tracts."

He also criticized the supervisors' amendment of the West Marin plan to double the population recommended by his department. The population could top 125,000, he said.

Again contrary to his department's recommendations for public access to the shoreline, Zucker said, a major development was approved last month north of Dillon Beach "with no public access to the ocean.

"Developers, speculators and large landholders must be restrained from controlling county government which rightfully should represent the interests of individual homeowners and local taxpayers," Zucker declared.

51 Strep Cases

Fifty-one cases of streptococcus infection, 26 of gonorrhea, three of infectious hepatitis, two of salmonella and one each of measles and German measles were reported last week in Marin County, according to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, health officer.

Organic Gardening Series In Novato

A series of four free lectures on organic gardening and conservation will be presented Thursdays starting at 7:45 p.m. today in the science lecture hall at San Marin High School in Novato.

Dr. Bargyla Rateaver will give the lectures, sponsored by the Novato Adult Evening High School.

Fire Losses For Novato Decline From Year Earlier

The total is just more than half the $362,000 loss in 1968 when the district had the costly Los Robles apartment fire, but more than double the $86,270 loss in 1967, the chief reported.

The loss was broken down as $167,995 in losses from structural fires; $14,000, garages; $2,630, appliances; $3,490, cars; $1,862, trucks, and electrical, sofa and rubbish fires and storm damage accounting for the balance.

The district answered 812 calls last year, compared with 726 in 1968 and 644 in 1967. There were 300 grass fires, compared with 128 the year before, 104 caused by children and matches, compared with 83 the year before, but only 47 structural fires. There were 49 in 1968.

Registration Set For Kindergarten

Registration for Ross School kindergarten will be held from 1 to 3 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday at the school.

Parents wishing to enroll children for next September should bring a birth or baptismal certificate to verify that the child will be five years old on or before Dec. 2.

MRS. MILLICENT H. Fenwick, right, talks to anti-abortion pickets outside of the statehouse in New Jersey. The pipe-smoking grandmother is quietly prodding her colleagues in the New Jersey legislature to give the state's women a new bill of rights.

TAKING TIME out from her legislative chores, Mrs. Fenwick writes to her son and grandchildren who live outside of Rome. She is dressed in the gown she wore to the American Cancer Society benefit dance. (UPI Telephotos)

OUTSIDE OF the New Jersey State Prison, Mrs. Millicent Fenwick, one of two female assemblymen in New Jersey, talks to trustees. She helped found the Half-Way House project in New Jersey, which helps prison inmates adjust to life after they are released.

Legislator Leads Fight For Equality

By ROBERT SLATER

TRENTON (UPI) — A tall, slender, pipe-smoking grandmother is quietly prodding her colleagues in the New Jersey Legislature to give the state's women a new bill of rights.

Handsome, gray-haired Mrs. Millicent H. Fenwick carries her sex's banner not because she thinks women an "oppressed minority" as womens' rights groups often contend, but for a more deep-seated reason: She fights for women out of a conviction that they are the equal of men and, therefore, deserve equal treatment in all respects. Not surprising, then, Mrs. Fenwick's first piece of legislation recommended that women be included in New Jersey's anti-discrimination statutes.

"I WAS literally floored when I realized that the state law does not protect women," said Mrs. Fenwick, born a New Yorker but now from Somerset County in rural northern New Jersey.

"It's unbelievable that there's not one word about us in the statute."

The bill has already breezed by the assembly and appears to face little challenge from either the senate or the governor.

On the Assembly floor, several assemblymen teased Mrs. Fenwick, asking if it would be necessary for restaurant owners to remove the "Gentlemen" and "Ladies" signs leading to restrooms.

"THE BILL leaves that to the good taste and judgment of the women, and I'm sure that won't cause any problems," replied Mrs. Fenwick, whose two-piece suits usually fall well below her knees.

During her 56 years Mrs. Fenwick has always been vocal about getting women to stand up and be counted.

A former editor of Vogue Magazine for 14 years, she often wrote stories during World War II encouraging women to go into war-related industries.

From her conviction that women deserve a better break springs another keen interest: the need for a better rehabilitation program in New Jersey's prisons.

SHE HELPED found the Half-Way House project in New Jersey, a program which helps prison inmates adjust to life once they are released. And she is convinced that rehabilitation of those inmates should be accompanied by modernization of the state's antiquated prison facilities.

"They're a disgrace," she contends, noting that 19th century buildings still are used to house prisoners.

Although she lacks formal schooling. ("Yes, it handicapped me—I had trouble finding a job"), Mrs. Fenwick, a Republican, comes from a colorful and diverse family, which has given her a broad outlook on life.

"My father, Ogden Hammond, was an Assemblyman from 1914 to 1917, and later in 1926 became the Ambassador to Spain," she recalled. Her mother drowned when the Lusitania sank in 1915.

The depression and the anguish it caused her friends drew the lady legislator into politics. "I went around with market baskets to show how the cost of living had risen," she recounted, explaining how she campaigned for the first time in 1936 in a bid to become state committeewoman.

All the while, she lived in an old, sprawling home with her father near Bernardsville, N.J. Although she married in 1932, Mrs. Fenwick separated several years later, after a son and daughter were born.

She is the first woman to have been elected to the borough council in Bernardsville.

As a freshman legislator, Mrs. Fenwick has already discovered that it pays to be a woman assemblyman.

"Because Jo (Mrs. Josephine Margetts, a Morris County Republican) and I are the only women in the legislature, we have the use of a private office across the hall from the Assembly," Mrs. Fenwick said.

"We're the only legislators who have an office. The rest," and she smiled broadly, "Just get a locker downstairs in the basement."

Mrs. Fenwick started smoking a pipe five years ago after her doctor advised her to give up cigarettes.

"When I had my seventh grandchild I felt I had a kind of license to do what I wanted," she said with a smile. "Now I have eight, and I don't know what to do next."

She questions all the fuss statehouse observers make about her pipe smoking, noting: "I only smoke four or five times a day. Charlie Irwin (a Republican assemblyman) smokes his pipe much more and nobody even notices. I wonder why?"

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Parties Planned Saturday Around 'Same Old Faces'

By MOLLY MARIN

A dinner party for some of the cast of Tiburon Peninsula Club's little theater production will be held Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hoffmire of Tiburon. John, the former mayor of Tiburon, is in the cast of the Pelican Players' "Same Old Faces of 1970".

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harter of Belvedere will also entertain Messrs. and Mmes. Henry Jacobsen and Richard Tyler with dinner and cocktails at their home before going to the club's production.

MR. AND MRS. Thomas Woodward of Belvedere plan to visit Expo '70 during their April trip to visit friends in Osaka, Japan. Osaka is a favorite vacation city for the Woodwards. Mr. Woodward is associated with Pan American Airlines.

MR. AND MRS. Kenneth M. Wightman of Petaluma gave a reception in their home in honor of Patricia Stafford who is engaged to their son, Kenneth. The party was held to introduce the bride-elect, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stafford of Eugene, Ore., to the Wightman family and friends. Kenneth is the brother of Mrs. Russell Ryder of San Jose.

The couple will be married on May 9 in Springfield, Ore.

MAROLYN ROLLINS, bride-elect of Kenneth Bode, was honored at a shower in the home of Mrs. Paul Peterson of Rohnert Park on the evening of April 9.

Guests decorated hats of styrofoam cups for the bride-to-be. Winners were Mmes. Madge Lewis, William Blaylock and Emma Jones.

Others present were Mmes. Ernest Briggs, Charles Ferris, Glen Holland, Fred Ludgate, Gene Luttrell, Dorothy Paterson, Archie Plummer, Ron Rasmussen, Ray Saunders, Irving Sewell and Skyral Sweeney. Marolyn, president of United Presbyterian Women of Faith United Presbyterian Church of Rohnert Park, will be married to Kenneth on April 25 in the church.

MAJ. (RET.) and Mrs. Wilfred Waldrop of Novato are the grandparents of a new grandson born Tuesday in Houston, Tex. Parents of Erik L. Korstad are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Korstad formerly of Novato. Mrs. Waldrop plans a trip to Houston in a few days.

LIVING IN Tiburon after their April 4 wedding are Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Lambrecht. She is the former Mary Kathleen Scharoun, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Scharoun of Easton, Md., and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. Everett C. Lambrecht of El Cerrito.

She is a secretary at Bolt, Beranek and Newmanin San Francisco and he is president of Lambrecht Building Materials, Inc. in Richmond. They went on a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe and are planning a wedding trip to Vancouver, British Columbia later in the year.

MR. AND MRS. Kennth M. Wightman of Petaluma gave a reception in their home in honor of Patricia Stafford who is engaged to their son, Kenneth. The party was held to introduce the bride-elect, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stafford of Eugene, Ore., to the Wightman family and friends. Kenneth is the brother of Mrs. Russell Ryder of San Jose.

The couple will be married on May 9 in Springfield, Ore.

ANTHONY MICHAEL Silva, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Silva, was christened at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato Sunday. Anthony is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. (Babe) Silva and Mr. and Mrs. Al Askim and the great grandson of Mrs. Delia Hoppe, all of Novato. The Rev. Thomas Burns, who performed the marriage ceremony for the Michael Silvas, also christened the infant.

Godparents were the mother's sister, Mrs. Robert Dinkel and the father's brother, Frank Silva, both of Novato.

Anthony wore a long gown which has been in the Silva family for 67 years. It was the christening gown for Babe and his sisters and also Mike and Frank. Following the christening, a buffet dinner for 20 guests was held at the Silva home.

Bridesmaids Pants

Among the new bridesmaid's "gowns" is one that is pants but looks like a skirt. After the wedding these can be worn to parties and also do duty as great dresses for at home entertaining.

Education Cost Rising Rapidly

ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI)—If Junior is one year old and you plan to save for his college education, figure on at least $25,000.

Consumer Economics Prof. Elizabeth Wiegand of the State College of Human Ecology predicts total college education costs will rise $250 a year per student.

Starting from a relatively inexpensive $2,000 per year figure at present, this would rise to $6,250 by the time Junior is ready to go to college, if you use the professor's formula.

Many private colleges already have tuitions alone well over the $2,000 mark.

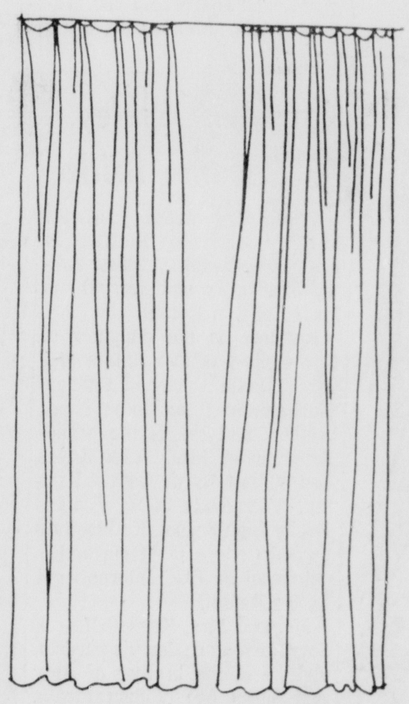
TO PUBLISH ENGAGEMENT AND WEDDING STORIES IN THE I-J

Forms for engagement and wedding story information to be printed in the Independent-Journal are available from the I-J offices in San Rafael, Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma.

Wedding forms should be returned promptly to the I-J office in your area and information will be printed immediately after the wedding. Photographers should be urged to submit a print of the wedding picture promptly. Color photographs cannot be used.

The Independent-Journal does not print wedding stories or photographs received more than seven days after the wedding.

An engagement form may be accompanied by a professional black and white photograph, which may be picked up at the I-J office after publication. Snapshots, polaroid or color pictures are not suitable.



This is a room for improvement.

Okay, so it's really a fitting room. But we think this is a much better name, because it's amazing the changes you can make just by stepping inside and trying on something new. For instance, last week five of our customers found they were groovy girls after all. Another discovered that powder-y pink did more for her complexion than 12 hours' sleep. And another discovered bodydressing and the boy she wanted discovered her. Now, do you understand why we call it a room for improvement? It really is.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

What's Left When Movies Cost Too Much And Hangouts Close?

DEAR HELEN:

A favorite comment of the older generation is, "When we were young, we went to the movies and then to the ice cream parlor, and then home" — implying they didn't go looking for trouble as we teens do.

They don't consider how many movies are barred to us and how expensive they are. Also, if we make an eating place a teen hangout, pretty soon it gets closed down as a "public nuisance."

There was a great teen nightclub in our town, but the police busted some guys there for "holding," and now it's gone. Most of us acted okay, but only a few stories in the paper were enough to turn adults against it.

Seems like there si'nt much else for us to do except go out in cars and park. We are even tossed out of public parks because of pot raids.

If more than five of us are seen together just goofing off, somebody thinks we're going to start a riot and turns us in.

So why shouldn't we stock up with six-packs and do what is expected of us? What's left but to ride around and get drunk. — L.D.

DEAR L:

The big cop-out: Nobody loves us. So we'll just ride around and get drunk.

For heaven's sake — if you kids would start policing yourselves, you'd soon find the wild minority rules only when the majority allows it. If you don't want teen hangouts closed down, make them off-limits to the undesirables. You'll be surprised how many adults will help. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My mother-in-law has never called our year-old son anything but "him" or "the baby," or "hey." He has a name, so why can't she say "Stevie"?

She calls her other grandchildren by name, but we've only been married two years and she still addresses me as "Hey," or "You" — never by my name.

How can we stop being: — NAMELESS NORA AND STEVIE

DEAR NAMELESS:

I'm relying on old IGAP (I'm guessing again perception) but tell me: Do you say "Mom" or "Mother" easily, or also settle for "Hey?"

Perhaps if you'd give your mother-in-law a name, she would come more easily to "Stevie" and "Nora." — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I have no big problem to write about. I'm writing to just say that is everyone had the incurable disease I have, we'd all be better off. You see, I have mountain sickness. I'm in love with mountains and nature.

It's really a beautiful feeling to hike in the hills and just soak up the sights. An attack of mountain sickness is a wild feeling. You're free and easy and it's like you can lick the world when you've climbed to the top.

I'm a 16-year-old boy and I really appreciate nature. I guess this sounds stupid, but I had to say what I feel because sometimes I get tired of all the griping I hear. — GREEN MOUNTAIN GUY

DEAR GUY:

Thanks for writing. I too suffer from mountain sickness — a lovely disease. — H.

Quant Gives Up Mini For Whole Midi-Maxi Showing

By NADEANE WALKER

LONDON (AP) — The miniskirt is now nothing but a joke to Mary Quant, the designer who invented it. She showed an all midi and maxi collection without bras today.

"We did put in one miniskirt just for a joke, but we couldn't go through with it, so we took it out," a spokesman for Miss Quant's Ginger Group said.

The new Quant clothes are nearly all in knit jersey, worn without bras and outlining every skinny curve. A few have scoop necklines, but about the only naughty number in the show was a black jersey midi dress called "Zelda" which was left unbuttoned behind nearly up to the waist.

Newest idea is a fairly plain midi in jersey which boasts not one but two brilliantly printed gypsy overskirts. They tie on in layers. Models parading midi-dresses over pants casually shrugged out of their trousers on the runways.

A lot of nearly ankle-length knit dresses are accompanied by matching long scarves with just a touch of pattern at each end. An elongated sweater dress in brown jersey is called "Higgins," from the garment made famous by Rex Harrison in "My Fair Lady," and a folksy outfit of mauve ruffled shawl, matching pants and satin blouse is named "Mark Twain."

There are a few gaucho pants and one interesting outfit called "British Raj" which has ruched Indian trousers with overskirt, vest and shirt in tones of purple and rust. An all-purpose costume, button-front and wearable as coat or dress, with or without trousers, is Miss Quant's strong suit.

Pork Prices Higher, Eggs And Beef Hold

WASHINGTON (UPI) — USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that food shoppers will find only a limited number of meat and fresh produce items featured at food stores and supermarkets this weekend.

Beef roasts and steaks and pork chops are listed again this week at the meat counter. In fish, according to the U.S. Department of Interior, look for canned tuna, fish sticks and portions, and Maine sardines.

Again this week featured vegetable items are limited mostly to carrots, lettuce, and potatoes, with lettuce expected to continue plentiful during coming weeks. At the fruit counter look for apples, grapefruit, oranges. Applesauce and apple juice as well as raisins are featured.

Items on USDA's plentiful foods list for the month of April are honey, canned and frozen corn, canned peaches and tomato products, dry beans, peanuts and peanut products, and eggs.

Now let's take a closer look at food supplies in the area:

In the West:

Fresh pork is higher and smoked hams lower in all West Coast markets. Other red meats, poultry, eggs and butter are generally unchanged from last week. Pork loins are 1 to 3 cents higher. Smoked hams are 1 to 4 cents lower.

Sliced bacon is as much as 4 cents lower in San Francisco. Beef loins are 2 to 3 cents lower in Los Angeles and lamb is as much as 2 cents lower in San Francisco. Young hen turkeys are 3 cents lower in San Francisco and a cent lower in Los Angeles.

Fruits and vegetables in best supply include apples, bananas, grapefruit, oranges, asparagus, carrots, celery, lettuce, onions and potatoes.

Shoe Bank For Panama Children

"It's a shame going to a public school anywhere in Panama and seeing children who walk, sometimes for over two hours to get to school, without shoes," Torrijos told UPI.

Torrijos said he hoped to have the government set up a shoe factory and donate the shoes to school children who will sign a receipt for them. they may, if they wish, pay for the shoes at any time in their lives. Payment, however, will not be mandatory, he said.

The luncheon will be prepared by Mrs. Neal Regin of Belvedere, assisted by other board members of the nursery school.

Professional hosts will be social workers Donna Dibble, Mmes. Audrey Dreyfus and Janet West, and Nicholas Suntzeff.

THE YOUNG Ladies Institute of St. Vincent De Paul Catholic Church in Petaluma will hold a fashion show and luncheon, "Fashion '70," at 12:30 p.m. Saturday at the Three Lions restaurant in the Holiday Inn in Santa Rosa.

Spring and summer fashions from two Petaluma specialty shops will be modeled with the proceeds going to the YLI charity fund.

Commentator will be Petaluma's mayor, Helen Putnam, with Mmes. Peter Bussmann, John Emery and Martin Hagen in charge of decor and printed programs. Alice Guglielmetti and Helen Cella will be in charge of special features.

Chairman of the affair is Mrs. Russell Silva with Mrs. Hubert Smith and Mrs. James Brown in charge of reservations. All are from Petaluma.

MRS. COULTER McKEEVER of San Rafael has been elected chairman of a voluntary branch committee of the Marin County Guide Dogs for the Blind.

She was elected at an organizational meeting of the committee last week. The group will meet again at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Bank of Marin, Fifth Avenue and B Street, San Rafael.

Other officers elected with Mrs. McKeever are Mmes. R. A. Baldocchi, San Rafael, vice chairman; Lawrence Draper, San Rafael, secretary; R. E. Thatcher, San Rafael, assistant secretary, and Arthur Latno, treasurer.

THE NORTH Marin Council Parent-Teacher Association will have its annual installation of officers and historians of the parent-teacher associations of the Novato Unified School District will report on the year's activities Friday at the Marin Country Club in Novato.

Mrs. Harvey Perryman will be installed president of the association and an honorary service award will be presented to a member of the community.

The meeting will begin at 10 a.m., followed by a social hour at 11:30 a.m., luncheon at noon and installation of the officers at 1 p.m.

Mrs. Ernest Stevens is the outgoing president.

Contaminated, Poisonous Foods Recalled From Shelf

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has initiated the voluntary market removal of 13.9 million servings of a nationally. known soup mixture because of food poisoning danger.

Also since January, it has spurred industry recalls of 334,000 pounds of popcorn packed by a Milford, Ill., firm; of 24,000 nationally-distributed frozen strawberry pies manufactured by a Columbus, Ohio, baker; and of 2,000 cases of a name-brand candy. All were contaminated with insect or rodent material, or both.

Other food items recalled in the past three months because of contamination in certain brands and lots include dried eggs, anchovies, noodles, raisins, frozen fried chicken, peanut butter, pimentos, pizzas and cooked mushrooms.

THE RECALLS are never totally successful, according to a spokesman for the Food and Drug Administration. Some of the products are purchased and consumed. The agency can't specify how many.

"Today's scientific knowledge, working through good laws to protect consumers, assures the safety and wholesomeness of every component of the American food supply," says the FDA, and indeed the great majority of foods, health supplies and cosmetics sold to the public are safe and wholesome.

The National Academy of Sciences says, however, FDA inspects only 40 per cent of the 64,000 interstate food processing plants subject to federal checking, and the agency itself estimates that 20 per cent of the plants are in substantial violation of government standards.

The most spectacular recall this year has been the 13.9 million servings of these nationally distributed, cartoned, Lipton soups: Perky Noodle Soup Mix, Chicken Vegetable Soup Mix, Ring-O-Noodle Soup Mix With Real Chicken Broth, Giggle Noodle Soup With Real Chicken Broth—test marketed in New England only—Beef Flavor Noodle Soup With Vegetables.

ALL THE SOUPS were contaminated with a bacteria called salmonella that can cause food poisoning. The organism was traced to the manufacturer of the noodle soup used in the Lipton mixes.

Lipton is recalling the mixes from retail shelves, but the FDA estimated that between 15 and 20 per cent remained on the market as of last week.

The FDA's weekly recall reports for this year show such other health-related product defects as:

—21 instances of contaminated batches of cosmetics, versus 11 in all of 1969. Most of the contaminants found, among other places in eye liner and cologne, were bacteria that can cause skin infections.

—Candle holder whose base explodes when the candle burns low.

—Drugs of varying potency that were mislabeled, encased in tubes that leaked or lacked an essential ingredient.

—Such supposedly sterile hospital supplies as sponges, scalpels and catheters that were contaminated.

TUESDAY NIGHT the FDA warned agaisnt eating a brand of prepared pizzas distributed by the Roman Inn Pizza Co., throughout the upper Midwest.

The FDA said mushrooms in some of the 80,000 "Roman Deluxe Italian Brand" pizzas produced this month are suspected of causing botulism, an acute food poisoning that can be fatal.

Roman Inn Pizza has been recalling the pizza, the FDA said, but "since distribution has been so widespread and has gone on for several weeks a public warning is considered necessary."

The 24,000 Mountain Top Frozen Strawberry Pies were recalled, the FDA said, because of "rodent contamination of fruit used as a raw material."

THE RECALL of 2,000 cases of Russel Stover Candies distributed in Missouri, Nebraska and Indiana was caused by "rodent and insects infestation of plant and rodent and insect hairs and fragments found in samples," the FDA said.

The agency attributed the recall of the 334,000 pounds of popcorn to "rodent contamination of plant and product." The popcorn is packaged under these labels, according to the FDA: Buddy Boy Hulless, Premiere 404 Monarch Popcorn, Our Family Popcorn, and Richelieu.

The contaminants involved in the other food recalls included bacteria, oil thinner, particles of broken glass, and pesticides, the FDA said.

MRS. RICHARD J. GRECHMAN

USC Unit Elects A President

Mrs. Richard J. Grechman is the new president of the Marin Trojan SCircle which will receive its charter from the University of Southern California Saturday. She has been a member of the group for the past three years of its formation.

It seeks to foster interest among local students in USC, to promote friendship and loyalty among the local alumni and to act as a liaison between the community and the University.

Col. (ret.) and Mrs. Coleman Sellers of San Rafael are announcing the engagement of their daughter Letitia (Tish) Sellers to Jeremiah (Jerry) Mason Little Jr. of Johnston, N.J.

Tish is a member of Alpha Phi sorority at the University of Colorado at Boulder.

A great great granddaughter of California pioneers, she is the sister of Joanna (Jody) Sellers of San Rafael and the granddaughter of Mrs. Howard B. Rector of San Rafael and Hawaii. She was graduated from Terra Linda High School and will be graduated from the university in May. She was a 1966 Hamilton Air Force Base debutante.

Jerry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Mason Little of Johnstown. He was graduated from Johnstown High School and will be graduated from the University of Colorado in 1971.

Mrs. Hyde Is President Of New Auxiliary

Designing children's clothes and toys, egg decoration, hiking, arts and crafts, travelling, languages, calligraphy and reading cookbooks and science fiction are interests of Mrs. Richard E. Hyde Jr. of Belvedere who is president of the just-forming auxiliary for Marin Child Development Center in Tiburon.

The three-month-old auxiliary plans luncheons and wine-tasting parties to attract new members. Then the new membership will plan fund-raising projects to benefit the nursery school which works with children from three to seven years, who have learning and behavior problems which will lead to trouble when they enter school. Their purpose is to educate the community about the work of MCDC. Anyone interested in children may join, says the president. Members will attend an orientation program at MCDC.

Karen Hyde is also a KQED volunteer and attends the Tuesday morning craft group at St. Stephen's Church in Belvedere. She has lived in Marin one year. Karen was graduated from Stanford University. Her children are Jennifer, 3 and Ricky, 1.

Mrs. Phillip Brown Is New Head Of Guild

Mrs. Phillip Brown of Tiburon is president-elect of the Sunny Hills Reed Guild and also is the mother of five children. Pat Brown, wife of an attorney, runs a 10-room-home and drives car pools to three schools.

Her children are Debbie, 16; Chris, 15, Mike, 12; Tim, 9 and Emily, 8. The Browns have lived in Marin for 12 years. Pat was graduated from Stanford University.

A Sunny Hills member for the last three years, Pat previously held offices of secretary, guild chairman of the Grape Festival and chairman of the bridge tournament.

The Reed Guilds' purpose is fund raising for the Sunny Hills Home in San Anselmo. They initiate and sponsor a bridge player's tournament for 192 women and host a spring luncheon for their bridge players.

Most of Reed Guild's members are Tiburon residents. They hold eight monthly meetings in members' homes. The four luncheon meetings and potluck supper give Pat and other members who are enthusiastic cooks an opportunity to prepare gourmet dishes.

SPRING IN STINSON BEACH

Three Women Travel 6,000 Miles For A Flower Show

By GEORGE NEVIN

Wild flowers have few more avid fans than three women from Stinson Beach who really go for the delicate and colorful blossoms—in fact, they went 6,000 miles for them this year.

The results of their handiwork will be seen by hundreds of flower lovers when the annual Stinson Beach Wild flower Show opens at 10 a.m. May 2 at the Stinson Beach Community Center for a two-day run.

All but overlooked in the riot of color, both subtle and sensational, will be Roberta Shockey, Barbara Menzies and Anne Leary, who for the 11th year have traveled the length and breadth of California looking for the elusive flowers.

Each year's show has featured a specialty—this time it's succulents. Others have been oaks, conifers and the shrubs of Mount Tamalpais.

"We get back from our collecting expeditions next Thursday and set up for the show Friday," Mrs. Shockey explained. "By midnight we aren't speaking to each other. We get ino arguments over who will arrange what flowers, the size and shape of the vases, and any other topic that comes to mind."

But by Monday they are fast friends again, Mrs. Menzies said, planning next year's event.

While flowers, staples of the show, must be collected no earlier than a week in advance to preserve their freshness, the three women and Mrs. Menzies's husband, Arthur L. Menzies of the Arboretum in San Francisco, have been working on the succulent feature for months.

"With 25 species and innumerable varities, we do our best to get a representative group for the show," Mrs. Shockey said.

"We've been from the north to the south border and clear over to the Panamints near Death Valley—everywhere, in fact, that they grow," she said.

Succulents are dry growers, Mrs. Menzies said, which helps to explain why only four varities are native to Marin county. "They prefer embankments where there's good drainage. They can stand to have their feet wet but not their crowns," Mrs. Menzies said.

The plants are widely grown as ornamentals because of their resistance to dry weather. But home gardeners will be amazed to see 140 varities of succulents at the show—tiny ones, barrel-shaped ones, succulents that look like cacti, succulents that look like flowers.

"That one," Mrs. Menzies said, pointing to an innocent-looking plant with small leaves, "was one of the most elusive. It took three hours of crawling under bushes in a field near San Ysidro on the Mexican border to find it."

With thousands of miles of travel behind them, the women have dozens of anecdotes to relate. "We're too old to worry about rapists and jewel thieves any more," Mrs. Shockey said, "but we still have nightmares about the agricultural inspectors."

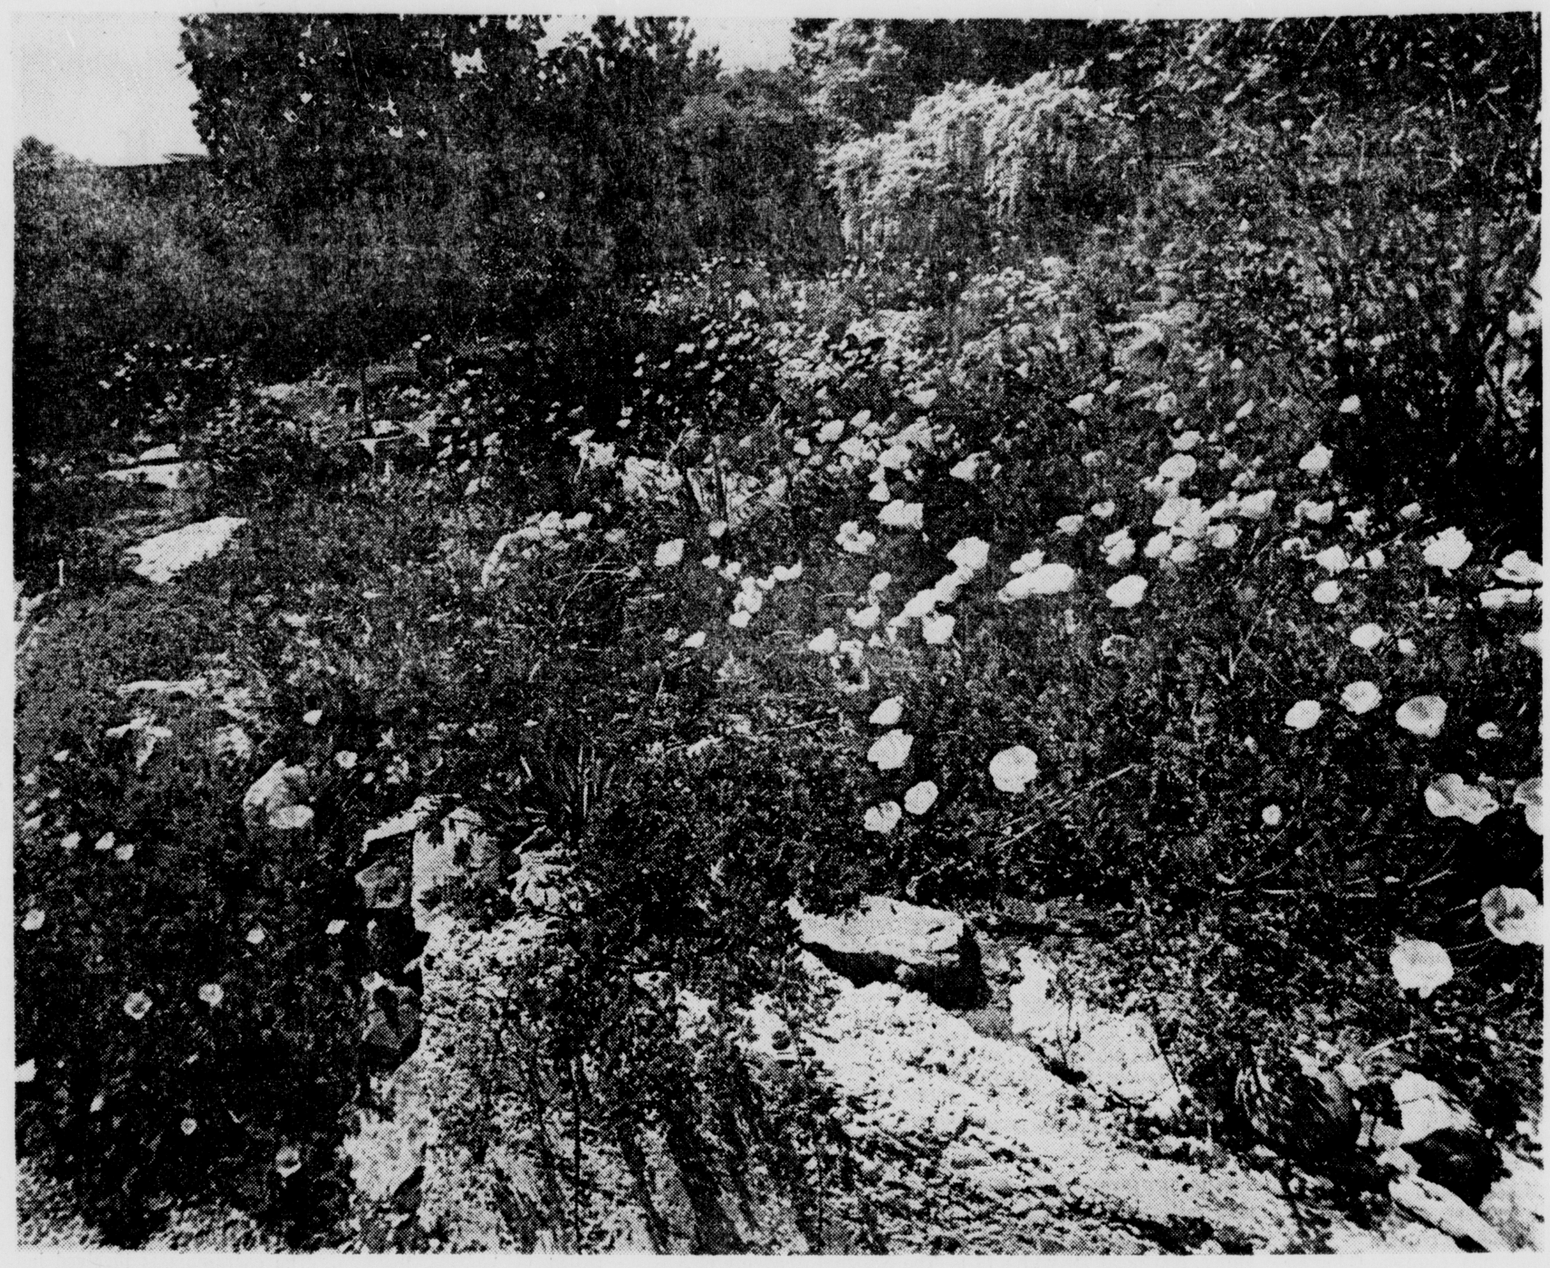
"In other years we've just told them that we only made a short side trip through Oregon and came from California," Mrs. Schockey said. "It helps to have California license plates on the car and curtains on the back windows."

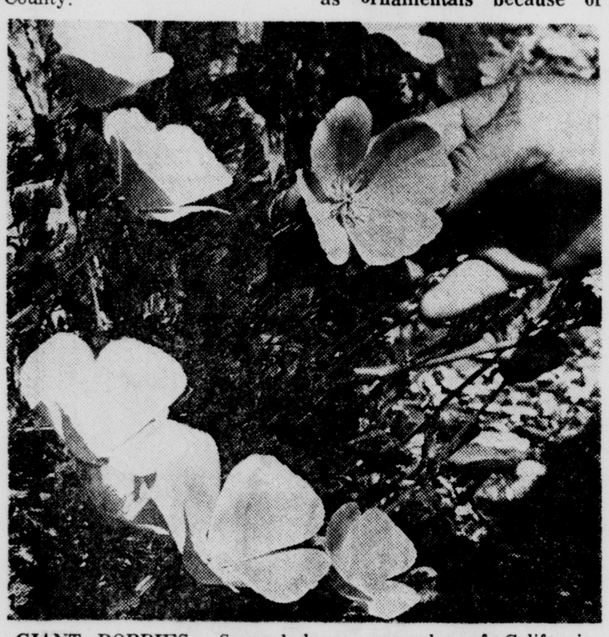
This may be the last year with a "ready-made" feature, and trio said. "We're almost out of ideas," Mrs. Menzies admitted, "although we do have a few more in mind—dividing the state into halves and doing all all-north and an all-south show, and doing a fall or spring show."

"And finally there's one," Mrs. Shockey said, "that we've been dying to do for years—narcotic plants of California. We have to get a permit to grow marijuana, though."



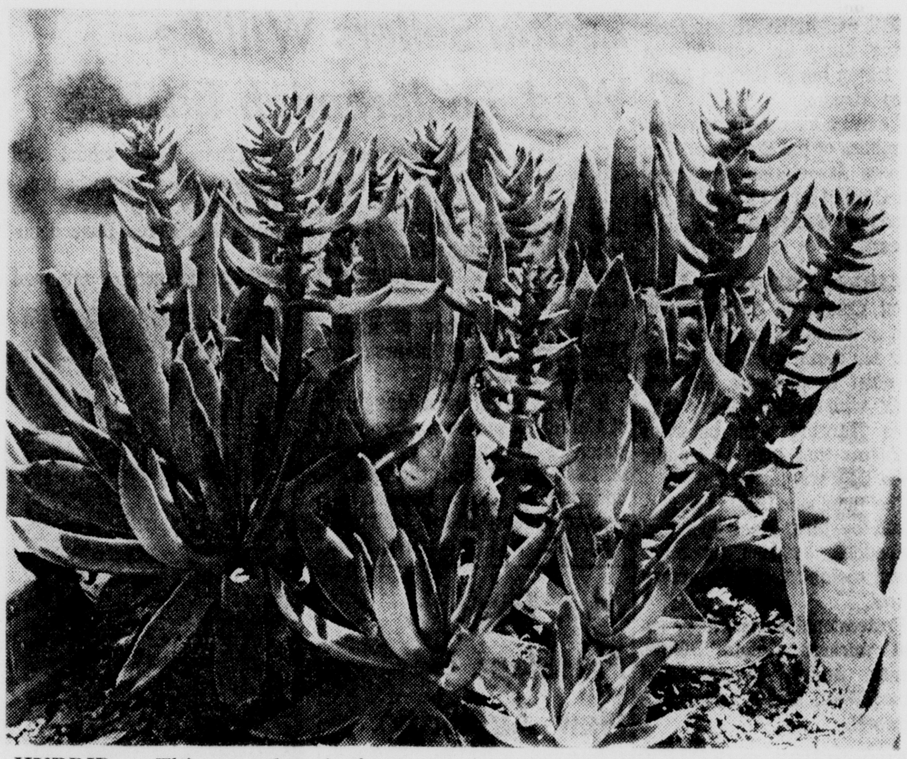
YEAR-ROUND SHOW — The front yard of Arthur L. Menzies has been given over almost completely to California wildflowers. Poppies, cream cups, Chinese houses and blue-eyed grass grow in profusion. A wisteria tree draping trails of blue flowers grows near the fence in the background. But the colorful yard will be eclispsed for two days beginning May 2, when the annual Stinson Beach Wildflower show draws all eyes to the community center. This year the theme is California's succulent plants.

NORTH OF THE BORDER— Dudleya arizonica is found in southernmost California. This specimen came from a field near Highway 94 in San Diego County.



GIANT POPPIES — Several large examples of California poppies (Eschscholtzia californica) grow in the driveway of Mrs. Menzies' home. The ornamental flower, the California state blossom, is not a true poppy, though.

TROUBLEMAKER — It took three hours of crawling among bushes in San Diego County to find this specimen of Dudleya varigata-otay. Anne Leary wonders if it was worth the trouble.



HYBRID — This succulent is the result of crossing Dudleya lanceolatex with Dudleya caspitosa. The resulting plant is unnamed—anyone who wanted to do research on the plant and publish a paper could name it for himself.

VALLEY FLOWER—The yellow Fremontia californica, named for explorer John C. Fremont, grows in the central and southern San Joaquin Valley, reaching its peak around Lake Isabella. Other varieties grow in Napa and Lake counties in the north.

WHITE BEAUTY—Carpinteria, a tree-like plant with white blossoms, gave its name to the town in Santa Barbara County.

DRAMA REVIEW

A Prison That Opens Eyes: 'Fortune'

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

SAN FRANCISCO—If "Fortune and Men's Eyes" is intended to shock, then the S l Mineo-produced play accomplishes its mission.

However, it is more of a shock of realization than of the sensational.

The much awaited play of prison life officially opened last night at the Committee Theater on Broadway to a packed house which probably came away muttering to itself.

To the little old lady in tennis shoes, the play by John Herbert is probably not her cup of tea. Her words would probably be "those dirty homosexuals, for shame, for shame."

Anyone likely to react that way would do well to stay away from "Fortune." But for anyone interested in better understanding of life inside a penal institution, it's a must on the theatrical calendar.

Briefly the plot involves a three-month period in the lives of four inmates.

First, let me explain. While the on-stage first act rape scene will probably offend many, it is total theater in the best sense. This and the rough words are just life—whether inside or outside a prison cell.

With deep understanding, the cast pleads for a better understanding of a world in which it has to exist. It probes the question: who is really the winner?

Mineo, who has had extremely good results with the play both in New York and Honolulu, has an excellent cast to convey the meaty words of playwright Herbert.

James Wigfall, who quit a lead role in the San Francisco production of "Hair" for a more dramatic vehicle, presents one of the finest characterizations seen on a Bay Area stage in many months. His role as Queenie calls for him to be bitchy and campy. He does it in good taste, never slipping, as he so easily might, into the realm of vulgarity. He convinced me that the "politicians" upstairs govern things. Matched as his counterpart is Robert Curtin as Rocky, the embittered roughie, who rules by threat and his alleged masculinity.

Eric Pierce as Mona and Courtney Burr as Smitty round out the cell's remaining foursome. While both start out rather weakly in their parts, they end up on practically equal footing with Wigfall and Curtin.

Tom Reese as the guard comes on strong in the latter part of the production in his role as a masochistic personality. Also briefly seen as Catsolino is Frank Hotchkiss, a former "boy" of Rocky's.

The pace of the three-act play is extremely fast. The cast delievers its words in lightning fashion, almost too real sometimes. Without this geared up pace, the play would have lacked the electrical spark—a major key to the overall success of the production.

The cast acts out its roles in a simple setting—prison walls that really appear seamy and iron bars that look like the real thing.

With the opening of "Fortune" the North Beach area has its second challenger for theatrical patrons. It's just around the corner and down the block from another stellar production, "One Flew Over the Cookoo's Nest" which opened last week. Like "Cuckoo", "Fortune and Men's Eyes" brings alive a rather dull San Francisco theatrical season.

Firemen To Vie In San Diego

The Kentfield Fire Dept. pumper-hookup team will compete against seven other teams during the annual Rural Fire Association conference at San Diego this Saturday.

The team is the first from Marin County to attend the annual event and has been clocked at 1:18 minutes during practice in laying out 450 feet of hose and getting the pumper started. The state record is 1:08.

Panther Newton Denied Parole

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (AP) — Huey P. Newton, cofounder of the Black Panther party, has been denied parole for the second time, the California Adult Authority reports.

Newton, 28, is serving a 2-to-15-year sentence at the Los Padres Men's Colony here on a manslaughter conviction involving the 1967 shooting death of an Oakland policeman, John Frey.

The parole board heard his case last week and the rejection was announced Wednesday. The first parole rejection was a year ago.

Newton will not be eligible for parole again until April 1971.

Community Festival To Involve Kentfield

Fifteen hundred exhibits are expected for the second Kentfield Community Spring Festival of the Arts, May 17 at Wolfe Grade School according to chairman Robert A. Geurts.

Sponsored by the Kentfield School District, the festival well may be the first school district sponsored event in the country designed for the entire community, not just for students, Geurts said.

The first festival, open only to school children, took place in 1968 with 1,000 entrants and a crowd of almost 2,500 people. Geurts expects 4,000 this year.

The Kentfield area has 4,000 residents and each is eligible to enter, Geurts said. There will be no competitive judging, but each entrant will receive a certificate of participation.

The festival whose theme is "Strength Through Beauty" is open to any legitimate art form, and will include a theatrical performance, according to Geurts. He said a literary magazine will be distributed at the festival and music and drama programs will presented.

The idea is not just to have an art show, but to get the community together and allow its members to display their creativity, Geurts said. Kentfield is unincorporated so it has no unifying body except the school district, he said.

A fund raising party with live music and dancing and no host cocktails is scheduled May 9 from 5 to 8 p.m. at the new Ross Valley Medical Clinic in Greenbrae.

Entrants in the festival must file before May 1 and bring their entries to Wolf Grade School May 11-13.

Greta Garbo was born Greta Louisa Gustafsson on Sept. 18, 1905, in Stockholm, Sweden.

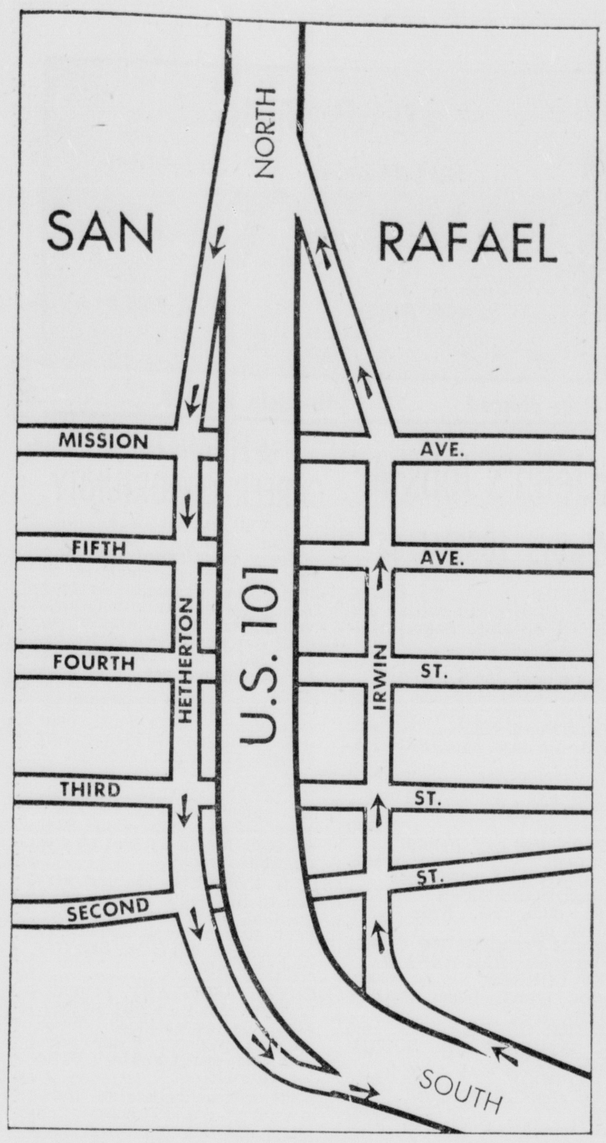
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
THIRD SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, APRIL 23, 1970 19



ACCIDENT SCENE — The new traffic pattern shown in the map was set up April 12, but motorists unaccustomed to it are still piling into each other. Hetherton is a new one-way street southbound. Irwin is now one-way northbound.

Nelson Selected Manager Of San Rafael Chamber

Robert Nelson, long time San Rafael insurance man, is the new manager of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce. Nelson's appointment by the chamber's board of directors was announced today by Larry P. Biancalana, chamber president. Nelson took over his duties immediately.

A 34-year resident of Marin County, Nelson for the past 30 years has been a life insurance underwriter, principally with Penn Mutual Insurance Co. He achieved the distinction of being named a charter life underwriter.

A few months ago, he said, he decided to seek a new career. He found it with the chamber, which was seeking a man to replace Glenn Adair, chamber manager who died last month.

ROBERT NELSON
New career in home town

Quipped Nelson, "I am still a CLU — chamber leader unexcelled."

In announcing the appointment, Biancalana said the chamber directors had sought a local man knowledgeable about San Rafael problems and prospects. "We feel that Mr. Nelson has the desire, capacity and energy needed for the job," he said.

Nelson's life insurance honors included membership in the Million Dollar Round Table. He is a past president of the Marin County Estate Council.

He has long been active in the chamber and once headed its most successful membership drive, which enrolled more than 100 members in a year.

He has also headed commerce and industry fund drives for the United Crusade and speakers' bureaus for Rotary and Marin Breakfast clubs. He is the newly elected president of the Terra Linda Rotary Club.

The chamber career actually will be Nelson's third. Before entering the insurance business, he was a civil engineer. He received a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering from South Dakota School of Mines, and was assistant city engineer of San Rafael from 1936 to 1940.

He and his wife, Eunice, live at 15 Convent Court. A son, William R. Nelson, lives in Dallas, Tex., and a daughter, Nancy Nelson, is the with Multi Ethnic Institute in San Francisco.

Nelson said that he will seek to promote chamber activities in Northgate, East San Rafeal, West End and Northgate Industrial Park as well as downtown San Rafael.

Hub Raid Results In Heroin Suspects

Drug agents armed with a search warrant which charged an earlier heroin sale last night raided a San Anselmo residence and arrested the five occupants who included a 15-year-old boy, all of whom appeared to have recently used heroin.

Charged with the sale of the narcotic were the 15-year-old, David Johnston, who lives at the 329 Greenfield Avenue residence with an older brother, as well as Mary Margaret Tovatt, 19, who also lives there.

A third person, George Billy Wigner Jr., 18, of 76 Tamalpais Avenue, San Anselmo, was arrested later at his home on a warrant charging the same sale.

Another resident of the Greenfield Avenue house, Michael Albert Jacinth, 21, was arrested on suspicion of possessing marijuana and being under the influence of drugs.

Two visitors, Richard Wayne Dillon, 36, and his wife, Vivian Marie Dillon, 22, both of the Travelers Hotel, San Rafael, were booked on suspicion of being in a place where narcotics were used and being under the influence of heroin. Dillon was also held as a parole violator.

The agents said that all the persons at the house had fresh needle marks on their bodies and that hypodermic needles were found as well as seven plastic bags of suspected marijuana.

Miss Tovatt was booked on suspicion of possessing the marijuana for sale as well as for the sale of heroin.

Mrs. Dillon's bail was set at $625 and Wigner's at $6,250. Bail for the others had not been set. All were to appear today in Marin Municipal Court except Johnston, who was taken to Juvenile Hall.

Leney Fails In Recount Of Ballot

Herber C. Leney failed in yesterday's ballot recount to oust Holmes S. Norville from the Corte Madera Town Council seat, which Norville was thought to have won by one vote. It turned out to be a four-vote victory for the challenged councilman.

The recount, which cost Leney $86, showed a final tally of 863 to 859 in favor of Norville instead of the previous 861 to 860 score.

Norville will be sworn in at the next town council meeting, according to City Clerk Betty Behel.

Rice Will Guide Tiburon Council

In a meeting that lasted 20 minutes, the Tiburon City Council last night elected Denis T. Rice mayor and newcomer Albert H. Sennett mayor pro tem, both for one-year terms.

The swearing-in of Sennett, Carlisle Becker and former mayor Branwell D. Fanning had been scheduled for Tuesday night, but none of the three had filed election expense statements by the deadline and the event was rescheduled for last night.

The law requires that each winning candidate file his statement at least one day before he is sworn in. Becker and Sennett filed Tuesday morning and Fanning filed Tuesday night.

DENIS T. RICE
Tiburon's new mayor

None of the three unsuccessful candidates, Donald L. Batten, R. Gary Gray and Alvin R. Kuhn, has filed.

Rice, 37, is an attorney in San Francisco. He was elected to the city council in 1963 and served as mayor pro tem last year. He lives at 117 Hacienda Drive.

Sennett, 41, also practices law in San Francisco. A member of the city's planning commission before his election, he lives at 26 Sutter Court.

Novato's Spring Cleanup Nears

The first day of the Spring Trash Bash, Novato's cleanup campaign, will be Saturday, according to co-chairmen Barbara Munden and Renee Kiff.

A trash collection center will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday only at the corner of Rowland and South Novato boulevards. All types of trash, except large household items, will be accepted.

The final day of the cleanup will be May 2.

To Superior Court On Defraud Charge

Rae Don Hirsch of San Rafael has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on two felony counts of possessing checks with intent to defraud others on March 10 and 11 and two additional charges of selling marijuana and amphetamine in November, 1968.

She is to appear in court May 4 for arraignment.

Revamping Of Street Routes Cause Wrecks

A spate of accidents in the shadow of the elevated section of Highway 101 have occurred because of a new street, largely, it appears, because drivers are not yet used to its presence.

Officer Charles Brobeck of the San Rafael police said that 10 accidents may be blamed on the opening of Hetherton Street and a concurrent change in Irwin Street April 12.

Such a turn would have been correct when the street was two-way.

Brobeck said people are ignoring stoplights and one-way signs because they are not used to the new alignment.

City Engineer Ely Caillouette agreed that accidents are not uncommon after such a change.

There have been six intersection accidents on Hetherton between Second and Fifth streets since it was opened 11 days ago and four on Irwin in the same time span.

Stinson Beach Firemen Ask Ban On Blocked Roads

An ordinance prohibiting the parking of any vehicle in a way that would obstruct passage of fire vehicles in an emergency was approved in principle last night by the Stinson Beach Fire Protection District board, Chief George H. White reported.

The chief said the proposed ordinance, currently being drafted, is needed because the district contains so many roads where the sheriff and California Highway Patrol have no jurisdiction.

"On weekends, thousands of people park their cars and jam all the roads leading from the highway to the beach, White said. "In addition, they park in front of hydrants and driveways.

He said the ordinance, once it is formally adopted, will be enforced by the Stinson Beach Volunteer Fire Department.

Innocent Plea To Drug Possession

Mary Elizabeth Nybo, 22, of Boyes Hot Springs, pleaded guilty Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court to a misdemeanor charge of possessing amphetamine and a felony count of having marijuana was dismissed.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. set sentencing for May 22.

Cabinet Aide To Talk

John L. Wilks, a deputy assistant secretary of the Department of Labor, will be the main speaker at the second annual luncheon of the Bay Area Construction Opportunity Program, a program sponsored by the Marin Building Trades Council and other groups. The luncheon will be at 11:30 a.m. May 6 at the Le Baron Hotel, 1380 Bayshore Highway, Burlingame.

Petaluma Police Probe Treasury Bond Sale Fraud

Petaluma police are investigating a possible fraud operation in which elderly persons are being bilked by a phony United States Treasury agent selling false treasury bonds.

Sgt. William Reed said the nationwide operation was first advertised in the Wall Street Journal as government bills for sale.

He said anyone who has been approached recently by a "treasury agent" offering to sell bonds should get in touch with him at the police department.

The securities will be stamped as "certified" in the upper right hand corner with a number directly below it. Reed said he is investigating the possibility that two elderly Petaluma brothers were sold $10,000 of the worthless bonds.

Pot Possession Case Dismissed

A marijuana possession case against Robert Michael Cooley, 19, of Mill Valley, has been dismissed after Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. of Marin Municipal Court declared a search of Cooley illegal.

Cooley had been arrested in Tamalpais Valley at 4 a.m. March 4 after sheriff's deputies questioned him because of recent burglaries in the area. They took him to a sub-station for further questioning, they said, after he first gave them identification belonging to another person. A search revealed a lid of suspected marijuana.

Tot Dance Class

Tiny Tots Dance Class, sponsored by the Corte Madera Recreation Department, is scheduled for 11 a.m. to noon each Monday beginning May 4. Advance reservations for the class taught by Cathy Heckler are being accepted at the Corte Madera Town Hall.

SUMMONS (MARRIAGE)
Case Number 613655

Superior Court of the State of California for the City and County of San Francisco

In re the marriage of
Petitioner: HURLBURT THAYER WALKER, JR.
and
Respondent: DINA BLOCK WALKER

To the Respondent:

The petitioner has filed a petition concerning your marriage. You may file a written response within thirty days of the date that this summons is served on you. If you fail to file a written response within such time, your default may be entered and the court may enter a judgment containing injunctive or other orders concerning division of property, spousal support, child custody, child support, attorneys' fees, costs, and such other relief as may be granted by the court.

If you wish to see a lawyer for advice in this matter, you should do so promptly so that your written response, if any, may be filed on time.

Containing 5.62 acres. BEING a part of the original allotment number 22 made to Dalton, et al, according to the map made by Bissle of the Rancho Laguna de San Antonio or Bojorques Rancho on file in the office of the Clerk of the old 4th District Court of the City and County of San Francisco.

PARCEL THREE: A RIGHT of way leading out to the County Road described as follows: BEING 15 feet in width and lying 7.5 feet on either side of a line described as follows: BEGINNING at a point distant South 26° West 7.5 feet from said stake marked "D-E", running thence North 63° 25' West 12.89 chains; thence North 26° East along and parallel with the boundary line between the lands of said W. A. Lewis and one Peters 9.47 chains, more or less, thence Northwesterly along Peters Northeasterly boundary line to the center of the present roadway leading from the lands of Peters out to the main County Road; thence along said Roadway along and across the lands of W. A. Lewis to and across the lands of said Lewis conveyed to said Lewis by Hans Juhl, by Deed recorded January 24, 1906 in Book 97 of Deeds, at page 291, Marin County Records. EXCEPTING therefrom any portion thereof lying within the boundaries of Parcel One herein described.

SUBJECT TO: current taxes, covenants, conditions, restrictions, reservations, rights, rights of way, and easements of record.

BIDS or offers are invited for the property and must be in writing and may be delivered to the Conservator or to the office of his attorney HENRY J. SOLDATI, 35 Fifth Street, Petaluma, California 94952, or may be filed in the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court at any time after the first publication of this notice and before the making of the sale.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF SALE: Cash in lawful money of the United States of America; 10% of the amount bid to accompany the offer and the balance to be paid upon confirmation of sale by the Superior Court. Taxes and premiums on insurance acceptable to the purchaser shall be pro-rated as of the date of recording of conveyance. The examination of title, recording of conveyance, and any title insurance policy shall be at the expense of the purchaser or purchasers. Any offer for the undivided one-half interest in the foregoing real property must be accompanied by a similar offer for the undivided one-half interest vested in Ethel S. Carroll under conservatorship of Frank M. Stall as Conservator, Marin County Superior Court Case No. 19337, as it is the intention of the Conservator to sell the entire combined interests of James Carroll and Ethel S. Carroll in the foregoing real property; and further, should there be increased bids in Court each bid must refer to a like bid in the conservatorship of Ethel S. Carroll aforesaid.

ONE OF NATION'S BEST

Nursing Program Director Leaving A Top Operation

The woman who set up College of Marin's registered nursing program from scratch is leaving this summer, and her monument will be one of the nation's most highly regarded college nursing programs.

The reasons for Shirley Conklin's departure are clouded in the obscurity of campus politics and management, but they stem largely from indecision by college officials about her position that caused freezing of her salary level for two years.

Thus, on March 19, she submitted her resignation to the Marin Junior College District board, which accepted it regretfully.

Miss Conklin was hired in 1964 to set up the program, and spent the first year making the hundreds of needed plans and arrangements. The college now graduates approximately 33 registered nurses each spring, and plans to expand next fall's entering class to 55 students.

The two-year program is the "newest kind of nursing education in the country," Miss Conklin said, having originated in 1952. Before that, registered nursing was a three-year program run by hospitals rather than colleges. Many hospitals still offer the three-year program.

The advantage of College of Marin's program, she said, is that it attracts students who wouldn't or couldn't enter the hospital type training. Pupils range from 17 to 55 years old, and are able to continue such duties as homemaking while they attend nursing school. The total cost to the pupil, Miss Conklin estimated, is only $350 for uniforms, books, insurance and other expenses.

Nearly all the graduates have stayed in Marin, working for hospitals, in doctors' offices or at nursing homes, she said.

The figures justify the community pressure which led to formation of the program in 1964, which she said came from the hospitals and the community.

The two-year program has as much learning crammed into it as the three-year one, she said. The briefer period is made possible by a totally integrated program in which the "health continuum" is considered.

For example, instead of teaching an eight-week block course on psychiatric nursing, the school recognizes that there are "emotional components" in all aspects of nursing and points them out throughout all courses taught.

Miss Conklin is co-author of a projected textbook on the teaching method. Her qualifications are attested by her experience—a master's degree from Columbia University's Teachers College, 12 years as an instructor and five as director and assistant director, all at the Knapp College of Nursing in Santa Barbara.

The two-year program, she said, also requires careful coordination of planning, and demands a great deal of independent study by the students.

College of Marin was the first in California to reduce the program to four semesters, other schools having a program of four semesters plus one or two summer school sessions. The curriculum content is regulated by stiff controls by the state.

LEAVING COLLEGE — Despite the success of the registered nursing program she has run from the beginning, Shirley Conklin is leaving the College of Marin this summer. "I could no longer work with indecision regarding my position," she says. (Independent-Journal photo by Jim Kean)

The college was also one of the first to get accreditation from the National League for Nursing, which has given the program a prestigious eight-year accreditation.

Another measure of prestige is the annual "student nurse of the year" competition in the Student Nurses Association of California. A College of Marin student has won the Bay Area division title each year since 1965, and the 1968 condidate won the state award.

The school has limited enrollment to 64 students because it is still in temporary quarters—three pre-fab class buildings and an old frame house on Kent Avenue which serves as office space.

The program and other health programs will move a year from now into a new building now under construction on the site of old Harlan Center, and enrollment can increase accordingly.

Miss Conklin was hired to set up the registered nursing program, run it as coordinator, and eventually take over a combined health occupations department embracing registered nursing, dental assisting and vocational nursing programs. This was the plan of then-President Stephen E. Epler.

But Epler later resigned, to be succeeded by a fast-moving series of presidents, and the combined department has never been formed. A year ago, the acting president decided that Miss Conklin's position should be in the faculty hierarchy rather than administration. Implicit in that was the lower salary scale of faculty members. The recommendation was that her salary remain fixed until faculty salary levels caught up to it.

The proposal was not accepted by the college board, and a study by college committees was ordered. What happened after that is evidently known only to committee members.

Miss Conklin said she has never learned what decision was made by the committee, but that meantime her salary has been frozen for two years, and she was working with no contract.

Reviewing her situation this spring, she said, "I felt I could no longer work with indecision regarding my position." Since no clarification was forthcoming, she resigned in order to have time to find a new position by fall.

Supt.-President John A. Grasham, who inherited the situation when he took office in January, said there was "no danger of her status being changed in a derogatory way" this year or she would have been notified by March 15.

His understanding, Grasham said, was that Acting Supt.-President Louis H. Herkenhoff had decided Miss Conklin should be on the administrative salary schedule, serving as coordinator with teaching duties as well.

Business Mgr. Norman Bird said she was on the administrative salary schedule until the end of last fiscal year, when Herkenhoff recommended her salary be frozen until salaries for coordinators reached her pay level. The proposal was delayed, Bird said, until it could be reviewed by faculty committees and the incoming president, who had not been chosen then.

A subcommittee named by the Academic Senate to review the case reported last November, recommending that the decision be delayed until the new president made his position known.

Another committee was appointed in December to make a recommendation to Grasham, but what its report was is not known.

In letters to the college board this month, the faculty and students of the registered nursing program recommended the college unify the health occupations programs under an assistant dean, a plan much like Epler's in 1964. Thus Miss Conklin's successor may have the position she was promised but not given.

Regarding the program she set up, Miss Conklin said it has had "excellent community support. . .My concern now is that the college continue to provide for the community a quality nursing program."

Regarding her resignation, she said, "I think there's a real communications problem within the college itself that hinders decision making."

"I thought this over for a long time," she said of her resignation. ". . .It's a final decision as far as I'm concerned."

Followup Call Likely To Clear Census Data

The 1970 census ended for most people on April 1, but don't be surprised if you receive a telephone call from the bureau requesting a clarification on your form.

For the past several weeks, census takers have been shuffling through forms to find and correct errors in an effort to make this decennial count the most accurate in history.

This week the enumerators begin a new phase of the head count. Personal follow-up phone call to any who submitted incomplete forms earlier this month, and door-to-door calls on homes which submitted no form at all.

At the local census office, Barbara K. Hennessy, district manager, said she had no idea of how many personal calls will be necessary to complete the census in Marin County.

"We have no way of telling yet how many follow-up will be required," she said, adding she probably won't know until it's over.

According to Mrs. Hennessy, each of her 148 census takers is charged with an area not to exceed 750 housing units and is responsible for the completion of the census in that area.

Mrs. Hennessy said an address register, computed in Washington D.C. is given each enumerator, who in turn checks off forms when received against the list.

The census taker then checks the completeness of the form. When an incomplete form is discovered it is held for further clarification.

Mrs. Hennessy added that the bureau has until May 15 to complete this follow-up phase. After that, she said, forms not received or incomplete will be forwarded to the San Francisco district office for further processing.

Three years of record crops in Japan have left 32,000 governmen storage bins overflowing with rice. Officials may use abandoned mine shafts and World War II air raid shelters to store the excess.

SKILLED HANDS — Forty seven years of experience and serious concentration show on the face of Herman Sowatsch as he stiches a cuff to a pair of pants. Sowatsch, who has been a San Rafael tailor since 1956, will retire May 1, and may possibly be the last of the old-time tailors. (Independent-Journal photo)

San Rafael Losing Veteran Of Both Sewing Machine And Wars

When Herman Sowatsch retires May 1, San Rafael will lose another of its old-time tailors.

A quiet man who smiles the second time he meets you, Sowatsch earlier this month hung a hand-made sign in his shop's window at 844 B Street informing his patrons he planned to retire.

Finding his harsh Austrian accent hard to understand, his customers rarely pause long enough to really speak with the old man, soon to be 73.

A vintage Singer sewing machine sits in one corner of his shop, as pictures and postcards decorate one wall and the smell of cloth permeates the cramped quarters.

Sowatsch, who spends most of his work day behind the ancient machine, paused between customers the other day to reflect on a little of his life.

Born in Austria, Sowatsch said he was wounded three times during World War I fighting with the Austrian Army.

Following the war, he apprenticed as a tailor for three years in Vienna and later set up shop in Salzburg.

Drafted into the German army during the Second World War at the age of 42, he was captured in Belguim by the Allies in 1944 and spent the last year of the war in a French prisoner of war camp near Marseille.

Following World War II, he moved to Zurich, Switzerland, where he plied his trade until 1956 when he moved to San Rafael at his wife's urging. She died six years later.

As the shop's front door opened and another customer entered, Sowatsch quickly added that he has no plans for his retirement other than a 10-week vacation to Austria this summer.

Veteran Mill Valley Street Aide Retiring

Jack A. Silva, 64, a street foreman for the Mill Valley Public Works Department for more than 30 years, will retire April 30.

A native of Olema, Silva has lived in the county all his life except for a few years before and during World War II when he worked for a shipyard in Richmond and then joined the Navy.

"Things haven't changed much in Mill Valley since I came here in 1933," he said. "It's grown, and there were more trees then, but basically it's the same."

Mill Valley's street system has been much improved since he joined the department, Silva said. "There weren't many dirt or gravel roads then, and there aren't any now," he said.

Asked to recall an especially important job he took part in, Silva said he couldn't single out one project. "When you're working for the city, they're all important," he said. "All the projects are aimed at making the city a better place."

Silva's retirement plans call for him to move out of the county for the first time in his life.

"I'm going to move up to the North Coast," he said. "I've got a boat and I like to fish, and I figure that I can do that best up there."

Promotions Set For Sonoma State

Sonoma State College President Ambrose R. Nichols Jr. has announced the promotion of six faculty members to full professors, nine to associate professor and one to assistant professor.

Promoted to professor were Dr. John S. Bullen, English; Dr. Clement E. Falbo, mathematics; Dr. William E. McCreary, Dr. Gerald W. Redwine and H. Gordon Tappin, psychology; and Dr. Delmar S. Valleau, management.

Named as associate professors were Dr. Mary E. Arnold and P. Sterling Bennett, foreign languages; Dr. F. Leslie Brooks and Dr. Marvin L. Kientz, chemistry; Gerald W. Haslam, English; William Morehouse, art; John G. Rohrman Jr., management; David R. Sprung, music; and Dr. Sommai Vongsuri, mathematics.

Lynn W. Clark, drama department, was promoted to assistant professor.

MARINWOOD MOUNDS

Digger Adding To Indian Culture

By LARRY MOWELL

Artifacts from Coast Miwok Indians that may date back to the birth of Christ have been unearthed by student archaeologists in Marinwood.

Pointing to the bottom of a trench about 15 feet deep, Charles Slaymaker speculated the other day that artifacts found in the bottom were left there about 1 A.D. while those found near ground level date back to 1840-50.

Slaymaker, who is doing field research for his master's degree in anthropology from San Francisco State College has been excavating the hillock and several neighboring mounds near Miller Creek since last summer.

"What I'm trying to do is to describe social patterning through archaeology. Obviously, one of them (the mounds) is bigger than the others and I want to know why," Slaymaker said. "I'm trying to prove that one of them is more important than the others."

Even if he fails to prove this, his study will at least add to the knowledge of the Indian culture in Marin.

Slaymaker said that although Marin County has nearly 500 recorded Indian mounds — the greatest total north of Mexico— there has been very little in-depth study of the Miwoks.

These sites were charted in the early part of the century by N C. Nelson, an anthropologisst at the University of California. Slaymaker chose his mounds by consulting Nelson's records and looking for the most intact site.

The area around the digging is much the same as it must have been when the brown-skinned, naked Miwoks were attracted to it thousands of years ago. Miller Creek, which used to provide a refreshing morning dip for the men of the tribe, still snakes around the mound and acorn-bearing oak trees still abound on a nearby hillside.

Although there are 20th century buildings nearby and San Francisco Bay waters have been pushed nearly two miles farther away by the spreading civilization, the habitat of the primitive Indians is almost intact.

By carefully shoveling dirt and sifting it through screens, the young archaeologists have found the floor of a basin-shaped ceremonial hut 15-20 feet in diameter in the large mound. The smaller settlements contained only dwellings, according to Slaymaker.

The ceremonial structure was used for religious dancing ceremonies, Slaymaker said. The Miwoks' primary god after 1600 was Kukhu, god of the south. No one knows how long before that he was worshipped.

"My tentative conclusion is that this was the major village by its size and the presence of the ceremonial structure and absence in other sites," Slaymaker said of the mound he is now working on.

Evidence of status differences have also been uncovered. Of the six human burials that have been discovered, one — that of a 6-month-old child — contained beads, dolls and other artifacts. The others contained no such artifacts, according to Slaymaker.

The smaller surrounding settlements located about 500 yards from the major mound were off-shoots of it, but Slaymaker was not sure why new colonies were formed when the group's population reached 25-30. He surmised that some sort of clan relationship may have developed.

Through their diligent sifting and scratching in the earth, the archaeologists have uncovered a wealth of artifacts including baked clay figurines, stone and abalone pendants, beads, arrowheads, mortar and pestle fragments, awls, four or five structures and the six burials, according to Slaymaker.

He said the Miwoks were inhabiting Marin County and Southern Sonoma when Sir Francis Drake landed at Point Reyes in 1579, but no one is sure when they arrived in Marin since the tribe had no written history.

To survive, these Indians who inhabited the little hill overlooking a gentle stream caught shellfish in San Francisco Bay, collected acorns, and hunted game.

They lived in semi-subterranean circular huts 8-to-10 feet in diameter made of saplings lashed together and covered with tule carted down from Novato Slough and woven into mats.

The Miwoks were forced into missions by the invading 18th century Spaniards, but Slaymaker has evidence that a few Miwoks returned to the largest site after the missions were secularized in 1836. Most, however, were submerged in the oncoming wave of white men.

The young anthropologist began digging on a minor mound last summer with seventh and eighth graders from Marinwood and Marin City doing much of the labor for summer school credit.

When all the digging is done, in September, Slaymaker would like to donate his findings to a Marin County museum, but there isn't one devoted to Indian lore, he said.

Welfare Nominee Stalled

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Lucian Vandegrift, whose appointment by Gov. Ronald Reagan as state human relations secretary is stalled in the Senate Rules Committee, denies charges he is "hostile" to welfare recipients.

The committee held up approval Tuesday after the former Butte County district attorney was accused of taking "the ax handle approach" toward welfare cases.

"I'm not antagonistic toward welfare recipients at all," he said later to a newsman.

He also denied that as district attorney he persecuted persons on welfare.

Sen. Mervyn Dymally, D-Los Angeles, Tuesday asked the subcommittee to investigate charges made against Vandegrift before it recommends whether he should be confirmed by the full Senate.

Now serving as acting secretary of the Human Relations Agency, Vandegrift, 43, was deputy secretary under Spencer Williams. Reagan named him to replace Williams in the $35,000-a-year post when Williams resigned to run for state attorney general.

The Human Relations Agency controls the state's welfare, health and employment programs.

Vandegrift told committee members he hoped to improve retraining programs for those who have been unemployable, such as parolees and the handicapped.

He also questioned the wisdom of using federal funds in health and welfare programs, saying they are often used mainly "because they're purportedly free dollars. Just because they're federal dollars spent."

Frank Rudd, a retired state accountant from Chico, charged that as district attorney Vandegrift pursued cases of suspected welfare fraud to the point of neglecting other duties and that he "tampered with jury lists" to eliminate persons who "didn't go along with his concepts."

He said he had brought his charges to the attention of the Butte County Grand Jury, but that no action was taken.

REAGAN ASSURES

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Reagan assured a Republican women's convention Wednesday night "nothing is being left undone" by the university regents, law enforcement or state government to curb campus violence.

Reagan told 800 members of the California Federation of Republican Women the time had come "for the vast majority" to withdraw any support or sympathy for dissidents — so that "the little band of campus revolutionaries is isolated and exposed."

Reagan told an enthusiastic audience that campus unrest was "the most frustrating thing that I've ever experienced."

He cautioned the women not to mistake "the ragtag mob of dissidents" for the majority of young people in California whom he praised as "fine young people."

CAMPUS ARMS

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A bill to outlaw possession of any firearm — loaded or unloaded— on any public school, state college or University of California campus has been approved by the Assembly Criminal Procedures Committee.

"The inflammatory effect of displaying a firearm on campus is an evil itself, and one we can correct," Assemblyman Frank Murphy Jr., R-Santa Cruz, author of the measure, said Wednesday.

The bill, which now goes to the Assembly floor, proposes a maximum penalty of five years in prison or one year and a $1,000 fine.

RAFFERTY STAND

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Max Rafferty threatened today to seek dismissal of any University of California chancellor who allows members of the Chicago Seven to speak on campus.

Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction, specifically proposed such action against UC-Irvine Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich Jr., in letters to Gov. Reagan and Aldrich.

Then it was learned that five of the Chicago Seven and their attorney, William Kenstler, had cancelled a Sunday appearance at Irvine because of "a conflict in their schedule."

But Rafferty told a reporter later he would try to get the UC regents to fire any chancellor who has any legal way of "preventing these vandals from coming on campus" and doesn't.

That they would be allowed to appear at Irvine was "unbelievable," he said.

Rafferty said he would make such a move as an ex-officio member of the UC Board of Regents.

On Tuesday, Reagan — also a regent — described the Chicago Seven "freaks in a side show" who had no legitimate reason to speak on campus.

But whether they should be allowed to speak poses a tough problem for campus administrators, he said.

"It is a difficult thing for an administrator to know whether he could precipitate violence by the action of denying them . . . or letting them," he told a news conference.

FORNEY QUITS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Dr. Russell L. Forney has resigned as acting director of the State Department of Rehabilitation to avoid possible conflict of interest.

Forney, chief deputy director serving as acting director in the absence of director Robert Howard, said he quit the $1,-626-a-month job last week because he also was working as a consultant to a project involving the training of technicians in five schools across the nation.

Human Relations Agency secretary lucian B. Vandegrift stressed that no conflict of interest had taken place and described Forney's other work as an "error in judgment." He said no state funds were involved in Forney's consultation work.

LINDSAY HIT

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The chairman of the Assembly Agriculture Committee Wednesday criticized New York Mayor John Lindsay for his participation in the donation of a bell to striking grape workers in Delano.

"Neither the grape strike nor any other labor dispute will be resolved by grandstand antics," said Assemblyman William M. Ketchum in a statement issued by his office. "Mayor Lindsay, of all people in this country, should know this.

Lindsay sealed the clapper of the donated bell, which is not to ring until the grape workers' strike is over.

HEALTH PLEA

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The California Association for Mental Health Wednesday urged Gov. Ronald Reagan to drop his plan to reorganize state health services.

The governor's proposal, before the Legislature, would eliminate the state Departments of Public Health, Mental Hygiene and Health Care Services and place their functions under a single department of health.

In a letter to the governor, association president Mrs. Joseph V. Costello Jr. said the reorganization plan was "premature" and should be more fully developed.

NAMES DEBATE

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A bill to change the names of California state colleges to state universities is before the Senate today after the Assembly reversed itself and approved the measure 44-27.

The bill by Assemblyman E. Richard Barnes, R-San Diego, failed to win the 41 votes needed for Assembly approval last Friday in a 33-33 deadlock.

"I ask you, I plead with you," Barnes told the Assembly Wednesday, "to give me an 'aye' vote . . . on behalf of the graduates of these outstanding institutions who are denied the word university on their diplomas."

Assemblyman Don Mulford, R-Piedmont, said the name change would eventually cost "millions and millions" of dollars because it would enlarge the role of the state colleges in graduate work and research.

Mind Boggler: Tall Buildings Cut Smog

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) — Urban commuters caught in smogbound traffic jams might be skeptical, but a Colorado engineer says more freeway and tall buildings in metropolitan areas can reduce air pollution.

Tall buildings deflect winds down to the street, which tends to lift pollutants out of the city, says Dr. J.E. Cermak, a fluid dynamics expert at Colorado State University. And freeways, properly placed, are channels of fast moving air that drain pollutants out of the city.

Cermak cites air movement around tall buildings and freeways as examples of the critical need for wind tunnel studies for building projects before construction begins. He has spent 15 years studying air movement in cities, using wind tunnels and scale models of buildings and cities.

Most urban areas with air pollution problems grew up helter-skelter with no thought about air movement and its effect on pollution control, he said.

"But it's just a matter of time before people realize there are many things that can be done to improve the environment by proper spacing of buildings, their shape and the spacing of streets, Cermak said.

Cermak said more buildings and freeways for existing urban centers such as New York and Chicago, however, won't do much good.

"Even if they took the buildings and freeways away, they'd still have the air pollution problem," he said. "You can't expect what exists now to be effective. It's pretty hard to do something with an old site unless you rebuild it.

"But when part of a city is being rebuilt or a new city is being planned, that is the time to study the local climate and air movement and look at how one might lay out the structures to reduce air pollution."

Cermak and his colleagues are using three wind tunnels in their research. Two of the tunnels are capable of creating inversions, the atmospheric condition responsible for many smog problems. An upper layer of cold air traps warm air on the ground, stopping vertical mixing of air and concentrating pollutants near the ground.

Cermak said the research has shown that inversion-produced pollution in some areas can be abated if a row of tall buildings form an "inversion dam."

"If you had an air pollution source upwind, say an industrial site, by putting a fairly solid wall of tall buildings on the upwind edge of the city," Cermak said, "the buildings would act as an inversion dam so air coming down from the industrial site would be deflected outward."

Tall buildings, the research revealed, create upward and downward air currents when the wind blows.

"So the presence of a single tall building generates verticle, mixing which has beneficial effects. And if the building is so tall that it is above the inversion layer, then this vertical mixing is a definite advantage," Cermak said.

Research Proves Dogs Get Lung Cancer From Smoking

New research has demonstrated that heavy cigaret smoking produces lung cancer in dogs. Beagles were taught to smoke through hollow Teflon tubes inserted into the windpipe. These experiments (Using nonfilter and filter-tip cigarets) lasted for more than two years. The animals were classified as heavy and light smokers. Those in the heavy smoker group consumed nine cigarets a day (equivalent to 40 a day for a 150-pound man).

Doctors Oscar Auerbach and E. Cuyler Hammond reported their findings at a meeting of the American Cancer Society. Eighty per cent of the heavy nonfilter smokers developed lung tumors. The percentage was 58.3 among light smokers and 33.3 among heavy users of filter-tipped cigarets.

SMOKING DOGS developed lung changes similar to those found in humans. These included emphysema and scar tissue. Less extensive damage was seen among users of filter-tip cigarets. However, even filter-tip cigarets, when used for a longer time, damaged the lungs. According to Medical Tribune, a filter-tip cigaret delivered 49 per cent less tar and 7 per cent less nicotine.

We may have found the missing link in the cigaret-lung cancer controversy. While many authorities accepted the statistical proof of the relationship between smoking and health, they wanted laboratory proof that cigarets could induce lung cancers in living animals.

ANIMAL STUDIES on cancer and smoking have been limited because of the technical problems involved in inhalation experiments in small animals. Lung cancers have been produced in hamsters by instilling aerosolized chemicals into the windpipe, but this does not duplicate smoking per se. Furthermore, months and years must elapse before changes occur in the bronchial membranes after heavy smoking. In this respect, the research just reported may represent a breakthrough.

APPENDICITIS

Mr. A. writes: Is it true that the older a person gets the less likely he is to have an attack of appendicitis?

REPLY

Yes, but appendicitis is no respecter of age. The assumption that the condition is unusual in oldsteres has led many to neglect warning symptoms. In addition, senior citizens do not feel pain so acutely as do youngsters. Statistics show that more fatalities from this disease occur in the elderly because the diagnosis is not considered until the appendix has ruptured.

CONSTIPATION

A. G. writes: What types of food should I eat to relieve constipation? Also, what foods are considered bulk-producers?

REPLY

Among the foods that produce a laxative action (or bulk) are pears, figs, apples, prunes, prune juice, citrus fruits, and green, cooked vegetables. Our leaflet on constipation recommends other measures helpful in establishing normal bowel function. It may be obtained by sending self-addressed stamped envelope with request.

DENTAL CORROSION

C. R. writes: Do fresh citrus fruit juices corrode the teeth?

REPLY

Some time ago a dentist from the Mayo clinic studied 50 patients with erosion below the normal gum line. These men and women were in the habit of drinking concentrated lemon or grapefruit juice every morning and sucking lemons. I have seen no recent report along this line and assume that the ordinary use of citrus fruits would not adversely affect the teeth.

Ziegler Says No Nixon Role In Carswell Bid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House said today President Nixon had no part in the decision of former Judge G. Harrold Carswell to seek the Republican nomination for U.S. senator from Florida.

"There was no presidential involvement in either the decision-making process or the announcement by Carswell," White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said.

Ziegler's statement was in apparent response to a news conference remark Wednesday by Sen. Edward J. Gurney ,R-Fla. Gurney said White House aide Harry Dent was informed of Carswell's decision and "agreed that this was an ideal solution."

51 Bombs Found Ready To Explode

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Police located and dismantled 51 bombs before dawn today minutes before they were timed to go off in U.S. Navy relay power stations atop a mountain here.

Two bombs did explode before they could be found, but the damage was described as minor.

The search was launched when a naval officer who plugged into the relay tower to send a message found that the lines were not operating.

Special Session

The Novato Fire District board last night set a special meeting for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday to review the preliminary budget, according to Fire Chief Jack Kidder.

High Court Orders Opening Kopechne File

BOSTON (AP)—The Massachusetts Supreme Court today issued an order giving the Suffolk Superior Court authority to decide how to release the Mary Jo Kopechne inquest papers, which it said "are now public records and should promptly be opened to public scrutiny when not impounded."

The high court order came less than two hours after an attorney for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., asked the Supreme Court to order release of the original transcript and judges report in the case.

But the order made no reference to the Kennedy petition.

Release of the documents has been tied up in a legal wrangle over whether a court stenographer or the Superior Court clerk has the right to copy and release the documents.

The legal tangle has reached the U.S. Court of Appeals which last week ruled the documents might be released, but under strict conditions.

The state Supreme Court today said, "We fail to see any basis for the exercise of jurisdiction by the federal courts in these matters," and said the litigation has "resulted in unreasonably delaying prompt public inspection of these documents and their distribution."

The Kennedy petition was filed by attorney Edward B. Hanify who asked that an order be made subject to Superior Court rules to ensure "order and decorum in the public examination" of the documents.

The action by Hanify was the latest in a legal tangle over the inquest records centering on the contention of a professional court stenographer that he alone has the right to reproduce and distribute the inquest transcript.

There were no Supreme Court justices on hand when the petition was filed, but a date for a hearing was expected to be set later today.

Miss Kopechne was found dead in Sen. Kennedy's car last July 19 after it toppled off a bridge into a tidal pond on Chappaquiddick Island.

Kennedy did not report the accident for about 10 hours. He said he had been the driver and lost his way, and while he was able to save himself could not reach the girl.

He pleaded guilty to a charge of leaving the scene of an accident and was sentenced to a suspended two month jail term.

Hanify, who was Kennedy's attorney in a successful challenge of plans for an open inquest, said the high court already has ruled that all conditions have been met for release of the transcript and judge's report "at the earliest possible moment."

The petition filed today, on behalf of Kennedy, also noted that the U.S. Court of Appeals' ruling on the suit by stenographer Sidney R. Lipman, refused to stay the public release "of the original transcript."

Adult Swimming Course Opener Set

A six-week adult swimming course sponsored by the adult school at Sir Francis Drake High School begins tonight at the San Anselmo campus.

The course will be held on Thursdays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Registration may be made tonight at the school's main office. Students should come with caps, towels and swimming suits.

Shoreline Panel Grants Pay Hike For Teachers

The Shoreline Unified School District board last night granted teachers a 2 per cent across-the-board salary scale increase, according to Supt. Charles E. McCully.

Beginning pay will rise next year from $6,600 to $6,732 and the top from $12,690 to $12,943. The hike will cost the district approximately $24,000 next year, McCully said.

The Shoreline Unified School District board also:

APPLICATIONS—Approved a $20,157 application for federal matching funds for science equipment and an $800 application for library books, all federal funds.

CALENDAR—Adopted the 1970-71 calendar, starting Sept. 1 with 180 days and closing on June 11.

Bard's Birthday Fete To Raise Theater Funds

William Shakespeare's 404th birthday will be celebrated by the Marin Shakespeare Festival with a fund raising event at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley.

There will also be a birthday party for the bard.

Those planning to attend the event hosted by KSFO radio personality Terry McGovern should bring a "gift for Will" in the form of something useful to the festival.

Bridge Collision Injures Woman

A Tiburon woman was treated at Park Emergency hospital in San Francisco today for neck strain, bruises and a lip laceration following an accident on the Golden Gate Bridge.

The California Highway Patrol said Angela Curley, 53, of 20 Andrew Drive, had stopped her car near the south end of the bridge at 11:50 p.m. yesterday when she was struck by a car driven by Anastasia Wanninger, 58, of 219 Reed Boulevard, Strawberry Point.

Fifteen minutes later a tow truck attempting to remove the Curley vehicle was struck by a car driven by Richard K. Taylor, 38, of San Francisco, who told officers he didn't see the truck's emergency lights.

TV REVIEW

Raquel Is A Winner For Sunday

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Raquel Welch has an hour musical special on CBS-TV Sunday night. It is called "Raquel," but it would not have been amiss to call it "Raquel and David" because of the staging and direction of David Winters. He has pulled off a visually gorgeous hour, and Miss Welch profits mightily by it.

Apparently for ratings reasons, the show also includes guest appearance by John Wayne, Bob Hope and Tom Jones, and it is to Winters' credit that he has managed to fit them into the goings-on without destroying the flow of the production. In the end, in fact, what is fascinatingly triumphant—more than any of the stars in the show—is Winters' exuberance and repose. His past shows have also exhibited this distinctively-styled view, but never with such exhilaration.

"Raquel," a very expensive production, was shot in a variety of splendid locations—in Mexico, Paris, England, California and Sun Valley, Idaho—and benefits also from a fine selection of contemporary tunes arranged and conducted by Don Randi. They include "The Games People Play," "California Dreamin'," "Let the Sunshine In," "Everybody's Talking," "Raindrops Keep Falling on my Head," "Here Comes the Sun," "Good Morning, Starshine" and "Aquarius."

With Winters' imagination and Stephen Burum's photography, Miss Welch has never looked better. The show will do wonders for her glamorous image—more than 100 layouts in Vogue. She comes off, in fact, quite well in all respects—singing acceptably, dancing and handling some comedy, including a takeoff on her costar in the upcoming movie "Myra Breckenridge"—Mae West.

In some quick excerpts of news conferences with the usual absurd questions around the world, Miss Welch handles herself with poise, a suggestion of lurking intelligence, and even, at times, with wit. At one point, referring to Playboy magazine publisher Hugh Hefner, she says to an interviewer: "I don't agree with his philosophy, but I think the paper he prints it on is very nice."

Bishops Launch Fund For Blacks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Roman Catholic bishops have launched a $50 million crusade to aid blacks and other impoverished minorities.

At the semiannual meeting Wednesday the National Conference of Catholic Bishops also condemned the recent wave of state legislation to lift restrictions on abortions, and promised a campaign for social acceptance of pregnancies and births out of wedlock.

In acting to implement a $50 million drive against poverty, economic inequities and racism, the bishops decided to seek funds through special Thanksgiving offerings beginning next November.

They rejected proposals for combining the new fund raising with the annual Lenten appeal to finance Catholic Relief Services, the Church's international charitable arm, which raises about $8 million annually.

FEARS EXPRESSED

Sources inside the closed meeting said considerable fears were expressed that opposition to the domestic antipoverty crusade might cripple the international relief work if the two were combined and could cause confusion about division of funds.

Bishop Francisc J. Mugavero of Brooklyn, committee chairman for the new effort, said the aid would go to projects among the poor not supported by government funds.

He said minority groups who insist on determining themselves how the money is used, such as the Black Economic Development Conference, would be eligible for consideration for aid.

BEDC is the group that has demanded millions in reparations from churches for alleged past injustices to blacks.

Protestant groups including Episcopalians and United Presbyterians have relayed money to it, arousing protests from some white members.

ABORTION PROBLEM

Turning to the problem of abortion, the conference declared:

"We pledge our efforts to do all that is possible to remove the social stigma that is visited on the woman who is pregnant out of wedlock, as well as on her child."

Bishop Raymond J. Gallagher of Lafayette, Ind., said the aim was to dispel the shadow over births to unmarried mothers and to foster "Christian acceptance and understanding" of them rather than "categorizing them as offenders against morality."

Rosenberg For Treatment Plan For Alcoholics

Donald Rosenberg, candidate for Marin Municipal Court judge, recommended treatment, not punishment, for alcoholics in a talk this week at the home of Winifred Hepperly, 85 Berens Drive, Kentfield.

"We must break away from the idea that the best way to treat an alcoholic is to arrest him, put him in jail for a few days and release him back to the same environment," Rosenberg said.

"I shall recommend that we provide a means for civilly detaining the alcoholic, not for punishment, but for treatment."

Coffees for Rosenberg are to be held today in Novato, at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Owen, 595 Louis Street, and at 8:30 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson, 1873 Virginia Street.

Pleads Innocent

Daniel Lee Temple, 22, of San Rafael, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a felony charge of carrying brass knuckles. A jury trial was set for the week of June 8. Temple was arrested Feb. 2 in San Rafael.

Teacher Group Tells Education Center Plan

California Teachers Association plans to establish a Marin County Education Center somewhere in the county before the opening of school next fall.

Nancy Cook, president of the CTA Council of Marin, today announced it has voted to establish the center, with a full time director and staff, to serve in part as a clearing house for information between teachers and public.

"This will finally give us the opportunity to effectively communicate with the general public concerning educational and professional matters," said Mrs. Cook, a teacher at Granada School in Reed School District.

She said a 10,000-square foot building is to be erected as a cooperative effort of the council and the CTA's Bay Section.

Herbert Foreman, assistant executive secretary of the Bay Section, said the arrangement is for it to provide the building and the Marin Council to provide the staff. Members in 10 Marin school districts so far have voted for an increase in dues to pay the staff, he said.

Foreman said the center would serve as a meeting place for CTA groups, provide clerical services to assist chapter presidents, as well as performing a public relations function. He said space may be rented temporarily while a building location is sought.

The 10 districts already pledged to participate in financing, he reported, are Novato Unified, Tamalpais High, and San Anselmo, Mill Valley, Ross, Reed, Dixie, Lagunitas, Larkspur and Sausalito elementary districts.

Richmond Bridge Traffic On Climb

Traffic on the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge increased about 150,000 from Jan. 1 to March 31 over the same period in 1969, the state Division of Bay Toll Crossings has announced.

The state said 1,467,512 vehicles crossed the bridge during the quarter, an 11 per cent increase over last year, when 1,318,580 vehicles traveled the bridge.

Guilty Plea To Drug Count

Aloysius John Koehler, 18, of Penngrove, has pleaded guilty to a reduced misdemeanor charge of possessing marijuana. He had originally been accused of a felony count.

Two other charges of having a narcotics device and an open container of alcohol in his car were dismissed.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. set sentencing for May 22.

Koehler was arrested by Novato police April 5 for not having a tail light on his car.

Ecology Art Show Tomorrow

More than 600 pieces of art, representing the work of 106 persons will be on display at the first annual spring ecology art show at the Strawberry Town and Country Village tomorrow Saturday and Sunday.

Within each artist's collection will be at least one work illustrating the ecology theme.

The exhibits, on the sidewalks and parking area of the shopping center, will be open from 10 a.m. until dark on Friday and Saturday, and from noon until closed by the show's director on Sunday.

It's A Special Kind Of Olympics

Mel Augustine of Berkeley has participated and officiated in athletics all his life — including the Olympic Games — but he'll reap even greater rewards by officiating in the Special Olympics at San Rafael High School Saturday.

Augustine, who is a member of the United States Olympic Committee, vice president of the U.S. Judo Federation and a member of the Executive Committee of the Pacific Association, Amateur Athletic Union, strongly urges folks of Marin to attend these Games Saturday.

"It will be a worthwhile experience that will be treasured for a lifetime," he says.

The Special Olympics are very special indeed because they are for the mentally retarded, aged 8 and up.

Starting at 9 a.m. and winding up around 4 p.m., the program will include track and field events in the morning and swimming in the afternoon.

Expects About 100 Youngsters

"We expect approximately 100 entries," says Mrs. Frank Goodall of San Rafael, publicity chairman for the second annual event which is being co-sponsored by the Marin Aid to Retarded Children, Cedars Development Foundation and Recreation for the Handicapped Easter Seal Society.

The committee is going all out to carry out the Olympic theme, including opening ceremonies that will feature the lighting of the Special Olympic Torch, the parade of athletes, Hamilton Air Force color guard and participation by the Prince Charles Junior Pipe Band, San Rafael Military Academy drill team and Redwood High School band.

Outstanding athletes will qualify for the State Special Olympics in Long Beach June 19-20, from where winners will advance to the Internationals in Chicago during August. "We hope that Marin will be represented in the International meet," added Mrs. Goodall.

Officials at the Marin meet will include Archie Williams of Drake High School faculty, 400-meter champion in the 1936 Olympics in Berlin, Gary Hughes, Carl Brown and Fred Clawson.

Williams will recite the Olympic oath.

They're Full Of Enthusiasm

Says Augustine: "I have had the privilege of participating in many national championships as a competitor and official. In these capacities I have met and known many national and world champions in all sports — but, I have yet to see the enthusiasm displayed by the youngsters that participated in the Special Olympics of 1969.

"The enthusiasm, response and reaction displayed by the mentally retarded athletes in and of itself served as an inspiration to me. It is something everyone should see."

Last year's first attempt at this nation-wide program was an overwhelming success with more than 50,000 children in 46 states and Canada participating.

The participants benefit mentally, physically and psychologically.

It will do you a world of good, too, to attend Saturday's meet.

Everyone's a winner.

Candlestick To Have Bleachers On Wheels

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rollway Grandstand Corp. of Los Angeles was awarded the contract Wednesday for construction of 7,000 movable seats at Candlestick Park.

The 1.1 million project is part of the first phase—which included placement of artificial turf — in the Candlestick improvement and expansion project.

According to the Rollway bid, construction is to be completed by March 1, 1971, but San Francisco 49ers President Lou Spadia noted that the contractor said in previous correspondence that work could be completed in December of this year, or possibly sooner.

In any event, Spadia said, the football team's move from Kezar Stadium to Candlestick Park will be delayed, but he said "there is a possibility that at least some of the games can be at Candlestick."

The rollaway section, to be built in what is now right field, will bring Candlestick capacity up to 47,941 for football.

An additional upper deck right field grandstand, part of the second phase of expansion, will bring capacity up to 66,000 hopefully in time for the 1971 season, Spadia said.

THE RECORD MAKER FOR TOM SEAVER

New York Mets' pitcher Tom Seaver throws, San Diego's Al Ferrara swings, and umpire Harry Wendelstedt calls the out, giving Seaver a record 10 straight strikeouts to end the game. It came about yesterday, with the Mets edging the Padres 2-1. Seaver also had nine other strikeouts for a record equalling 19. Story on page 32.

(AP Wirephoto)

LOOK OUT, RON — Giants' second baseman Ron Hunt makes one-handed catch and is barely missed by Willie Mays. It was a great play in yesterday's game, but at other times S.F. was sloppy, making four errors.

SAY THE GIANTS

It's Good To Be Home

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—You can't blame the San Francisco Giants for being happy to be home today.

The Giants took the day off before sending Gaylord Perry, 1-2, to the mound Friday night against the Montreal Expos in Candlestick Park, where they have been able to play for only one week in the past two months.

Including spring training, the trip to Japan and their first National League road trip they finished Wednesday by losing 6-1 at Philadelphia, the Giants have spent the night in 19 different towns.

JUAN WAITS

Waiting for the Giants was Juan Marichal, their ace hurler who hasn't had a chance to pitch yet this season because of an ear infection and subsequent problems from an allergy. Marichal, 21-11 last year, is scheduled to hurl the day game Saturday.

After waiting two days to play the Phillies, counting an off day Monday and Tuesday's postponement, the Giants didn't enjoy themselves very much Wednesday.

Four errors, which led to four unearned runs, ruined a good pitching start by Rich Robertson, who gave up only five hits in six innings.

1-0 LEAD

The Phils took a 1-0 lead off Robertson in the second inning on Larry Hisle's infield out. A throwing error by Giants shortstop Bob Heise and Bob Bonds' dropped fly ball had put two runners on with none out.

Then, in the fifth, with two out, Robertson walked Denny Doyle. Heise bobbled Don Money's ground ball and Johnny Brigg's blasted a homer, making it 4-0.

Heise atoned in part for his miscues with a single in the seventh, scoring Ken Henderson, who had singled and advanced on a walk to Alan Gallagher.

Tim McCarver singled and was safe at second when Ron Hunt picked up Hisle's grounder and dropped the ball while trying to tag the sliding McCarver.

Reberger then walked Byron Browne, and Larry Bowa's short fly fell safe in short center behind the drawn-in Giants infield, scoring McCarver. Reberger struck out Phils' reliever Dick Selma and then Doyle's sacrifice fly scored Hisle.

Huge Demand For Tickets To Playoffs

NEW YORK (AP) — Because of the huge demand for seats to the New York Knickerbockers Los Angeles Lakers championship playoff series, Madison Square Garden announced Wednesday that it will show the coming Friday and Monday night games on closed circuit television at the Garden's Felt Forum.

The Garden said all 3,500 seats in the Forum, which is within the Garden complex, will be priced at $6. Tickets may be bought for the two games. The ticket sale will open at 1 p.m., Friday at the Forum.

The third and fourth games of the best-of-seven series for the National Basketball Association championship will be played in Los Angeles, Wednesday night April 29, and Friday night, May 1.

Dates and sites for other games, if necessary, are:

5, Monday night, May 4, New York; 6, Wednesday night, May 6, Los Angeles; 7, Friday night, May 8, New York.

Duck Stamp Bill Rejected

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill requiring hunters to buy a $1 state duck stamp to shoot waterfowl in California was rejected Wednesday by the Assembly Natural Resources and Conservation Committee.

The proposal by Assemblyman Ernest N. Mobley, R-Sanger, would have allowed the state to spend the revenue for preservation of duck breeding grounds in Canada.

On a split voice vote, the committee turned down the bill after state Fish and Game Director Ray Arnett said California should not force hunters to pay for out-of-state programs. He said the federal government should handle such programs.

The measure would have allowed the Fish and Game Commission to contract with Ducks Unlimited, Inc., to replenish fast-disappearing wetlands.

But Arnett said, "No one should be forced to be a member of Ducks Unlimited."

Richard Andrews of the Duck Hunters Association of California told the committee that the bill was "essential" for maintaining good duck hunting in California. He presented the committee with 70 resolutions from hunting groups supporting Mobley's bill.

Al Schiavon, president of the California Wildlife Federation, opposed the bill. He questioned "the propriety as well as the legality" of giving state money to a private organization for the preservation work.

The state Fish and Game Commission recently voted to support "the intent" of the bill. But members said they had reservations about sections of it.

A'S TRIUMPH

'New Guys' Do The Job

OAKLAND (AP) — Winter trades are starting to pay off for the Oakland A's. Three players who weren't with the team last season were the stars in a 3-2 victory over the Kansas City Royals Wednesday night.

Lefthander Al Downing pitched a three-hitter for his second victory of the season, Felipe Alou scored the winning run, and it was driven in on a sacrifice fly by Don Mincher.

"This is what we hoped they would do," Manager John McNamara said of the new players.

DON DOES IT

It was the second straight game in which Mincher, the big first baseman obtained from Seattle, provided the winning run. His fly ball was just deep enough to allow Alou to score.

"I thought it was far enough. It looked like the outfielder (Amos Otis) had trouble getting the ball out of his glove," Mincher said.

He laughed when it was suggested he was just an "eight inning player." His game-winning homer against Kansas City Tuesday night also was in the eighth.

"Just a coincidence," he said. "I'll take them any time."

DAY OFF

Downing, who came to Oakland in a trade with the New York Yankees, credited control for his success.

"I was keeping ahead of the hitters," he said. There was no trace of the arm trouble that kept Downing out of action for most of the 1968 season.

"My arm will be sore tomorrow but it always is after I pitch. It isn't like it was two years ago when it hurt all the time."

HOME RUN

The only run Downing allowed was a seventh inning homer by Ed Kirkpatrick. It put Kansas City ahead 1-0 but didn't discourage Downing.

"I knew we needed two runs to win instead of one," he said.

"This is the best I've pitched this season. Things will get better," he said.

Briggs Hurls Sonoma Nine To Top Spot

Dan Briggs pitched Sonoma High School into undisputed first place in the North Bay League Section II baseball race yesterday, downing El Molino on a two-hitter, striking out 14, and driving in two runs with two hits at Sonoma.

Yet, it was a "bad day" for Briggs. He gave up an earned run, his first of the year after 34 1/3 consecutive scoreless innings. El Molino of Forestville snapped the streak in the seventh inning.

The win, Briggs' fifth of the year without a loss, gave Sonoma a 4-1 won-lost record in NBL II and dropped El Molino into a second place tie with Piner of Santa Rosa at 3-2.

A secret recipe. Part of the Beam family art for 175 years.

Carl Beam, Master Distiller, is just as particular about the ingredients that go into his Bourbon as his wife is about the fruits and vegetables she puts up for winter. That's because Carl is the fifth generation of the only Kentucky family that's made the same Bourbon since 1795.

So the next time you sip Jim Beam, savor its quality and its light taste. That's what we mean when we say it's a 175-year-old family art.

Singer, Hundley Out Of Action

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A pair of key National League players will be out of action for some time, and thre Los Angeles Dodgers and Chicago Cubs are the ones who will be hurting.

Dodger ace right-hander Bill Singer will be out for six weeks or more because of hepatitis. The 20-game winner for Los Angeles in 1969 will mark his 26th birthday tomorrow in St. John's Hospital in Santa Monica, which he entered yesterday for two to three weeks of tests, treatment and rest.

Star catcher Randy Hundley of the Cubs, injured in a play at the plate Tuesday, was placed on the disabled list for 21 days starting yesterday.

Lund Going After 6th Straight Win

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — Tiny Lund of Cross, S.C., will go after an unprecedented sixth consecutive Grand American stock Car victory Friday night in the annual Savannah 200.

Lund, who has won his last five starts including last week's Augusta 200, will be driving a 1970 Camaro.

Shofner Shifted To The Offense

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco 49ers head coach Dick Nolan announced Wednesday he will shift defensive secondary coach Jim Shofner to offense, replacing offensive backfield coach Mike Holovak.

Holovak and quarterback coach Y.A. Tittle resigned because they couldn't devote full time to the jobs, Nolan said.

Nolan said that if a defensive backfield coach can't be found, he would handle the secondary, which was his specialty as a Dallas Cowboys assistant.

Other 49er assistants for 1970 are Ed Hughes, receivers; Ernie Zwahlen, offensive line; Doug Scovil, kicking; Paul Wiggins, defensive line; and Mike Giddings, linebackers.

Colonels' Coach Is Right

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gene Rhodes, coach of the Kentucky Colonels, says he played a game of mental darts before his team's fourth playoff game in the American Basketball Association with the New York Nets.

"I couldn't make up my mind whether to go with Sam Smith or George Tinsley at one of the starting forward spots," Rhodes related. "I finally came up with Smith and he sure made me look good."

The Colonels beat the Nets 128-101 Wednesday night and evened the Eastern Division semifinal best-of-7 series at 2-2. In the other East semi, Indiana, now leading 3-0, beat Carolina 115-106.

Washington evened its Western Division series with Denver 2-2 by beating the Rockets 131-114 while Los Angeles turned back Dallas 144-138 to also square their West semifinals at two games apiece.

The 6-foot-7 Smith, who had missed Kentucky's final two regular season games after being jabbed in the eye, wound up with 28 points and 12 rebounds. He was 12-for-16 from the floor.

With Darel Carrier scoring 29 points and Louie Dampier 26, the 28 by Smith pushed the Colonels past New York early and the Nets wound up suffering their worst defeat of the year. Levern Tart's 21 points led the Nets.

Washington didn't stop Denver's Spencer Haywood, the ABA Rookie of the Year, but his 41 points weren't enough to overcome the 30 each by Rick Barry and Mike Barrett of the Caps.

Indiana had to come from behind in the final quarter to defeat Carolina, which led a 13-point cushion at one point. The rebounding of Mel Daniel in the fourth quarter was the key factor for Indiana, led in scoring by John Barnhill with 28. High for Carolina was Bob Verga with 24.

Rookie Mack Calvin collected a career-high 44 points and contributed 16 assists and George Stone scored 35 points, 22 in the second period to trigger Los Angeles' victory over Dallas.

The Stars built a 24-point lead before the Chaparrals rallied but were unable to get any closer than six points. John Beasley kept the chaps in contention with 28 points.

RECORD PERFORMANCE

Seaver Shows Just How He Earned Young Award

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

They gave Tom Seaver the 1969 Cy Young Award before Wednesday's game and then the wunderkind ace of the New York Mets' pitching staff went out and showed just how much he deserved it.

Seaver pitched his way into baseball's record book, striking out 19 batters including the last 10 in a row and two-hit San Diego 2-1 in an expert display of pitching prowess.

The Young Award, of course, goes to the top pitcher in each league but if you ask the Padres today, they'll tell you that Seaver looked like the best pitcher in all of baseball to them.

Elsewhere in the National League Wednesday, Chicago trimmed St. Louis 7-5, Philadelphia dropped San Francisco 6-1, Pittsburgh took Houston 6-1 and Los Angeles ripped Montreal 9-2. Atlanta and Cincinnati were not scheduled.

In the American League, Minnesota tripped Chicago 3-1, Boston belted Baltimore 5-2, Detroit shut out Cleveland 5-0, Washington outlasted New York 2-1 in 18 innings, Oakland nipped Kansas City 2-1 and California whipped Milwaukee 3-1.

Seaver was simply superb. He used just 136 pitches to dispatch the Padres and matched the record for strikeouts in a single game of 19 set by Steve Carlton against the Mets last September.

He also wiped out the old record for consecutive strikeouts of eight shared by four different pitchers. One of those four was Johnny Podres, who watched Seaver's performance.

"Fantastic, outstanding," marvelled Podres, now the Padres' minor league pitching coach. "The amazing thing was that as hard as he was throwing the ball, he was still pitching to spots."

"He was like a machine," said Met first baseman Ed Kranepool, "whump, whump, whump."

"When he did throw a breaking ball," said Al Ferrara, who tagged Seaver for an early homer and then became the 19th and final strikeout victim in the ninth inning, "it was always on the outside corner."

It was the 13th consecutive regular season victory for Seaver over two seasons, 10 of them coming in his 25-7 mark last year which earned him the Young Award, and three this term.

There were other well-pitched games in the NL but nothing like Seaver's gem.

Pittsburgh's Steve Blass limited Houston to three hits and the Pirates rapped the Astros with Roberto Clemente and Manny Sanguillen collecting three safeties apiece. Bill Mazeroski singled across one of the Pirate runs, collecting the 800th RBI of his career.

The middle of the Dodger batting order—Andy Kosco, Willie Crawford and Wes Parker—did most of the damage, collecting half of LA's hits between them. Crawford scored three runs.

Chicago beat St. Louis for its seventh straight victory with Don Kessinger's homer and two singles pacing the Cubs' attack.

Ferguson Jenkins was jolted by homers by Leron Lee and Joe Torre but staggered through to win his first game of the season.

Quiet Comment
By Willie Mac

PHILADELPHIA—Willie McCovey, in his soft spoken way, has a rare ability to analyze emotional situations in an objective manner. He quietly comments on such situations when asked to do so.

Last Sunday in Crosely Field, Wayne Simpson stirred the emotions of 31,569 Cincinnati baseball fans as he silenced Giant bats in a one-hit 6-0 shutout. Since it was the rookie right-hander's third straight victory in his first three major league starts, the emotions of his teammates also were stirred.

THERE IS NO question about it. Simpson is a fireballer and he is good, real good. His fast ball sails and it also sinks depending on the angle of delivery. And Simpson's curve breaks like a curve should—down and in on a lefthander, down and out on a righthander. He even has a fine changeup.

Simpson's poise is remarkable for a 21-year-old rookie. He even resembles at times St. Louis' great fireballer Bob Gibson, particularly in quickness from the set position of a pitcher with men on base.

Nine times Simpson was confronted with Giant base runners because he walked seven, an error put another runner aboard and there was a first inning double by Ken Henderson, the only hit Simpson allowed.

AS HE WENT to the set position, Simpson did display some of the mannerisms of Gibson. But more importantly he kept firing the ball. He didn't let up. And he struck out nine.

So there is good reason for emotions to be high in Cincinnati because pitching, or more accurately lack of it, kept the hard hitting Reds among the also rans these past seasons.

However, some of the emotions overflowed extravagantly. Sparky Anderson, manager of the Reds, began talking about Simpson's fast ball moving in four directions. "It moves four ways," said Anderson. "In two years he'll be ahead of Bob Gibson if he improves."

McCOVEY, the National League's 1969 MVP and two-time home run and RBI champ in 1968-69, was asked for his evaluation of Simpson.

"He has a real good arm," said McCovey. "But remember this is his first time around. He isn't ready for the Hall of Fame. And to compare him with Gibson is awful high praise for a rookie. I think he is more like Earl Wilson" (who used to face the Giants occasionally in spring exhibition games when the Boston Red Sox trained in Arizona.)

McCovey took nothing away from Simpson. Indeed, he paid the rookie his due and admiringly recalled one pitch Simpson made to him on a full count. It was a sharp breaking curve that just missed the inside of the plate. McCovey walked on it but it momentarily appeared that he might bite at it.

"I REMEMBER that pitch," said McCovey.

Another rookie might have tried to throw a 3-2 fast ball by McCovey with disastrous results. Simpson has learned a lot about pitching in his brief pro career that started in the summer of 1967 when the Reds made him their No. 1 draft pick because of a sensational career at Centennial High in Compton, Calif.

Tiburon Soccer Player Awaits National Finals

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Brian Marais is a native of South Africa who was married in Canada to an English girl and became a citizen of the United States earlier this month.

And he also plays a fair game of soccer.

Marais, an engineer for Bechtel Corporation in San Francisco and a resident of Tiburon, plays for the champion Teutonia team in the San Francisco Soccer League.

VICTORIES

Teutonia, after winning the S. F. title, defeated San Jose soccermen to win the right to represent Northern California in the playoffs. That victory was followed with triumph over Los Angeles' top team for the West Coast title. Marais, a right back, and his teammates are one of four teams to reach the U.S. championships, with semi-finals and finals scheduled sometime within the next month.

"We'll be playing either in Chicago, Denver or St. Louis," he said. "Time and place have not been set yet."

TO ENGLAND

Marais, 35, lived in his native South Africa until he was 21, getting his education in Johannesburg, lived a short time in England, furthering his studies, then moved on to Canada, living in British Columbia and Northern Ontario.

He and wife Sonia moved to Marin County five years ago. They have a daughter Kim, 7, who was born in Canada, and another daughter, Teri, 4, born in Marin, a year after they arrived.

He's used to being put on the spot in regards to his views of apartheid, as practiced in South Africa.

"It is not all bad," he said. "It has helped some of the Africans to better themselves. I realize the system must dissolve eventually, but it has to be gradually."

CURIOUS

Marais said he had become very curious of changes that might have taken place since his absence from South Africa.

"So I went back last year after a 12-year absence because I wanted to see what had happened," he said. "Everyone seemed happy, blacks and whites. I saw blacks driving cars, and they never had that opportunity when I was there. I think the situation will work itself out."

He said he felt the politics of the country should stay out of sports, referring to recent banning of South Africa from Olympic competition and Davis Cup play.

Marais said he has followed the golfing career of South African Gary Player very closely.

BRAVE

"He's very brave. I think he's got a lot of guts to stand by his convictions even though his life has been threatened," he said. "It is hard for Americans to judge it from here. We tend to judge it by our own standards that we see here."

Major reason for the failure of professional soccer in the United States, Marais feels, was the lack of recruiting of local talent on the teams and the reliance of foreign players. He said there were some capable players in this country who wouldn't have been over their heads playing in the U.S. pro soccer leagues.

Another reason, says Marais, is that the country was not divided into sections, and too much money was spent flying teams from game to game.

"Soccer is a great sport which allows you to play even though you are not big or real tall," said Marais, who stands 5-10 and weighs 175 ponds.

CRICKET

Marais, who also is captain of the Marin Cricket Club, says "Ability is most important. Essentially everybody is the quarterback, with the ball at your feet you have to make a split-section decision where to kick it.

"We would like to see more people take an interest in the sport," he said. "We play four games every Sunday at Balboa Stadium (in S.F.). There is soccer from 10 to 3:10."

Rough Time For Drivers In Auto Rally

MONZA, Italy (AP) — Most Pilots of the World Cup auto rally agree on one thing: If the roads of Yugoslavia are a foretaste of Latin America, not more than a dozen cars will make it to Mexico City.

"My husband had to change tires three times before crossing the border to Italy," fumed Claudine Trautmann, the wife of the Frenchman who leads the field, on his DS 21 Citroen after the two first special stages in the gruelling event .

Added Rene Trautmann: "We have been lucky so far. But what happens if we're left high and dry without extra tires and spare parts in Latin America. People will just fall by the wayside. A dozen at most should finish."

Nearly 100 cars started from Britain for the 23,600-kilomter race.

Trautmann said he considered the third-place team of Finland's Hannu Mikkola and his Swedish codriver Gunnar Palme as his most dangerous rivals.

"We have to be careful. They have a very well-prepared Ford Escort and they plan to get to Mexico among the first."

Mikkola and Palme were astonished to arrive first in Monza after 2,800 kilometers on a loop through Europe.

Recreation Softball

Led by Mike Mitchell's two home runs, Flintstones walloped Gotelli's 19-5, and Gene Burris pitched a four-hitter to pace Doves to a 15-2 triumph over Bronco's in San Rafael Recreation Department adult softball action last night at Albert Park.

Windows Broken At Home Sites

Smith and Haley Construction Co., which is building the low cost housing at the north end of Fourth Street, had seven windows valued at $300 broken, according to police.

Boise Cascade Building Co. had windows worth $300 broken in five houses on Los Noche Court.

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE
By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Always Wear An Innocent Look For Deceptive Play

A man can't be too careful when he reports the results of a national bridge tournament. When Robin Klar and Tina Rockaway won the recent national women's pair championship, it was tempting to report that youth and beauty had triumphed since the sum of their ages is barely more than 40. But that would sound as though previous winners had been old and ugly. It's safer to stick to the facts.

QUEEN OF CLUBS

Young Robin Klar (not yet out of her teens) led the queen of clubs from the West hand. The defenders continued clubs, and South ruffed the third round.

Declarer then led a spade to dummy's king and returned a low spade from dummy. Stop me if I'm going too fast, but that's just the way Tina Rockaway played the cards from the East hand.

When declarer led a trump to dummy's king, Mrs. Rockaway played the three of spades as though she had never heard of such a thing as the ace of trumps. South naturally assumed that West had the ace of spades.

LOSES FINESSE

Declarer led a spade back from dummy, and Mrs. Rockaway followed suit with the nine of spades, still looking innocent and slightly bored. South naturally tried a finesse with the ten of spades in the hope that West did not have the jack as well as the ace.

West won with the jack of spades, of course, and Mrs. Rockaway later took the setting trick with the ace of spades. It was a clear top for the young Houston experts.

NEEDS HELP

It's important to notice that declarer could not get to dummy by her own efforts. If Mrs. Rockaway had taken the first trump trick with the ace, declarer would have been unable to take a finesse for the jack of spades. South would eventually lead the queen of spades out of her hand, and the jack would drop, assuring the contract.

Tam Valley Boy Is Hit By Truck

A 6-year-old Tamalpais Valley boy has been treated for facial injuries at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael after he was hit by a truck at Homestead Boulevard and Gomez Way.

The California Highway Patrol said James Tustin, of 8 Circle Way, rode his bicycle from behind a parked car into the path of a pickup truck driven by Leslie T. Robertson Jr., 26, of 839 B Street, San Rafael, at about 4:15 p.m. Tuesday.

Enterprise Fund Has Problems

By ROGER E. SPEAR

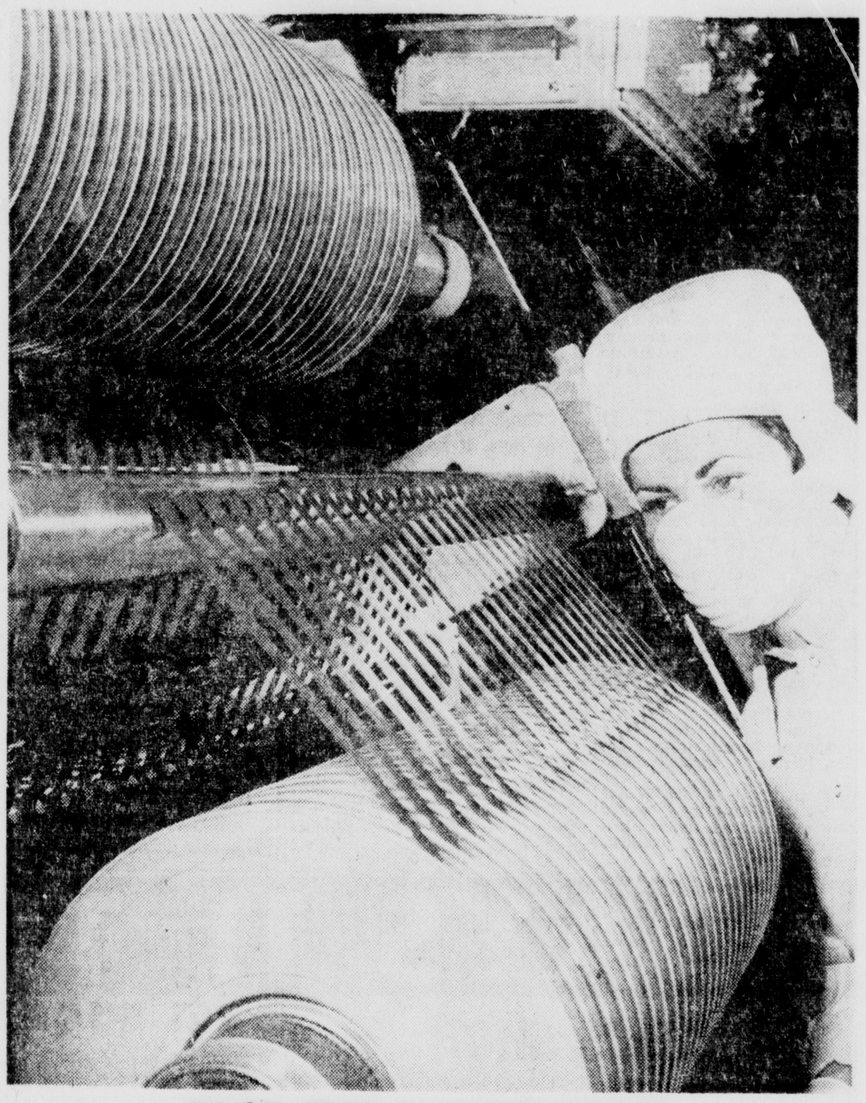
Q. I hold shares of Enterprise Fund for long-term growth. For the past several weeks only a bid or redemption price has been listed. My broker tells me they cannot sell shares. What does this mean? — R.M. and F.W.

A. In an early March action the federal court in Los Angeles barred Enterprise from selling additional shares pending correction of their records. This climaxed a back-office paperwork problem that began in early 1967. Enterprise, in 24 months, had exploded from a $30 million to an almost $1 billion asset fund. Back-office procedures capable of handling accounts for a small fund could simply not be expanded sufficiently to cope with the added volume. As a result, discrepancies between the number of shares credited to individual accounts and those in the capital stock control account were discovered.

Enterprise claims that changes instituted over the last several months have almost wholly reconciled these differences. Clearing operations were transferred to the State Street Bank & Trust Co., a firm which is accustomed to handling accounts of this size. Parent company, Shareholders Management, has installed computer-based back-office systems for funds under its aegis.

The earlier resignation of Fred Carr, who had been closely linked in peoples' minds with the growth of Enterprise, also marred the fund's image. Portfolio management has now been divided among five men, under the leadership of highly qualified Larry Rader, a company veteran.

By splitting responsibility for the portfolio, it is hoped that growth will more closely resemble that of a small fund. Although there is validity in this system, it also creates difficulties and duplication.



DUST FREE ENVIRONMENT

Technician Kay Duncan, in a dust-free environment at RCA's Magnetic Products plant in Indianapolis, checks a machine that slits sheets of coated polyester film into half-inch strips of magnetic tape used by computers. From the slitting operation the tape goes onto reels each of which holds 2,400 feet of tape and is capable of storing more than 46 million bits of cupter information. (UPI Telephoto)

Stocks Take Beating; Blue Chips Slide

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks took another pounding today in moderately active trading.

Selling stemmed from a combination of factors, including a rise in some short term interest rates, continued disappointment with quarterly earnings results, belief that the inflationary spiral may be unstoppable, and the worsening situation in Cambodia.

"The worst part is that it's difficult to imagine a news development that would change the market's trend over the near term," an analyst remarked.

A volume of around 11,000,000 shares compared with 10,780,000 shares yesterday.

A number of electronics gave up more than a point, while marked weakness also cropped up in the oils. Steels and chemicals generally traded in fractions. So did most rails, airlines, aircrafts and motors. Car makers raised their production schedules by 13 per cent this week.

Among the day's most acive stocks were Parke-Davis, Getty Oil, American Telephone, Telex Corp., Fairchild Camera and Shell Oil.

Cal Jazz Festival Opener Is Set Tomorrow

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

Cannonball Adderly will be among feature soloists for the fourth annual University of California Jazz Festival which opens a three-day run tomorrow on the Berkeley campus.

Other jazz personalities will include Ray Brown, Laurindo Almeida, Robert Flack, Miles Davis, Freddie Hubbard and Pharoah Sanders. Nightly sessions will be held in the U.S. Greek Theater.

On another musical front—the theater this time—the San Francisco Civic Light Opera will open its 33rd season tonight with the award-winning Broadway musical, "1776".

Member of ballet troupe

DANCE

The San Francisco Ballet will introduce two new ballets by Carlos Carvajal in its season offering of the season Saturday and Sunday at the Opera House.

DRAMA

Making its first tour of the United States, the Mountview Theater of London will present a repertory of three plays in Zellerbach Auditorium of the Berkeley campus beginning tonight with Edward Bond's "Saved." Tomorrow night's offering will be Brecht's "Mother Courage," and on Saturday night Peter Weiss's "Marat-Sade."

MUSIC

Tomorrow night the San Francisco Conservatory New Music Ensemble, under direction of Howard Hersh, will present a concert of works by Robert Moran in Grace Cathedral, including "For Organ 1967" and "Elegant Journey with Stopping Points of Interest."

The London-based Amadeus Quartet will give San Francisco State College's final chamber concert of the season Sunday in the main auditorium of the Creative Arts Building. Among works will be Bartok's Quartet No. 6.

Margaret Fabrizio, harpsichordist who is well-known in Marin musical circles, will present a concert Monday in San Francisco, performing on the 18th Century Cleminti Piano, a 68-key instrument now in the Frank DeBellis Collection of the California State Colleges.

Beverly Sills, considered by many critics the greatest bel canto coloratura soprano of the mid-20th Century, will, present a recital Monday night in the San Francisco Opera House. In connection with her appearance, the San Francisco Opera management announced this week that Miss Sills will open the 1971 opera season in a role yet to be announced.

The San Francisco Symphony, which is presenting an all-Beethoven program this week in concerts ending Friday night, will feature Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr., in the next concert series (April 29, 30, May 1) as narrator in Copland's "A Lincoln Portrait." Also featured will be Robert Sayre, symphony cellist, in Elgar's Cello Concerto and Beethoven's Symphony No. 3 (Eroica).

Band Testing Set Saturday

Approximately 1,500 students in 29 musical groups from 21 schools in the Bay Area will participate in the annual California Music Educator's Association Band-Orchestra Festival Saturday at Novato High School, according to John Enders, music director.

Although Novato High School is the host, it has not entered the festival Enders said.

The San Marin High School Band from Novato, conducted by John F. Yardas, will present "La Oreja de Oro" by M. San Miguel, "Prelude and Fugue" by Bach and "Chorale and Caprioccio" by Giovannini. Following this presentation, it will be judged on sight reading of a selection unknown to it.

Judging will start at 8 a.m. with high school bands playing in the boys gymnasium and orchestras and junior high school bands in the girl's gymnasium.

Pupils Plan Car Wash For Ecology

Eighth grade students at Edna Maguire School in Mill Valley will hold a car wash Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the school parking lot, 80 Lomita Drive, to earn funds for a three-day ecology trip.

The 85 students, led by science instructor Richard Tanguay, will leave early Monday for a tour of the redwood forests and national parks of Northern California, Oregon Caves National Monument, Mount Shasta and Shasta Dam.

"We hope the trip will bring to the students the reality of the conservation needs of the nation and the true meaning of scientific study as it relates to man," Tanguay said.

SOUTHEAST ASIA'S CHESS GAME

Kings, Pawns All Alike

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Southeast Asia situation has become so incredibly tangled that practically nobody can be confident of coming out ahead and practically everybody is in some kind of trouble.

The spillover of fighting from Vietnam into Laos and Cambodia, along with other developments, has created headaches for the United States, the Soviet Union, Red China, Malaysia, Singapore, Indonesia, Thailand, the Philippines and others in the area, not to mention the Indochina regimes themselves.

North Vietnam is lobbying in Paris and elsewhere against a French proposal for an international conference on Indochina. One reason for this probably is a Hanoi notion that the Americans will lose in South Vietnam by default. But there could be another good reason.

Peace now in Indochina could put North Vietnam into the middle of a Soviet-Chinese dispute over influence. One side or the other must win the ensuing struggle, and losers of such struggles often lose their heads as well.

It seems almost impossible for Washington to guess right on Cambodia's distress call for help against the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese invasion. To respond may widen the war. To ignore the plea can mean the subjugation of Cambodia by Communist forces and a severe setback for the South Vietnamese regime.

President Nixon is going ahead with his phased withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Vietnam.

A continued U.S. military presence in Southeast Asia suggests at least implicit support for its nations against Chinese pressure. But there is a prospect that the presence will be greatly diminished or even dismantled, and some Southeast Asian nations are jittery.

Indonesia urgently wants an Asian conference on Cambodian neutrality. Ambassadors of Indonesia, Malaysia, Singapore, Thailand and the Philippines, members of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations, have been meeting on that situation. Several right now are contending with a new upsurge of Communist guerrilla activity, sponsored and perhaps materially supported by the Red Chinese.

A Communist takeover of Cambodia would raise the prospect of a long period of general instability in Southeast Asia. Unquestionably guerrilla movements in the whole area would be encouraged.

The Russians must be concerned about the possibility of

A SWAN DIVE TO RETRIEVE CAR

Harry J. Dillon of 78 Novato Street, San Rafael, plunges into the murky waters of the San Rafael Canal to attach a cable to his submerged car. After a smarting swim in the chilly waters, Dillon successfully attached the cable and the car was pulled back to land. The 1965 Lincoln Continental was found yesterday at 9:15 a.m. underwater at the end of the boat ramp at Credit Motors, 625 Grand Avenue, where Dillon had left the car parked. It either rolled or was pushed into the canal, police reported today. (Independent-Journal Photo by Jim Kean)

Span Board Attorney Balks Bus Line Funds

County Asked To Go On Providing Subsidy

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

A jungle of legal obstacles today blocked a Southern Marin bus company's bid for a $12,000-a-month subsidy to continue operating.

Marin Transit Systems, near the end of its financial rope, lost its bid before Golden Gate Bridge District directors after the district's attorney ruled the subsidy was "absolutely impossible."

Attorney Jerome B. White said the state law that created the district barred such a subsidy unless it was for a service ancilliary to a transit system operated by the transit district itself. "At this stage of the game, we're not operating any transit," White said.

The directors, meeting as the joint transportation and finance-auditing committee, voted unanimously instead to urge Marin County to continue subsidizing the bus company, which provides feeder service for the Tiburon-San Francisco ferry and midday shopper shuttles in Southern Marin.

Marin County Transit District voted on April 7 to extend its $4,000-a-month subsidy to June 2, but said the extension was only to give the company time to negotiate for bridge district aid.

Marin Supervisor Michael Wornum, a member of the committee, said that the transit district probably would continue the subsidy, but he declined to be pinned down on the amount.

The committee agreed, however, that a bus feeder system to the ferry service the district proposes from Sausalito is absolutely necessary. Thus the way was left open for reconsidering the bus company's plea after the Sausalito service begins, probably on July 1.

Another legal obstacle raised by White was

Nixon Eyes Cambodia Plea, Blesses Viet Arms Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today captured Communist weapons have been transferred by South Vietnam to the Cambodian regime "with our knowledge and approval."

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told newsmen that the Washington go-ahead for shipment of several thousand AK47 automatic rifles did not represent the Nixon administration's response to "a specific extensive request" from Cambodia for U.S. military supplies.

Ziegler said the request made directly to Washington "is a matter that is still under serious consideration."

Weapons sent into Cambodia had been captured "by the allies" in South Vietnam and had been delivered by the South Vietnamese government, he said.

When asked if American aircraft had physically transported the rifles to Cambodia, Ziegler declined to reply.

Asked if he was hesitating because he didn't know the answer or because he was not prepared to make public an answer, the press secretary responded, "I'm not prepared to answer."

In discussing the situation, Ziegler began by estimating that 40,000 Communists are operating in Cambodia, some of them threatening the capital city of Phnom Penh.

"There is no question who the aggressor is in this situation," he commented, labeling the Communist moves as "massive, overt Communist aggression" in violation of the 1954 Geneva Ac-

FACT BULLETIN #2 (The Strike)

Drinking Coffee On The Job

In his circular to Marin residents the president of I.T.U. stated union printers were fired "for drinking coffee on the job." He failed to mention that they drank coffee in the composing room. He failed to mention this was against long-established rules, known and understood by everyone. He failed to state there was no union provision in the old contract allowing drinking on the job. He failed to mention that the I-J had put in lunchroom facilities for union printers where they could drink their coffee. Failed to mention that a composing room — with type, proofs, mechanical equipment — is hardly the place to be drinking coffee! But perhaps the greatest omission was this: he failed to mention that these same printers, after being warned, were reinstated on their jobs. The question Marin residents might ask is: how far can one fail in dealing with the truth?

JOB, FARM DRAFT SHELTERS TUMBLE

Nixon Asks Congress To Cut Off School Deferments, Makes Fathers Draftable

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon ordered today an end to future draft deferments for occupational or agricultural activities and for fatherhood.

He also asked Congress for authority to end future student deferments.

Today's order and the order he pledged to issue if he is granted authority would not affect the deferments now held by students, fathers, and workers or such deferments granted under applications now pending.

Nixon asked Congress to permit the draft to be run on a nationwide basis with a single national call by lottery numbers. This would replace the present system of local calls by individual draft boards which need not call e actly the same numbers at any one time.

At the same time, Nixon endorsed the goal of ending the draft entirely and replacing it with an all-volunteer Army.

To achieve this goal he said he will propose additional pay raises and benefits for members of the armed forces, and will seek to encourage enlistment and re-enlistment. He also is ordering a review of military policies to recognize the personal needs, aspirations and capabilities of military personnel.

Provisions for student deferments at present are written into the draft law. To change them Nixon must obtain action by Congress giving him discretionary authority. He said that if this authority is granted he will immediately issue a second executive order ending student deferments in the future.

The White House explained in a fact sheet accompanying the President's message to Congress that as of today students already attending college, or junior or community college, or an approved technical school, continue to be eligible for student deferment.

Those planning to enroll in the future, however, will not be eligible for student deferment. If called for service after he enters school, a student would be permitted to finish his current semester or term before starting service.

But college men enrolled in ROTC or other military programs could postpone active duty until completion of their study programs.

BOLINAS-STINSON STRIFE

Adults Hope New Official Has Answers For Schools

By PAT ANGLE

(First of three articles)

After two years as superintendent of the Bolinas-Stinson School District, Clarence B. Larison probably has a pretty fair idea of what it feels like to be an amoeba under a dissecting microscope.

Since he took on the job in June of 1968, the superintendent admits his every move has been watched, analyzed and probably criticized by someone, somewhere in the two West Marin communities whose residents exhibit a tremendous interest in school affairs.

When Larison arrived, he was regarded as the man who would heal the wounds that had opened in the district, which has had its share of internal turmoil in the last several years. But the honeymoon was short-lived, Larison admits wryly, and last December, he resigned during a conflict over the hiring of teacher aides, under fire from both the board and the community.

Today, the same residents who welcomed Larison with open arms are hopefully awaiting the arrival of a new superintendent, Lester M. Horning, scheduled to begin work in July. All over both communities, one can hear the same refrain: "Things will be much better when we have a new man as superintendent."

This may prove to be true, but it may also prove to be true that the going of one man, and the arrival of another, will not be a panacea for all the district's troubles. It may be that unless the district board and the community work to overcome some of their own shortcomings, the new superintendent could have serious problems.

As the man under the gun for the past two years, Larison is in a position to realize some of the pitfalls of the superintendent's position. Part of the problem, he said, is that board members have often acted as individuals, and not as a board.

"Most complaints from the community generally related to what is happening to someone's kid in school," the superintendent said. "When a parent is unhappy, he should take his problem to the teacher, then to the superintendent and, if this fails to produce results, he should inform the entire board of his complaint."

Instead, as often happens in small towns where everyone knows everyone else, those with complaints have found it easier and more immediately satisfying to pick up the phone and call their favority trustee, a practic which has resulted in deepening mistrust between various factions in the community.

Larison also accused certain unidentified board members—but not all, he stressed—of "fancying themselves as knights on white chargers, sailing in and straightening us all out." He talked of individual trustees censuring teachers they had heard complaints about and giving the superintendent orders on an individual basis.

"Unless our board car learn to act as a board, any superintendent is going to have real problems," he said. Trustee Erik Lund agreed. "Any board

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Hits Spy Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Civil Liberties Union plans to appeal a federal judge's ruling permitting the Army to spy on civilians who might cause distrubances.

The ACLU contended the Army violated the First Amendment rights of free speech and association by keeping civilian activity under surveillance.

U.S. District Judge George L. Hart Jr. dismissed the suit on the grounds the ACLU failed to prove the Army's activity was unconstitutional.

The ACLU wanted the court to order the Army to destroy all records, photographs, recordings and blacklists compiled by the military on civilian and political activity within the United States.

$9 Billion Plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — The trouble-plagued TFX warplane has cost more than $9 billion, two Senate investigators have testified.

In an appearance Wednesday before a Senate investigations subcommittee, Thomas E. Nunnally and Romule Garcia said total costs for the Air Force F111, including $377 million spent on a rejected Navy version, would reach an estimated $9,174,900,000.

This means each of the 554 planes scheduled for delivery will cost $16.6 million each, they said.

Nunnally said the original proposal called for 22 planes at a total cost of about $471 million.

In Strike Range

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Polaris-type missile-firing submarines are patrolling in the Atlantic within striking range of the United States, Pentagon sources say.

At least one such submarine, built to carry 16 nuclear tipped missiles with a range over 1,200 miles, has been detected in the mid-Atlantic.

Previously Defense officials have said several Yankee-class Soviet nuclear submarines were operational, but indicated they hadn't ventured out for more than shakedown cruises.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird believes the Russians are on a crash program to bring their Polaris-type submarine force abreast or beyond the 41-boat U.S. missile launching fleet within four years.

Castro's Report

MIAMI (AP) — Fidel Castro's exile guerrilla forces that infiltrated Cuba have been killed or captured except for four men who have been surrounded.

According to his figures the invaders who landed last week numbered only 13.

Castro asserted that a second contingent had been unable to disembark and "was taken to the naval base" — a reference to the U.S. base at Guantanamo in eastern Cuba.

Castro called this "another rude violation" by the United States, which he blamed for the invasion effort.

Six Plane Deaths

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A light private plane attempting to land crashed into the corner of a house Wednesday night, killing six persons aboard and two in the building.

Bodies found in the burned out two-engined Beechcraft Bonanza which came to rest between two houses were believed to be those of two Austin doctors, the wife and two teen-age daughters of one of them and a medical student.

Fred A. Bobbit, 23, died in one of the two houses set ablaze when the plane plummeted into a residential area a quarter mile short of the runway. His 19-year-old wife Peggy died several hours later of burns.

Military Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Armed Services Committee has approved a $20.24 billion military procurement authorization bill, including $1.45 billion for the controversial Safeguard antimissile system.

The House is expected to act on the measure next week. It will then go to the Senate where expansion of the Safeguard system faces heavy opposition. The committee voted down amendments to cut $888 million for the Safeguard system. The bill also includes $200 million in contingency funds that the Air Force is expected to use as part of the $645 million emergency financial aid requested by the Lockheed Aircraft Corp., builder of the C5 cargo plane.

Nixon Labor Aide Leery Of Pay Plans

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

While Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz warned that big pay increases in long-term labor contracts could cause national economic suicide, one labor union has settled for pay increases substantially below the national rise in living costs and another sought an agreement way above it.

Shultz told a 3,000 United Auto Workers at a convention in Atlantic City, N.J., Wednesday, "We suggest, in your own interest, that you don't pin yourself to escalated costs projected far into the future."

He cited some three-year construction contracts for wage hikes of 15 per cent a year as "a formula for suicide" when projected across an industry.

He predicted living costs would rise 6 per cent this year.

On the other hand, many truck drivers have been conducting wildcat strikes in Chicago, Cleveland, St. Louis and Los Angeles to demand wage hikes of $1.65 an hour, or 41.25 per cent, over three years.

In New York, sources close to the labor negotiations involving the city's four major daily newspapers reported a showdown appeared likely in the "near future."

White House Racial Furore Is Recalled

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Portia Pittman, daughter of Booker T. Washington, the black author and educator, stopped by the White House Wednesday—63 years after her first visit.

Mrs. Pittman, a spry 87, said she went along with her father in 1907 when he had lunch with President Theodore Roosevelt. "The Southern press went wild," she recalled of that first visit, after which Roosevelt was condemned for "eating with a Negro."

A WATCHFUL EYE

Calm prevailed today in politically troubled Colombia where a state of siege and a curfew was imposed Tuesday. This is a scene in Bogota yesterday where government troops were called out to put down any resistance on orders of outgoing President Carlos Lleras Restrepe. Trouble started after ex-dictator Gustave Rejas Pinilla charged elections on Sunday were rigged in favor of the government-backed candidate Misael Pastrana Borrero. (UPI Radiophoto)

Publisher Tells Monopoly Stand

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The publisher of the San Francisco Chronicle has told a KRON-TV license renewal hearing that he would "correct" the operating agreement between the morning Chronicle and the afternoon Examiner if it were found to violate antitrust law.

Publisher Charles de Young Thieriot told a Federal Communications Commission hearing officer Wednesday the 1965 joint printing agreement was given what he considered approval by the U.S. Justice Department three times.

"We thought that was as complete a clearance as we could ever receive," Thieriot said.

Bomb Hoax Empties School In Sausalito

Central School in Sausalito was evacuated at 12:43 p.m. yesterday while firemen searched for a bomb which a caller said would explode at 1 p.m.

Fire chief Charles E. Masten said no bomb was found. The pupils were allowed to return after 30 minutes.

Profs See Threat In Outbreaks On Campus

NEW YORK (AP) — A survey of 60,447 college teachers showed that more than 80 per cent believe that campus demonstrations threaten academic freedom, but the professor who headed the survey said so many factors were involved that caution should be exercised in reaching any conclusion.

The survey, sponsored by the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education, was reported in the weekly Chronicle of Higher Education.

The research team that made the survey was headed by Martin A. Trow, sociology professor at the University of California at Berkeley.

Results showed more than 76 per cent favored, either strongly or with reservations, the expulsion or suspension of students who disrupt schools.

A majority of those surveyed opposed student control over faculty appointments and promotions, undergraduate admissions policy, content of courses and degree requirements. They did not believe that education would be improved if all courses were elective or if grades were abolished.

However, the majority felt that education would be improved if courses were more relevant to contemporary life, and nearly half held that most American colleges reward conformity and crush student creativity.

Less than half felt that more minority group students should be admitted even if it means lowering standards, and almost three quarters opposed lowering faculty requirements so that more minority teachers could be appointed.

Reds Pull Out In Mystery; Cambodia Recaptures Town

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Enemy forces withdrew today from the Cambodian town of Saang, 13 miles southeast of Phnom Penh, before government troops could begin an attack.

The attack went forward anyway, led by a colonel who threw rocks at an armored car to get it moving, and the Cambodian soldiers plastered the town with fire before moving in to find it deserted.

ONE WOUNDED

The Cambodian soldiers slogged on 2½ miles past the village but the Communist-led troops had moved too quickly.

Why the enemy retreated was something of a mystery, because the Cambodian soldiers had shown little aggressiveness after losing the town Sunday.

It was possible the loss of bases and supplies to a South Vietnamese task force operating about 65 miles to the southeast may have been a factor, but this was impossible to verify.

About 5,000 South Vietnamese soldiers, marching as deep as 15 miles into Cambodia, continued to overrun supply bases Wednesday on the third day of the operation.

TONS OF AMMO

Informed sources said the South Vietnamese had seized 20 more tons of munitions, five to 10 tons of medical supplies and 150 rifles and killed 16 North Vietnamese soldiers. By their account, 237 enemy soldiers have been killed so far at a cost of 26 South Vietnamese killed and 105 wounded.

Six more American planes or helicopters were shot down Tuesday and Wednesday in Laos and along the South Vietnamese border, the U.S. Command said in Saigon. This raised the toll to 12 aircraft lost this week. Two of the planes were shot down in Laos. American losses were two killed, 10 wounded and one missing.

The U.S. and South Vietnamese commands said 101 Americans, 740 South Vietnamese and 2,962 enemy troops were killed last week. The American death toll dropped 40 from the week before.

Foreign Minister Adam Malik of Indonesia denied in Jakara a report from a high government source in Phnom Penh that the Indonesian government had agreed in principal to furnish arms.

He reiterated a previous statement that Indonesia would not supply Cambodia with arms "because we would like to solve the Cambodia crisis in a peaceful way."

The United States, at the Paris peace talks, presented President Nixon's plan for withdrawing 150,000 U.S. troops from South Vietnam and urged the other side to consider it carefully.

The Viet Cong produced a number of reservations to the plan while the North Vietnamese denounced it as a trick to preserve "U.S. colonialism" in Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

Goldwater Adds Light Touch In Alioto Trial

The suit is Mayor Joseph Alioto's $12.5 million damage claim against Look magazine for an article last September linking him with the Mafia.

Goldwater made his deposition last March 20 in Washington, denying he knew James Fratianno, a paroled ex-convict with whom the article claimed Alioto did business.

Fratianno reportedly had claimed to know Goldwater and to have shaken hands with him at Las Vegas, Nev., during the 1964 presidential campaign.

Mirth swept the courtroom, presided over by U.S. District Judge Bruce Thompson of Reno, Nev.

The judge admitted the Goldwater deposition as evidence, over objection by Look attorney Charles Kenady, as relevant to the reliability of Tommy Lee Thomas, Fratianno's former son-in-law.

Thomas has made a pre-trial deposition in the case and was to appear as a witness, but lawyers for both sides say they have been unable to find him to serve a subpoena.

Egypt Bombs Sinai Post

TEL AVIV (AP) — An Egyptian air force bomber attacked an Israeli paramilitary settlement 52 miles east of the Suez Canal at 1:30 this morning, the Israeli military command announced. It was one of Egypt's deepest penetrations into the occupied Sinai Desert since the June 1967 war.

The plane dropped a number of bombs on the Nahal Yam outpost, on Sinai's northern coast, but no casualties were reported.

It was the third Egyptian air attack on Israeli positions in Sinai in four days. The Israelis claimed two Egyptian planes were shot down in the previous strikes.

Meanwhile, three visiting American women and 12 other persons were recovering from injuries received Wednesday when a grenade exploded in the main square of the occupied town of Nablus.

Youths Bound Over On Heroin Charges

Two of three 19-year-old youths who confessed to being heroin addicts when arrested have been bound over to Marin Superior Court on felony charges after the third one testified against them at a preliminary hearing in municipal court.

Reade Collins Backer of Ross told Judge Peter Allen Smith Tuesday how his companions, Stephen John Pappas of San Rafael and Arthur George Metzger III of Petaluma stole various articles from a house on Paradise Drive on April 1.

He said he remained in the car waiting for them.

Backer has already pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge of possessing stolen property and is to be sentenced May 12.

The three youths were arrested on Tiburon Boulevard after a sheriff's deputy noticed them driving erratically. A search of the trunk produced a number of allegedly stolen articles.

They told the deputy they were heroin addicts and were charged with being under the influence of the narcotic as well as having hypodermic needles. These charges have since been dismissed.

Pappas and Metzger are to appear in superior court Monday for arraignment on charges of burglary and possessing stolen property. All three are free on their own recognizance.

Rafferty Office

Friends of Rafferty has opened its Marin campaign headquarters at the Tiburon home of Anita D. Smith, 11 Auburn Court. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Gail Bost Rey of Belvedere are county cochairmen of the campaign to reelect Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction.

Lynwood Park Elects Officers

Harold K. Blue has been re-elected president of the Lynwood Park Improvement Association, Secretary Charon Colosi announced yesterday.

Others elected to serve with him are: Harvey C. Simpkins, vice president; Mrs. Colosi, secretary; Kathleen B. Loeffler, assistant secretary and Richard P. Gomez, treasurer.

The officers and the following members constitute the new board of directors: Gerald C. Cullen, Arlus Colclough, Paul Avery, Donald Williams and Harvey Simpkins.

OFFICIAL VISIT—Delbert C. Bailey, grand patriarch of the Grand Encampment of California, will visit the Mount Horeb Encampment 106, a unit of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, at the Odd Fellows Hall at 1522 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, today with dinner at 6:30 p.m. and a meeting at 8 p.m.

Corte Madera receptions for Peter H. Behr of Mill Valley, candidate for the Republican nomination for state Senate, will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the home of Mrs. Jack Haehl, 499 Corte Madera Avenue, and at 8 p.m. at the home of Town Councilman Holmes S. Norville, 126 Granada Drive.

Souza Sees Conflict On Heading School Tax Panel

Leo Souza, chairman of the Reed School District board, last night submitted his resignation as chairman of the citizens committee on the June 2 measure to hike the operating tax rate limit 60 cents.

Souza said he is "100 per cent" behind the bid for a tax hike, but didn't feel that he, as board chairman, also should serve as committee chairman.

Startled trustees, balked at making a change of leadership in mid-campaign, tried to persuade Souza to stay at the committee post, but he adamant.

"To be successful, I think we should have someone else at the helm," he said.

He intended to resign effective immediately, but agreed to stay until the next board meeting, tentatively scheduled for Tuesday, so there would be time to seek a successor.

Souza said the board made a mistake in appointing him to the committee job and he made a mistake in accepting it. It is unusual for a board chairman to head such a committee, he contended.

Souza, who had engaged in similar campaigns over several years, felt the community should hear from other trustees on the tax increase, saying "they've heard me saying the same thing over and over."

Trustee Gordon C. Wright said all trustees support the tax increase and were willing to do whatever Souza asked them to do in the campaign.

The Reed School District board also:

INTERDISTRICT TRANSFER — Approved an interdistrict transfer whereby a pupil who has moved to San Rafael, to remain at Granada School for the remainder of the school year, and a transfer of three pupils now at Granada to San Clemente School in the Larkspur School District.

NEXT MEETING — Tentatively scheduled an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Bel Aire School if a report from the screening committee for a new superintendent is ready. The next regularly scheduled meeting will be at 8 p.m. May 5 at Bel Aire School.

Draft Conspiracy Charges Dropped

U.S. Dist. Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity granted a Justice Department motion Wednesday, ending the cases against the so called Boston Five.

Coffin, chaplain of Yale University; Goodman, Dr. Benjamin Spock; Michael Ferber, a Harvard graduate student, and Marcus Raskin, co-director of the Institute of Political Studies at Washington, were indicted Jan. 5, 1968.

Most Of 'Planned' Budget Of $2 Million Is Backed

Reed School District trustees last night approved most of a $2,048,218 "planning" budget for 1970-71, up $162,914 from this year's budget.

Victor W. Butler Jr., business affairs director, explained that the budget was based on no increase in the district's operating tax rate.

Voters will decide at the polls June 2 whether to increase the rate 60 cents from $2.25 to $2.85. The current total tax rate is $3.735 per $100 assessed valuation.

The proposed budget didn't carry any cost-of-living salary scale raise, new programs, improvement of classroom ratio, reinstatement of cuts made in 1969-70 school year, instructional research and assessment fund or summer school recreation program, Butler reported.

Butler explained that the major increases would be in the cost of hiring additional personnel, estimated at $99,985, since Reedland Woods School will be opened, and annual pay increments, $49,608.

Trustees focused on the 12 new jobs proposed for the full school year.

After long discussion they approved six new positions, a principal, librarian, school secretary and teacher of educationally handicapped for Reedland Woods School and two custodians.

They postponed a decision on hiring two additional classroom teachers, another counselor, two more teachers aides and another library clerk until May 5.

The proposed budget also included 10 new summer school positions, five additional team aides and three additional summer school teachers.

Prior to the budget discussion, trustees approved in principle a recommendation from the administrative council that both Del Mar and Reedland Woods school be operated for sixth, seventh and eighth grades and have similar programs.

John C. Fitch, principal of Del Mar Intermediate School, estimated that Reedland Woods School would have about 300 pupils and Del Mar about 450.

Trustees brought up the subject of "cross grading" in the Del Mar and Reedland Woods Schools, and were assured by administrators that students in those grades would be mixed by any system or formula, but on an individual basis for instructional purposes.

Administrators estimated that from 5 to 20 per cent of the pupils might cross grades, that is a sixth grader might attend a seventh grade class in a particular field.

"We don't want to put all in a box, we want to put them where it's best for them," said Gowan.

Fire Chiefs Ask Civic Center Use For Annual Show

The Marin County Fire Chiefs Association hopes to have its Fire-O-Rama display and demonstration at the Civic Center grounds this year instead of at Redwood High School.

Chief Richard K. Oswald of Tamalpais Valley, member of the arrangement committee, has asked the board of supervisors for use of the parking and entrance area at the New Hall of Justice. The fourth annual Fire-O-Rama will be held Oct. 4 to mark the opening of National Fire Prevention Week.

Oswald explained in a letter to the supervisors that attendance at Redwood has been poor because the school is difficult to find.

The association plans lectures, movies, displays and demonstrations on fire fighting and rescues during the Fire-O-Rama, which will be held from 10 .m. to 3:30 p.m.

Chief Joseph Regalia of Mill Valley is chairman of the 1970 Fire-O-Rama committee.

Span Board Attorney Balks Bus Line Funds

the law's requirement that the district seek competitive bids for any feeder system it desired to serve a district transit operation.

Also, White reminded the committee, Marin County supervisors must commit themselves to pay the intracounty costs of the district's transit system before such a subsidy could be considered.

A formula setting the amount of Marin's contribution will be considered by the full bridge board tomorrow.

Director Lowell Edington of Napa County observed that White's opinions could threaten the possible subsidy to Harbor Carriers to continue the Tiburon service.

Director Dean N. Meyer of Mill Valley, noting that the $12,000 subsidy would come to almost $4 for each intracounty passenger carried on the feeder bus, said the cost was too high.

Paul Kahn, a transportation consultant for the Marin City bus firm, said the subsidy per passenger would decrease as patronage increased.

The bus company, however, did win today a $20,500 grant from the Ford Foundation to determine the potential ridership of a countywide system.

Court Dismisses Maddox Suit On School Quotas

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A federal judge dismissed today a suit by Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox to block the federal government from requiring racial quotas and busing in desegregating southern schools.

Georgia's state attorney general, Arthur K. Bolton, said he would appeal to a higher court following the ruling by U.S. District Judge George L. Hart Jr.

Hart said the suit amounted to a collateral attack on a suit brought by the Justice Department against the state of Georgia and its education department to force desegregation in 83 of the state's school districts.

Bolton told reporters his suit was not directed at the Georgia case alone but was aimed at establishing a broad principle to forbid mandatory racial quotas throughout the south.

Auto Owned By Marinite Found; Youth Is Held

An auto belonging to a San Rafael man was recovered in Auburn yesterday an hour before it was reported stolen here, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Driver of the stolen vehicle, Brian Keith Kenton, 16, of Citrus Heights, Sacramento Couty, was turned over to juvenile authorities on suspicion of car theft, according to the highway patrol, which said the youth had been missing from his home for two months.

The car, owned by Mark Litchfield of 823 B Street, was reported stolen at 4 p.m., the highway patrol said Litchfield told them it had been taken from a parking lot at Second and B streets sometime after April 19.

Kenton was seized in Auburn after abandoning the car following a chase.

Marijuana Case To Muni Court

The case of a Berkeley man and a Tiburon woman arrested on suspicion of smoking marijuana was transferred yesterday from West Marin Judicial Court to Marin Municipal Court.

David DeWitt Black, 25, and Marilyn Edith Babakan, 37, of 45-E Redhill Circle, are scheduled to appear in municipal court April 30 at 2 p.m.

They were arrested Sunday near Point Reyes Station. Sheriff's deputies said they saw the pair apparently smoking marijuana in a small station wagon three miles north of Point Reyes Station.

Forgery Case To Higher Court

James Edward Wade, 26, of San Rafael, has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on a charge of credit card forgery after a preliminary hearing in municipal court. A second count of the same charge was dismissed.

Wade is accused of obtaining articles from a San Rafael store on Dec. 18 by signing another person's name to credit card slips.

He is to appear in court Monday for arraignment.

McCoy Back At Center; Freedom Cut

Donald Crawford McCoy Jr., a former commune leader who was arrested on suspicion of possessing marijuana last year and later released when charges against him were dropped, was returned to the Community Mental Health Center at Marin General Hospital yesterday after escaping earlier in the day.

He was picked up by Sausalito police at 6:30 p.m. yesterday at the Trident restaurant.

McCoq, 36, first was taken to the center Tuesday after Mill Valley police noticed him acting peculiarly near his home at 108 Miller Avenue at 9:40 p.m. Police said he told them he was looking for "lemons in the air" and appeared to be under the influence of drugs.

A former theatrical booking agent and builder turned hippie, McCoy and six of his followers were arrested at Rancho Olompali, his commune north of Nod vato, in January 1969.

The case was dismissed in September when Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales refused to reveal the name of an informant in the case, saying that to do so would endanger the witness.

Judge Refuses Bail To Leary

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The California Supreme Court has refused to order drug advocate Timothy Leary released on bail pending an appeal of a recent Orange County marijuana possession conviction.

The court denied without comment Wednesday Leary's petition requesting bond.

Judge Bryon McMillan of Orange County Superior Court refused to grant appeal bail on grounds Leary was "an insidious hazard to the public." Leary is confined at Chino State Prison.

Delay Granted In Calley Trial

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—A military judge today granted a 3-month delay in the court martial of Lt. William L. Calley Jr., the first officer to be charged in the alleged My Lai massacre in Vietnam.

Col. Reid W. Kennedy granted a defense motion and reset the trial from May 18 to Aug. 24.

Calley, 26 ,is charged with 102 counts of premeditated murder in the alleged March 16, 1968 incident.

Divorce Ahead For Herb Alpert

The trumpeter, 35, who went from movie extra to head of a multimillion-dollar company, and his 31-year-old wife said in a joint statement Wednesday they realized that they "can't be happy together." They have a son, 10, and a daughter, 4.

Those now holding such deferments can keep them as long as they are eligible.

In the case of fatherhood the order permits deferments where a local draft board determines that induction would create extreme hardship.

At present some 1.8 million men hold student deferments and 431,000 hold occupational deferments.

Another 23,000 hold agricultural deferments.

More than four million men are deferred in category 3A because of dependents, but there was no immediate indication how many of these are deferred for fatherhood.

Nixon strongly endorsed the conclusion of his Commission on an All-Volunteer Force, headed by former Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates, which reported unanimously on Feb. 21 that an all-volunteer Army could serve the national interest better than a mixed force of volunteers and draftees.

Nixon said the first step toward an all-volunteer Army was taken this month when military pay was increased by $1.2 billion a year along with a 6 per cent pay raise for civilian government workers.

Nixon said he will propose an additional 20 per cent pay raise for enlisted men with less than two years of service, to take effect next Jan. 1.

South African Nationalists Still In Power

JOHANNESBURG (UPI) — Premiere John Vorster's National Party won power for another five years today but with a reduced majority. At the same time, it smashed an extreme rightist challenge in favor of even stricter racial segregation in South Africa.

The National Party easily won a majority in the 1966 parliament but it dropped eight constituencies to the main opposition United Party which also favors white rule, and saw its majorities whittled in other places.

The loss of seats was the first for the Nationalists since they came to power 22 years ago, but the consolation was their complete rout of the extreme right-wing Herstigte Nasionale Party (HNP), a splinter group favoring stricter application of apartheid racial separation.

Charged With Having Needle

A misdemeanor charge of possessing a hypodermic needle was filed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court against Paul Anthony Powers, 23, of Mill Valley, who had been arrested earlier in the day on suspicion of having heroin.

The case is still under investigation by the district attorney's office.

Powers was to plead to the charge today.

Nyhans Trial In Third Day

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The first degree murder trial of Elsie Nyhan and her son, Daniel, moved today into the third day of jury selection.

Mrs. Nyhan, 74, and her son, 45, of Tiburon, are accused of slaying Mrs. Genevieve Dolan, 61.

Mrs. Dolan was found dead of head wounds in Mrs. Nyhan's Nob Hill apartment in October, 1968.

Police quoted Mrs. Nyhan as saying that Mrs. Dolan had been drinking and fell asleep in a hallway where she was found dead in the morning.

Two Women Booked On Drug Probe

Two young women were arrested yesterday on suspicion of drug violations after two juvenile officers saw them apparently passing a plastic bag of suspected marijuana as they stood by Highway 101, near Novato.

Booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of possessing pot were Martha Todd Pervere, 19, of 19 Evergreen Avenue, Kentfield, and Cindy Lea French, 22, of 1555 Center Road, Novato. Miss Pervere was also arrested on suspicion of possessing dangerous drugs after the officers said they found two capsules of suspected mescaline in her purse.

Officers said that as they drove up the on-ramp to Highway 101 from South Novato Boulevard they saw Miss Pervere hand a plastic bag to Miss French. When the officers stopped, Miss French ran and threw her purse up on a bank, they said. A search of the purse produced the bag of suspected pot as well as the pills.

Both women were released from jail on their own recognizance to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow.

cords establishing Cambodia as a neutral state.

Ziegler said the United States wants to see that neutrality preserved in keeping with the accords.

Earlier today the New York Times had reported that the Nixon administration had decided to supply the Cambodian government with several thousand automatic rifles captured from North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in South Vietnam.

When asked if Washington had been in touch with the Indonesian government about possible military shipments to Cambodia from Indonesia, Ziegler replied, "Not to my knowledge."

However, he noted the Lon Nol government is seeking aid from several countries and said he "suspects there will be a response to their request" from some other nations.

The press secretary was asked if reported massacres by Cambodian troops of Vietnamese civilians in that country would have an impact on Nixon's decision on possible arms shipments .

Ziegler said that "without in any way condoning" the killing of innocent civilians, he would point out that Cambodia is a scene of violence because of Communist aggression.

He said "the killing of innocent civilians who are in a war zone is a concern."

Innocent Plea To Charges

Misdemeanor charges of car tampering, exhibiting a knife in a threatening manner and petty theft were filed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court against James Earl Henderson III, 19, of Novato.

He pleaded innocent and a jury trial was set for Aug. 31.

Henderson was arrested Tuesday in Ross after he allegedly removed a gas tank from a motorcycle in front of Ross Automotive Service and then threatened two men with a knife when they tried to stop him.

$307,000 Gems Heist In London

LONDON (AP) —Three men, including one armed with a shotgun, grabbed a bag of diamonds worth $307,200 today and escaped in a sports car.

The diamonds were being delivered to a jewelry firm in Hatton Garden, London's gem center, by two postmen.

The raiders ran up behind them, grabbed the bag of diamonds and pushed the postmen down a short flight of stairs. The getaway car was later found abandoned.

Rental Firm Wins Hub Design Approval

The building design and a landscape plan for a United Rent-All business at 101 San Anselmo Avenue was approved last night my the San Anselmo Design Review Committee, according to secretary Thelma Foster.

An application by George Geramoni to construct a three-unit apartment building at 17 Ancho Vista Avenue was held for further study at the committee's next meeting May 13.

ASIA

widened Asian war. They worry that short of a big war, the Red Chinese will emerge the real winners in terms of influence. They have made noises suggesting a will to participate in an international meeting on Indochina. But the Kremlin barely dipped a diplomatic toe into the water, found it much too hot and hastily withdrew it. Somebody, possibly the North Vietnamese, talked Moscow out of it.

The Chinese are not without difficulties, either. Peking is not out of the chaos created by years of "cultural revolution." It may yet have a violent power struggle. It could be tempting to a Maoist regime in such circumstances to kick up a fuss within the boundaries of safety, so as to rally the people behind the rulers. What with the tension on Soviet-Chinese borders, however, the question for Peking ought to be: Just how much fuss is safe?

Candidate Simon Calls For More Police On Campus

ANAHEIM (AP) — Millionaire industrialist Norton Simon, campaigning for the Republican senatorial nomination, says the University of California ought to hire 50 per cent more campus policemen "to stop the damn problems."

"I don't care if you have to give up forerign language ... departments," he told a news conference Wednesday, "to me I think it is more important to have ... campus police.

"What I'm saying is this," he added, "put more responsibility on the administration of the university to stop the damn problems and cut out some of the permissiveness. There is just too damn much premisiveieness."

Simon, a member of the UC Board of Regents, said he's been pressing for years for more campus policemen, but has been told there's not enough money in the budget.

City Sued Over Pupil Bus Plan

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A student busing plan in parts of San Francisco has been challenged in court by Concerned Parents Association, which said the plan was drawn up illegally.

Superior Court Judge Charles S. Perry has set a hearing for May 4 in the suit against the San Francisco Board of Education.

The parents group said the board was wrong in delegating powers to the Richmond District and Park-South Advisory Councils to recommend plans for two school complexes. These schools would group only certain grades at each school with limited busing.

The suit also said the council adopted kindergarten busing plans and the board approved them without listening adequately to opponents.

Equipment For Odor Controls

The Richardson Bay Sanitary District has awarded contracts totaling $20,803 to two firms for odor control equipment, according to Beverly Wheeler, board director.

The board Tuesday night awarded contracts to Reordeorant Engineering Co. of Belmont for $6,160 and Door-Oliver Co. of Connecticut for $14,643, Mrs. Wheeler said.

Another contract for $1,600 to Miller Industrial Co. for a new chlorinator was delayed so the board could study the bid.

The new equipment is intended to eliminate odors from the district's sewage treatment plant at Tiburon and Trestle Glen boulevards, Mrs. Wheeler said.

Statewide Land Use Plan Urged

Michael Peevey of San Rafael, candidate for the Democratic nomination for state senate, yesterday called for immediate adoption of a statewide plan to determine and enforce the best use of land.

Peevey, speaking on Earth Day at the College of Marin, said that without such a plan all open spaces "will ultimately be paved over and the beauty and environmental amenities of California will be lost forever."

He envisioned a plan that would "locate new urban centers in now underpopulated areas, prevent air, noise, water and visual pollution, and reverse certain, destructive growth trends creating overcrowding and pollution of all types."

OBITUARIES

Alfred V. Grimes Dies At 66

Alfred V. Grimes, 66, of 740 Sunset Parkway, Novato, a retired bartender and machinist, died yesterday at a local hospital after a long illness.

A native of Kansas, he had lived in California since 1932. He lived in the Fremont area until 1954 when he moved to Novato. He had been a bartender and then a machinist for Markham Machine Shop in San Rafael and Petaluma for 12 years until ill health forced his retirement three years ago.

He was a member of the Bartender and Culinary Workers Union Local 823.

He is survived by a sister, Mr. Ray E. Markham Sr. with whom he made his home; and two brothers, Everett C. Grimes of San Rafael and Ernest C. Grimes of Winnemucca, Nev.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. Saturday at Keaton's Chapel of Marin in Novato. Burial will be private.

ANTHONY SILVA

Anthony H. Silva, 62, of Corte Madera, a retired labor official, died today in a San Francisco hospital following a short illness.

Silva, of 33 Palm Avenue, was secretary-treasurer of the Teamsters, Warehousemen and Helpers Union Local 624, Novato, for 15 years before retiring in 1967.

He was born in Newman, Stanislaus County, where his parents owned a ranch.

Surviving are his wife, Erma; two daughters, Mrs. Robert Stine of Petaluma and Mrs. Gerald Stone of San Rafael; a sister, Rose Antonio of Sonoma; a brother, John Silva of Novato; and nine grandchildren.

Requiem Mass will be at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at St. Patrick's Church in Larkspur with recitation of the Rosary at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Harry M.Williams Mortuary. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

JEAN S. HODGKINSON

Jean S. Hodgkinson of Sonoma, mother of Jean Elkin of Novato, died yesterday at her home in Sonoma after a long illness.

A native of Scotland, she and her husband, Robert Hodgkinson, came to San Francisco in 1904. He was a civil engineer and they lived in many cities in California and Nevada.

They retired to Sonoma in 1950 where they celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary on Jan. 4.

She was a 50-year member of the Albert Pike Chapter of Order of Eastern Star of San Francisco.

She is survived by her husband; two other daughters, Vera Small of Sonoma and Mona Stansfield of Daly City, six grandchildren, seven great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Funeral will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Chapel of Marin, Novato. Burial will be in Valley Cemetery in Sonoma.

CLARENCE SIMONSON

Clarence S. Simonson of Minnesota died unexpectedly yesterday while visiting the Corte Madera home of his daughter, Mrs. Carlo J. Colombo, 10 Chickasaw Court. He was 79.

According to Deputy Coroner Richard W. Madigan, Mrs. Colombo checked on her sleeping father before going to work at 6:40 a.m. When she arrived home, she found him still in bed, dead, according to Madigan, who said Simonson had a long history of heart disease.

A native of Minnesota, he had been in California and Marin County, where he usually spent the winter months, for five months. He was a retired, self-employer grocer.

Simonson is also survived by four other daughters: Mrs. Aldo Gavazza of Redwood City; Betty Kindig of Union City, Alameda County; Mrs. Robert E. Quale of Fargo, N.D., and Mrs. Bennett M. Coons of St. Louis, Mo., and 10 grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are pending in Minnesota.

PAUL FAY SR.

Paul Burgess Fay, prominent building contractor and father of a former undersecretary of the Navy, died Wednesday at his Pacific Heights home. He was 85.

A native San Franciscan, Fay had been ill with heart trouble. His son, Paul B. (Red) Fay Jr., was undersecretary of the Navy under President John F. Kennedy.

Fay's contracting business was dissolved four years ago when he retired after 45 years. For the past 10 years he was a regent of the University of San Francisco.

Besides his wife and son, Fay is survived by five daughers: Mrs. C. Carroll McGettigan, Mrs. Patricia Fay Woods and Mrs. Jean Fay Webster, all of San Francisco, and Mrs. Michael Tobin and Mrs. Marten Barry of Hillsborough. He also leaves 22 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Rosary will be recited at 6 p.m. today at Carew & English funeral home, Requiem Mass will be held Friday at 10 a.m. at St. Ignatius Church, and interment will follow at Holy Cross Cemetery in Colma.

MARJORIE FREEMAN

Graveside services for Marjorie F. Freeman, mother of Dr. Paul Freeman of Mill Valley, will be tomorrow at 11:30 a.m. at Calvary Cemetery in Merced.

Mrs. Freeman, who died Tuesday at a San Francisco hospital at the age of 79, was the wife of Dr. Walter J. Freeman Jr., the neurologist who pioneered frontal lobotomy operations for the mentally ill in this country.

A native of Albany, N. Y., Mrs. Freeman taught economics at Vassar College and at her alma mater, Bryn Mawr. She was also an expert on imports from France and French-controlled nations and worked in this capacity with the United States Tariff Commission from 1922 to 1942.

She moved to California in 1954 and lived in Los Altos until 1967 when she moved to San Francisco.

In addition to her husband and son, she is survived by two other sons, Dr. Walter J. Freeman III, of Berkeley, and Franklin Freeman of Philadelphia; a daughter, Lorne Canter of San Francisco; a brother, the Rt. Rev. Roger G. Franklin of Liberty, N. Y.; and a sister, Alice Franklin of New York City.

HATTIE MASCIORINI

Hattie Mae Masciorini, 71, a lifelong Petaluman, died yesterday at a local hospital after a long illness.

She was the wife of the late Henry T. Masciorini and made her home with her son, Joseph Masciorini, 412 Weaverly Drive.

She is also survived by two daughters, Geraldine Ielmorini of Petaluma and Barbara Suttie of Santa Rosa; 10 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Requiem Mass will be offered at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at St. James Catholic Church, Petaluma. Entombment will be at Calvary Cemetery. Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma.

Hub Trustees Set Summer School Date

The San Anselmo School District board announced last night that summer school will be held June 17 to July 17 at Hidden Valley School for grades 5-8 and at Brookside School for grades 5 and below.

Richard B. Connell will be principal.

In taking action, the board affirmed a decision to rotate locations of summer school each year, Supt. Stephen L. Parodi said.

The San Anselmo School District Board Also:

FUNDS — Approved, 3-1, an application for $1,366 in federal funds for library materials for the district and for St. Anselm's School and San Domenico Lower School in Sleepy Hollow. The total is an entitlement to the San Anselmo area, Parodi said. Board member Elmer A. Weden Jr. dissented, saying he was opposed to spending public funds on private or parochial schools.

ELECTION — Announced applications to run at the July 21 election for the board seat vacated last month by Cornelia B. Busse are available at Parodi's office and from the county superintendent of schools. Filing deadline is May 28.

CALENDAR — Said school would run from Sept. 8 to June 11 next year.

AUDIT — Pending negotiation of a fee, hired the firm of Leader, Jarvis and Keigwin of San Rafael to perform the 1969-70 audit.

GRANT — Was told that $500 in matching federal funds is available for a mathematics program at Isabel Cook School and $500 for a reading program at Red Hill School. The district had earlier applied for $8,355 for the projects.

PERSONNEL —Accepted the resignations of Johanna C. McPeak, a first grade teacher at Yolansdale School, personal reasons, and Ann T. Morrison, fifth grade teacher at Wade Thomas School, who had been on leave, and authorized appointment of Vonda Stoner as a clerk in the instructional materials center at $146 monthly.

CLOSED — Held a closed session to instruct negotiators in contract discussions with teachers.

MEETING — Is next scheduled to meet at 7:30 p.m. May 5.

Activities End At Old Center

The first function at the new center will be the departure of four busloads of senior citizens on a one-day excursion to Jenner, Fort Ross and Occidental on Wednesday.

Probation On Weapon Charge

A Sonoma man found guilty of carrying a concealed weapon and drunkenness was given a suspenden sentence yesterday and three years' probation in West Marin Judicial Court.

John Struven, 52, of 414 First Street E., Sonoma, was placed on probation on the condition that he dispose of all firearms within 72 hours. His wife, 55, who was found guilty of drunkenness, was also placed on probation.

The couple was arrested on Feb. 18 on Petaluma-Point Reyes Road in West Marin after Struven allegedly fired his gun in a crowded area.

Murder Case Docketed In Higher Court

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Earl P. Paige, 51, of San Francisco, has been bound over to Sonoma County Superior Court for the April 5 murder of Robert J. Perry, 26, of Petaluma, in a Windsor bar.

Judge A. F. Scheidecker in Central Sonoma Municipal Court ordered Paige to appear in superior court for arraignment Wednesday at 9 a.m.

Paige is charged with first degree murder, kidnapping, assault with a deadly weapon and inflicting traumatic injuries on his estranged wife, Naomi Paige, 49.

Perry was shot while he was sitting at the bar with Mrs. Paige. Police said after the shooting that Paige kidnapped and beat his wife before being apprehended in a Healdsburg motel.

Aged Escaper Is Free After Brief Prison Return

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI)— A convicted murderer, who escaped from the Nevada State Prison and remained at large for nearly half a century, has been granted clemency after less than six months back in jail.

"I just want to go out and be a good citizen," said Leonard Fristoe, 77.

He will live in New Mexico with a son he deserted in 1917— and didn't see again until six months ago at a tearful reunion in prison.

Fristoe, who managed to stay out of trouble during the 46 years he was at large, was turned over to authorities late last year in Compton, Calif., after a family argument at the home of another son by a later marriage.

He was returned to the Nevada prison, where he was granted clemency Wednesday by a 4-3 vote of the state pardons board.

Young Bicyclist Injured In Crash

Mark Todaro, 7, of 500 Middle Two Rock Road, Petaluma, has been treated at Hillcrest Hospital for a hip injury suffered when he was struck by a car in front of 475 Middle Two Rock Road.

The California Highway Patrol said the boy rode his bicycle into the path of a car driven by Bob Yasuda, 42, of 251 Thomas Lane, Petaluma, at 5:50 p.m. Tuesday.

Hayakawa Proposes Policing Student Fund

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — President S. I. Hayakawa, Mill Valley, of San Francisco State College has urged that administration control be established over student activity funds.

Hayakawa advanced his proposal Wednesday after three campus political parties disqualified in current elections asked a federal district judge to void the balloting.

Hayakawa said four or five student groups had emerged almost overnight with candidates after announcement that activity fees would be increased from $1 to $5 a semester.

"The lure of cash in the student body treasury certainly seemed to stimulate political action," he said.

The Associated Students went into receiver-ship a year ago during a student strike amid charges that student fee revenues were used to finance campus revolt. The activity fee then was $10 a semester and produced more than $400,000 annually. Hayakawa ordered the fee trimmed to $1.

Federal Judge Robert Peckham set May 1 for a hearing on the complaint by the three student parties. They charged they were being suppressed by Hayakawa and Mark Wolfe, chairman of the Associated Students elections committee.

Youths To March For Boys Club

Sixty students from Drake, Tamalpais and San Domenico high schools will participate in a house-to-house youth march through Southern Marin tomorrow to collect money for the Marin City Boys' Club.

According to Carolyn Knox and Channing May, organizers of the event, funds collected will be used for year-round operation of the club. Last year's march grossed nearly $5,000.

The marchers will wear identifying badges and have specially-marked envelopes for the donations.

Flood Session Date

The Santa Venetia Flood Control Advisory board will meet April 29 at 8 p.m. at MacPhail School to discuss Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District relocation work on Meadow Drive. The Independent-Journal erred Tuesday in reporting the board would meet last night.

Scholarship Being Created

The San Marin Improvement Association has voted to create a $200 scholarship at San Marin High School, secretary Patricia Jones reported yesterday.

This is the first year that there will be a graduating class from the high school, and the association is leaving it up to the school to decide how the scholarship will be awarded, she said. The association hopes to make it an annual scholarship.

New by-laws and revised articles of incorporation were adopted by the association, and it voted to have a booth at Western Weekend and earmarked the profits from it for Novato Creek Park, she said.

Bay Heroin Use Warning Sounded

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) Heroin addiction in the San Francisco Bay Area has increased 1,000 per cent in the past few months, the medical director of the Haight-Ashbury Medical Clinic said Wednesday.

Dr. David E. Smith told a dietetic section at the Association of Western Hospitals annual convention that metropolitan areas are suffering from a "heroin epidemic."

His voluntary clinic is treating "15 to 30 youthful heroin addicts a day," Smith said.

"White middle class kids are sticking needles in their arms like it's going out of style," he said, adding that they are considered "fresh meat" in the drug ghettoes like the Haight.

Club Land Leasing May Cost Extra $20

It cost Marin Municipal Water District $650 yesterday to find out that it should be making $20 more a year on the lease of its property to the Meadow Club above Fairfax.

The district board authorized payment of $650 to San Anselmo appraiser David G. Cohn for his report that the fair rental value of the 162 acres leased to the club is $500 a year.

The club presently pays $480 a year.

If a new lease in negotiated on the basis of Cohn's appraisal, his report will pay for itself in just over 30 years.

Cohn told the board the rental value is low because of use limitations on the land. A much higher price could be gotten if the land was developed, he said.

The club owns some of the property on which it is located, but uses the leased land for its golf course.

The 44-year-old lease has been renewed every 10 years. It expired in January, and the club has agreed that the renegotiated lease will be retroactive to January.

Board president Robert G. Anderson said yesterday that he would like to see the lease reviewed every year instead of signing it off for 10 years again.

The Municipal Water District Board Also:

BIDS — Accepted low bids: of $1,606 for a reduced voltage starter for the Chapman booster pump from Graybar Electric Co. of San Francisco; of $1,154 for 120 cast iron anodes from Diversified Chemicals Corp. of Stanton, and of $21,451 for various sized steel pipe from Beall Pipe & Tank Corp. of Portland, Ore.

RIVER PROJECT — Authorized approval of an agreement with the Sonoma County Water Agency and the North Marin County Water District establishing a design standards committee for the Russian River Water Plan and authorizing payment of $8,200 as the district's first payment toward engineering costs of Phase 1 of the project. Seeger informed the board that a meeting of the boards of the three water agencies will be held May 18 to select a financial consultant for the project. Time and place of the meeting have not been determined.

INSURANCE — Approved a total increase of $27 a month in the district's share of district employees group life insurance rates.

CONTRACT — Agreed to add two jobs to a multi-job contract with Gilson Construction Company. The cost of the two jobs, a total of $11,600, will be paid by the state highway department because they were necessitated by the widening of highway 101.

FLOOD CONTROL — Approved an agreement with the Marin County Flood Control District to relocate water mains in the vicinity of Corte Madera Creek. The district will pay $15,000 for enlarging its present main at Laurel Avenue, and the county will pay the remaining $56,000 cost of the project.

PAYMENT — Approved a notice of acceptance and completion and the semi-final payment of $9,849 to Maggiora & Ghilotti for the installation of pipe on Shoreline Highway near Richardson Bay Bridge.

LAND — Approved use of district land by Burlingame Girl Scouts this weekend; by Panorama School, Brisbane, students, May 14, and the California State Horsemens' Association, May 2.

UNIFORMS — Authorized spending $1,288 for purchase of blue uniforms for 20 district employees who come in contact with the public. The uniforms will be purchased from L. Riznik & Son, San Francisco.

SCHOOL — Approved in principle a $1,000 offer from the Nicasio School District to purchase three acres of district property on Nicasio Creek for school expansion. The board directed Seeger to negotiate terms and conditions of the sale.

CLAIMS — Denied and referred to the district's insurance carrier $20,000 claims from Peter A. Wynne of Rohnert Park and Henry Bragado of San Francisco, for damages suffered by a slide of district land near 29 Canyon Road, Fairfax.

PERSONNEL — Approved hiring Steven Fraire, part-time watershed patrolman, at $2.95 an hour; Thomas Keating, part-time watershed patrolman, at $2.79 an hour; Steven Powers and James Boracchia, laborers, at $591 a month; and Francis L. Christ, garage attendant, at $605 a month; a merit increase for Mario Bongio, utility man I, from $688 to $726; reclassification of Chester Smith from laborer to utility man II, with salary going from $622 to $657, and Kenneth Wizner, from laborer to utility man I, with salary going from $657 to $688; and accepted the resignation of Dean J. Land, garage attendant.

MEETING — Adjourned to the next regular meeting May 13.

Two Redwood Scholars Earn Trip To Germany

Two Redwood High School sophomores have been selected to spend a year as students in Germany under the American Field Service Exchange Student Program.

Megan Walker, 16, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Donald Walker of 35 Spring Lane, Tiburon, and Elton (Buck) Sherwin, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elton Sherwin of 30 Windward Road, Belvedere, have been chosen to study at Friedrich Schiller Gymnasium at Preetz.

Sherwin has served as both freshman and sophomore class president and Miss Walker has achieved high scholastic standing.

They will leave this summer and live in private homes in Preetz.

Dr. and Mrs. Walker hope to have a foreign student, also under the field service program, live at their home during their daughter's absence.

Petaluma Youths Vie In Cleanups

The cleanup began April 11 and will end with judging on May 16.

Student leaders heading the drives are Charles De Giulio, San Antonio High School; Sue Weeks and Deila Kasch, St. Vincent's High School; Steven Wynne, Petaluma Senior High School; Nancy Burke, Petaluma Junior High School and Steve Crawford and Derald Holloway, Kenilworth Junior High School.

Wynne, chairman of the student steering committee, said he would organize small cleanup campaigns in the elementary schools.

Activities will include painting, washing, weeding and repairing damaged articles on campuses.

Contract Due On Olney Hall

Marin Junior College District trustees are scheduled to award a contract for remodeling of Olney Hall at 8 p.m. today at Room 96, Olney Hall.

Trustees also are slated to approve an agreement for relocating utilities along Corte Madera Creek so phase 3A-1 of the creek flood control project can proceed.

The procedure for recruiting a dean of instruction to succeed retiring Paul (Dutch) Clymer also is on the agenda.

A record of violence - up-dated

Following is a list of 51 acts of violence, vandalism and threats which have continued to accompany the strike by the San Francisco Typographical Union 21 against the Independent-Journal. These acts, committed against Marin residents and the Independent- Journal, are listed in sequence, running from March 7 through April 19. They add up, with former violent acts, to a total of 112 since the strike began. This day-by-day record is perhaps the best commentary on the motives and the merits of those who perpetrated them.

March 9 Vandalism – Plexiglass window broken by steel nut at I-J building, San Rafael

Tactics such as these strike at the heart of the community. They violate not only law and order but the rights of every citizen – his freedom of choice, his right to live in a peaceful society.

The Independent-Journal, as a daily, home newspaper, will continue to pursue its lawful right and its responsibility to publish the news for all Marin and Southern Sonoma Counties.

And it will continue to demonstrate, reinforced by solid community sentiment, that intimidation shall never influence the fulfillment of that obligation.

EGG SNATCHER — Loraine Barnes, a science teacher at White Hill School in Fairfax, puts a South American tegu through its paces as Henry Kremer and James McBride look on. The lengthy lizard, also called an egg wolf, will be one of the stars of a Public Schools Week science demonstration at White Hill School between 7:30 and 9 p.m. today. He was just out for air when he had his picture taken this morning.

Ecumenical Housing Boosters Get $20,000 Operating Fund Grant

The Ecumenical Association for Housing in Marin will get a $20,000 grant from the San Francisco Foundation to help cover the association's operating expenses this year.

The money will cover two-thirds of the association's second year operating expenses. The remaining one-third will be sought from private foundations and individuals who support the aims of the association, said executive director Martin Mackey.

The directors of the ecumenical association also:

NEW DELEGATES Welcomed Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ford from Fairfax Community Church and William H. Sherman and Mrs. Helen Brown from St. Raphael's Church as new delegates to the ecumenical association. Thirty-five organizations are now members of the association.

HOUSING PROGRESS — Got a progress report from architect Ellis Aaplan on the 112 units of moderate-rent housing planned at Hilarita housing by the Tiburon Ecumenical Association and the 65-unit housing for the elderly sponsored by the Catholic Social Services of Marin at 1327 Lincoln Avenue in San Rafael.

HOUSING MEASURE — Appointed Robert Miller of St. Isabella's Church to represent the association on the Committee for Adequate Shelter for All (CASA), which is campaigning for passage of a June 2 housing measure calling for 600 new units of low income rentals.

NEXT MEETING — Set the next meeting for 8 p.m. May 20 at the Civic Center.

Another Discussion On Recreation Needs

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission said last night it would meet at 8 p.m. next Thursday with the city's youth commission to discuss recreational issues.

Chairman Robert England said the parks and recreation group will consider its 1971 fiscal budget proposals following the meeting with the youth commission.

U.S., Russ Offer Joint Arms Curb

GENEVA (UPI)—The United States and the Soviet Union presented a joint draft of a treaty to the Geneva Disarmament Conference today that would ban mass destruction weapons such as nuclear missiles from the ocean floor.

The draft replaces an earlier one that was criticized by some of the 25 conference members who wanted greater protection of the rights of coastal states.

Soviet Ambassador Alexei A. Roshchin and U.S. Ambassador James F. Leonard predicted the new draft will be approved.

Pair Nabbed After Auto Looting Seen

Two 18-year-old youths were booked into Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of auto burglary after a clerk at the Short Stop Market, 141 Bellam Boulevard, San Rafael reported seeing them rifling his car.

The youths, Gerald Arthur Beaudoin of 45 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera, and Walter David Watson of 131 Myrtle Avenue, San Rafael, were held to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

According to police one youth was observed by clerk Christian C. Krabbe rifling his car at 9:20 p.m. in the market's parking area. The other youth was standing nearby, police said.

Krabbe reported he had become suspicious of the pair after they had an unidentified man purchase beer for them at the market shortly after they were refused because they lacked identification.

Krabbe went to the parking area and found the pair near his car and called police when the youths fled east on Francisco Boulevard. They were later arrested by a patrolman in the parking lot at the Country Club Bowl, 88 Vivian Way.

A $150 television set and a paper bag with cigarettes, crackers and sardines, taken from the car were found behind a fence near Krabbe's car, police said. Two pairs of sunglasses also stolen were not recovered, police added.

Tons Of Grass Go Up In Smoke

TIJUANA, Mexico (UPI) — Nine tons of marijuana which had been confiscated during the past three months were burned in a ceremony Wednesday.

Deputy Attorney General of Mexico David Franco Rodriguez participated and praised Baja California law enforcement authorities and the military for "splendid cooperation" in a national effort to combat production and traffic of illegal narcotics.

He said the all-out war against marijuana and opium poppy growers has produced excellent results. He added Mexico is fulfilling agreements with the United States and other nations interested in combating narcotics throughout the world.

Lieutenant Is Son Of Washington Pair

Second Lt. Terry G. Tadlock is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Tadlock of Belview, Wash., not H. J. Tadlock of San Rafael as reported yesterday in the Independent-Journal.

Tadlock, who is stationed at Fort Holabird, Md., is married to the former Nancy Davis of 9 Prospect Avenue, San Anselmo and formerly lived in Fairfax.

Adult Generation Gap Plagues Coast Schools

member who does things individually outside the board is a detriment to the schools and the kids," he said.

While Lund concurred with most of Larison's criticism of the board, he said that was not the entire story. Part of the reason for the confusion and conflict in the last few years, according to the trustee, is that Larison has not fulfilled the role of superintendent.

"The board has been left with the task of proposing policies and goals for the district and this should be the role of the superintendent, after he has conferred with the staff and members of the community," Lund said.

He added that the lack of policies and goals has been a large contributing factor to the turmoil in the district. "Inevitable problems have arisen and because we haven't had an adequate system to deal with them—because a great number of people in the community don't find a discussion with the superintendent productive—these problems have had a way of mushrooming," Lund explained.

Edward Z. Lewis, board chairman, said the fact that what goes on in closed board sessions soon becomes public knowledge—often distorted—has added fuel to the fire.

Added to these facts is the makeup of the community itself, a combustible combination of long-time residents and "hip" newcomers, mostly young professional people and artists who have moved to the idyllic coast area to escape the cities. Members of these groups tend to hold differing views on education and regard each other's very different life styles with suspicion, if not outright hostility. "A generation gap between adults," one man termed it.

And when the district's two small schools, containing a total of 180 students, turned toward an unstructured, ungraded program in September, the conflict thickened as many parents panicked at the new system in the fear their children were not learning what they should.

All these factors have created a fertile climate where rumors and mistrust grow and breed with startling rapidity and small, unimportant incidents have a way of turning into major issues of confrontation.

Example: In a hurry to get to a class, a teacher did not fold an American flag properly. Someone witnessed the incident and a major fight ensued.

Example: A woman came to school one evening and saw a paste pot without its lid, an incident which generated a great debate over the care and maintenance of the schools and grounds.

Example: Parental questions about the safety of a canoeing class on the Bolinas Lagoon touched off a large, angry battle.

And the recent criticism (in a closed board session) of a teacher by certain trustees has resulted in a major, and very emotional split, between those who claim the teacher was "crucified" at the meeting and those who are just as certain she received fair treatment.

These and myriad other incidents have helped to create the difficult situation the new superintendent will have to face. Chairman Lewis took what is probably a fairly realistic view of the situation when he said "everyone out here has been guilty of some wrongdoing; we can't say one person has created this situation."

While Lewis charged that while some persons have been guilty "of feeding this kind of thing, which is like walking through a tinder - dry forest throwing lighted matches," he said most people are sincere in their concern for the schools. But even sincere individuals can add to the conflict, he said, explaining that "people will do a lot of extreme things if they think they are right."

Larison is convinced the board and superintendent can handle any conflict "if they work together as a team; all the conflicting ideas out here are not the important problems."

One amateur poet presented his view of what is occurring in the district in a limerick which has been circulating around both communities.

"There was once a rich little school
Where strife was the general rule;
The board and the staff — about half and half —
Repeatedly lost all their cool."

Another man had a more serious view. "Conflicts, problems, 'it's his fault,' that's all I hear these days," he said. "If only all these people could forget all their conflicts and concentrate on the important things—the education of 180 children.

"Wouldn't that be a relief?" he asked plaintively.

Kidnapping Is Denied By Suspect

Cheston Hope Markham, 23, of 355 Canal Street, San Rafael, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of kidnapping a 23-year-old San Rafael woman on April 9.

A preliminary hearing in the case was set for Tuesday.

Markham was charged with the crime after he was arrested several days later and police said the victim identified him from pictures.

Officers said the woman told them her assailant approached her in a darkened parking lot of her apartment house the evening of April 9. When she walked away, she said, he grabbed her and threatened her with a pocket knife. She said that he forced her to enter her car and drive to Novato, where he said he was going to rape her.

The woman said that she told him her husband, brother and father would kill him if he did so, and the man then allowed her to drive back to San Rafael. After letting him off, she went to the police station and reported the crime.

Markham was arrested Saturday when a police officer saw him walking on Francisco Boulevard at 1:30 a.m. A check revealed an outstanding traffic warrant. The woman identified him from a booking picture, officers said.

Andorra Grants Women Franchise

ANDORRE LA VIEILLE, Andorra (AP) — The men who govern Andorra decreed today that women in the pocket principality now have the right to vote.

The decision will practically double the electorate, from 1,500 to about 3,000 voters, and as one official said: "It will bring about great changes in the political future of Andorra."

The decree was signed by the co-princes of Andorra—the president of France and the Spanish bishop of Urgel. It provides franchise for women whose families have been here for at least two generations.

Andorra, 191 square miles, is in the Pyrenees on the French-Spanish border.

GM MARK OF EXCELLENCE
Do you put a higher price on an Olds than we do?

Our own surveys indicate that quite a few people think an Olds costs a lot more than it really does. Result? Many people buy an ordinary car and end up with a lot less car and value for their money.

It's so unnecessary, too, because Oldsmobile has many models that are priced right down with so-called low-priced cars. See your Olds dealer. He'll prove that you're closer to Olds than you think.

Time For Hard Look At Spending On Space

In the wake of the near-disaster to Apollo 13, there were some calls for a slowdown in the United States' expensive space exploration program.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., proposed an end to manned space flights, with concentration on unmanned exploration of the outer reaches beyond our planet.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine said the whole space effort should be reduced to divert funds to domestic priorities.

A NATURAL REACTION to the failure of Apollo 13 to land on the moon is to declare, "We'll do it again as soon as possible, just to prove we can."

That, however, overlooks a few things. So does Senator Proxmire's proposal to concentrate on unmanned space exploration.

THE NATIONAL Aeronautics and Space Administration must take time to explore the reasons for the power failure that kept Apollo 13 from completing its mission, and that put the three astronauts aboard in chilling danger of being lost in space.

While it does so, the administration, the congress and the rest of us might take a hard look at our national priorities.

But is it really that important? Does it really justify the outlay of several billion dollars per year, at a time of tumult at home, of dangerous inflation, of spiraling taxes?

Just what will further moon landings, or further space probes, accomplish to save our environment? Just what will they accomplish to bring more uniform justice? Just what will they do to solve the transportation mess, or to save our cities?

They will do nothing for any of these, of course.

SCIENTISTS HAVE HAD a heyday in recent years. Any form of scientific experiment and advance has won large appropriations of federal money — our money — almost without question.

Seldom have the questions been asked: "Is this worthwhile? How much will it help America, or the human race?"

Because scientists have devised ways to build more terrible weapons, those weapons have been built. Because scientists have found ways to control vehicles far beyond the earth's atmosphere, those vehicles have been launched.

Thousands of those terrible weapons — many of them already "outmoded" by newer, more terrible ones — are stored underground in locations across the nation, providing no security but rather a constant threat.

Quite a few of those space vehicles are still flying around, some of them sending back signals, others long since become nothing but pieces of junk circling through the heavens.

AN UNSETTLING ITEM about just what kind of scientific experiment was planned for Apollo 13 came to light after its failure.

It was disclosed that a cask of radioactive plutonium, which was to have been used to power a scientific experiment on the moon's surface, re-entered the atmosphere with the returning lunar module and was jettisoned in the South Pacific.

ENOUGH DAMAGE has been done to our earth in the long series of nuclear explosions in the name of science. It appears we were planning to start the same thing on the moon.

If this is the best use of space exploration, certainly we should, as Senator Muskie suggests, call a halt and divert the money to the nation's real needs.

We have proved we can go to the moon. Need we keep spending more and more billions to re-prove it?

"Yes, thank heaven, all three astronauts are alive and well . . . and oh yes, I'm pulling myself together now."

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Financing Of Medical Schools Is Issue Behind Proposition 1

(This is the first on a series of stories on the eight propositions to be voted on June 2 at the primary elections. Others will follow.)

By HENRY C. MacARTUHR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Proposition 1 on the June 2 primary election ballot is a bond issue to $246.3 million, to be used primarily for construction of facilities for medical schools on the campuses of University of California.

The money to be provided, if the bond issue passes, would increase medical school facilities on the campuses at San Francisco and Los Angeles, and provide for completion of medical schools now under construction at Davis, Irvine, and San Diego.

CONTENTION is made that California is faced with a serious shortage of doctors, dentists, nurses, pharmacists and others to meet the health care needs of the future.

As a result of the needs, it is promised that no money from the proposed bond issue will be used for any purpose other than construction of school facilities for medical training.

Two state senators and an assemblyman combined to write the arguments in favor of the bond issue: Senators Stephen P. Teale, D-West Point, and Howard Way, R-Tulare, and Assemblyman Bob Monagan, R-Tracy. Monagan is speaker of the Assembly, and Way was president-/Pro-tem of the Senate when the arguments were written.

Sen. H. L. Richardson, R-Arcadia, is author of the arguments against the proposition. He readily admits not only the desirability but also a pressing need for facilities for medical college instruction.

Richardson cites, however, reasons for refusing to pass the bond issue.

One is that while the issue is for $246 million, the total cost to the people will be over $450 million when interest payments are added. This would bring the total state bond issues for which the people are responsible to over $8 billion dollars, an increase of six per cent.

More study is needed before there is finality to the proposed expenditure, claims Richardson, and a pay-as-you-go program of financing would force the university to cut frills to provide money for essential programs, he says, thereby reducing the cost to the taxpayers.

"THE QUESTION is not whether we need more medical schools in California. The question is how do we finance them. What California needs now is to develop a system of priorities and establish revenues for those needs in their order of priority," his argument continued.

"I believe construction programs for the health services should be financed from the yearly budget on a pay-as-you-go basis."

The question appears to be, then, not whether the people should build new medical facilities, but how they should be financed. Any way one looks at it, the people are going to pay for the new medical instruction facilities.

Union 'Non-Profit' —But Not PTA

In the mail this morning I received a printed letter from the president of the typographical Union No. 21, mailed on a permit from the San Francisco Post Office stating "Non-Profit Organization permit."

For many years I've presided over and sat in on boards of Davidson Junior High and San Rafael High PTA's. On more than one occasion, I've personally checked and double-checked with the post office in San Rafael trying to obtain a non-profit organization permit for mailing out PTA newsletters. The post office denied us each time, mainly because the PTA in some letter might request of the public a raise in taxes and thus was not considered "non-profit." Then this letter, today, arrives from a labor union using just such a permit.

I called the postmaster here in San Rafael, and was directed to the superintendent of mails. He informed me that he was definitely in sympathy with my feelings, that the law that permits a union to mail under a non-profit permit is archaic and must have been on the books for over 100 years, and he agreed that no union is non-profit. But, he explained, as long as this law exists, it must be abided with. He went on to say that just a short time ago he had both Senior Citizens and a local home owners group making such a request and had to deny each of them. He, too, recalls the trials and tribulations of the PTA in this regard.

When I asked him what could be done, he said, "Don't complain to the Post Office Department, because they don't make the rules, but, instead, write your congressman to get this ancient law off the books.". . .

Speaking Of Political Candidates' Signs...

In a recent communication to the Independent-Journal, Mrs. Nan Hepp chided the candidate for state senator, conservationist Peter Behr, for "littering the landscape" with his campaign posters. I beg to differ with Mrs. Hepp's unnecessarily-sarcastic criticism of Mr. Behr's "dasdardly deed," for which he has already seen fit to apologize.

Mr. Behr is merely following the time-honored American tradition of publicizing his candidacy for public office via the highway poster. . .

Far more apprehensible are the signs of Mr. Frank Solomon, running for judge, which have been injudiciously applied to cover the signs of Mr. Behr. . .

Principal Takes Issue With Report

The news report of the Moratorium Day incident at San Rafael High School on April 15 (in your April 16 issue) was somewhat inaccurate. . .

The report (apparently based upon information phoned in to him by a 15 year old student) said that there was a "confrontation" between myself and students who "defied" my "order" to return to class, and that I threatened to call the police if they refused to do so.

The truth of the matter is that I discussed the matter quietly with one or two leaders of the student group and tried to explain by position to them. At no time did I "threaten" students holding the meeting, and I was certainly not "defied." I have great respect for most of the students involved, and I hope most of them feel the same way about me and our staff. There was no "confrontation" in the usual newspaper usage of this term, in my opinion.

As for the students' "demands," perhaps this bulletin which was issued to all staff and students at school on April 20 will clarify this matter for you and your readers:

"As much as I'm flattered by the Red 'n' White staff's commendation for concessions I granted caused by the Moratorium Day protest continuing through sixth and seventh periods, I think we had better go over what the 'concessions' made to the 'protestors' really mean:

" 'Concession' 1 — 'Bus to future demonstrations with parental approval.' This is consistent with our present field trip policy and all aspects of this policy must be followed. This was understood by both the students and myself. (Policy #5180 in the San Rafael High School FACULTY HANDBOOK.)

" 'Concession' 2 — 'Free distribution of literature that doesn't suggest unlawful acts.' All school personnel already have this right as interpreted previously by Assistant County Counsel Godino.

" 'Concession' 3 — 'Free expression of political views on campus that will be set up mini courses.' This is already granted to all school personnel through Assistant County Counsel Godina's interpretation, but subject to Board of Education policy #4120 on TEACHING CONTROVERSIAL ISSUES.

" 'Concession' 4 — 'No reprisals for today's demonstration.' This is the only 'concession' not already an established policy. I agreed that students could stay and continue with Mr. Larry Lack Period 7 (who volunteered) to be present to legalize Board of Education Policy 4125, Number 4, which says, 'In the event that the person presents a partisan political issue, the teacher (in this case, Mr. Richard Delgado) must arrange for a balancing or appropriate opposing point of view.'

"I also announced (in the Friday, April 17 Daily Bulletin) that students who had deliberately disobeyed their teachers' directions should be reported to me."

REMEMBER WHEN?

20 YEARS AGO

APRIL 23, 1950

Two Marin residents, Dr. Aubrey Neaham of Sausalito and Mrs. Norman Livermore of Ross, proposed formation of a non-profit corporation to underwrite pruchase of Angel Island by Marin County.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

One day when the czars still ruled Russia, a simple-minded old peasant was appointed by the village elders to sit outside the local church and wait for the coming of the Messiah. After a month at this back-breaking labor, he complained that his pay was too low. "How right you are," nodded the chief elder, "but consider this: the work is steady!"

Scientist Of Mass Weapons Seeks Agreement To Curb Them

VIENNA — The teletype between Vienna and Washington clatters incessantly. The scrambler telephone is in almost constant use. Each move made here in the strategic arms talks must be coordinated with Washington and, in the final analysis, with the President himself.

In this incredibly complex undertaking, ultimate success or failure will be that of Richard Nixon. He can become, as Sen. J. William Fulbright said, a hero to the world or simply another fallible human being unwilling to face the risks involved in an arms agreement with the Soviet Union.

NEVERTHELESS, the responsibility weighs heavily on the members of the negotiating team who sit several times a week across the table from their Russian opposites. One member of the american team bears a particularly heavy burden, since he had much to do with bringing into being the nuclear weapons now threatening another upward spiral in the arms race. At the age of 43, Harold Brown has lived through an extraordinary cycle taking him as one of America's most distinguished nuclear physicists from the role of originator of devices such as the many-headed offensive missile and the defensive anti-ballistics missile to his position here seeking to find a way out of the nuclear trap.

Brown, who looks like an earnest graduate student pursuing the higher mysteries of science, is modest about his accomplishments. He was secretary of the Air Force at 38. Before that he held a key position in the brainstorming center that has inspired some of the isstruments of mass annihilation which are the subject of negotiation between the United States and the Soviet Union.

THE LIVERMORE laboratory in California, starting in 1952, has seen a concentration of brainpower that is one of the nation's conspicuous assets. Brown became a staff member of Livermore when it was established. In 1960 he was made director.

His predecessors in that post were Herbert York and Edward Teller. The path followed by the three who served at a critical time in weapons development is a reflection of how these weapons weigh on the conscience of the sorcerers who brought them into being. York, who has returned to teaching, devotes at least a third of his time to advocating a halt in the arms race. Teller, popularly known by the grossly oversimplified title as "father of the H-bomb," is a hard-liner. He was an active and powerful opponent of the limited test-ban treaty. And presumably if an arms-limitation agreement comes out of the SALT talks, Teller will again be in opposition.

AS FOR BROWN, he believes he can be most effective in working from the inside, helping to get at least a pause in the race toward oblivion. That is why he is here a member of the American delegation on leave from his post as head of the California Institute of Technology.

Where brown differs with any members of the scientific elite is over the inevitability of galloping technology. He opposes the argument that because it can be done, it inevitably will be done. This is like the case for climbing Mt. Everest, — because it is there.

There is no reason to develop a new weapons technology simply because it is feasible, Brown argues. This is heresay to a large part of the elite that looks with half-amused contempt, half-frowning disapproval on the effort to put up a stop sign barring the way to evermore fantastic instruments of destruction. His conviction explains why Brown is here with a background invaluable to the negotiation.

Japan's Freedom Of Press Is Mostly For Natives

By ALBERT E. KAFF

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan's democratic constitution guarantees freedom of the press—but it's freer for native newsmen than it is for foreigners.

When the Japanese passengers freed from history's longest aerial hijacking returned to Tokyo from Korea April 3, foreign newsmen were prohibited from attending their press conference.

When underground gas explosions ripped apart an Osaka subway tunnel with heavy loss of life April 8, the UPI man on the spot was ordered out of the area by police because he lacked the proper armband.

THE JAPANESE have developed a system of closed reporters' clubs which effectively place most Japanese press conferences off limits to foreign newsmen.

Japanese officials in government and business arrange all their news conferences through reporters' clubs. Reporters' clubs are organized for each government ministry, and membership is restricted to the big Japanese newspapers, magazines, radio and television networks.

Club members often become quite chummy with government officials and agree among themselves what questions to ask and what issues to avoid in news conferences.

The reporters' clubs which control the curtains around the prime minister's office and the foreign ministry allow foreigner reporters to attend formal press conferences — if they agree not to ask questions.

WHEN THE PASSENGER victims of the Samurai hijackers of a Japan Air Lines (JAL) plane returned home, UPI sent veteran reported Ted Shimizu, a Japanese newsman, to Tokyo International Airport.

But the kani (captain) of the airport reporters club blocked him.

"The kanji told me flatly that I could not attend the press conference to be given by the released passengers," Shimizu said.

"There were one or two JAL public relations people standing with him, and the kanji told them not to issue any press conference ribbons to the foreign press.

"After a few minutes, the kanji released and said that I could go into the press conference under two conditions. I could ask no questions and I would have to stand in the rear—behind the TV cameras."

Since Shimizu is 5 feet 2 inches tall, he caught a taxi back to his bureau.

HANK SATO, a UPI correspondent from Hawaii, is fully accredited in the eyes of the Japanese government. He carries an official press car issued by the foreign ministry.

When gas exploded in an Osaka subway construction job, Hank rushed to the scene from the UPI bureau at nearby Expo '70. Police and firemen allowed Japanese reporters to cross their guardlines into the disaster area. But not Sato.

Polic said he was not wearing the right armband.

But the foreign press in Japan is not standing still. Its members set up an organization with just that name, the Foreign Press in Japan, to serve as a reporters club for foreigners.

FPIJ arranges its own press conferences with Japanese officials and negotiates with the government to lift existing restrictions. After months of talks, FPIJ won permission for foreigners to attend press conferences given by the prime minister and the foreign minister.

Want To Make Big Lecture Fees? Then Go Out And Kill, Baby

WASHINGTON—The most popular speakers on campus these days are the student revolutionaries, black militants, and those advocating the legalization of drugs.

And anyone convicted of a crime and out on bail can write his own lecture ticket.

I was at the offices of the "Up Against the Wall Lecture Bureau" the other day and the phone didn't stop ringing.

"HELLO, Up Against the Wall Lecture Bureau. Who's this?. . .Harvard U. What can we do for you?. . .Nope, we're sorry the Chicago Seven are booked up through 1976. But we have some great speakers for you. How would you like 'Mad Dog Faucet'?. . .You know, the one who wrote the book on student revolution titled 'Mother Is the First To Go.'

". . .Right. Fifteen hundred dollars and expenses. . .Sure he takes off his clothes at the end. . .What kind of lecture do you think he gives?. . .Thank you. I'll send the contract.

"HELLO. . .What's that? You're booking speakers for Columbia U this fall?. . .Let's see. . .Here's one for you. . .Ruben Ruben. . .Yeh, that's right. He's the one who hijacked the Goodyear Blimp to Havana. . .Uh huh. He's out on bail now. . .No, he'll be available . . . Even if he's convicted this summer he'll appeal . . . you don't think he's a draw?

"What about Abbie Satchel. . .You know, the guy who set fire to the elephant house at the Bronx Zoo during last week's anti-Vietnam demonstrations. . .He's a beautiful person. . .Two thousand bucks. . .Of course he'll get the students fired up. He spoke at Simpson Tech last week and they burned down the library during the question period. . .Right on. He'll be there.

". . .Up Against the Wall Lecture Bureau. . .Berkeley? What can we do for you?. . .You're having a lecture series in American history and you'd like someone who is an expert in the field. . .I have just the speaker for you. . .Ziggy Rumfield. . .himself!. . .The fellow who blew off Theodore Roosevelt's nose with dynamite on Mount Rushmore. . .He's very knowledgeable about explosives. . .That's right, he shows the kids how to make a bomb right on the stage. . .No, no, the only time it ever went off was at the University of Wisconsin. . .Believe me, it's safe. . .Look, if anything happens you don't have to pay. . .Right. Thank you."

THE MAN HUNG UP and I had a chance to interview him. "You seem to be really busy."

"You better believe it. Kids today want speakers they can relate to. None of this education or political baloney. They want gut speakers that will tell them how rotten it really is. Look at this. I have 23 requests from universities who want to hear from anyone who has killed a cop. He doesn't even have to be a big name.

"And every white school in the country wants a Black Panther to speak to them. How many Black Panthers do they think there are in this country? And look at these requests for speakers convicted of pushing drugs. I tell you, these college kids know what they want."

"AT LEAST they're interested in the world around them," I said.

"If I could get one mass murderer, I could make a fortune," he said wistfully.

"What other speakers are in demand at the moment?"

"Well, I can get $3,500 for any priest who spilled blood on draft board records. There is also a big market for the people who blew up the buildings in New York City, though I have to book them at out-of-the-way schools in case the FBI gets wind of them."

"Is there any student demand for prominent men in public life?"

"Are you kidding? Why should they listen to someone like that when they can hear from someone who has cut sugar cane in Cuba?"

AN EDUCATOR'S VIEW

Teacher Union's Demands Illustrate Greed For Power

By JOHN W. GILBAUGH
PROFESSOR OF EDUCATION SAN JOSE STATE COLLEGE

Pie in thesky demands are being made by striking United Teachers of Los Angeles. And if the Los Angeles Board of Education surrenders to the demands of the self-serving, militant teachers' union, parents and taxpayers will find virtually all their energies and tax dollars feeding an insatiable greed for power with which the teaching profession has become afflicted.

The UTLA reportedly has served up to the board of education a list of 115 demands. State Sen. John L. Harmer, R-Glendale, has charged that the demands, if implemented, would bankrupt the Los Angeles School District. He has urged the parents of the district's 650,000 students to oppose the strike. Harmer, a member of the Senate Committee on Education, stated that it would be virtually impossible to meet UTLA's monetary demands "even if the legislature could come up with $500 million.

The drive by teachers at all levels, from kindergarten through the university, to become autonomous constitutes a major threat to the nation's economy and possibly to its political system.

IF THE LOS ANGELES Board of Education yields to the UTLA demands, the pattern for a teachers' social welfare system will have been cut. And it will fuel fires in every school district across the nation. Consequently, the time for school boards to make their stand is now. For every demand made by the teachers' union, the school board should issue a counter-demand. For every concession made in meeting a union demand, a guarantee should be extracted from the teachers' organization that measurable improvement in the quality of instruction will be delivered in each classroom. Failure on the part of the union to comply with such an agreement would result in a financial penalty commensurate with the degree that quality of instruction falls below the guarantee. Evaluation of the quality of instruction would be accomplished by a disinterested, third party. Teacher performance based on degrees or credentials held no longer provide valid criteria for assessing the quality of teacher performance. Some of the poorest teaching is done by holders of Ph. D.'s.

Furthermore, teachers in a unionized school district should not be accorded tenure.

Tenure and membership in a teachers' union that strikes against children, their parents, and the public, are not compatible concepts. In fact, legislation should be enacted at once which would provide mandatory revocation of tenure for all teachers in any school district that has as official bargaining agent an organization that advocates striking as a means of achieving demands.

WHY SHOULD TEACHERS not be accorded the same degree of autonomy or control over the teaching profession that doctors and lawyers have over their respective professions? Simply because teachers are public employees whose salaries are paid from public funds, while medical doctors and lawyers are usually private practitioners whose income is generally derived from private sources. If a client does not wish to continue to patronize his doctor or lawyer, he is free to choose another. But the same private citizen cannot choose his children's teachers if he sends them to a public school which his taxes support. If he becomes dissatisfied with the public schools he may withdraw his children and send them to private or parochial schools at his own expense — while his taxes continue to support the school with which he may have become disenchanted.

Helen Bain, president-elect of the massive National Education Association, has just announced a campaign by that organization to achieve teacher self-governance first, then accountability. This would be partially accomplished by establishment of "professional practices boards, by state statute, to give teachers more control over teacher education, licensure, in-service education, and the ethical conduct of their peers."

When the teaching profession captures complete control of the public schools, the metamorphosis from a capitalistic, free-enterprise system to a socialistic quagmire will have been completed.

Candidate Zucker Critical Of Failure To Heed Ideas

Marin County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker, candidate for county supervisor in the First District, criticized the board of supervisors yesterday for failing to follow his department's recommendations "for the betterment of all Marin."

Zucker, speaking at Redwood High School's Earth Day program, said he had called for special design studies of Corte Madera Creek in 1966, but the supervisors waited three years to approve his proposal. As a result of the delay, he said, "a major piece of the creek has already been concreted, which makes alternatives at this late date almost impossible."

He also was critical of the county's failure to act upon the recommendations for merging sewage facilities made in an $80,000 sewer study in 1967.

"We continue to bulldoze and scrape our hills and randomly cover our green valleys with homes," Zucker said. Citing increasing development of hills, he said their preservation was possible "through appropriate cluster development and low density controls. We need to think in terms of developing communities rather than simply approving tracts."

He also criticized the supervisors' amendment of the West Marin plan to double the population recommended by his department. The population could top 125,000, he said.

Again contrary to his department's recommendations for public access to the shoreline, Zucker said, a major development was approved last month north of Dillon Beach "with no public access to the ocean.

"Developers, speculators and large landholders must be restrained from controlling county government which rightfully should represent the interests of individual homeowners and local taxpayers," Zucker declared.

Fifty-one cases of streptococcus infection, 26 of gonorrhea, three of infectious hepatitis, two of salmonella and one each of measles and German measles were reported last week in Marin County, according to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, health officer.

Fire Losses For Novato Decline From Year Earlier

The total is just more than half the $362,000 loss in 1968 when the district had the costly Los Robles apartment fire, but more than double the $86,270 loss in 1967, the chief reported.

The loss was broken down as $167,995 in losses from structural fires; $14,000, garages; $2,630, appliances; $3,490, cars; $1,862, trucks, and electrical, sofa and rubbish fires and storm damage accounting for the balance.

The district answered 812 calls last year, compared with 726 in 1968 and 644 in 1967. There were 300 grass fires, compared with 128 the year before, 104 caused by children and matches, compared with 83 the year before, but only 47 structural fires. There were 49 in 1968.

Registration Set For Kindergarten

Registration for Ross School kindergarten will be held from 1 to 3 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday at the school.

Parents wishing to enroll children for next September should bring a birth or baptismal certificate to verify that the child will be five years old on or before Dec. 2.

Legislator Leads Fight For Equality

Marin Women

Independent-Journal, Thursday, April 23, 1970 13

By ROBERT SLATER

TRENTON (UPI) — A tall, slender, pipe-smoking grandmother is quietly prodding her colleagues in the New Jersey Legislature to give the state's women a new bill of rights.

Handsome, gray-haired Mrs. Millicent H. Fenwick carries her sex's banner not because she thinks women an "oppressed minority" as womens' rights groups often contend, but for a more deep-seated reason: She fights for women out of a conviction that they are the equal of men and, therefore, deserve equal treatment in all respects. Not surprising, then, Mrs. Fenwick's first piece of legislation recommended that women be included in New Jersey's anti-discrimination statutes.

"I WAS literally floored when I realized that the state law does not protect women," said Mrs. Fenwick, born a New Yorker but now from Somerset County in rural northern New Jersey.

"It's unbelievable that there's not one word about us in the statute."

The bill has already breezed by the assembly and appears to face little challenge from either the senate or the governor.

On the Assembly floor, several assemblymen teased Mrs. Fenwick, asking if it would be necessary for restaurant owners to remove the "Gentlemen" and "Ladies" signs leading to restrooms.

"THE BILL leaves that to the good taste and judgment of the women, and I'm sure that won't cause any problems," replied Mrs. Fenwick, whose two-piece suits usually fall well below her knees.

During her 56 years Mrs. Fenwick has always been vocal about getting women to stand up and be counted.

A former editor of Vogue Magazine for 14 years, she often wrote stories during World War II encouraging women to go into war-related industries.

From her conviction that women deserve a better break springs another keen interest: the need for a better rehabilitation program in New Jersey's prisons.

SHE HELPED found the Half-Way House project in New Jersey, a program which helps prison inmates adjust to life once they are released. And she is convinced that rehabilitation of those inmates should be accompanied by modernization of the state's antiquated prison facilities.

"They're a disgrace," she contends, noting that 19th century buildings still are used to house prisoners.

Although she lacks formal schooling. ("Yes, it handicapped me—I had trouble finding a job"), Mrs. Fenwick, a Republican, comes from a colorful and diverse family, which has given her a broad outlook on life.

"My father, Ogden Hammond, was an Assemblyman from 1914 to 1917, and later in 1926 became the Ambassador to Spain," she recalled. Her mother drowned when the Lusitania sank in 1915.

The depression and the anguish it caused her friends drew the lady legislator into politics. "I went around with market baskets to show how the cost of living had risen," she recounted, explaining how she campaigned for the first time in 1936 in a bid to become state committeewoman.

All the while, she lived in an old, sprawling home with her father near Bernardsville, N.J. Although she married in 1932, Mrs. Fenwick separated several years later, after a son and daughter were born.

She is the first woman to have been elected to the borough council in Bernardsville.

As a freshman legislator, Mrs. Fenwick has already discovered that it pays to be a woman assemblyman.

"Because Jo (Mrs. Josephine Margetts, a Morris County Republican) and I are the only women in the legislature, we have the use of a private office across the hall from the Assembly," Mrs. Fenwick said.

"We're the only legislators who have an office. The rest," and she smiled broadly, "Just get a locker downstairs in the basement."

Mrs. Fenwick started smoking a pipe five years ago after her doctor advised her to give up cigarettes.

"When I had my seventh grandchild I felt I had a kind of license to do what I wanted," she said with a smile. "Now I have eight, and I don't know what to do next."

She questions all the fuss statehouse observers make about her pipe smoking, noting: "I only smoke four or five times a day. Charlie Irwin (a Republican assemblyman) smokes his pipe much more and nobody even notices. I wonder why?"

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Parties Planned Saturday Around 'Same Old Faces'

By MOLLY MARIN

A dinner party for some of the cast of Tiburon Peninsula Club's little theater production will be held Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hoffmire of Tiburon. John, the former mayor of Tiburon, is in the cast of the Pelican Players' "Same Old Faces of 1970".

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harter of Belvedere will also entertain Messrs. and Mmes. Henry Jacobsen and Richard Tyler with dinner and cocktails at their home before going to the club's production.

MR. AND MRS. Thomas Woodward of Belvedere plan to visit Expo '70 during their April trip to visit friends in Osaka, Japan. Osaka is a favorite vacation city for the Woodwards. Mr. Woodward is associated with Pan American Airlines.

MR. AND MRS. Kenneth M. Wightman of Petaluma gave a reception in their home in honor of Patricia Stafford who is engaged to their son, Kenneth. The party was held to introduce the bride-elect, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stafford of Eugene, Ore., to the Wightman family and friends. Kenneth is the brother of Mrs. Russell Ryder of San Jose.

The couple will be married on May 9 in Springfield, Ore.

MAROLYN ROLLINS, bride-elect of Kenneth Bode, was honored at a shower in the home of Mrs. Paul Peterson of Rohnert Park on the evening of April 9.

Guests decorated hats of styrofoam cups for the bride-to-be. Winners were Mmes. Madge Lewis, William Blaylock and Emma Jones.

Others present were Mmes. Ernest Briggs, Charles Ferris, Glen Holland, Fred Ludgate, Gene Luttrell, Dorothy Paterson, Archie Plummer, Ron Rasmussen, Ray Saunders, Irving Sewell and Skyral Sweeney. Marolyn, president of United Presbyterian Women of Faith United Presbyterian Church of Rohnert Park, will be married to Kenneth on April 25 in the church.

MAJ. (RET.) and Mrs. Wilfred Waldrop of Novato are the grandparents of a new grandson born Tuesday in Houston, Tex. Parents of Erik L. Korstad are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Korstad formerly of Novato. Mrs. Waldrop plans a trip to Houston in a few days.

LIVING IN Tiburon after their April 4 wedding are Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Lambrecht. She is the former Mary Kathleen Scharoun, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Scharoun of Easton, Md., and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. Everett C. Lambrecht of El Cerrito.

She is a secretary at Bolt, Beranek and Newmanin San Francisco and he is president of Lambrecht Building Materials, Inc. in Richmond. They went on a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe and are planning a wedding trip to Vancouver, British Columbia later in the year.

MR. AND MRS. Kennth M. Wightman of Petaluma gave a reception in their home in honor of Patricia Stafford who is engaged to their son, Kenneth. The party was held to introduce the bride-elect, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stafford of Eugene, Ore., to the Wightman family and friends. Kenneth is the brother of Mrs. Russell Ryder of San Jose.

The couple will be married on May 9 in Springfield, Ore.

ANTHONY MICHAEL Silva, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Silva, was christened at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato Sunday. Anthony is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. (Babe) Silva and Mr. and Mrs. Al Askim and the great grandson of Mrs. Delia Hoppe, all of Novato. The Rev. Thomas Burns, who performed the marriage ceremony for the Michael Silvas, also christened the infant.

Godparents were the mother's sister, Mrs. Robert Dinkel and the father's brother, Frank Silva, both of Novato.

Anthony wore a long gown which has been in the Silva family for 67 years. It was the christening gown for Babe and his sisters and also Mike and Frank. Following the christening, a buffet dinner for 20 guests was held at the Silva home.

Bridesmaids Pants

Among the new bridesmaid's "gowns" is one that is pants but looks like a skirt. After the wedding these can be worn to parties and also do duty as great dresses for at home entertaining.

Education Cost Rising Rapidly

Consumer Economics Prof. Elizabeth Wiegand of the State College of Human Ecology predicts total college education costs will rise $250 a year per student.

Starting from a relatively inexpensive $2,000 per year figure at present, this would rise to $6,250 by the time Junior is ready to go to college, if you use the professor's formula.

Many private colleges already have tuitions alone well over the $2,000 mark.

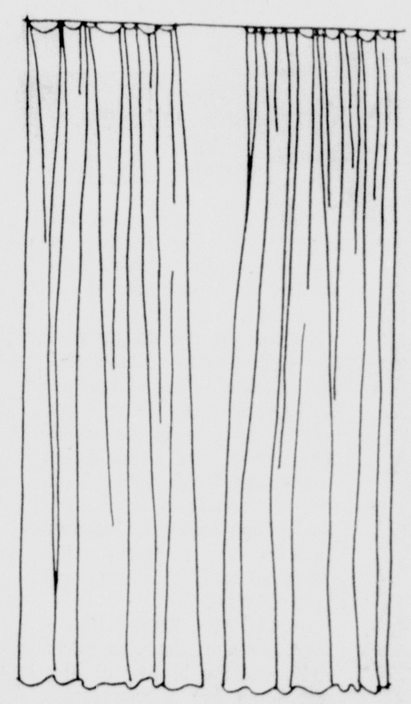
TO PUBLISH ENGAGEMENT AND WEDDING STORIES IN THE I-J

Forms for engagement and wedding story information to be printed in the Independent-Journal are available from the I-J offices in San Rafael, Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma.

Wedding forms should be returned promptly to the I-J office in your area and information will be printed immediately after the wedding. Photographers should be urged to submit a print of the wedding picture promptly. Color photographs cannot be used.

The Independent-Journal does not print wedding stories or photographs received more than seven days after the wedding.

An engagement form may be accompanied by a professional black and white photograph, which may be picked up at the I-J office after publication. Snapshots, polaroid or color pictures are not suitable.



This is a room for improvement.

Okay, so it's really a fitting room. But we think this is a much better name, because it's amazing the changes you can make just by stepping inside and trying on something new. For instance, last week five of our customers found they were groovy girls after all. Another discovered that powder-y pink did more for her complexion than 12 hours' sleep. And another discovered bodydressing and the boy she wanted discovered her. Now, do you understand why we call it a room for improvement? It really is.

See our fashions modeled informally at Holiday Inn every Tuesday luncheon.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

What's Left When Movies Cost Too Much And Hangouts Close?

DEAR HELEN:

A favorite comment of the older generation is, "When we were young, we went to the movies and then to the ice cream parlor, and then home" — implying they didn't go looking for trouble as we teens do.

They don't consider how many movies are barred to us and how expensive they are. Also, if we make an eating place a teen hangout, pretty soon it gets closed down as a "public nuisance."

There was a great teen nightclub in our town, but the police busted some guys there for "holding," and now it's gone. Most of us acted okay, but only a few stories in the paper were enough to turn adults against it.

Seems like there si'nt much else for us to do except go out in cars and park. We are even tossed out of public parks because of pot raids.

If more than five of us are seen together just goofing off, somebody thinks we're going to start a riot and turns us in.

So why shouldn't we stock up with six-packs and do what is expected of us? What's left but to ride around and get drunk. — L.D.

DEAR L:

The big cop-out: Nobody loves us. So we'll just ride around and get drunk.

For heaven's sake — if you kids would start policing yourselves, you'd soon find the wild minority rules only when the majority allows it. If you don't want teen hangouts closed down, make them off-limits to the undesirables. You'll be surprised how many adults will help. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My mother-in-law has never called our year-old son anything but "him" or "the baby," or "hey." He has a name, so why can't she say "Stevie"?

She calls her other grandchildren by name, but we've only been married two years and she still addresses me as "Hey," or "You" — never by my name.

How can we stop being: — NAMELESS NORA AND STEVIE

DEAR NAMELESS:

I'm relying on old IGAP (I'm guessing again perception) but tell me: Do you say "Mom" or "Mother" easily, or also settle for "Hey?"

Perhaps if you'd give your mother-in-law a name, she would come more easily to "Stevie" and "Nora." — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I have no big problem to write about. I'm writing to just say that is everyone had the incurable disease I have, we'd all be better off. You see, I have mountain sickness. I'm in love with mountains and nature.

It's really a beautiful feeling to hike in the hills and just soak up the sights. An attack of mountain sickness is a wild feeling. You're free and easy and it's like you can lick the world when you've climbed to the top.

I'm a 16-year-old boy and I really appreciate nature. I guess this sounds stupid, but I had to say what I feel because sometimes I get tired of all the griping I hear. — GREEN MOUNTAIN GUY

DEAR GUY:

Thanks for writing. I too suffer from mountain sickness — a lovely disease. — H.

Quant Gives Up Mini For Whole Midi-Maxi Showing

By NADEANE WALKER

LONDON (AP) — The miniskirt is now nothing but a joke to Mary Quant, the designer who invented it. She showed an all midi and maxi collection without bras today.

"We did put in one miniskirt just for a joke, but we couldn't go through with it, so we took it out," a spokesman for Miss Quant's Ginger Group said.

The new Quant clothes are nearly all in knit jersey, worn without bras and outlining every skinny curve. A few have scoop necklines, but about the only naughty number in the show was a black jersey midi dress called "Zelda" which was left unbuttoned behind nearly up to the waist.

Newest idea is a fairly plain midi in jersey which boasts not one but two brilliantly printed gypsy overskirts. They tie on in layers. Models parading midi -dresses over pants casually shrugged out of their trousers on the runways.

A lot of nearly ankle-length knit dresses are accompanied by matching long scarves with just a touch of pattern at each end. An elongated sweater dress in brown jersey is called "Higgins," from the garment made famous by Rex Harrison in "My Fair Lady," and a folksy outfit of mauve ruffled shawl, matching pants and satin blouse is named "Mark Twain."

There are a few gaucho pants and one interesting outfit called "British Raj" which has ruched Indian trousers with overskirt, vest and shirt in tones of purple and rust. An all-purpose costume, button-front and wearable as coat or dress, with or without trousers, is Miss Quant's strong suit.

Pork Prices Higher, Eggs And Beef Hold

WASHINGTON (UPI) — USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that food shoppers will find only a limited number of meat and fresh produce items featured at food stores and supermarkets this weekend.

Beef roasts and steaks and pork chops are listed again this week at the meat counter. In fish, according to the U.S. Department of Interior, look for canned tuna, fish sticks and portions, and Maine sardines.

Again this week featured vegetable items are limited mostly to carrots, lettuce, and potatoes, with lettuce expected to continue plentiful during coming weeks. At the fruit counter look for apples, grapefruit, oranges. Applesauce and apple juice as well as raisins are featured.

Items on USDA's plentiful foods list for the month of April are honey, canned and frozen corn, canned peaches and tomato products, dry beans, peanuts and peanut products, and eggs.

Now let's take a closer look at food supplies in the area:

In the West:

Fresh pork is higher and smoked hams lower in all West Coast markets. Other red meats, poultry, eggs and butter are generally unchanged from last week. Pork loins are 1 to 3 cents higher. Smoked hams are 1 to 4 cents lower.

Sliced bacon is as much as 4 cents lower in San Francisco. Beef loins are 2 to 3 cents lower in Los Angeles and lamb is as much as 2 cents lower in San Francisco. Young hen turkeys are 3 cents lower in San Francisco and a cent lower in Los Angeles.

Fruits and vegetables in best supply include apples, bananas, grapefruit, oranges, asparagus, carrots, celery, lettuce, onions and potatoes.

Shoe Bank For Panama Children

"It's a shame going to a public school anywhere in Panama and seeing children who walk, sometimes for over two hours to get to school, without shoes," Torrijos told UPI.

Torrijos said he hoped to have the government set up a shoe factory and donate the shoes to school children who will sign a receipt for them. they may, if they wish, pay for the shoes at any time in their lives. Payment, however, will not be mandatory, he said.

Mrs. Harvey Perryman will be installed president of the association and an honorary service award will be presented to a member of the community.

The meeting will begin at 10 a.m., followed by a social hour at 11:30 a.m., luncheon at noon and installation of the officers at 1 p.m.

Mrs. Ernest Stevens is the outgoing president.

Contaminated, Poisonous Foods Recalled From Shelf

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has initiated the voluntary market removal of 13.9 million servings of a nationally known soup mixture because of food poisoning danger.

Also since January, it has spurred industry recalls of 334,000 pounds of popcorn packed by a Milford, Ill., firm; of 24,000 nationally-distributed frozen strawberry pies manufactured by a Columbus, Ohio, baker; and of 2,000 cases of a name-brand candy. All were contaminated with insect or rodent material, or both.

Other food items recalled in the past three months because of contamination in certain brands and lots include dried eggs, anchovies, noodles, raisins, frozen fried chicken, peanut butter, pimentos, pizzas and cooked mushrooms.

THE RECALLS are never totally successful, according to a spokesman for the Food and Drug Administration. Some of the products are purchased and consumed. The agency can't specify how many.

"Today's scientific knowledge, working through good laws to protect consumers, assures the safety and wholesomeness of every component of the American food supply," says the FDA, and indeed the great majority of foods, health supplies and cosmetics sold to the public are safe and wholesome.

The National Academy of Sciences says, however, FDA inspects only 40 per cent of the 64,000 interstate food processing plants subject to federal checking, and the agency itself estimates that 20 per cent of the plants are in substantial violation of government standards.

The most spectacular recall this year has been the 13.9 million servings of these nationally distributed, cartoned, Lipton soups: Perky Noodle Soup Mix, Chicken Vegetable Soup Mix, Ring-O-Noodle Soup Mix With Real Chicken Broth, Giggle Noodle Soup With Real Chicken Broth—test marketed in New England only—Beef Flavor Noodle Soup With Vegetables.

ALL THE SOUPS were contaminated with a bacteria called salmonella that can cause food poisoning. The organism was traced to the manufacturer of the noodle soup used in the Lipton mixes.

Lipton is recalling the mixes from retail shelves, but the FDA estimated that between 15 and 20 per cent remained on the market as of last week.

The FDA's weekly recall reports for this year show such other health-related product defects as:

—21 instances of contaminated batches of cosmetics, versus 11 in all of 1969. Most of the contaminants found, among other places in eye liner and cologne, were bacteria that can cause skin infections.

—Candle holder whose base explodes when the candle burns low.

—Drugs of varying potency that were mislabeled, encased in tubes that leaked or lacked an essential ingredient.

—Such supposedly sterile hospital supplies as sponges, scalpels and catheters that were contaminated.

TUESDAY NIGHT the FDA warned agaisnt eating a brand of prepared pizzas distributed by the Roman Inn Pizza Co., throughout the upper Midwest.

The FDA said mushrooms in some of the 80,000 "Roman Deluxe Italian Brand" pizzas produced this month are suspected of causing botulism, an acute food poisoning that can be fatal.

Roman Inn Pizza has been recalling the pizza, the FDA said, but "since distribution has been so widespread and has gone on for several weeks a public warning is considered necessary."

The 24,000 Mountain Top Frozen Strawberry Pies were recalled, the FDA said, because of "rodent contamination of fruit used as a raw material."

THE RECALL of 2,000 cases of Russel Stover Candies distributed in Missouri, Nebraska and Indiana was caused by "rodent and insects infestation of plant and rodent and insect hairs and fragments found in samples," the FDA said.

The agency attributed the recall of the 334,000 pounds of popcorn to "rodent contamination of plant and product." The popcorn is packaged under these labels, according to the FDA: Buddy Boy Hulless, Premiere 404 Monarch Popcorn, Our Family Popcorn, and Richelieu.

The contaminants involved in the other food recalls included bacteria, oil thinner, particles of broken glass, and pesticides, the FDA said.

MRS. RICHARD J. GRECHMAN

USC Unit Elects A President

Mrs. Richard J. Grechman is the new president of the Marin Trojan SCircle which will receive its charter from the University of Southern California Saturday. She has been a member of the group for the past three years of its formation.

It seeks to foster interest among local students in USC, to promote friendship and loyalty among the local alumni and to act as a liaison between the community and the University.

Roxanne is the mother of Rochelle, 6, and Raymond, 4, and a Kentfield resident. Her husband is a pathologist. Born in Portland, Ore., she attended Stephens College in Columbia, Mo., and was graduated from USC. A five-year resident of Marin, Mrs. Grechman is also a member of Peter Pan Chapter of Children's Home Society and bowling and sailing are among her interests.

Mrs. Hyde Is President Of New Auxiliary

Designing children's clothes and toys, egg decoration, hiking, arts and crafts, travelling, languages, calligraphy and reading cookbooks and science fiction are interests of Mrs. Richard E. Hyde Jr. of Belvedere who is president of the just-forming auxiliary for Marin Child Development Center in Tiburon.

The three-month-old auxiliary plans luncheons and wine-tasting parties to attract new members. Then the new membership will plan fund-raising projects to benefit the nursery school which works with children from three to seven years, who have learning and behavior problems which will lead to trouble when they enter school. Their purpose is to educate the community about the work of MCDC. Anyone interested in children may join, says the president. Members will attend an orientation program at MCDC.

Karen Hyde is also a KQED volunteer and attends the Tuesday morning craft group at St. Stephen's Church in Belvedere. She has lived in Marin one year. Karen was graduated from Stanford University. Her children are Jennifer, 3 and Ricky, 1.

Mrs. Phillip Brown Is New Head Of Guild

Mrs. Phillip Brown of Tiburon is president-elect of the Sunny Hills Reed Guild and also is the mother of five children. Pat Brown, wife of an attorney, runs a 10-room-home and drives car pools to three schools.

Her children are Debbie, 16; Chris, 15, Mike, 12; Tim, 9 and Emily, 8. The Browns have lived in Marin for 12 years. Pat was graduated from Stanford University.

A Sunny Hills member for the last three years, Pat previously held offices of secretary, guild chairman of the Grape Festival and chairman of the bridge tournament.

The Reed Guilds' purpose is fund raising for the Sunny Hills Home in San Anselmo. They initiate and sponsor a bridge player's tournament for 192 women and host a spring luncheon for their bridge players.

Most of Reed Guild's members are Tiburon residents. They hold eight monthly meetings in members' homes. The four luncheon meetings and potluck supper give Pat and other members who are enthusiastic cooks an opportunity to prepare gourmet dishes.

SPRING IN STINSON BEACH

Three Women Travel 6,000 Miles For A Flower Show

By GEORGE NEVIN

Wild flowers have few more avid fans than three women from Stinson Beach who really go for the delicate and colorful blossoms—in fact, they went 6,000 miles for them this year.

The results of their handiwork will be seen by hundreds of flower lovers when the annual Stinson Beach Wild flower Show opens at 10 a.m. May 2 at the Stinson Beach Community Center for a two-day run.

All but overlooked in the riot of color, both subtle and sensational, will be Roberta Shockey, Barbara Menzies and Anne Leary, who for the 11th year have traveled the length and breadth of California looking for the elusive flowers.

Each year's show has featured a specialty—this time it's succulents. Others have been oaks, conifers and the shrubs of Mount Tamalpais.

"We get back from our collecting expeditions next Thursday and set up for the show Friday," Mrs. Shockey explained. "By midnight we aren't speaking to each other. We get ino arguments over who will arrange what flowers, the size and shape of the vases, and any other topic that comes to mind."

But by Monday they are fast friends again, Mrs. Menzies said, planning next year's event.

While flowers, staples of the show, must be collected no earlier than a week in advance to preserve their freshness, the three women and Mrs. Menzies's husband, Arthur L. Menzies of the Arboretum in San Francisco, have been working on the succulent feature for months.

"With 25 species and innumerable varities, we do our best to get a representative group for the show," Mrs. Shockey said.

"We've been from the north to the south border and clear over to the Panamints near Death Valley—everywhere, in fact, that they grow," she said.

Succulents are dry growers, Mrs. Menzies said, which helps to explain why only four varities are native to Marin county. "They prefer embankments where there's good drainage. They can stand to have their feet wet but not their crowns," Mrs. Menzies said.

The plants are widely grown as ornamentals because of their resistance to dry weather. But home gardeners will be amazed to see 140 varities of succulents at the show—tiny ones, barrel-shaped ones, succulents that look like cacti, succulents that look like flowers.

"That one," Mrs. Menzies said, pointing to an innocent-looking plant with small leaves, "was one of the most elusive. It took three hours of crawling under bushes in a field near San Ysidro on the Mexican border to find it."

With thousands of miles of travel behind them, the women have dozens of anecdotes to relate. "We're too old to worry about rapists and jewel thieves any more," Mrs. Shockey said, "but we still have nightmares about the agricultural inspectors."

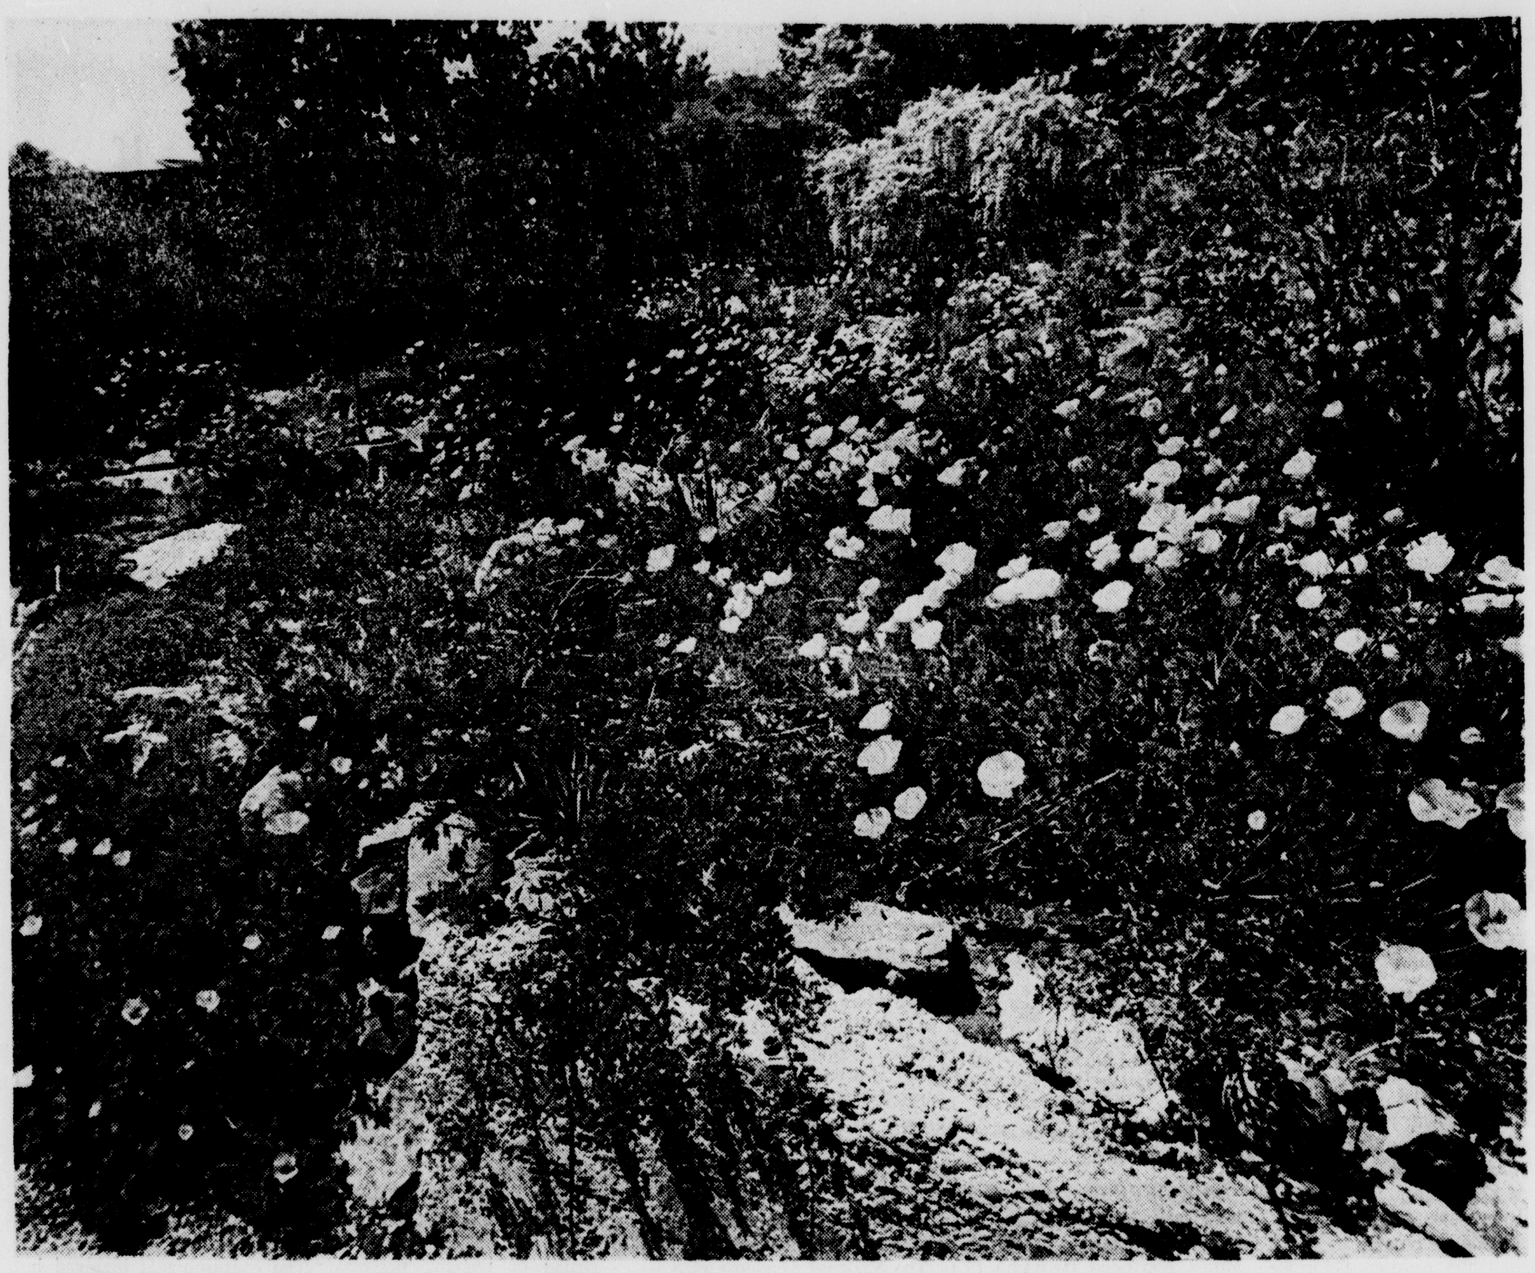
"In other years we've just told them that we only made a short side trip through Oregon and came from California," Mrs. Schockey said. "It helps to have California license plates on the car and curtains on the back windows."

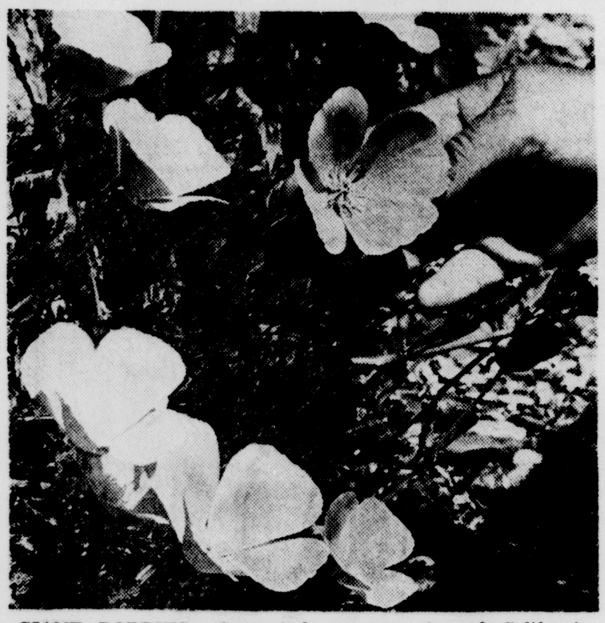
This may be the last year with a "ready-made" feature, and trio said. "We're almost out of ideas," Mrs. Menzies admitted, "although we do have a few more in mind—dividing the state into halves and doing all all-north and an all-south show, and doing a fall or spring show."

"And finally there's one," Mrs. Shockey said, "that we've been dying to do for years—narcotic plants of California. We have to get a permit to grow marijuana, though."



YEAR-ROUND SHOW — The front yard of Arthur L. Menzies has been given over almost completely to California wildflowers. Poppies, cream cups, Chinese houses and blue-eyed grass grow in profusion. A wisteria tree draping trails of blue flowers grows near the fence in the background. But the colorful yard will be eclispsed for two days beginning May 2, when the annual Stinson Beach Wildflower show draws all eyes to the community center. This year the theme is California's succulent plants.

NORTH OF THE BORDER— Dudleya arizonica is found in southernmost California. This specimen came from a field near Highway 94 in San Diego County.



GIANT POPPIES — Several large examples of California poppies (Eschscholtzia californica) grow in the driveway of Mrs. Menzies' home. The ornamental flower, the California state blossom, is not a true poppy, though.

TROUBLEMAKER — It took three hours of crawling among bushes in San Diego County to find this specimen of Dudleya varigata-otay. Anne Leary wonders if it was worth the trouble.

HYBRID — This succulent is the result of crossing Dudleya lanceolatex with Dudleya caspitosa. The resulting plant is unnamed—anyone who wanted to do research on the plant and publish a paper could name it for himself.

VALLEY FLOWER—The yellow Fremontia californica, named for explorer John C. Fremont, grows in the central and southern San Joaquin Valley, reaching its peak around Lake Isabella. Other varieties grow in Napa and Lake counties in the north.

WHITE BEAUTY—Carpinteria, a tree-like plant with white blossoms, gave its name to the town in Santa Barbara County.

DRAMA REVIEW

A Prison That Opens Eyes: 'Fortune'

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

SAN FRANCISCO—If "Fortune and Men's Eyes" is intended to shock, then the S l Mineo-produced play accomplishes its mission.

However, it is more of a shock of realization than of the sensational.

The much awaited play of prison life officially opened last night at the Committee Theater on Broadway to a packed house which probably came away muttering to itself.

To the little old lady in tennis shoes, the play by John Herbert is probably not her cup of tea. Her words would probably be "those dirty homosexuals, for shame, for shame."

Anyone likely to react that way would do well to stay away from "Fortune." But for anyone interested in better understanding of life inside a penal institution, it's a must on the theatrical calendar.

Briefly the plot involves a three-month period in the lives of four inmates.

First, let me explain. While the on-stage first act rape scene will probably offend many, it is total theater in the best sense. This and the rough words are just life—whether inside or outside a prison cell.

With deep understanding, the cast pleads for a better understanding of a world in which it has to exist. It probes the question: who is really the winner?

Mineo, who has had extremely good results with the play both in New York and Honolulu, has an excellent cast to convey the meaty words of playwright Herbert.

James Wigfall, who quit a lead role in the San Francisco production of "Hair" for a more dramatic vehicle, presents one of the finest characterizations seen on a Bay Area stage in many months. His role as Queenie calls for him to be bitchy and campy. He does it in good taste, never slipping, as he so easily might, into the realm of vulgarity. He convinced me that the "politicians" upstairs govern things. Matched as his counterpart is Robert Curtin as Rocky, the embittered roughie, who rules by threat and his alleged masculinity.

Eric Pierce as Mona and Courtney Burr as Smitty round out the cell's remaining foursome. While both start out rather weakly in their parts, they end up on practically equal footing with Wigfall and Curtin.

Tom Reese as the guard comes on strong in the latter part of the production in his role as a masochistic personality. Also briefly seen as Catsolino is Frank Hotchkiss, a former "boy" of Rocky's.

The pace of the three-act play is extremely fast. The cast delievers its words in lightning fashion, almost too real sometimes. Without this geared up pace, the play would have lacked the electrical spark—a major key to the overall success of the production.

The cast acts out its roles in a simple setting—prison walls that really appear seamy and iron bars that look like the real thing.

With the opening of "Fortune" the North Beach area has its second challenger for theatrical patrons. It's just around the corner and down the block from another stellar production, "One Flew Over the Cookoo's Nest" which opened last week. Like "Cuckoo", "Fortune and Men's Eyes" brings alive a rather dull San Francisco theatrical season.

Firemen To Vie In San Diego

The Kentfield Fire Dept. pumper-hookup team will compete against seven other teams during the annual Rural Fire Association conference at San Diego this Saturday.

The team is the first from Marin County to attend the annual event and has been clocked at 1:18 minutes during practice in laying out 450 feet of hose and getting the pumper started. The state record is 1:08.

Members of the Kentfield team are Robert Mariani, Robert Bettencourt, William Morris, William Zahn, and William Partridge.

Panther Newton Denied Parole

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (AP) — Huey P. Newton, cofounder of the Black Panther party, has been denied parole for the second time, the California Adult Authority reports.

Newton, 28, is serving a 2-to-15-year sentence at the Los Padres Men's Colony here on a manslaughter conviction involving the 1967 shooting death of an Oakland policeman, John Frey.

The parole board heard his case last week and the rejection was announced Wednesday. The first parole rejection was a year ago.

Newton will not be eligible for parole again until April 1971.

Community Festival To Involve Kentfield

Fifteen hundred exhibits are expected for the second Kentfield Community Spring Festival of the Arts, May 17 at Wolfe Grade School according to chairman Robert A. Geurts.

Sponsored by the Kentfield School District, the festival well may be the first school district sponsored event in the country designed for the entire community, not just for students, Geurts said.

The first festival, open only to school children, took place in 1968 with 1,000 entrants and a crowd of almost 2,500 people. Geurts expects 4,000 this year.

The Kentfield area has 4,000 residents and each is eligible to enter, Geurts said. There will be no competitive judging, but each entrant will receive a certificate of participation.

The festival whose theme is "Strength Through Beauty" is open to any legitimate art form, and will include a theatrical performance, according to Geurts. He said a literary magazine will be distributed at the festival and music and drama programs will presented.

The idea is not just to have an art show, but to get the community together and allow its members to display their creativity, Geurts said. Kentfield is unincorporated so it has no unifying body except the school district, he said.

A fund raising party with live music and dancing and no host cocktails is scheduled May 9 from 5 to 8 p.m. at the new Ross Valley Medical Clinic in Greenbrae.

Entrants in the festival must file before May 1 and bring their entries to Wolf Grade School May 11-13.

Greta Garbo was born Greta Louisa Gustafsson on Sept. 18, 1905, in Stockholm, Sweden.

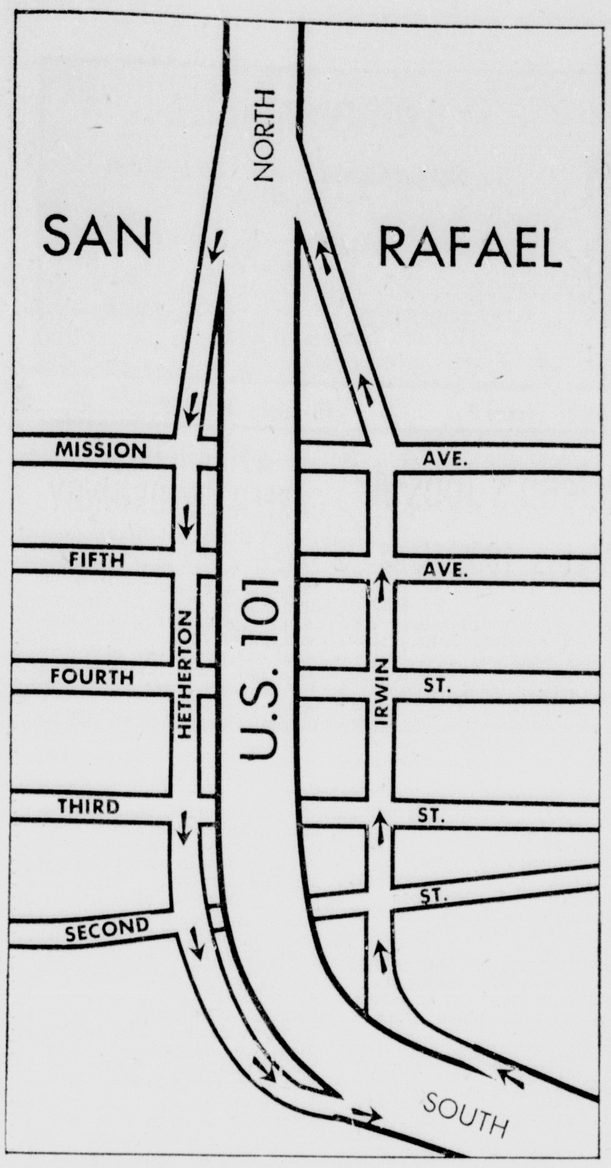
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
THIRD SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, APRIL 23, 1970 19



ACCIDENT SCENE — The new traffic pattern shown in the map was set up April 12, but motorists unaccustomed to it are still piling into each other. Hetherton is a new one-way street southbound. Irwin is now one-way northbound.
(Independent-Journal map by Jack Lucey)

Revamping Of Street Routes Cause Wrecks

A spate of accidents in the shadow of the elevated section of Highway 101 have occurred because of a new street, largely, it appears, because drivers are not yet used to its presence.

Officer Charles Brobeck of the San Rafael police said that 10 accidents may be blamed on the opening of Hetherton Street and a concurrent change in Irwin Street April 12.

Irwin Street was previously two way past Second Street.

Such a turn would have been correct when the street was two-way.

Brobeck said people are ignoring stoplights and one-way signs because they are not used to the new alignment.

City Engineer Ely Caillouette agreed that accidents are not uncommon after such a change.

There have been six intersection accidents on Hetherton between Second and Fifth streets since it was opened 11 days ago and four on Irwin in the same time span.

Stinson Beach Firemen Ask Ban On Blocked Roads

An ordinance prohibiting the parking of any vehicle in a way that would obstruct passage of fire vehicles in an emergency was approved in principle last night by the Stinson Beach Fire Protection District board, Chief George H. White reported.

The chief said the proposed ordinance, currently being drafted, is needed because the district contains so many roads where the sheriff and California Highway Patrol have no jurisdiction.

"On weekends, thousands of people park their cars and jam all the roads leading from the highway to the beach, White said. "In addition, they park in front of hydrants and driveways.

He said the ordinance, once it is formally adopted, will be enforced by the Stinson Beach Volunteer Fire Department.

Innocent Plea To Drug Possession

Mary Elizabeth Nybo, 22, of Boyes Hot Springs, pleaded guilty Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court to a misdemeanor charge of possessing amphetamine and a felony count of having marijuana was dismissed.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. set sentencing for May 22.

Cabinet Aide To Talk

John L. Wilks, a deputy assistant secretary of the Department of Labor, will be the main speaker at the second annual luncheon of the Bay Area Construction Opportunity Program, a program sponsored by the Marin Building Trades Council and other groups. The luncheon will be at 11:30 a.m. May 6 at the Le Baron Hotel, 1380 Bayshore Highway, Burlingame.

Nelson Selected Manager Of San Rafael Chamber

Robert Nelson, long time San Rafael insurance man, is the new manager of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce. Nelson's appointment by the chamber's board of directors was announced today by Larry P. Biancalana, chamber president. Nelson took over his duties immediately.

A 34-year resident of Marin County, Nelson for the past 30 years has been a life insurance underwriter, principally with Penn Mutual Insurance Co. He achieved the distinction of being named a charter life underwriter.

A few months ago, he said, he decided to seek a new career. He found it with the chamber, which was seeking a man to replace Glenn Adair, chamber manager who died last month.

ROBERT NELSON
New career in home town

In announcing the appointment, Biancalana said the chamber directors had sought a local man knowledgeable about San Rafael problems and prospects. "We feel that Mr. Nelson has the desire, capacity and energy needed for the job," he said.

Nelson's life insurance honors included membership in the Million Dollar Round Table. He is a past president of the Marin County Estate Council.

He has long been active in the chamber and once headed its most successful membership drive, which enrolled more than 100 members in a year.

He has also headed commerce and industry fund drives for the United Crusade and speakers' bureaus for Rotary and Marin Breakfast clubs. He is the newly elected president of the Terra Linda Rotary Club.

The chamber career actually will be Nelson's third. Before entering the insurance business, he was a civil engineer. He received a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering from South Dakota School of Mines, and was assistant city engineer of San Rafael from 1936 to 1940.

He and his wife, Eunice, live at 15 Convent Court. A son, William R. Nelson, lives in Dallas, Tex., and a daughter, Nancy Nelson, is the with Multi Ethnic Institute in San Francisco.

Nelson said that he will seek to promote chamber activities in Northgate, East San Rafeal, West End and Northgate Industrial Park as well as downtown San Rafael.

Hub Raid Results In Heroin Suspects

Drug agents armed with a search warrant which charged an earlier heroin sale last night raided a San Anselmo residence and arrested the five occupants who included a 15-year-old boy, all of whom appeared to have recently used heroin.

Charged with the sale of the narcotic were the 15-year-old, David Johnston, who lives at the 329 Greenfield Avenue residence with an older brother, as well as Mary Margaret Tovatt, 19, who also lives there.

A third person, George Billy Wigner Jr., 18, of 76 Tamalpais Avenue, San Anselmo, was arrested later at his home on a warrant charging the same sale.

Another resident of the Greenfield Avenue house, Michael Albert Jacinth, 21, was arrested on suspicion of possessing marijuana and being under the influence of drugs.

Two visitors, Richard Wayne Dillon, 36, and his wife, Vivian Marie Dillon, 22, both of the Travelers Hotel, San Rafael, were booked on suspicion of being in a place where narcotics were used and being under the influence of heroin. Dillon was also held as a parole violator.

The agents said that all the persons at the house had fresh needle marks on their bodies and that hypodermic needles were found as well as seven plastic bags of suspected marijuana.

Miss Tovatt was booked on suspicion of possessing the marijuana for sale as well as for the sale of heroin.

Mrs. Dillon's bail was set at $625 and Wigner's at $6,250. Bail for the others had not been set. All were to appear today in Marin Municipal Court except Johnston, who was taken to Juvenile Hall.

Petaluma Police Probe Treasury Bond Sale Fraud

Petaluma police are investigating a possible fraud operation in which elderly persons are being bilked by a phony United States Treasury agent selling false treasury bonds.

Sgt. William Reed said the nationwide operation was first advertised in the Wall Street Journal as government bills for sale.

He said anyone who has been approached recently by a "treasury agent" offering to sell bonds should get in touch with him at the police department.

The securities will be stamped as "certified" in the upper right hand corner with a number directly below it. Reed said he is investigating the possibility that two elderly Petaluma brothers were sold $10,000 of the worthless bonds.

Pot Possession Case Dismissed

A marijuana possession case against Robert Michael Cooley, 19, of Mill Valley, has been dismissed after Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. of Marin Municipal Court declared a search of Cooley illegal.

Cooley had been arrested in Tamalpais Valley at 4 a.m. March 4 after sheriff's deputies questioned him because of recent burglaries in the area. They took him to a sub-station for further questioning, they said, after he first gave them identification belonging to another person. A search revealed a lid of suspected marijuana.

Tot Dance Class

Tiny Tots Dance Class, sponsored by the Corte Madera Recreation Department, is scheduled for 11 a.m. to noon each Monday beginning May 4. Advance reservations for the class taught by Cathy Heckler are being accepted at the Corte Madera Town Hall.

Leney Fails In Recount Of Ballot

Herber C. Leney failed in yesterday's ballot recount to oust Holmes S. Norville from the Corte Madera Town Council seat, which Norville was thought to have won by one vote. It turned out to be a four-vote victory for the challenged councilman.

The recount, which cost Leney $86, showed a final tally of 863 to 859 in favor of Norville instead of the previous 861 to 860 score.

Norville will be sworn in at the next town council meeting, according to City Clerk Betty Behel.

Novato's Spring Cleanup Nears

The first day of the Spring Trash Bash, Novato's cleanup campaign, will be Saturday, according to co-chairmen Barbara Munden and Renee Kiff.

A trash collection center will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday only at the corner of Rowland and South Novato boulevards. All types of trash, except large household items, will be accepted.

The final day of the cleanup will be May 2.

Rice Will Guide Tiburon Council

In a meeting that lasted 20 minutes, the Tiburon City Council last night elected Denis T. Rice mayor and newcomer Albert H. Sennett mayor pro tem, both for one-year terms.

The swearing-in of Sennett, Carlisle Becker and former mayor Branwell D. Fanning had been scheduled for Tuesday night, but none of the three had filed election expense statements by the deadline and the event was rescheduled for last night.

The law requires that each winning candidate file his statement at least one day before he is sworn in. Becker and Sennett filed Tuesday morning and Fanning filed Tuesday night.

Expense statements showed Fanning spent $831, Becker $624, and Sennett $569.

DENIS T. RICE
Tiburon's new mayor

None of the three unsuccessful candidates, Donald L. Batten, R. Gary Gray and Alvin R. Kuhn, has filed.

Rice, 37, is an attorney in San Francisco. He was elected to the city council in 1968 and served as mayor pro tem last year. He lives at 117 Hacienda Drive.

Sennett, 41, also practices law in San Francisco. A member of the city's planning commission before his election, he lives at 26 Sutter Court.

To Superior Court On Defraud Charge

Rae Don Hirsch of San Rafael has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on two felony counts of possessing checks with intent to defraud others on March 10 and 11 and two additional charges of selling marijuana and amphetamine in November, 1968.

She is to appear in court May 4 for arraignment.

SUMMONS (MARRIAGE)
Case Number 613655

Superior Court of the State of California for the City and County of San Francisco

In re the marriage of
Petitioner: HURLBURT THAYER WALKER, JR.
and
Respondent: DINA BLOCK WALKER

To the Respondent:

The petitioner has filed a petition concerning your marriage.

You may file a written response within thirty days of the date that this summons is served on you. If you fail to file a written response within such time, your default may be entered and the court may enter a judgment containing injunctive or other orders concerning division of property, spousal support, child custody, child support, attorneys' fees, costs, and such other relief as may be granted by the court.

If you wish to see a lawyer for advice in this matter, you should do so promptly so that your written response, if any, may be filed on time.

BEING a part of the original allotment number 22 made to Dalton, et al, according to the map made by Bissle of the Rancho Laguna de San Antonio or Bojorques Rancho on file in the office of the Clerk of the old 4th District Court of the City and County of San Francisco.

PARCEL THREE: A RIGHT of way leading out to the County Road described as follows: BEING 15 feet in width and lying 7.5 feet on either side of a line described as follows: BEGINNING at a point distant South 26° West 7.5 feet from said stake marked "D-E", running thence North 63° 25' West 12.89 chains; thence North 26° East along and parallel with the boundary line between the lands of said W. A. Lewis and one Peters 9.47 chains, more or less, thence Northwesterly along Peters Northeasterly boundary line to the center of the present roadway leading from the lands of Peters out to the main County Road; thence along said Roadway along and across the lands of W. A. Lewis to and across the lands of said Lewis conveyed to said Lewis by Hans Juhl, by Deed recorded January 24, 1906 in Book 97 of Deeds, at page 291, Marin County Records. EXCEPTING therefrom any portion thereof lying within the boundaries of Parcel One herein described.

SUBJECT TO: current taxes, covenants, conditions, restrictions, reservations, rights, rights of way, and easements of record.

BIDS or offers are invited for the property and must be in writing and may be delivered to the Conservator or to the office of his attorney HENRY J. SOLDATI, 35 Fifth Street, Petaluma, California 94952, or may be filed in the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court at any time after the first publication of this notice and before the making of the sale.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF SALE: Cash in lawful money of the United States of America; 10% of the amount bid to accompany the offer and the balance to be paid upon confirmation of sale by the Superior Court. Taxes and premiums on insurance acceptable to the purchaser shall be pro-rated as of the date of recording of conveyance. The examination of title, recording of conveyance, and any title insurance policy shall be at the expense of the purchaser or purchasers. Any offer for the undivided one-half interest in the foregoing real property must be accompanied by a similar offer for the undivided one-half interest vested in Ethel S. Carroll under conservatorship of Frank M. Stall as Conservator, Marin County Superior Court Case No. 19337, as it is the intention of the Conservator to sell the entire combined interests of James Carroll and Ethel S. Carroll in the foregoing real property; and further, should there be increased bids in Court each bid must refer to a like bid in the conservatorship of Ethel S. Carroll aforesaid.

The undersigned reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

ONE OF NATION'S BEST

Nursing Program Director Leaving A Top Operation

The woman who set up College of Marin's registered nursing program from scratch is leaving this summer, and her monument will be one of the nation's most highly regarded college nursing programs.

The reasons for Shirley Conklin's departure are clouded in the obscurity of campus politics and management, but they stem largely from indecision by college officials about her position that caused freezing of her salary level for two years.

Thus, on March 19, she submitted her resignation to the Marin Junior College District board, which accepted it regretfully.

Miss Conklin was hired in 1964 to set up the program, and spent the first year making the hundreds of needed plans and arrangements. The college now graduates approximately 33 registered nurses each spring, and plans to expand next fall's entering class to 55 students.

The two-year program is the "newest kind of nursing education in the country," Miss Conklin said, having originated in 1952. Before that, registered nursing was a three-year program run by hospitals rather than colleges. Many hospitals still offer the three-year program.

The advantage of College of Marin's program, she said, is that it attracts students who wouldn't or couldn't enter the hospital type training. Pupils range from 17 to 55 years old, and are able to continue such duties as homemaking while they attend nursing school. The total cost to the pupil, Miss Conklin estimated, is only $350 for uniforms, books, insurance and other expenses.

Nearly all the graduates have stayed in Marin, working for hospitals, in doctors' offices or at nursing homes, she said.

The figures justify the community pressure which led to formation of the program in 1964, which she said came from the hospitals and the community.

The two-year program has as much learning crammed into it as the three-year one, she said. The briefer period is made possible by a totally integrated program in which the "health continuum" is considered.

For example, instead of teaching an eight-week block course on psychiatric nursing, the school recognizes that there are "emotional components" in all aspects of nursing and points them out throughout all courses taught.

Miss Conklin is co-author of a projected textbook on the teaching method. Her qualifications are attested by her experience—a master's degree from Columbia University's Teachers College, 12 years as an instructor and five as director and assistant director, all at the Knapp College of Nursing in Santa Barbara.

The two-year program, she said, also requires careful coordination of planning, and demands a great deal of independent study by the students.

College of Marin was the first in California to reduce the program to four semesters, other schools having a program of four semesters plus one or two summer school sessions. The curriculum content is regulated by stiff controls by the state.

LEAVING COLLEGE — Despite the success of the registered nursing program she has run from the beginning, Shirley Conklin is leaving the College of Marin this summer. "I could no longer work with indecision regarding my position," she says. (Independent-Journal photo by Jim Kean)

The college was also one of the first to get accreditation from the National League for Nursing, which has given the program a prestigious eight-year accreditation.

Another measure of prestige is the annual "student nurse of the year" competition in the Student Nurses Association of California. A College of Marin student has won the Bay Area division title each year since 1965, and the 1968 condidate won the state award.

The school has limited enrollment to 64 students because it is still in temporary quarters—three pre-fab class buildings and an old frame house on Kent Avenue which serves as office space.

The program and other health programs will move a year from now into a new building now under construction on the site of old Harlan Center, and enrollment can increase accordingly.

Miss Conklin was hired to set up the registered nursing program, run it as coordinator, and eventually take over a combined health occupations department embracing registered nursing, dental assisting and vocational nursing programs. This was the plan of then-President Stephen E. Epler.

But Epler later resigned, to be succeeded by a fast-moving series of presidents, and the combined department has never been formed. A year ago, the acting president decided that Miss Conklin's position should be in the faculty hierarchy rather than administration. Implicit in that was the lower salary scale of faculty members. The recommendation was that her salary remain fixed until faculty salary levels caught up to it.

The proposal was not accepted by the college board, and a study by college committees was ordered. What happened after that is evidently known only to committee members.

Miss Conklin said she has never learned what decision was made by the committee, but that meantime her salary has been frozen for two years, and she was working with no contract.

Reviewing her situation this spring, she said, "I felt I could no longer work with indecision regarding my position." Since no clarification was forthcoming, she resigned in order to have time to find a new position by fall.

Supt.-President John A. Grasham, who inherited the situation when he took office in January, said there was "no danger of her status being changed in a derogatory way" this year or she would have been notified by March 15.

His understanding, Grasham said, was that Acting Supt.-President Louis H. Herkenhoff had decided Miss Conklin should be on the administrative salary schedule, serving as coordinator with teaching duties as well.

Business Mgr. Norman Bird said she was on the administrative salary schedule until the end of last fiscal year, when Herkenhoff recommended her salary be frozen until salaries for coordinators reached her pay level. The proposal was delayed, Bird said, until it could be reviewed by faculty committees and the incoming president, who had not been chosen then.

A subcommittee named by the Academic Senate to review the case reported last November, recommending that the decision be delayed until the new president made his position known.

Another committee was appointed in December to make a recommendation to Grasham, but what its report was is not known.

In letters to the college board this month, the faculty and students of the registered nursing program recommended the college unify the health occupations programs under an assistant dean, a plan much like Epler's in 1964. Thus Miss Conklin's successor may have the position she was promised but not given.

Regarding the program she set up, Miss Conklin said it has had "excellent community support. . .My concern now is that the college continue to provide for the community a quality nursing program."

Regarding her resignation, she said, "I think there's a real communications problem within the college itself that hinders decision making."

"I thought this over for a long time," she said of her resignation. ". . .It's a final decision as far as I'm concerned."

Followup Call Likely To Clear Census Data

The 1970 census ended for most people on April 1, but don't be surprised if you receive a telephone call from the bureau requesting a clarification on your form.

For the past several weeks, census takers have been shuffling through forms to find and correct errors in an effort to make this decennial count the most accurate in history.

This week the enumerators begin a new phase of the head count. Personal follow-up phone call to any who submitted incomplete forms earlier this month, and door-to-door calls on homes which submitted no form at all.

At the local census office, Barbara K. Hennessy, district manager, said she had no idea of how many personal calls will be necessary to complete the census in Marin County.

"We have no way of telling yet how many follow-up will be required," she said, adding she probably won't know until it's over.

According to Mrs. Hennessy, each of her 148 census takers is charged with an area not to exceed 750 housing units and is responsible for the completion of the census in that area.

Mrs. Hennessy said an address register, computed in Washington D.C. is given each enumerator, who in turn checks off forms when received against the list.

The census taker then checks the completeness of the form. When an incomplete form is discovered it is held for further clarification.

Mrs. Hennessy added that the bureau has until May 15 to complete this follow-up phase. After that, she said, forms not received or incomplete will be forwarded to the San Francisco district office for further processing.

Three years of record crops in Japan have left 32,000 governmen storage bins overflowing with rice. Officials may use abandoned mine shafts and World War II air raid shelters to store the excess.

SKILLED HANDS — Forty seven years of experience and serious concentration show on the face of Herman Sowatsch as he stiches a cuff to a pair of pants. Sowatsch, who has been a San Rafael tailor since 1956, will retire May 1, and may possibly be the last of the old-time tailors. (Independent-Journal photo)

San Rafael Losing Veteran Of Both Sewing Machine And Wars

When Herman Sowatsch retires May 1, San Rafael will lose another of its old-time tailors.

A quiet man who smiles the second time he meets you, Sowatsch earlier this month hung a hand-made sign in his shop's window at 844 B Street informing his patrons he planned to retire.

Finding his harsh Austrian accent hard to understand, his customers rarely pause long enough to really speak with the old man, soon to be 73.

A vintage Singer sewing machine sits in one corner of his shop, as pictures and postcards decorate one wall and the smell of cloth permeates the cramped quarters.

Sowatsch, who spends most of his work day behind the ancient machine, paused between customers the other day to reflect on a little of his life.

Born in Austria, Sowatsch said he was wounded three times during World War I fighting with the Austrian Army.

Following the war, he apprenticed as a tailor for three years in Vienna and later set up shop in Salzburg.

Drafted into the German army during the Second World War at the age of 42, he was captured in Belguim by the Allies in 1944 and spent the last year of the war in a French prisoner of war camp near Marseille.

Following World War II, he moved to Zurich, Switzerland, where he plied his trade until 1956 when he moved to San Rafael at his wife's urging. She died six years later.

As the shop's front door opened and another customer entered, Sowatsch quickly added that he has no plans for his retirement other than a 10-week vacation to Austria this summer.

Veteran Mill Valley Street Aide Retiring

Jack A. Silva, 64, a street foreman for the Mill Valley Public Works Department for more than 30 years, will retire April 30.

A native of Olema, Silva has lived in the county all his life except for a few years before and during World War II when he worked for a shipyard in Richmond and then joined the Navy.

"Things haven't changed much in Mill Valley since I came here in 1933," he said. "It's grown, and there were more trees then, but basically it's the same."

Mill Valley's street system has been much improved since he joined the department, Silva said. "There weren't many dirt or gravel roads then, and there aren't any now," he said.

Asked to recall an especially important job he took part in, Silva said he couldn't single out one project. "When you're working for the city, they're all important," he said. "All the projects are aimed at making the city a better place."

Silva's retirement plans call for him to move out of the county for the first time in his life.

"I'm going to move up to the North Coast," he said. "I've got a boat and I like to fish, and I figure that I can do that best up there."

Promotions Set For Sonoma State

MARINWOOD MOUNDS

Digger Adding To Indian Culture

By LARRY MOWELL

Artifacts from Coast Miwok Indians that may date back to the birth of Christ have been unearthed by student archaeologists in Marinwood.

Pointing to the bottom of a trench about 15 feet deep, Charles Slaymaker speculated the other day that artifacts found in the bottom were left there about 1 A.D. while those found near ground level date back to 1840-50.

Slaymaker, who is doing field research for his master's degree in anthropology from San Francisco State College has been excavating the hillock and several neighboring mounds near Miller Creek since last summer.

"What I'm trying to do is to describe social patterning through archaeology. Obviously, one of them (the mounds) is bigger than the others and I want to know why," Slaymaker said. "I'm trying to prove that one of them is more important than the others."

Even if he fails to prove this, his study will at least add to the knowledge of the Indian culture in Marin.

Slaymaker said that although Marin County has nearly 500 recorded Indian mounds — the greatest total north of Mexico— there has been very little in-depth study of the Miwoks.

These sites were charted in the early part of the century by N C. Nelson, an anthropologisst at the University of California. Slaymaker chose his mounds by consulting Nelson's records and looking for the most intact site.

The area around the digging is much the same as it must have been when the brown-skinned, naked Miwoks were attracted to it thousands of years ago. Miller Creek, which used to provide a refreshing morning dip for the men of the tribe, still snakes around the mound and acorn-bearing oak trees still abound on a nearby hillside.

Although there are 20th century buildings nearby and San Francisco Bay waters have been pushed nearly two miles farther away by the spreading civilization, the habitat of the primitive Indians is almost intact.

By carefully shoveling dirt and sifting it through screens, the young archaeologists have found the floor of a basin-shaped ceremonial hut 15-20 feet in diameter in the large mound. The smaller settlements contained only dwellings, according to Slaymaker.

The ceremonial structure was used for religious dancing ceremonies, Slaymaker said. The Miwoks' primary god after 1600 was Kukhu, god of the south. No one knows how long before that he was worshipped.

"My tentative conclusion is that this was the major village by its size and the presence of the ceremonial structure and absence in other sites," Slaymaker said of the mound he is now working on.

Evidence of status differences have also been uncovered. Of the six human burials that have been discovered, one — that of a 6-month-old child — contained beads, dolls and other artifacts. The others contained no such artifacts, according to Slaymaker.

The smaller surrounding settlements located about 500 yards from the major mound were off-shoots of it, but Slaymaker was not sure why new colonies were formed when the group's population reached 25-30. He surmised that some sort of clan relationship may have developed.

Through their diligent sifting and scratching in the earth, the archaeologists have uncovered a wealth of artifacts including baked clay figurines, stone and abalone pendants, beads, arrowheads, mortar and pestle fragments, awls, four or five structures and the six burials, according to Slaymaker.

He said the Miwoks were inhabiting Marin County and Southern Sonoma when Sir Francis Drake landed at Point Reyes in 1579, but no one is sure when they arrived in Marin since the tribe had no written history.

To survive, these Indians who inhabited the little hill overlooking a gentle stream caught shellfish in San Francisco Bay, collected acorns, and hunted game.

They lived in semi-subterranean circular huts 8-to-10 feet in diameter made of saplings lashed together and covered with tule carted down from Novato Slough and woven into mats.

The Miwoks were forced into missions by the invading 18th century Spaniards, but Slaymaker has evidence that a few Miwoks returned to the largest site after the missions were secularized in 1836. Most, however, were submerged in the oncoming wave of white men.

The young anthropologist began digging on a minor mound last summer with seventh and eighth graders from Marinwood and Marin City doing much of the labor for summer school credit.

When all the digging is done, in September, Slaymaker would like to donate his findings to a Marin County museum, but there isn't one devoted to Indian lore, he said.

Welfare Nominee Stalled

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Lucian Vandegrift, whose appointment by Gov. Ronald Reagan as state human relations secretary is stalled in the Senate Rules Committee, denies charges he is "hostile" to welfare recipients.

The committee held up approval Tuesday after the former Butte County district attorney was accused of taking "the ax handle approach" toward welfare cases.

"I'm not antagonistic toward welfare recipients at all," he said later to a newsman.

He also denied that as district attorney he persecuted persons on welfare.

Sen. Mervyn Dymally, D-Los Angeles, Tuesday asked the subcommittee to investigate charges made against Vandegrift before it recommends whether he should be confirmed by the full Senate.

Now serving as acting secretary of the Human Relations Agency, Vandegrift, 43, was deputy secretary under Spencer Williams. Reagan named him to replace Williams in the $35,000-a-year post when Williams resigned to run for state attorney general.

The Human Relations Agency controls the state's welfare, health and employment programs.

Vandegrift told committee members he hoped to improve retraining programs for those who have been unemployable, such as parolees and the handicapped.

He also questioned the wisdom of using federal funds in health and welfare programs, saying they are often used mainly "because they're purportedly free dollars. Just because they're federal dollars spent."

Frank Rudd, a retired state accountant from Chico, charged that as district attorney Vandegrift pursued cases of suspected welfare fraud to the point of neglecting other duties and that he "tampered with jury lists" to eliminate persons who "didn't go along with his concepts."

He said he had brought his charges to the attention of the Butte County Grand Jury, but that no action was taken.

REAGAN ASSURES

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Reagan assured a Republican women's convention Wednesday night "nothing is being left undone" by the university regents, law enforcement or state government to curb campus violence.

Reagan told 800 members of the California Federation of Republican Women the time had come "for the vast majority" to withdraw any support or sympathy for dissidents — so that "the little band of campus revolutionaries is isolated and exposed."

Reagan told an enthusiastic audience that campus unrest was "the most frustrating thing that I've ever experienced."

He cautioned the women not to mistake "the ragtag mob of dissidents" for the majority of young people in California whom he praised as "fine young people."

CAMPUS ARMS

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A bill to outlaw possession of any firearm — loaded or unloaded— on any public school, state college or University of California campus has been approved by the Assembly Criminal Procedures Committee.

"The inflammatory effect of displaying a firearm on campus is an evil itself, and one we can correct," Assemblyman Frank Murphy Jr., R-Santa Cruz, author of the measure, said Wednesday.

The bill, which now goes to the Assembly floor, proposes a maximum penalty of five years in prison or one year and a $1,000 fine.

RAFFERTY STAND

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Max Rafferty threatened today to seek dismissal of any University of California chancellor who allows members of the Chicago Seven to speak on campus.

Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction, specifically proposed such action against UC-Irvine Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich Jr., in letters to Gov. Reagan and Aldrich.

Then it was learned that five of the Chicago Seven and their attorney, William Kenstler, had cancelled a Sunday appearance at Irvine because of "a conflict in their schedule."

But Rafferty told a reporter later he would try to get the UC regents to fire any chancellor who has any legal way of "preventing these vandals from coming on campus" and doesn't.

That they would be allowed to appear at Irvine was "unbelievable," he said.

Rafferty said he would make such a move as an ex-officio member of the UC Board of Regents.

On Tuesday, Reagan — also a regent — described the Chicago Seven "freaks in a side show" who had no legitimate reason to speak on campus.

But whether they should be allowed to speak poses a tough problem for campus administrators, he said.

"It is a difficult thing for an administrator to know whether he could precipitate violence by the action of denying them . . . or letting them," he told a news conference.

FORNEY QUITS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Dr. Russell L. Forney has resigned as acting director of the State Department of Rehabilitation to avoid possible conflict of interest.

Forney, chief deputy director serving as acting director in the absence of director Robert Howard, said he quit the $1,626-a-month job last week because he also was working as a consultant to a project involving the training of technicians in five schools across the nation.

Human Relations Agency secretary lucian B. Vandegrift stressed that no conflict of interest had taken place and described Forney's other work as an "error in judgment." He said no state funds were involved in Forney's consultation work.

LINDSAY HIT

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The chairman of the Assembly Agriculture Committee Wednesday criticized New York Mayor John Lindsay for his participation in the donation of a bell to striking grape workers in Delano.

"Neither the grape strike nor any other labor dispute will be resolved by grandstand antics," said Assemblyman William M. Ketchum in a statement issued by his office. "Mayor Lindsay, of all people in this country, should know this.

Lindsay sealed the clapper of the donated bell, which is not to ring until the grape workers' strike is over.

HEALTH PLEA

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The California Association for Mental Health Wednesday urged Gov. Ronald Reagan to drop his plan to reorganize state health services.

The governor's proposal, before the Legislature, would eliminate the state Departments of Public Health, Mental Hygiene and Health Care Services and place their functions under a single department of health.

In a letter to the governor, association president Mrs. Joseph V. Costello Jr. said the reorganization plan was "premature" and should be more fully developed.

NAMES DEBATE

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A bill to change the names of California state colleges to state universities is before the Senate today after the Assembly reversed itself and approved the measure 44-27.

The bill by Assemblyman E. Richard Barnes, R-San Diego, failed to win the 41 votes needed for Assembly approval last Friday in a 33-33 deadlock.

"I ask you, I plead with you," Barnes told the Assembly Wednesday, "to give me an 'aye' vote . . . on behalf of the graduates of these outstanding institutions who are denied the word university on their diplomas."

Assemblyman Don Mulford, R-Piedmont, said the name change would eventually cost "millions and millions" of dollars because it would enlarge the role of the state colleges in graduate work and research.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Research Proves Dogs Get Lung Cancer From Smoking

New research has demonstrated that heavy cigaret smoking produces lung cancer in dogs. Beagles were taught to smoke through hollow Teflon tubes inserted into the windpipe. These experiments (Using nonfilter and filter-tip cigarets) lasted for more than two years. The animals were classified as heavy and light smokers. Those in the heavy smoker group consumed nine cigarets a day (equivalent to 40 a day for a 150-pound man).

Doctors Oscar Auerbach and E. Cuyler Hammond reported their findings at a meeting of the American Cancer Society. Eighty per cent of the heavy nonfilter smokers developed lung tumors. The percentage was 58.3 among light smokers and 33.3 among heavy users of filter-tipped cigarets.

SMOKING DOGS developed lung changes similar to those found in humans. These included emphysema and scar tissue. Less extensive damage was seen among users of filter-tip cigarets. However, even filter-tip cigarets, when used for a longer time, damaged the lungs. According to Medical Tribune, a filter-tip cigaret delivered 49 per cent less tar and 7 per cent less nicotine.

We may have found the missing link in the cigaret-lung cancer controversy. While many authorities accepted the statistical proof of the relationship between smoking and health, they wanted laboratory proof that cigarets could induce lung cancers in living animals.

ANIMAL STUDIES on cancer and smoking have been limited because of the technical problems involved in inhalation experiments in small animals. Lung cancers have been produced in hamsters by instilling aerosolized chemicals into the windpipe, but this does not duplicate smoking per se. Furthermore, months and years must elapse before changes occur in the bronchial membranes after heavy smoking. In this respect, the research just reported may represent a breakthrough.

APPENDICITIS

Mr. A. writes: Is it true that the older a person gets the less likely he is to have an attack of appendicitis?

REPLY

Yes, but appendicitis is no respecter of age. The assumption that the condition is unusual in oldsteres has led many to neglect warning symptoms. In addition, senior citizens do not feel pain so acutely as do youngsters. Statistics show that more fatalities from this disease occur in the elderly because the diagnosis is not considered until the appendix has ruptured.

CONSTIPATION

A. G. writes: What types of food should I eat to relieve constipation? Also, what foods are considered bulk-producers?

REPLY

Among the foods that produce a laxative action (or bulk) are pears, figs, apples, prunes, prune juice, citrus fruits, and green, cooked vegetables. Our leaflet on constipation recommends other measures helpful in establishing normal bowel function. It may be obtained by sending self-addressed stamped envelope with request.

DENTAL CORROSION

REPLY

Some time ago a dentist from the Mayo clinic studied 50 patients with erosion below the normal gum line. These men and women were in the habit of drinking concentrated lemon or grapefruit juice every morning and sucking lemons. I have seen no recent report along this line and assume that the ordinary use of citrus fruits would not adversely affect the teeth.

Ziegler Says No Nixon Role In Carswell Bid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House said today President Nixon had no part in the decision of former Judge G. Harrold Carswell to seek the Republican nomination for U.S. senator from Florida.

"There was no presidential involvement in either the decision-making process or the announcement by Carswell," White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said.

Ziegler's statement was in apparent response to a news conference remark Wednesday by Sen. Edward J. Gurney ,R-Fla. Gurney said White House aide Harry Dent was informed of Carswell's decision and "agreed that this was an ideal solution."

51 Bombs Found Ready To Explode

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Police located and dismantled 51 bombs before dawn today minutes before they were timed to go off in U.S. Navy relay power stations atop a mountain here.

Two bombs did explode before they could be found, but the damage was described as minor.

The search was launched when a naval officer who plugged into the relay tower to send a message found that the lines were not operating.

Special Session

The Novato Fire District board last night set a special meeting for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday to review the preliminary budget, according to Fire Chief Jack Kidder.

High Court Orders Opening Kopechne File

BOSTON (AP)—The Massachusetts Supreme Court today issued an order giving the Suffolk Superior Court authority to decide how to release the Mary Jo Kopechne inquest papers, which it said "are now public records and should promptly be opened to public scrutiny when not impounded."

The high court order came less than two hours after an attorney for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., asked the Supreme Court to order release of the original transcript and judges report in the case.

But the order made no reference to the Kennedy petition.

Release of the documents has been tied up in a legal wrangle over whether a court stenographer or the Superior Court clerk has the right to copy and release the documents.

The legal tangle has reached the U.S. Court of Appeals which last week ruled the documents might be released, but under strict conditions.

The state Supreme Court today said, "We fail to see any basis for the exercise of jurisdiction by the federal courts in these matters," and said the litigation has "resulted in unreasonably delaying prompt public inspection of these documents and their distribution."

The Kennedy petition was filed by attorney Edward B. Hanify who asked that an order be made subject to Superior Court rules to ensure "order and decorum in the public examination" of the documents.

The action by Hanify was the latest in a legal tangle over the inquest records centering on the contention of a professional court stenographer that he alone has the right to reproduce and distribute the inquest transcript.

There were no Supreme Court justices on hand when the petition was filed, but a date for a hearing was expected to be set later today.

Miss Kopechne was found dead in Sen. Kennedy's car last July 19 after it toppled off a bridge into a tidal pond on Chappaquiddick Island.

Kennedy did not report the accident for about 10 hours. He said he had been the driver and lost his way, and while he was able to save himself could not reach the girl.

He pleaded guilty to a charge of leaving the scene of an accident and was sentenced to a suspended two month jail term.

Hanify, who was Kennedy's attorney in a successful challenge of plans for an open inquest, said the high court already has ruled that all conditions have been met for release of the transcript and judge's report "at the earliest possible moment."

The petition filed today, on behalf of Kennedy, also noted that the U.S. Court of Appeals' ruling on the suit by stenographer Sidney R. Lipman, refused to stay the public release "of the original transcript."

Adult Swimming Course Opener Set

A six-week adult swimming course sponsored by the adult school at Sir Francis Drake High School begins tonight at the San Anselmo campus.

The course will be held on Thursdays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Registration may be made tonight at the school's main office. Students should come with caps, towels and swimming suits.

Shoreline Panel Grants Pay Hike For Teachers

The Shoreline Unified School District board last night granted teachers a 2 per cent across-the-board salary scale increase, according to Supt. Charles E. McCully.

Beginning pay will rise next year from $6,600 to $6,732 and the top from $12,690 to $12,943. The hike will cost the district approximately $24,000 next year, McCully said.

The Shoreline Unified School District board also:

APPLICATIONS—Approved a $20,157 application for federal matching funds for science equipment and an $800 application for library books, all federal funds.

CALENDAR—Adopted the 1970-71 calendar, starting Sept. 1 with 180 days and closing on June 11.

Bard's Birthday Fete To Raise Theater Funds

William Shakespeare's 404th birthday will be celebrated by the Marin Shakespeare Festival with a fund raising event at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley.

There will also be a birthday party for the bard.

Those planning to attend the event hosted by KSFO radio personality Terry McGovern should bring a "gift for Will" in the form of something useful to the festival.

Mind Boggler: Tall Buildings Cut Smog

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) — Urban commuters caught in smogbound traffic jams might be skeptical, but a Colorado engineer says more freeway and tall buildings in metropolitan areas can reduce air pollution.

Tall buildings deflect winds down to the street, which tends to lift pollutants out of the city, says Dr. J.E. Cermak, a fluid dynamics expert at Colorado State University. And freeways, properly placed, are channels of fast moving air that drain pollutants out of the city.

Cermak cites air movement around tall buildings and freeways as examples of the critical need for wind tunnel studies for building projects before construction begins. He has spent 15 years studying air movement in cities, using wind tunnels and scale models of buildings and cities.

Most urban areas with air pollution problems grew up helter-skelter with no thought about air movement and its effect on pollution control, he said.

"But it's just a matter of time before people realize there are many things that can be done to improve the environment by proper spacing of buildings, their shape and the spacing of streets, Cermak said.

Cermak said more buildings and freeways for existing urban centers such as New York and Chicago, however, won't do much good.

"Even if they took the buildings and freeways away, they'd still have the air pollution problem," he said. "You can't expect what exists now to be effective. It's pretty hard to do something with an old site unless you rebuild it.

"But when part of a city is being rebuilt or a new city is being planned, that is the time to study the local climate and air movement and look at how one might lay out the structures to reduce air pollution."

Cermak and his colleagues are using three wind tunnels in their research. Two of the tunnels are capable of creating inversions, the atmospheric condition responsible for many smog problems. An upper layer of cold air traps warm air on the ground, stopping vertical mixing of air and concentrating pollutants near the ground.

Cermak said the research has shown that inversion-produced pollution in some areas can be abated if a row of tall buildings form an "inversion dam."

"If you had an air pollution source upwind, say an industrial site, by putting a fairly solid wall of tall buildings on the upwind edge of the city," Cermak said, "the buildings would act as an inversion dam so air coming down from the industrial site would be deflected outward."

Tall buildings, the research revealed, create upward and downward air currents when the wind blows.

"So the presence of a single tall building generates verticle, mixing which has beneficial effects. And if the building is so tall that it is above the inversion layer, then this vertical mixing is a definite advantage," Cermak said.

Bridge Collision Injures Woman

A Tiburon woman was treated at Park Emergency hospital in San Francisco today for neck strain, bruises and a lip laceration following an accident on the Golden Gate Bridge.

The California Highway Patrol said Angela Curley, 53, of 20 Andrew Drive, had stopped her car near the south end of the bridge at 11:50 p.m. yesterday when she was struck by a car driven by Anastasia Wanninger, 58, of 219 Reed Boulevard, Strawberry Point.

Fifteen minutes later a tow truck attempting to remove the Curley vehicle was struck by a car driven by Richard K. Taylor, 38, of San Francisco, who told officers he didn't see the truck's emergency lights.

MUSIC'S HAPPENING

TV REVIEW

Raquel Is A Winner For Sunday

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Raquel Welch has an hour musical special on CBS-TV Sunday night. It is called "Raquel," but it would not have been amiss to call it "Raquel and David" because of the staging and direction of David Winters. He has pulled off a visually gorgeous hour, and Miss Welch profits mightily by it.

Apparently for ratings reasons, the show also includes guest appearance by John Wayne, Bob Hope and Tom Jones, and it is to Winters' credit that he has managed to fit them into the goings-on without destroying the flow of the production. In the end, in fact, what is fascinatingly triumphant—more than any of the stars in the show—is Winters' exuberance and repose. His past shows have also exhibited this distinctively-styled view, but never with such exhilaration.

"Raquel," a very expensive production, was shot in a variety of splendid locations—in Mexico, Paris, England, California and Sun Valley, Idaho—and benefits also from a fine selection of contemporary tunes arranged and conducted by Don Randi. They include "The Games People Play," "California Dreamin'," "Let the Sunshine In," "Everybody's Talking," "Raindrops Keep Falling on my Head," "Here Comes the Sun," "Good Morning, Starshine" and "Aquarius."

With Winters' imagination and Stephen Burum's photography, Miss Welch has never looked better. The show will do wonders for her glamorous image—more than 100 layouts in Vogue. She comes off, in fact, quite well in all respects—singing acceptably, dancing and handling some comedy, including a takeoff on her costar in the upcoming movie "Myra Breckenridge"—Mae West.

In some quick excerpts of news conferences with the usual absurd questions around the world, Miss Welch handles herself with poise, a suggestion of lurking intelligence, and even, at times, with wit. At one point, referring to Playboy magazine publisher Hugh Hefner, she says to an interviewer: "I don't agree with his philosophy, but I think the paper he prints it on is very nice."

Bishops Launch Fund For Blacks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Roman Catholic bishops have launched a $50 million crusade to aid blacks and other impoverished minorities.

At the semiannual meeting Wednesday the National Conference of Catholic Bishops also condemned the recent wave of state legislation to lift restrictions on abortions, and promised a campaign for social acceptance of pregnancies and births out of wedlock.

In acting to implement a $50 million drive against poverty, economic inequities and racism, the bishops decided to seek funds through special Thanksgiving offerings beginning next November.

They rejected proposals for combining the new fund raising with the annual Lenten appeal to finance Catholic Relief Services, the Church's international charitable arm, which raises about $8 million annually.

FEARS EXPRESSED

Sources inside the closed meeting said considerable fears were expressed that opposition to the domestic antipoverty crusade might cripple the international relief work if the two were combined and could cause confusion about division of funds.

Bishop Francisc J. Mugavero of Brooklyn, committee chairman for the new effort, said the aid would go to projects among the poor not supported by government funds.

He said minority groups who insist on determining themselves how the money is used, such as the Black Economic Development Conference, would be eligible for consideration for aid.

BEDC is the group that has demanded millions in reparations from churches for alleged past injustices to blacks.

Protestant groups including Episcopalians and United Presbyterians have relayed money to it, arousing protests from some white members.

ABORTION PROBLEM

Turning to the problem of abortion, the conference declared:

"We pledge our efforts to do all that is possible to remove the social stigma that is visited on the woman who is pregnant out of wedlock, as well as on her child."

Bishop Raymond J. Gallagher of Lafayette, Ind., said the aim was to dispel the shadow over births to unmarried mothers and to foster "Christian acceptance and understanding" of them rather than "categorizing them as offenders against morality."

Guilty Plea To Drug Count

Aloysius John Koehler, 18, of Penngrove, has pleaded guilty to a reduced misdemeanor charge of possessing marijuana. He had originally been accused of a felony count.

Two other charges of having a narcotics device and an open container of alcohol in his car were dismissed.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. set sentencing for May 22.

Koehler was arrested by Novato police April 5 for not having a tail light on his car.

Ecology Art Show Tomorrow

More than 600 pieces of art, representing the work of 106 persons will be on display at the first annual spring ecology art show at the Strawberry Town and Country Village tomorrow Saturday and Sunday.

Within each artist's collection will be at least one work illustrating the ecology theme.

The exhibits, on the sidewalks and parking area of the shopping center, will be open from 10 a.m. until dark on Friday and Saturday, and from noon until closed by the show's director on Sunday.

Rosenberg For Treatment Plan For Alcoholics

Donald Rosenberg, candidate for Marin Municipal Court judge, recommended treatment, not punishment, for alcoholics in a talk this week at the home of Winifred Hepperly, 85 Berens Drive, Kentfield.

"We must break away from the idea that the best way to treat an alcoholic is to arrest him, put him in jail for a few days and release him back to the same environment," Rosenberg said.

"I shall recommend that we provide a means for civilly detaining the alcoholic, not for punishment, but for treatment."

Coffees for Rosenberg are to be held today in Novato, at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Owen, 595 Louis Street, and at 8:30 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson, 1873 Virginia Street.

Pleads Innocent

Daniel Lee Temple, 22, of San Rafael, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a felony charge of carrying brass knuckles. A jury trial was set for the week of June 8. Temple was arrested Feb. 2 in San Rafael.

Teacher Group Tells Education Center Plan

California Teachers Association plans to establish a Marin County Education Center somewhere in the county before the opening of school next fall.

Nancy Cook, president of the CTA Council of Marin, today announced it has voted to establish the center, with a full time director and staff, to serve in part as a clearing house for information between teachers and public.

"This will finally give us the opportunity to effectively communicate with the general public concerning educational and professional matters," said Mrs. Cook, a teacher at Granada School in Reed School District.

She said a 10,000-square foot building is to be erected as a cooperative effort of the council and the CTA's Bay Section.

Herbert Foreman, assistant executive secretary of the Bay Section, said the arrangement is for it to provide the building and the Marin Council to provide the staff. Members in 10 Marin school districts so far have voted for an increase in dues to pay the staff, he said.

Foreman said the center would serve as a meeting place for CTA groups, provide clerical services to assist chapter presidents, as well as performing a public relations function. He said space may be rented temporarily while a building location is sought.

The 10 districts already pledged to participate in financing, he reported, are Novato Unified, Tamalpais High, and San Anselmo, Mill Valley, Ross, Reed, Dixie, Lagunitas, Larkspur and Sausalito elementary districts.

Richmond Bridge Traffic On Climb

Traffic on the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge increased about 150,000 from Jan. 1 to March 31 over the same period in 1969, the state Division of Bay Toll Crossings has announced.

The state said 1,467,512 vehicles crossed the bridge during the quarter, an 11 per cent increase over last year, when 1,318,580 vehicles traveled the bridge.

It's A Special Kind Of Olympics

Mel Augustine of Berkeley has participated and officiated in athletics all his life — including the Olympic Games — but he'll reap even greater rewards by officiating in the Special Olympics at San Rafael High School Saturday.

Augustine, who is a member of the United States Olympic Committee, vice president of the U.S. Judo Federation and a member of the Executive Committee of the Pacific Association, Amateur Athletic Union, strongly urges folks of Marin to attend these Games Saturday.

"It will be a worthwhile experience that will be treasured for a lifetime," he says.

The Special Olympics are very special indeed because they are for the mentally retarded, aged 8 and up.

Starting at 9 a.m. and winding up around 4 p.m., the program will include track and field events in the morning and swimming in the afternoon.

Expects About 100 Youngsters

"We expect approximately 100 entries," says Mrs. Frank Goodall of San Rafael, publicity chairman for the second annual event which is being co-sponsored by the Marin Aid to Retarded Children, Cedars Development Foundation and Recreation for the Handicapped Easter Seal Society.

The committee is going all out to carry out the Olympic theme, including opening ceremonies that will feature the lighting of the Special Olympic Torch, the parade of athletes, Hamilton Air Force color guard and participation by the Prince Charles Junior Pipe Band, San Rafael Military Academy drill team and Redwood High School band.

Outstanding athletes will qualify for the State Special Olympics in Long Beach June 19-20, from where winners will advance to the Internationals in Chicago during August. "We hope that Marin will be represented in the International meet," added Mrs. Goodall.

Officials at the Marin meet will include Archie Williams of Drake High School faculty, 400-meter champion in the 1936 Olympics in Berlin, Gary Hughes, Carl Brown and Fred Clawson.

Williams will recite the Olympic oath.

They're Full Of Enthusiasm

Says Augustine: "I have had the privilege of participating in many national championships as a competitor and official. In these capacities I have met and known many national and world champions in all sports — but, I have yet to see the enthusiasm displayed by the youngsters that participated in the Special Olympics of 1969.

"The enthusiasm, response and reaction displayed by the mentally retarded athletes in and of itself served as an inspiration to me. It is something everyone should see."

Last year's first attempt at this nation-wide program was an overwhelming success with more than 50,000 children in 46 states and Canada participating.

The participants benefit mentally, physically and psychologically.

It will do you a world of good, too, to attend Saturday's meet.

Everyone's a winner.

Candlestick To Have Bleachers On Wheels

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rollway Grandstand Corp. of Los Angeles was awarded the contract Wednesday for construction of 7,000 movable seats at Candlestick Park.

The 1.1 million project is part of the first phase—which included placement of artificial turf — in the Candlestick improvement and expansion project.

According to the Rollway bid, construction is to be completed by March 1, 1971, but San Francisco 49ers President Lou Spadia noted that the contractor said in previous correspondence that work could be completed in December of this year, or possibly sooner.

In any event, Spadia said, the football team's move from Kezar Stadium to Candlestick Park will be delayed, but he said "there is a possibility that at least some of the games can be at Candlestick."

The rollaway section, to be built in what is now right field, will bring Candlestick capacity up to 47,941 for football.

An additional upper deck right field grandstand, part of the second phase of expansion, will bring capacity up to 66,000 hopefully in time for the 1971 season, Spadia said.

THE RECORD MAKER FOR TOM SEAVER

New York Mets' pitcher Tom Seaver throws, San Diego's Al Ferrara swings, and umpire Harry Wendelstedt calls the out, giving Seaver a record 10 straight strikeouts to end the game. It came about yesterday, with the Mets edging the Padres 2-1. Seaver also had nine other strikeouts for a record equalling 19. Story on page 32.

SAY THE GIANTS

It's Good To Be Home

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—You can't blame the San Francisco Giants for being happy to be home today.

The Giants took the day off before sending Gaylord Perry, 1-2, to the mound Friday night against the Montreal Expos in Candlestick Park, where they have been able to play for only one week in the past two months.

Including spring training, the trip to Japan and their first National League road trip they finished Wednesday by losing 6-1 at Philadelphia, the Giants have spent the night in 19 different towns.

JUAN WAITS

Waiting for the Giants was Juan Marichal, their ace hurler who hasn't had a chance to pitch yet this season because of an ear infection and subsequent problems from an allergy. Marichal, 21-11 last year, is scheduled to hurl the day game Saturday.

After waiting two days to play the Phillies, counting an off day Monday and Tuesday's postponement, the Giants didn't enjoy themselves very much Wednesday.

Four errors, which led to four unearned runs, ruined a good pitching start by Rich Robertson, who gave up only five hits in six innings.

1-0 LEAD

The Phils took a 1-0 lead off Robertson in the second inning on Larry Hisle's infield out. A throwing error by Giants shortstop Bob Heise and Bob Bonds' dropped fly ball had put two runners on with none out.

Then, in the fifth, with two out, Robertson walked Denny Doyle. Heise bobbled Don Money's ground ball and Johnny Brigg's blasted a homer, making it 4-0.

Heise atoned in part for his miscues with a single in the seventh, scoring Ken Henderson, who had singled and advanced on a walk to Alan Gallagher.

Tim McCarver singled and was safe at second when Ron Hunt picked up Hisle's grounder and dropped the ball while trying to tag the sliding McCarver.

Reberger then walked Byron Browne, and Larry Bowa's short fly fell safe in short center behind the drawn-in Giants infield, scoring McCarver. Reberger struck out Phils' reliever Dick Selma and then Doyle's sacrifice fly scored Hisle.

Duck Stamp Bill Rejected

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill requiring hunters to buy a $1 state duck stamp to shoot waterfowl in California was rejected Wednesday by the Assembly Natural Resources and Conservation Committee.

The proposal by Assemblyman Ernest N. Mobley, R-Sanger, would have allowed the state to spend the revenue for preservation of duck breeding grounds in Canada.

On a split voice vote, the committee turned down the bill after state Fish and Game Director Ray Arnett said California should not force hunters to pay for out-of-state programs. He said the federal government should handle such programs.

The measure would have allowed the Fish and Game Commission to contract with Ducks Unlimited, Inc., to replenish fast-disappearing wetlands.

But Arnett said, "No one should be forced to be a member of Ducks Unlimited."

Richard Andrews of the Duck Hunters Association of California told the committee that the bill was "essential" for maintaining good duck hunting in California. He presented the committee with 70 resolutions from hunting groups supporting Mobley's bill.

Al Schiavon, president of the California Wildlife Federation, opposed the bill. He questioned "the propriety as well as the legality" of giving state money to a private organization for the preservation work.

The state Fish and Game Commission recently voted to support "the intent" of the bill. But members said they had reservations about sections of it.

Huge Demand For Tickets To Playoffs

NEW YORK (AP) — Because of the huge demand for seats to the New York Knickerbockers Los Angeles Lakers championship playoff series, Madison Square Garden announced Wednesday that it will show the coming Friday and Monday night games on closed circuit television at the Garden's Felt Forum.

The Garden said all 3,500 seats in the Forum, which is within the Garden complex, will be priced at $6. Tickets may be bought for the two games. The ticket sale will open at 1 p.m., Friday at the Forum.

The third and fourth games of the best-of-seven series for the National Basketball Association championship will be played in Los Angeles, Wednesday night April 29, and Friday night, May 1.

Dates and sites for other games, if necessary, are:

5, Monday night, May 4, New York; 6, Wednesday night, May 6, Los Angeles; 7, Friday night, May 8, New York.

A'S TRIUMPH

'New Guys' Do The Job

OAKLAND (AP) — Winter trades are starting to pay off for the Oakland A's. Three players who weren't with the team last season were the stars in a 3-2 victory over the Kansas City Royals Wednesday night.

Lefthander Al Downing pitched a three-hitter for his second victory of the season, Felipe Alou scored the winning run, and it was driven in on a sacrifice fly by Don Mincher.

"This is what we hoped they would do," Manager John McNamara said of the new players.

DON DOES IT

It was the second straight game in which Mincher, the big first baseman obtained from Seattle, provided the winning run. His fly ball was just deep enough to allow Alou to score.

"I thought it was far enough. It looked like the outfielder (Amos Otis) had trouble getting the ball out of his glove," Mincher said.

He laughed when it was suggested he was just an "eight inning player." His game-winning homer against Kansas City Tuesday night also was in the eighth.

"Just a coincidence," he said. "I'll take them any time."

DAY OFF

Downing, who came to Oakland in a trade with the New York Yankees, credited control for his success.

"I was keeping ahead of the hitters," he said. There was no trace of the arm trouble that kept Downing out of action for most of the 1968 season.

"My arm will be sore tomorrow but it always is after I pitch. It isn't like it was two years ago when it hurt all the time."

HOME RUN

The only run Downing allowed was a seventh inning homer by Ed Kirkpatrick. It put Kansas City ahead 1-0 but didn't discourage Downing.

"I knew we needed two runs to win instead of one," he said.

"This is the best I've pitched this season. Things will get better," he said.

Briggs Hurls Sonoma Nine To Top Spot

Dan Briggs pitched Sonoma High School into undisputed first place in the North Bay League Section II baseball race yesterday, downing El Molino on a two-hitter, striking out 14, and driving in two runs with two hits at Sonoma.

Yet, it was a "bad day" for Briggs. He gave up an earned run, his first of the year after 34 1/3 consecutive scoreless innings. El Molino of Forestville snapped the streak in the seventh inning.

The win, Briggs' fifth of the year without a loss, gave Sonoma a 4-1 won-lost record in NBL II and dropped El Molino into a second place tie with Piner of Santa Rosa at 3-2.

A secret recipe. Part of the Beam family art for 175 years.

Carl Beam, Master Distiller, is just as particular about the ingredients that go into his Bourbon as his wife is about the fruits and vegetables she puts up for winter. That's because Carl is the fifth generation of the only Kentucky family that's made the same Bourbon since 1795.

So the next time you sip Jim Beam, savor its quality and its light taste. That's what we mean when we say it's a 175-year-old family art.

Singer, Hundley Out Of Action

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A pair of key National League players will be out of action for some time, and thre Los Angeles Dodgers and Chicago Cubs are the ones who will be hurting.

Dodger ace right-hander Bill Singer will be out for six weeks or more because of hepatitis. The 20-game winner for Los Angeles in 1969 will mark his 26th birthday tomorrow in St. John's Hospital in Santa Monica, which he entered yesterday for two to three weeks of tests, treatment and rest.

Star catcher Randy Hundley of the Cubs, injured in a play at the plate Tuesday, was placed on the disabled list for 21 days starting yesterday.

Shofner Shifted To The Offense

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco 49ers head coach Dick Nolan announced Wednesday he will shift defensive secondary coach Jim Shofner to offense, replacing offensive backfield coach Mike Holovak.

Holovak and quarterback coach Y.A. Tittle resigned because they couldn't devote full time to the jobs, Nolan said.

Nolan said that if a defensive backfield coach can't be found, he would handle the secondary, which was his specialty as a Dallas Cowboys assistant.

Other 49er assistants for 1970 are Ed Hughes, receivers; Ernie Zwahlen, offensive line; Doug Scovil, kicking; Paul Wiggins, defensive line; and Mike Giddings, linebackers.

Colonels' Coach Is Right

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gene Rhodes, coach of the Kentucky Colonels, says he played a game of mental darts before his team's fourth playoff game in the American Basketball Association with the New York Nets.

"I couldn't make up my mind whether to go with Sam Smith or George Tinsley at one of the starting forward spots," Rhodes related. "I finally came up with Smith and he sure made me look good."

The Colonels beat the Nets 128-101 Wednesday night and evened the Eastern Division semifinal best-of-7 series at 2-2. In the other East semi, Indiana, now leading 3-0, beat Carolina 115-106.

Washington evened its Western Division series with Denver 2-2 by beating the Rockets 131-114 while Los Angeles turned back Dallas 144-138 to also square their West semifinals at two games apiece.

The 6-foot-7 Smith, who had missed Kentucky's final two regular season games after being jabbed in the eye, wound up with 28 points and 12 rebounds. He was 12-for-16 from the floor.

With Darel Carrier scoring 29 points and Louie Dampier 26, the 28 by Smith pushed the Colonels past New York early and the Nets wound up suffering their worst defeat of the year. Levern Tart's 21 points led the Nets.

Washington didn't stop Denver's Spencer Haywood, the ABA Rookie of the Year, but his 41 points weren't enough to overcome the 30 each by Rick Barry and Mike Barrett of the Caps.

Indiana had to come from behind in the final quarter to defeat Carolina, which led a 13-point cushion at one point. The rebounding of Mel Daniel in the fourth quarter was the key factor for Indiana, led in scoring by John Barnhill with 28. High for Carolina was Bob Verga with 24.

Rookie Mack Calvin collected a career-high 44 points and contributed 16 assists and George Stone scored 35 points, 22 in the second period to trigger Los Angeles' victory over Dallas.

The Stars built a 24-point lead before the Chaparrals rallied but were unable to get any closer than six points. John Beasley kept the chaps in contention with 28 points.

RECORD PERFORMANCE

Seaver Shows Just How He Earned Young Award

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

They gave Tom Seaver the 1969 Cy Young Award before Wednesday's game and then the wunderkind ace of the New York Mets' pitching staff went out and showed just how much he deserved it.

Seaver pitched his way into baseball's record book, striking out 19 batters including the last 10 in a row and two-hit San Diego 2-1 in an expert display of pitching prowess.

The Young Award, of course, goes to the top pitcher in each league but if you ask the Padres today, they'll tell you that Seaver looked like the best pitcher in all of baseball to them.

Elsewhere in the National League Wednesday, Chicago trimmed St. Louis 7-5, Philadelphia dropped San Francisco 6-1, Pittsburgh took Houston 6-1 and Los Angeles ripped Montreal 9-2. Atlanta and Cincinnati were not scheduled.

In the American League, Minnesota tripped Chicago 3-1, Boston belted Baltimore 5-2, Detroit shut out Cleveland 5-0, Washington outlasted New York 2-1 in 18 innings, Oakland nipped Kansas City 2-1 and California whipped Milwaukee 3-1.

Seaver was simply superb. He used just 136 pitches to dispatch the Padres and matched the record for strikeouts in a single game of 19 set by Steve Carlton against the Mets last September.

He also wiped out the old record for consecutive strikeouts of eight shared by four different pitchers. One of those four was Johnny Podres, who watched Seaver's performance.

"Fantastic, outstanding," marvelled Podres, now the Padres' minor league pitching coach. "The amazing thing was that as hard as he was throwing the ball, he was still pitching to spots."

"He was like a machine," said Met first baseman Ed Kranepool, "whump, whump, whump."

"When he did throw a breaking ball," said Al Ferrara, who tagged Seaver for an early homer and then became the 19th and final strikeout victim in the ninth inning, "it was always on the outside corner."

It was the 13th consecutive regular season victory for Seaver over two seasons, 10 of them coming in his 25-7 mark last year which earned him the Young Award, and three this term.

There were other well-pitched games in the NL but nothing like Seaver's gem.

Pittsburgh's Steve Blass limited Houston to three hits and the Pirates rapped the Astros with Roberto Clemente and Manny Sanguillen collecting three safeties apiece. Bill Mazeroski singled across one of the Pirate runs, collecting the 800th RBI of his career.

The middle of the Dodger batting order—Andy Kosco, Willie Crawford and Wes Parker—did most of the damage, collecting half of LA's hits between them. Crawford scored three runs.

Chicago beat St. Louis for its seventh straight victory with Don Kessinger's homer and two singles pacing the Cubs' attack.

Ferguson Jenkins was jolted by homers by Leron Lee and Joe Torre but staggered through to win his first game of the season.

Quiet Comment
By Willie Mac

PHILADELPHIA—Willie McCovey, in his soft spoken way, has a rare ability to analyze emotional situations in an objective manner. He quietly comments on such situations when asked to do so.

Last Sunday in Crosely Field, Wayne Simpson stirred the emotions of 31,569 Cincinnati baseball fans as he silenced Giant bats in a one-hit 6-0 shutout. Since it was the rookie right-hander's third straight victory in his first three major league starts, the emotions of his teammates also were stirred.

THERE IS NO question about it. Simpson is a fireballer and he is good, real good. His fast ball sails and it also sinks depending on the angle of delivery. And Simpson's curve breaks like a curve should—down and in on a lefthander, down and out on a righthander. He even has a fine changeup.

Simpson's poise is remarkable for a 21-year-old rookie. He even resembles at times St. Louis' great fireballer Bob Gibson, particularly in quickness from the set position of a pitcher with men on base.

Nine times Simpson was confronted with Giant base runners because he walked seven, an error put another runner aboard and there was a first inning double by Ken Henderson, the only hit Simpson allowed.

AS HE WENT to the set position, Simpson did display some of the mannerisms of Gibson. But more importantly he kept firing the ball. He didn't let up. And he struck out nine.

So there is good reason for emotions to be high in Cincinnati because pitching, or more accurately lack of it, kept the hard hitting Reds among the also rans these past seasons.

However, some of the emotions overflowed extravagantly. Sparky Anderson, manager of the Reds, began talking about Simpson's fast ball moving in four directions. "It moves four ways," said Anderson. "In two years he'll be ahead of Bob Gibson if he improves."

McCOVEY, the National League's 1969 MVP and two-time home run and RBI champ in 1968-69, was asked for his evaluation of Simpson.

"He has a real good arm," said McCovey. "But remember this is his first time around. He isn't ready for the Hall of Fame. And to compare him with Gibson is awful high praise for a rookie. I think he is more like Earl Wilson" (who used to face the Giants occasionally in spring exhibition games when the Boston Red Sox trained in Arizona.)

McCovey took nothing away from Simpson. Indeed, he paid the rookie his due and admiringly recalled one pitch Simpson made to him on a full count. It was a sharp breaking curve that just missed the inside of the plate. McCovey walked on it but it momentarily appeared that he might bite at it.

"I REMEMBER that pitch," said McCovey.

Another rookie might have tried to throw a 3-2 fast ball by McCovey with disastrous results. Simpson has learned a lot about pitching in his brief pro career that started in the summer of 1967 when the Reds made him their No. 1 draft pick because of a sensational career at Centennial High in Compton, Calif.

THE SPORTING GENTRY

Tiburon Soccer Player Awaits National Finals

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Brian Marais is a native of South Africa who was married in Canada to an English girl and became a citizen of the United States earlier this month.

And he also plays a fair game of soccer.

Marais, an engineer for Bechtel Corporation in San Francisco and a resident of Tiburon, plays for the champion Teutonia team in the San Francisco Soccer League.

VICTORIES

Teutonia, after winning the S. F. title, defeated San Jose soccermen to win the right to represent Northern California in the playoffs. That victory was followed with triumph over Los Angeles' top team for the West Coast title. Marais, a right back, and his teammates are one of four teams to reach the U.S. championships, with semi-finals and finals scheduled sometime within the next month.

"We'll be playing either in Chicago, Denver or St. Louis," he said. "Time and place have not been set yet."

TO ENGLAND

Marais, 35, lived in his native South Africa until he was 21, getting his education in Johannesburg, lived a short time in England, furthering his studies, then moved on to Canada, living in British Columbia and Northern Ontario.

He and wife Sonia moved to Marin County five years ago. They have a daughter Kim, 7, who was born in Canada, and another daughter, Teri, 4, born in Marin, a year after they arrived.

He's used to being put on the spot in regards to his views of apartheid, as practiced in South Africa.

"It is not all bad," he said. "It has helped some of the Africans to better themselves. I realize the system must dissolve eventually, but it has to be gradually."

CURIOUS

Marais said he had become very curious of changes that might have taken place since his absence from South Africa.

"So I went back last year after a 12-year absence because I wanted to see what had happened," he said. "Everyone seemed happy, blacks and whites. I saw blacks driving cars, and they never had that opportunity when I was there. I think the situation will work itself out."

He said he felt the politics of the country should stay out of sports, referring to recent banning of South Africa from Olympic competition and Davis Cup play.

Marais said he has followed the golfing career of South African Gary Player very closely.

BRAVE

"He's very brave. I think he's got a lot of guts to stand by his convictions even though his life has been threatened," he said. "It is hard for Americans to judge it from here. We tend to judge it by our own standards that we see here."

Major reason for the failure of professional soccer in the United States, Marais feels, was the lack of recruiting of local talent on the teams and the reliance of foreign players. He said there were some capable players in this country who wouldn't have been over their heads playing in the U.S. pro soccer leagues.

Another reason, says Marais, is that the country was not divided into sections, and too much money was spent flying teams from game to game.

"Soccer is a great sport which allows you to play even though you are not big or real tall," said Marais, who stands 5-10 and weighs 175 ponds.

CRICKET

Marais, who also is captain of the Marin Cricket Club, says "Ability is most important. Essentially everybody is the quarterback, with the ball at your feet you have to make a split-section decision where to kick it.

"We would like to see more people take an interest in the sport," he said. "We play four games every Sunday at Balboa Stadium (in S.F.). There is soccer from 10 to 3:10."

Rough Time For Drivers In Auto Rally

MONZA, Italy (AP) — Most Pilots of the World Cup auto rally agree on one thing: If the roads of Yugoslavia are a foretaste of Latin America, not more than a dozen cars will make it to Mexico City.

"My husband had to change tires three times before crossing the border to Italy," fumed Claudine Trautmann, the wife of the Frenchman who leads the field, on his DS 21 Citroen after the two first special stages in the gruelling event .

Added Rene Trautmann: "We have been lucky so far. But what happens if we're left high and dry without extra tires and spare parts in Latin America. People will just fall by the wayside. A dozen at most should finish."

Nearly 100 cars started from Britain for the 23,600-kilomter race.

Trautmann said he considered the third-place team of Finland's Hannu Mikkola and his Swedish codriver Gunnar Palme as his most dangerous rivals.

"We have to be careful. They have a very well-prepared Ford Escort and they plan to get to Mexico among the first."

Mikkola and Palme were astonished to arrive first in Monza after 2,800 kilometers on a loop through Europe.

Windows Broken At Home Sites

Smith and Haley Construction Co., which is building the low cost housing at the north end of Fourth Street, had seven windows valued at $300 broken, according to police.

Boise Cascade Building Co. had windows worth $300 broken in five houses on Los Noche Court.

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE
By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Always Wear An Innocent Look For Deceptive Play

A man can't be too careful when he reports the results of a national bridge tournament. When Robin Klar and Tina Rockaway won the recent national women's pair championship, it was tempting to report that youth and beauty had triumphed since the sum of their ages is barely more than 40. But that would sound as though previous winners had been old and ugly. It's safer to stick to the facts.

QUEEN OF CLUBS

Young Robin Klar (not yet out of her teens) led the queen of clubs from the West hand. The defenders continued clubs, and South ruffed the third round.

Declarer then led a spade to dummy's king and returned a low spade from dummy. Stop me if I'm going too fast, but that's just the way Tina Rockaway played the cards from the East hand.

When declarer led a trump to dummy's king, Mrs. Rockaway played the three of spades as though she had never heard of such a thing as the ace of trumps. South naturally assumed that West had the ace of spades.

LOSES FINESSE

Declarer led a spade back from dummy, and Mrs. Rockaway followed suit with the nine of spades, still looking innocent and slightly bored. South naturally tried a finesse with the ten of spades in the hope that West did not have the jack as well as the ace.

West won with the jack of spades, of course, and Mrs. Rockaway later took the setting trick with the ace of spades. It was a clear top for the young Houston experts.

NEEDS HELP

It's important to notice that declarer could not get to dummy by her own efforts. If Mrs. Rockaway had taken the first trump trick with the ace, declarer would have been unable to take a finesse for the jack of spades. South would eventually lead the queen of spades out of her hand, and the jack would drop, assuring the contract.

Tam Valley Boy Is Hit By Truck

A 6-year-old Tamalpais Valley boy has been treated for facial injuries at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael after he was hit by a truck at Homestead Boulevard and Gomez Way.

The California Highway Patrol said James Tustin, of 8 Circle Way, rode his bicycle from behind a parked car into the path of a pickup truck driven by Leslie T. Robertson Jr., 26, of 830 B Street, San Rafael, at about 4:15 p.m. Tuesday.

Enterprise Fund Has Problems

By ROGER E. SPEAR

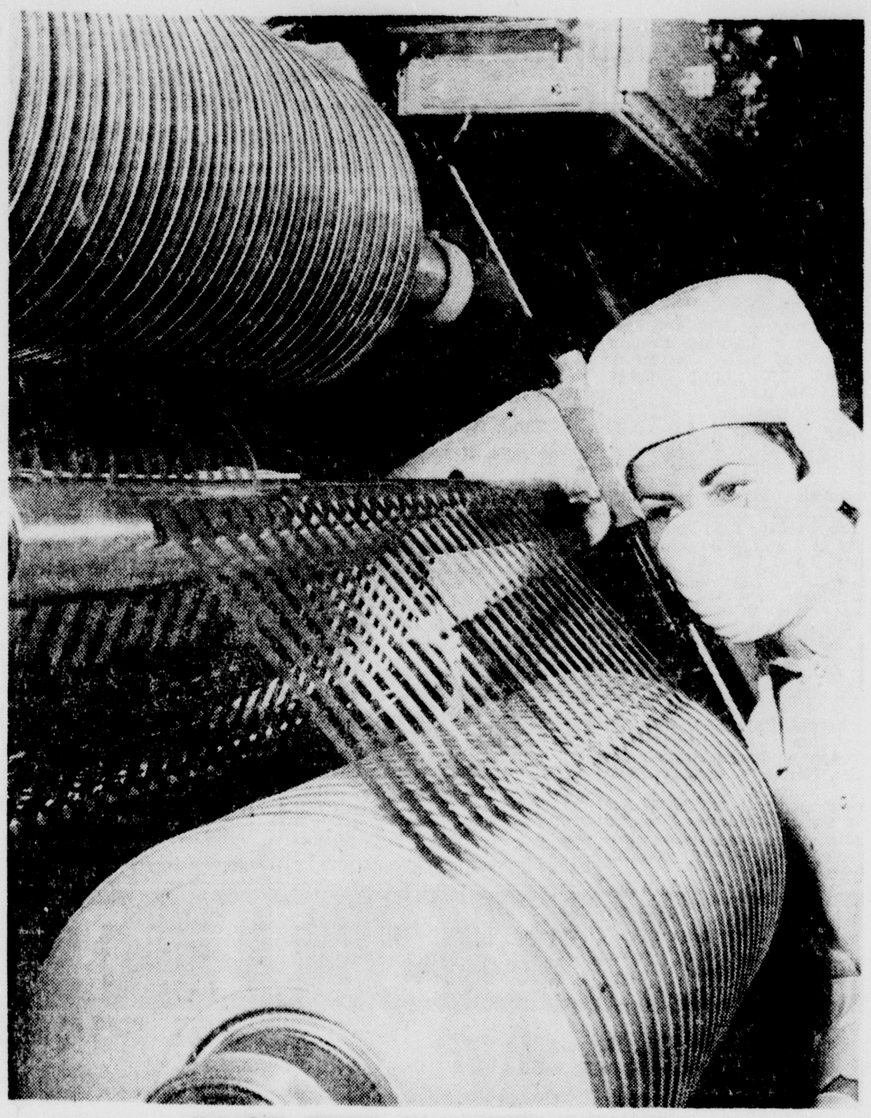
Q. I hold shares of Enterprise Fund for long-term growth. For the past several weeks only a bid or redemption price has been listed. My broker tells me they cannot sell shares. What does this mean? — R.M. and F.W.

A. In an early March action the federal court in Los Angeles barred Enterprise from selling additional shares pending correction of their records. This climaxed a back-office paperwork problem that began in early 1967. Enterprise, in 24 months, had exploded from a $30 million to an almost $1 billion asset fund. Back-office procedures capable of handling accounts for a small fund could simply not be expanded sufficiently to cope with the added volume. As a result, discrepancies between the number of shares credited to individual accounts and those in the capital stock control account were discovered.

Enterprise claims that changes instituted over the last several months have almost wholly reconciled these differences. Clearing operations were transferred to the State Street Bank & Trust Co., a firm which is accustomed to handling accounts of this size. Parent company, Shareholders Management, has installed computer-based back-office systems for funds under its aegis.

The earlier resignation of Fred Carr, who had been closely linked in peoples' minds with the growth of Enterprise, also marred the fund's image. Portfolio management has now been divided among five men, under the leadership of highly qualified Larry Rader, a company veteran.

By splitting responsibility for the portfolio, it is hoped that growth will more closely resemble that of a small fund. Although there is validity in this system, it also creates difficulties and duplication.



DUST FREE ENVIRONMENT

Technician Kay Duncan, in a dust-free environment at RCA's Magnetic Products plant in Indianapolis, checks a machine that slits sheets of coated polyester film into half-inch strips of magnetic tape used by computers. From the slitting operation the tape goes onto reels each of which holds 2,400 feet of tape and is capable of storing more than 46 million bits of cupter information. (UPI Telephoto)

Stocks Take Beating; Blue Chips Slide

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks took another pounding today in moderately active trading.

Selling stemmed from a combination of factors, including a rise in some short term interest rates, continued disappointment with quarterly earnings results, belief that the inflationary spiral may be unstoppable, and the worsening situation in Cambodia.

"The worst part is that it's difficult to imagine a news development that would change the market's trend over the near term," an analyst remarked.

A volume of around 11,000,000 shares compared with 10,780,000 shares yesterday.

A number of electronics gave up more than a point, while marked weakness also cropped up in the oils. Steels and chemicals generally traded in fractions. So did most rails, airlines, aircrafts and motors. Car makers raised their production schedules by 13 per cent this week.

Among the day's most acive stocks were Parke-Davis, Getty Oil, American Telephone, Telex Corp., Fairchild Camera and Shell Oil.

New Dog Grooming Salon Opens Doors In San Rafael

A new dog grooming salon called The Pet Set, has been opened in San Rafael by Lynn Wood of San Anselmo, who after three years operating Mutts of Marin in Strawberry and a year at The Country Mutt in Novato, has relocated at 532 Third Street — easily identified by the graphics on the windows.

Lease was negotiated by Gene Palsson to T. V. McGuire, Realtor.

The Pet Set is a place where you can sit with a cup of coffee while watching your pet being shorn or beautified. Hours are from 9 a.m. to after 5:30 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays.

NEW PROJECT of Theodore Jacobs and Reginald Thayer called The Kitchen should open at 1016 Third Street, San Rafael by the first of the month.

This is the second store for Jacobs and Thayer, who also own Bath and Closet at Fourth and C Streets.

LATES STORE on downtown Fourth Street, San Rafael, set to close is Elaine's women's wear at 1112 Fourth.

Owner Henry Backus in business three years, is now selling out his complete inventory. As soon as he has disposed of it the doors will close. He has no immediate plans for reopening elsewhere.

R AND R ENTERPRISES, electrical contractor now located at 110 Carlos Drive, Northgate Industrial Park, plans a new office and warehouse nearby at 117 Mitchell Drive. Hageman-Thomas-Eklund is working on the plans.

JON R. FOWLER of San Rafael has been promoted to manager of Knapps and Tubbs, Inc., a San Francisco wholesale furniture distributor. He will manage the present showroom in Jackson Square until the company's new 25,000-square foot facility at Battery Street and Broadway is opened June 1.

Cass

DAVID CASS of Kentfield has been named an officer in the customer services department of Crocker-Citizens National Bank. He joined the bank in that department as a marketing analyst in 1968 after 10 years marketing experience.

TWO FOUR-WEEK COURSES on effective listing and communication, based on the Xerox Tape Series successfully used by business and industry, will be conducted at College of Marin during its spring semester by San Rafael printing firm owner Lothar Salin.

Course number one starts April 29. Course number two starts May 27. Both will be held for four successive weeks at 7:30 p.m. in Room CA-6 in the cafeteria building at San Rafael High School. Fee is $6. Business firms interested in having a special course conducted for employees on their own premises during business hours can do so, provided 20 or more employees are registered. Arrangmenets should be made with the Community Education Department at College of Marin.

A DAYLONG SEMINAR on the income tax benefits of real estate investments will be held at the University of California Berkeley campus under the sponsorship of Continuing Education in Management, U. C. Extension. Sessions are scheduled for May 2 from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. in 155 Dwinelle Hall. Registration fee is $25.

Topics will include types of real estate return available, analysis of income, expenses, net operating income, financing and cash flow of apartment houses, office buildings and commercial properties, research and analysis on raw land, evaluation of real estate, choice of entity in forming an investment group and the syndicator's opportunities, liabilities and compensation.

Crocker Names New Executive

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Leslie C. Peacock, 39, has been appointed president of Crocker National Corp., the parent of Crocker-Citizens National Bank.

The appointment was made at the organization meeting of directors, which was held following Crocker National's annual meeting of shareholders here.

Peacock had been vice president of the one-bank holding company. He was elected president of the $5 billion statewide and international bank last month.

Reynolds Has Quarterly Gain

RICHMOND, Va. (BW) — Reynolds Metals Co. has reported record first quarter profits of $14,560,000 on record sales of $262,987,000.

Earnings were equal to 82 cents per common share compared to 61 cents a year ago when net profit was $11,056,000 on sales of $233,940,000.

First quarter shipments were up about 10 per cent over 1969's first quarter.

CROSSING THE YOUNG & RUBICAM* — great adventures in advertising

Hannibal was an account executive with great marketing plans—'til his elephants fell in the river. Today, his descendants at Y & R know better. They look over the terrain, the demography, and the average household income. Then they move on marketing and media plans. (Isn't that good thinking?).

Here in Marin, the Bounty County, Y & R even has outposts to watch the barbarians spending their average incomes of $13,387. Which is or are the highest of any county in all 13 beautiful Western states. And which go for more new cars per 1,000 population than any other county in California. And for travel, corked entertainment, luscious, fattening foods and all the goodies that drive the New Left right out of its collective mind.

Y & R is also undoubtedly aware that there is an unusual newspaper in Marin County. One which causes some of the finest domestic battles seen in these parts. Who gets the Main News? The Sports? The Financial Page? The Want-Ads? The Women's Section? It got so bad that the paper is put out in several sections so everyone can read, then swap. And that means some 70% of all families in the county. All turning to Marin's own Independent-Journal to see the world, see the stores, see themselves.

What a place for Y & R to cross the Rubicam (pardon, Rubicon*) and win the great Battle of Advertising for its clients! Without doing battle!

Cal Jazz Festival Opener Is Set Tomorrow

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

Cannonball Adderly will be among feature soloists for the fourth annual University of California Jazz Festival which opens a three-day run tomorrow on the Berkeley campus.

Other jazz personalities will include Ray Brown, Laurindo Almeida, Robert Flack, Miles Davis, Freddie Hubbard and Pharoah Sanders. Nightly sessions will be held in the U.S. Greek Theater.

On another musical front—the theater this time—the San Francisco Civic Light Opera will open its 33rd season tonight with the award-winning Broadway musical, "1776".

Member of ballet troupe

DANCE

The San Francisco Ballet will introduce two new ballets by Carlos Carvajal in its season offering of the season Saturday and Sunday at the Opera House.

DRAMA

Making its first tour of the United States, the Mountview Theater of London will present a repertory of three plays in Zellerbach Auditorium of the Berkeley campus beginning tonight with Edward Bond's "Saved." Tomorrow night's offering will be Brecht's "Mother Courage," and on Saturday night Peter Weiss's "Marat-Sade."

MUSIC

Tomorrow night the San Francisco Conservatory New Music Ensemble, under direction of Howard Hersh, will present a concert of works by Robert Moran in Grace Cathedral, including "For Organ 1967" and "Elegant Journey with Stopping Points of Interest."

The London-based Amadeus Quartet will give San Francisco State College's final chamber concert of the season Sunday in the main auditorium of the Creative Arts Building. Among works will be Bartok's Quartet No. 6.

Margaret Fabrizio, harpsichordist who is well-known in Marin musical circles, will present a concert Monday in San Francisco, performing on the 18th Century Cleminti Piano, a 68-key instrument now in the Frank DeBellis Collection of the California State Colleges.

Beverly Sills, considered by many critics the greatest bel canto coloratura soprano of the mid-20th Century, will, present a recital Monday night in the San Francisco Opera House. In connection with her appearance, the San Francisco Opera management announced this week that Miss Sills will open the 1971 opera season in a role yet to be announced.

The San Francisco Symphony, which is presenting an all-Beethoven program this week in concerts ending Friday night, will feature Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr., in the next concert series (April 29, 30, May 1) as narrator in Copland's "A Lincoln Portrait." Also featured will be Robert Sayre, symphony cellist, in Elgar's Cello Concerto and Beethoven's Symphony No. 3 (Eroica).

Band Testing Set Saturday

Approximately 1,500 students in 29 musical groups from 21 schools in the Bay Area will participate in the annual California Music Educator's Association Band-Orchestra Festival Saturday at Novato High School, according to John Enders, music director.

Although Novato High School is the host, it has not entered the festival Enders said.

The San Marin High School Band from Novato, conducted by John F. Yardas, will present "La Oreja de Oro" by M. San Miguel, "Prelude and Fugue" by Bach and "Chorale and Caprioccio" by Giovannini. Following this presentation, it will be judged on sight reading of a selection unknown to it.

Judging will start at 8 a.m. with high school bands playing in the boys gymnasium and orchestras and junior high school bands in the girl's gymnasium.

Pupils Plan Car Wash For Ecology

Eighth grade students at Edna Maguire School in Mill Valley will hold a car wash Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the school parking lot, 80 Lomita Drive, to earn funds for a three-day ecology trip.

The 35 students, led by science instructor Richard Tanguay, will leave early Monday for a tour of the redwood forests and national parks of Northern California, Oregon Caves National Monument, Mount Shasta and Shasta Dam.

"We hope the trip will bring to the students the reality of the conservation needs of the nation and the true meaning of scientific study as it relates to man," Tanguay said.

If your child guesses at words, he can't read. Does he only "read" pictures???
